PART 420—MULTIPLE CROP INSURANCE

ACTION TAKEN WITH RESPECT TO DURUM WHEAT

The Board of Directors of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, with the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture, by resolution adopted at its Board meeting of October 4, 1955:

(1) Declared, effective with the 1956 crop year, durum wheat other than red durum wheat non-insurable in all multiple crop insurance counties in North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota except Pierce, Steele, and Grand Forks Counties, North Dakota, and in all wheat insurance counties with a December 31 cancellation date except counties in Montana and Benson, Bottineau, Cavalier, Eddy, Foster, Griggs, McHenry, Nelson, Ramsey, Rolette, Towner, Walsh, and Wells Counties, North Dakota,

(2) Provided that the acceptance of applications for insurance effective for the 1956 crop year be discontinued in the sixteen North Dakota counties designated above upon the Manager of the Corporation determining such action to be advisable because of the risk involved but not later than upon his determining that the applications accepted will bring the contracts in force for the 1956 crop year to the number which were in force for the 1954 crop year, and

[959.313 Amdt. 1]

PART 959—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN MODOC AND SISKIYOU COUNTIES IN CALIFORNIA AND IN ALL COUNTIES IN OREGON, EXCEPT MALHEUR COUNTY

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. a. Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 114, as amended, and Order No. 59, as amended (7 CFR Part 959; 20 F. R. 7068), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in Modoc and Siskiyou Counties in California and in all counties in Oregon, except Malheur County, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Oregon-California Potato Committee, established pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and amended order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

b. It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (iii) compliance with this amendment will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation, and (v) information

TITLE 20—EMPLOYEES' BENEFITS

Chapter III—Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, Social Security Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

[Regs. 4, Further Amended]

PART 404—FEDERAL OLD-AGE AND SURVIVORS INSURANCE (1950- ——)

BENEFITS IN CASE OF VETERANS

Regulations No. 4, as amended (20 CFR, Cum. Supp.; 404.1 et seq.) are further amended to read as follows:

1. Paragraph (d) of § 404.206 is amended to read as follows:

§ 404.206 Wages and self-employment income used in determining average monthly wage. • • •

(d) All wages deemed paid to an individual by reason of his service in the active military or naval service of the United States after September 15, 1940, and prior to April 1, 1956, provided such wages are otherwise creditable under the provisions of Subpart N of this part.

2. Section 404.1351 is amended to read as follows:

§ 404.1351 Effect of section 217 (e) of the act. Any veteran who served in the active military or naval service of the United States on or after July 25, 1947, and prior to April 1, 1956, will be deemed to have been paid wages (in addition to the wages, if any, actually paid to him) of $160 for each month during any part of which he rendered such service. Such wages will be credited to the account of such veteran for the purposes of determining entitlement to and the amount of any monthly benefit or lump-sum death payment payable under section 202 of the act on the basis of the wages and self-employment income of such veteran. Such crediting is subject to the limitations of the succeeding sections of this part.

3. Section 404.1353 is amended to read as follows:

§ 404.1353 Meaning of "Federal benefit." For the purposes of § 404.1352 and §§ 404.1354 to 404.1356, inclusive, a "Federal benefit" means any benefit (other than a lump-sum payment which is not a commutation of or substitute for periodic payments) under the civil service, railroad retirement, military or other Federal program which provides for retirement on account of age, length of service, or disability, or for survivors insurance, where the amount of such benefit is based, in whole or in part, upon active military or naval service during the period beginning with July 25, 1947, and ending prior to April 1, 1956, and such benefit is determined by any agency or wholly owned instrumentality of the United States (other than the Veterans' Administration) to be payable by it under any other law of the United States or under a system established by such agency or instrumentality.

4. Section 404.1355 is amended to read as follows:

§ 404.1355 Effect of notice of determination that a "Federal benefit" is payable. If the Administration has been notified by a department, agency, or wholly owned instrumentality of the United States that a "Federal benefit" (see § 404.1353) has been determined by it to be payable (even though later terminated) to anyone (including dependents or survivors) on the basis of the active service during the period beginning with July 25, 1947, and ending prior to April 1, 1956, of a veteran, any benefits or a lump sum payable under title II with respect to the wages and self-employment income of such veteran shall be determined without regard to the provisions in § 404.1351 for the crediting of wages granted under such section. If, prior to the receipt of such notification, the Administration has made a determination and pursuant to such determination has certified a benefit for payment to the veteran, his dependents or survivors, or has certified for payment a lump-sum death payment, as provided by § 404.1354, the Administration, upon the receipt of such notification, shall certify no further benefits for payment or shall recompute the amount of any further benefits as may otherwise be payable under title II, and shall also determine the existence and amount of any erroneous payment (see § 404.1356).

5. Section 404.1359 is amended to read as follows:

§ 404.1359 Definition of the term "veteran".—(a) Included individuals. The term "veteran," as used in §§ 404.1351 to 404.1358, inclusive and §§ 404.1360 to 404.1362, inclusive, includes any individual who was in the active service of any of the armed forces of the United States, including the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and the Coast Guard or any of the components thereof on or after July 25, 1947, and prior to April 1, 1956, and including also any member of the commissioned corps of the United States Public Health Service in the active service of the Public Health Service on or after July 25, 1947, and prior to July 4, 1952, and who, if discharged or released from such active service, was so separated under conditions other than dishonorable (see § 404.1361) after service of at least 90 days or by reason of a disability or injury incurred or aggravated in service in line of duty.

(b) Excluded individuals. The term "veteran," as used in §§ 404.1351 to 404.1358, inclusive, and §§ 404.1360 to 404.1362, inclusive, does not include, among others, any individual who died in the active service if his death was inflicted as a punishment for a military or naval offense, other than by an enemy of the United States. Neither does it include a member of any of the units designated in the second sentence of § 404.1321 (b) insofar as such units were in existence during the period beginning with July 25, 1947, and ending prior to April 1, 1956.

6. Section 404.1360 is amended to read as follows:

§ 404.1360 Active service of 90 days; defined. Active service of 90 days means one or more periods totalling at least 90 days (whether or not consecutive) which are served in the period beginning with July 25, 1947, and ending prior to April 1, 1956. Where 90 days were not served wholly within such period, but such service began prior to July 25, 1947, and concluded on or after that date or began prior to April 1, 1956, and concluded on or after that date, the requirement of active service of 90 days is met only if such service of 90 days was continuous. Active service of 90 days is not necessary in the case of a veteran who was in the active service during the period referred to in the preceding sentence and who was separated therefrom by reason of a disability or injury incurred or aggravated in service in line of duty.

(Sec. 205, 49 Stat. 624, as amended; sec. 1102, 49 Stat. 647, as amended; 42 U. S. C. 405, 1302. Interpret or apply sec. 217, 66 Stat. 773, as amended; Pub. Law 325, 84th Cong.; 42 U. S. C. 417)

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 924]

[Docket No. AO-225-A6]

MILK IN DETROIT, MICH., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Detroit, Michigan, on March 22–25, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on March 8, 1955 (20 F. R. 1533).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on September 2, 1955, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in the proceeding. The notice of filing such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 9, 1955 (20 F. R. 6622).

The material issues, the findings and conclusions, and the general findings of the recommended decision (20 F. R. 6622; F. R. Doc. 55-7280) are hereby approved and adopted as the material issues, the findings and conclusions, and the general findings of this decision as if set forth in full herein, subject to the following revisions:

1. On page 6623, insert after the second complete paragraph in column 2, the following: "From exceptions filed in response to the recommended decision it is clear that one of the plants located in the marketing area and operated as a distributing plant does not have Class I sales equal to as much as 45 percent of its receipts in March through August nor to 55 percent in September through February. A substantial period of time should be allowed for such a handler to develop additional Class I outlets or reduce his receipts to the extent necessary to maintain status as a pool plant. It is concluded that effectuation of that portion of the definition of a distributing pool plant which requires that the stated percentages of receipts be utilized as Class I should be postponed until September 1, 1956."

2. On page 6625, change the last sentence in the first complete paragraph in column 1 to read as follows: "On any other source milk received at a pool plant in the form of fluid whole milk or fluid skim milk the Class I price should be reduced by the amount of the location adjustment which would be applicable at the location of the plant from which the other source milk was obtained."

3. Change item (8) Class II price, beginning in column 2, page 6627, to read as follows:

(8) Class II price. In the recommended decision it was concluded that a butter-powder formula should be included as an alternative determinant of the Class II price. The present Class II price is the average of prices paid to farmers at nine Michigan manufacturing plants, except that during the months of May, June, and July, a credit is allowed on butterfat and skim milk manufactured into butter and nonfat dry milk solids in the event that butter-powder prices are below the local plant prices. The recommended decision would have provided that the Class II price be the higher of the local plant price or a butter-powder value in every month.

Nearly all the handlers who filed exceptions and some groups of producers operating manufacturing facilities objected to the recommended change in the Class II price provision. It is apparent that no substantial element in the market considers it desirable to use a butter-powder formula as an alternative price at this time. The local plant price is considered to be the most appropriate measure of the value of Class II milk.

It is concluded the butter-powder formula should not be adopted as an alternative means of setting the Class II price at this time. However, the butter-powder credit should be deleted. It has not been effective in 1953, 1954, or 1955, because butter-powder values have been in excess of the local plant price. In any event, the regulated handlers should pay at least the local plant price on milk utilized for Class II purposes in all months of the year and no incentive should be given to specialized manufacturers of butter and nonfat dry milk solids in May, June, and July.

4. On page 6628, change item (11), beginning in column 2, to read as follows:

(11) Location adjustment on excess milk. The present order provides that excess milk delivered to plants in the marketing area be valued at 17¢ over the Class II price. Excess milk delivered to plants located at some distance from the market is subject to the same rate of location adjustment as Class I and base milk.

Two cooperative associations proposed at the hearing that the excess price be equal to the Class II price at all locations. The choice between the two methods of valuing the excess milk is primarily one of the distribution of pool funds among the producers located at various distances from the market. There appeared to be no objection to the proposal at the hearing, and it was recommended for adoption. However, from exceptions received, it appears that the largest cooperative association of producers in the market is opposed to any change in the present application of location adjustments to excess milk. Apparently this conclusion was reached after further study of the record of the hearing and the recommended decision.

Since this issue is so predominately concerned with the interests of the producers themselves, it is concluded that no change should be made from the present provision of the order.

Rulings. Within the period reserved for filing exceptions to the recommended decision, exceptions were submitted on behalf of interested parties. These exceptions have been fully considered and to the extent to which the findings and conclusions of this decision are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled.

Determination of representative period. The month of August 1955 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of amendments to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as hereby amended.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in Detroit, Michigan, Marketing Area", and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Detroit, Michigan, Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of October 1955.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

§ 924.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (Part 900 of this chapter), a public hearing was held at Detroit, Michigan, on March 22–25, 1955, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as set forth below:

The provisions of §§ 924.1 to 924.132, inclusive, of the recommended marketing agreement and order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on September 2, 1955, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER September 9, 1955 (20 F. R. 6622; F. R. Doc. 55–7280) shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order as if set forth in full herein, except for the following modifications described with respect to the said FEDERAL REGISTER document:

1. In § 924.16 (a), column 3, page 6629, change the proviso to read as follows: "Provided, That, after August 31, 1956, the total quantity distributed during any of the months of March through August on all routes operated inside or outside the marketing area is equal to 45 percent or more, or during the months of September through February is 55 percent or more, of the receipts from producers, or from other plants, of milk approved by the appropriate health authority for fluid use; or".

2. In § 924.16 (b), column 3, page 6629, change the proviso to read as follows: "Provided, That any supply plant which has shipped to a distributing plant(s) the required percentage of its dairy farm supply during each of the months of November 1955 through January 1956 and, in subsequent years, during each of the months of October through January, shall be a pool plant for each of the following months of February through September during which it ships the percentage provided for in any call which may be issued by the market administrator pursuant to § 924.17."

3. Revise § 924.52, column 1, page 6632, to read as follows:

§ 924.52 Class II milk price. The minimum price per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers or from a cooperative association during the month which is classified as Class II utilization, shall be the price per hundredweight as described in § 924.50 (c).

4. Revise § 924.60 (b), column 2, page 6632, to read as follows:

(b) Each handler operating a pool plant at which other source milk is allocated to Class I pursuant to §§ 924.46 and 924.47 shall pay to the producer equalization fund each month an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk so allocated by the difference between the Class I and the Class II prices for the month adjusted by (1) a location adjustment, to apply on any other source milk shipped as fluid whole milk or fluid skim milk, at the same rate as specified in paragraph (c) of this section for the location at which the other source milk originates, and (2) the butterfat differentials provided in § 924.53 to the butterfat test of such other source milk.

5. In § 924.60 (c), column 2, page 6632, change the phrase "§ 924.16 (b) or (c)", where it appears in lines 2 and 3 and line 12, to read "§ 924.16 (b)".

6. Change § 924.63, column 3, page 6632, to read as follows:

§ 924.63 Excess milk price. For each month the excess milk price shall be determined by adding 17 cents to the Class II price determined pursuant to § 924.52.

SUSPENSION OF TRADING; REMOVAL FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration a proposal to amend § 240.12d2–1 (Rule X-12D2–1) and § 240.12d2-2 (Rule X-12D2–2) which provide for the suspension of trading in securities listed and registered on a national securities exchange, and for their removal from listing and registration, under specified conditions. The proposal also involves a revision of Form 25 (17 CFR 249.225). The proposed action would be taken under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 12 (d) and 23 (a) thereof.

Section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 provides that a security registered with a national securities exchange may be withdrawn or stricken from listing and registration in accordance with the rules of the exchange and, upon such terms as the Commission may deem necessary to impose for the protection of investors, upon application by the issuer or the exchange to the Commission. Paragraph (a) of § 240.12d2–1 provides that a security listed and registered on a national securities exchange may be suspended from trading by the exchange in accordance with its rules and requires notification thereof to the Commission. Paragraph (b) of the rule provides that an application may be filed by an issuer or exchange to withdraw or strike a security from listing and registration, and sets out the information to be contained in such application and the procedures to be followed in certain cases to offer the application in evidence at any hearing on the application as proof of the allegations therein. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of §§ 240.12d2–1 and 240.12d2–2 provide for the withdrawal or striking of a security from listing and registration under certain special circumstances.

Under the proposed amendments § 240.12d2–1 would contain only the provisions with respect to the conditions under which a national securities exchange could suspend trading in a security listed and registered thereon. No substantive change has been made in these provisions. The regulatory provisions with respect to the conditions under which a security may be withdrawn or stricken from listing and registration would be contained in § 240.12d2–2.

As proposed to be amended § 240.12d2–2 would provide under paragraph (a) thereof, that a national securities exchange shall file with the Commission an application on revised Form 25 to strike from listing and registration matured, redeemed or retired securities. Paragraph (b) of the rule would provide that an exchange may file an application on Form 25 to strike a security from listing and registration when (1) the security is effectively listed and registered on some other national securities exchange, (2) the amount outstanding has been reduced to less than $200,000 principal amount of bonds or 5000 shares in the case of stock, or (3) the total outstanding number of shares of a security is held by less than 250 holders of record. The rule would provide that where Form 25 may be and is used the delisting and deregistration would become effective at the opening of business on the date specified by the exchange in its application in accordance with the rule, unless the Commission directs the exchange to follow the procedures specified in paragraph (c) of the rule.

Paragraph (c) of § 240.12d2–2 would provide for the filing of an application by an issuer or by a national securities exchange in cases not provided for in paragraphs (a) or (b) of the rule, would set out the information required to be contained in such an application and would also set out certain procedures to be followed in connection therewith. The provisions concerning the conditions under which the application may be received in evidence at any hearing as proof of the allegations therein would be deleted because such procedures are now contained in paragraph (i) of Rule V of the Commission's Rules of Practice. Paragraph (d) of § 240.12d2–2 would contain the provisions now in § 240.12d2–1 (c).

Form 25 has been revised so that it is now a form of application instead of a form of notification and it has been expanded to provide for submission of the facts with respect to the new conditions under which it may be used.

The text of § 240.12d2–1 and 240.12d2–2 as proposed to be amended is as follows:

§ 240.12d2–1 Suspension of trading. (a) A national securities exchange may suspend from trading a security listed and registered thereon in accordance with its rules. Such exchange shall promptly notify the Commission of any such suspension, the effective date thereof, and the reasons therefor.

(b) Any such suspension may be continued until such time as it shall appear to the Commission that such suspension is designed to evade the provisions of section 12 (d) and the rules and regulations thereunder relating to the withdrawal and striking of a security from listing and registration. During the continuance of such suspension the exchange shall notify the Commission promptly of any change in the reasons for the suspension. Upon the restoration to trading of any security suspended under this section, the exchange shall notify the Commission promptly of the effective date thereof.

(c) Suspension of trading shall not terminate the registration of any security.

§ 240.12d2–2 Removal from listing and registration. (a) A national securities exchange shall file with the Commission an application on Form 25[1] (§ 249.225 of this chapter) to strike a security from listing and registration thereon within a reasonable time after the exchange is reliably informed that any of the following conditions exist with respect to such a security;

(1) The entire class of the security has been called for redemption, maturity or retirement; appropriate notice thereof has been given; funds sufficient for the payment of all such securities have been deposited with an agency authorized to make such payments; and such funds have been made available to security holders.

(2) The entire class of the security has been redeemed or paid at maturity or retirement.

(3) The instruments representing the securities comprising the entire class have come to evidence, by operation of law or otherwise, other securities in substitution therefor and represent no other right, except, if such be the fact, the right to receive an immediate cash payment (the right of dissenters to receive the appraised or fair value of their holdings shall not prevent the application of this provision).

(4) All rights pertaining to the entire class of the security have been extinguished: Provided, That where such an event occurs as the result of an order of a court or other governmental authority, the order shall be final, all applicable appeal periods shall have expired, and no appeals shall be pending.

(b) A national securities exchange may file with the Commission an application on Form 25 to strike a security from listing and registration thereon in accordance with its rules and practices provided it is reliably informed that any of the following conditions exist with respect to such a security:

(1) The security is effectively listed and registered on some other national securities exchange.

(2) The amount of the security outstanding, after deducting holdings of parents, if any, is reduced to less than $200,000 principal amount of bonds or to less than 5,000 shares of stock.

(3) The total outstanding number of shares of the security is held by less than 250 holders of record.

Effective date of removal. If the conditions of paragraph (a) or (b) of this section are complied with, the striking of a security from listing and registration pursuant to an application on Form 25 shall become effective at the opening of business on such date as the exchange shall specify in said form, unless the Commission directs the exchange to proceed under paragraph (c) of this section: Provided, however, That such date shall be not less than seven days following the date on which said form is mailed to the Commission for filing: And provided further, That in the event removal is being effected under paragraph (a) (3) of this section and the exchange has admitted or intends to admit a successor security to trading under the temporary exemption provided for by § 240.12a–5 (Rule X-12A–5), such date shall not be earlier than the date on which the successor security is removed from its exempt status.

(c) An application by an issuer, or by a national securities exchange in cases not provided for under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, shall comply with the following requirements:

(1) The application shall be filed in duplicate, the original of which shall be dated and signed by an authorized official of the exchange or the issuer.

(2) If the applicant is the exchange it shall forward promptly a copy of the application to the issuer and if the applicant is the issuer it shall forward promptly a copy of the application to the exchange.

(3) The application shall set forth a description of the security involved together with a statement of all material facts relating to the reasons for filing such application for withdrawal or striking from listing and registration.

(4) The application shall set forth the steps taken by the applicant to comply with the rules of the exchange governing the delisting of securities.

(d) If within 30 days after the publication of any rule or regulation which substantially alters or adds to the obligations, or detracts from the rights, of an issuer of a security registered pursuant to application under section 12 (b) or (c), or of its officers, directors, or security holders, or of persons soliciting or giving any proxy or consent or authorization with respect to such security, the issuer shall file with the Commission a request that such registration shall expire and shall accompany such request with a written explanation of the reasons why the publication of such rule or regulation leads the issuer to make such request, such registration shall expire immediately upon receipt of such request or immediately before such rule or regulation becomes effective, whichever date is later. The absence of an express reservation, in an application for registration, of the rights herein granted shall not be deemed a waiver thereof.

All interested persons are invited to submit views and comments on the proposal in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C., on or before November 15, 1955. Unless the person submitting such comments or suggestions requests in writing that they be held confidential they will be available for public inspection.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] NELLYE A. THORSEN,
Assistant Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

NEW MEXICO

SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION ORDER NO. 41

OCTOBER 19, 1955.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated to me by Bureau Order No. 541, dated April 21, 1954, (19 F. R. 2473), I hereby classify the following described public lands totalling 300 acres in Chaves County, New Mexico, as suitable for lease and sale for residence purposes only under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609, 43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended:

NEW MEXICO PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 10 S., R. 23 E.,
Sec. 33: S½NE¼NE¼, SE¼NE¼, N½S½, SW¼SW¼;
Sec. 34: NW¼SW¼.

2. Classification of the above-described lands by this order segregates them from all appropriations, including locations under the mining laws, except as to applications under the Small Tract Act and applications under the mineral leasing laws.

3. The lands are located approximately 5 miles west of Roswell, New Mexico. U. S. Highway No. 70 runs east and west along the south boundary of the sections. A county road extends from Highway No. 70 north through the center of Section 33. The land is situated on the crest and slope of a long hill known as Six Mile Hill. There is little to no topsoil on the hilltop and side slopes. The soil in the drainage ways is deeper with a silt loam topsoil. The area is well drained due to the steep topography. Vegetation consists chiefly of grama and tobosa grass and mesquite brush. Altitude of the area is approximately 3,700 feet. The climate is generally mild, having temperature extremes of about 15 degrees to 110 degrees. City water is not available for these lands. Domestic water is obtained by drilling wells to a depth of 100 to 300 feet. Sewage facilities are not available, nor is natural gas. Butane and propane gas can be obtained at Roswell. Electricity is the only public utility that is presently available. The city of Roswell presents a readily available shopping center and adequate religious, educational and medical facilities.

4. The lands will be leased in tracts of approximately 5 acres each. The appraised value is $200 per tract. The lands will be subject to all existing rights-of-way and to a right-of-way 40 feet in width for a proposed county farm to market road along each side of the section line common to Sections 33 and 34. Other rights-of-way for street and road purposes and for public utilities will be reserved as shown below.

33 feet on each side of the North-South center line of the S½NE¼NE¼, SE¼NE¼, NE¼SE¼, S½NW¼SW¼, SW¼SW¼ of Section 33 and the NW¼SW¼, Section 34.
33 feet along each side of the East-West center line of the NE¼SE¼, NW¼SE¼, NE¼SW¼, NW¼SW¼, SW¼SW¼ of Section 33 and the NW¼SW¼, Section 34.
33 feet along the South line of the NE¼SE¼, NW¼SE¼ of Section 33 and the NW¼SW¼ of Section 34.

5. Leases will be issued for a term of three years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. Lessees who comply with the general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the appraised price providing that during the period of their leases, they either (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 6, or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (a). Leases will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee.

6. To maintain their rights under their leases, lessees will be required either (a) to construct substantial improvements on their lands or (b) file a copy of an agreement with their neighbors binding them to construct substantial improvements on their lands. Such improvements must conform with health, sanitation, and construction requirements of local ordnances and must, in addition, meet the following standards: The home must be suitable for year-round use, on a permanent foundation with a minimum of 700 square feet, divided into at least three rooms. The homes must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. The house shall contain running water, modern plumbing and shall have adequate sewage and sanitary facilities.

7. Applicants must file, in duplicate, with the Manager, Land Office, P. O. Box 1251, Santa Fe, New Mexico, application Form 4–776 filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and accompanied by any showings or documents required by those instructoins. Copies of the application form can be secured from the above-named official.

The applications must be accompanied by a filing fee of $10 plus the advance rental of $30 for the 3 year period. Failure to transmit these payments with the application will render the application invalid. Advance rentals will be returned to unsuccessful applicants. All filing fees will be retained by the United States.

8. The lands are now subject to application under the Small Tract Act. All valid applications filed prior to December 18, 1953, will be granted the preference right provided by 43 CFR 257.5 (a). All valid applications from persons entitled to veterans' preference filed after December 18, 1953, and prior to 10:00 a. m., November 24, 1955, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. All valid applications from persons entitled to veterans' preference filed after that time will be considered in the order of filing. All valid applications from other persons filed after December 18, 1953, and prior to 10:00 a. m., February 23, 1956, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. All other valid applications filed after that time will be considered in the order of filing.

9. Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, P. O. Box 1251, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

E. R. SMITH,
State Supervisor.

Bureau of Reclamation

[Public Announcement 2]

GILA PROJECT, ARIZONA; WELLTON-MOHAWK DIVISION

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OF SALE OF FARM UNITS

SEPTEMBER 13, 1955.

Gila Project, Arizona, Wellton-Mohawk Division; public announcement of the sale of farm units.

LANDS COVERED

SECTION 1. Offer of farm units for sale. It is hereby announced that certain farm units on the Wellton-Mohawk Division of the Gila Project, as shown on approved farm unit plats on file in the office of the Projects Manager, Yuma Projects Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona, and in the Land and Survey Office of the Bureau of Land Management at Phoenix, Arizona, will be sold to qualified applicants in accordance with the provisions of this announcement. Applications for purchase of farm units may be submitted beginning at 2:00 p. m., October 25, 1955.

The farm units hereby offered for sale by the United States are all in Yuma County, Arizona, and are described in Addendum No. 1 to this announcement as attached hereto.

SEC. 2. Limit of acreage which may be purchased. The lands covered by this announcement have been divided into farm units. Each of the farm units represents the acreage which, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior, may reasonably be required for the support of a family upon such land. The areas in the different units are fixed at the amounts shown upon the farm unit plats referred to in section 1 of this announcement.

PREFERENCE RIGHTS OF VETERANS

SEC. 3. Nature of preference. Except for a prior preference given applicants for exchange of farm units under the provisions of the Act of August 13, 1953 (67 Stat. 566), a preference right to purchase the farm units described above will be given to certain veterans (and in some cases to their wives, husbands, or guardians of minor children) whose applications are received in the office of the projects manager, Yuma Projects Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona, before 2:00 p. m., January 25, 1956. The six classes of persons who will be eligible for this veterans preference are as follows:

(a) Persons, including those under 21 years of age, who have served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard of the United States for a period of at least 90 days at any time on or after September 16, 1940, and the official termination of the Korean conflict, and who have been honorably discharged.

(b) Persons, including those under 21 years of age, who have served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard during the period described in subsection (a) of this section, regardless of length of service, and who have been discharged on account of wounds received or disability incurred during such period in the line of duty, or, subsequent to a regular discharge, have been furnished hospitalization or awarded compensation by the Government on account of such wounds or disability.

(c) The spouse of any person in either of the first two classes listed in this section, if the spouse has the consent of such person to exercise his or her preference right. (See subsection 7 (c) of this announcement regarding provision that a married woman must be head of a family.)

(d) The surviving spouse of any person in either of the first two classes listed in this section, or in the case of the death or marriage of such spouse, the minor child or children of such person, by a guardian duly appointed and officially accredited at the Department of the Interior.

(e) The surviving spouse of any person whose death has resulted from wounds received or disability incurred in the line of duty while serving in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard during the period described in subsection (a) of this section, or in the case of the death or marriage of such spouse, the minor child or children of such person, by a guardian duly appointed and officially accredited at the Department of the Interior.

(f) Persons who have served in the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard during the War with Germany which commenced April 6, 1917, and terminated March 3, 1921, or during the War with Spain or the Suppression of the Insurrection in the Philippines, which war and insurrection commenced April 21, 1898, and terminated July 15, 1903, and were honorably separated or discharged therefrom or placed in the regular Army or Naval Reserve.

In order to be eligible to purchase farm units, all applicants, except qualified exchange applicants, whether or not entitled to veterans preference, must possess the necessary qualifications as to character and industry, farm experience, health and capital (see Section 6 of this announcement).

SEC. 4. Definition of honorable discharge. An honorable discharge means:

(a) Separation from the service by means of an honorable discharge or by the acceptance of resignation or a discharge under honorable conditions.

(b) Release from active duty under honorable conditions to an inactive status, whether or not in a reserve component, or retirement.

Any person who obtains an honorable discharge as herein defined shall be entitled to veterans preference even though such person thereafter resumes active military duty.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED OF PURCHASERS

SEC. 5. Examining board. An examining board of four members, including the Chief, Operations Division, of the Yuma Projects Office, Bureau of Reclamation, who will act as secretary of the board, has been approved by the Commissioner of Reclamation to determine the qualifications and fitness of applicants to undertake the purchase, development and operation of a farm on the Wellton-Mohawk Division, Gila Project. The board will make careful investigations to verify the statements made by applicants. Any false statement may constitute grounds for rejection of an application and cancellation of the applicant's right to purchase a farm unit.

SEC. 6. Minimum qualifications. This section sets forth the minimum qualifications which are necessary to give reasonable assurance of success of a contract purchaser of a farm unit. Applicant must be qualified to purchase a farm unit under the Act of July 30, 1947 (61 Stat. 628), which prohibits the sale by the United States to an individual of more than one farm unit. Applicants, unless qualified exchange applicants, must, in the judgment of the examining board, meet these qualifications in order to be eligible for the purchase of farm units. Failure to meet them in any single respect will be sufficient cause for rejection of an application. No credit will be given for qualifications in excess of the required minimum.

The minimum qualifications are as follows:

(a) Character and industry. An applicant must be possessed of honesty, temperate habits, thrift, industry, seriousness of purpose, record of good moral conduct, and a bona fide intent to engage in farming as an occupation.

(b) Farm experience. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, an applicant must have had a minimum of two years' (24 months) full-time farm experience, which shall consist of participation in actual farming operations, after attaining the age of 15 years. Time spent in agricultural courses in an accredited agricultural college or time spent in work closely associated with farming, such as teaching vocational agriculture, agricultural extension work, or field work in the production or marketing of farm products, which, in the opinion of the board, will be of value to an applicant in operating a farm, may be substituted for full-time farm experience. Such substitution shall be on the basis of one year (academic year of at least nine months) of agricultural college courses or one year (twelve months) of work closely associated with farming for six months of full-time farm experience. Not more than one year of full-time farm experience of this type will be allowed. A farm youth who actually resided and worked on a farm after attaining the age of 15 and while attending school may credit such experience as full-time experience.

Applicants who have acquired their experience on an irrigated farm will not be given preference over those whose experience was acquired on a nonirrigated farm, but all applicants must have had farm experience of such a nature as, in the judgment of the examining board, will qualify the applicants to undertake the development and operation of an irrigated farm by modern methods.

(c) Health. An applicant must be in such physical condition as will enable him to engage in normal farm labor.

(d) Capital. An applicant must possess assets worth at least $5,000 in excess of liabilities. Assets must consist of cash, property or assets readily convertible into cash, or assets such as livestock, farm machinery and equipment, which, in the opinion of the board, will be useful in the development and operation of a new, irrigated farm. In considering the practical value of property which will be useful in the development of a farm, the board will not value household goods at more than $500 or a passenger car for more than $500. An applicant may be required to furnish a certified financial statement showing all of his assets and all of his liabilities. (See Section 11 of this announcement.) Assets not useful in the development of a farm will be considered if the applicant furnishes, at the board's request, evidence of the value of the property and proof of its conversion into useful form before execution of a land sale contract.

SEC. 7. Other qualifications required. Except for qualified exchange applicants all applicants (except guardians) must meet the following requirements:

(a) Must be a citizen of the United States or have declared an intention to become a citizen of the United States.

(b) Must not own more than 160 acres of land in the United States at the time of his execution of a land sale contract.

(c) Must, if a married woman, or a person under 21 years of age who is not eligible for veterans preference, be the head of a family. The head of a family is ordinarily the husband, but a wife or a minor child who is obliged to assume major responsibility for the support of a family may be the head of a family.

(d) Must not hold or own, within any Federal Reclamation project, irrigable land for which construction charges payable to the United States have not been fully paid, except that this restriction does not apply to small tracts used exclusively for residential purposes.

An applicant who owns lands in a Federal Reclamation project must furnish satisfactory evidence prior to execution of the land sale contract that the total construction charges allocated against the land owned by the applicant have been paid in full.

WHERE AND HOW TO SUBMIT AN APPLICATION FOR A FARM UNIT

SEC. 8. Application blanks. Any person desiring to purchase a farm unit offered for sale by this announcement must fill out the attached application blank (Form 7-511a), and file it with the Projects Manager, Yuma Projects Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona, in person or by mail. Additional application blanks may be obtained from the Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona; the Regional Director, Bureau of Reclamation, Boulder City, Nevada; or the Commissioner of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C. No advantage will accrue to an applicant who presents an application in person. Each application submitted, including evidence of qualification to be submitted following the public drawing, will become a part of the records of the Department of the Interior and cannot be returned to the applicant. For this reason, original discharge or citizenship papers should not be submitted.

SELECTION OF QUALIFIED APPLICANTS

SEC. 9. Priority of applications. All applications, including those filed by qualified exchange applicants must be received prior to 2:00 p. m., January 25, 1956. All applications, except those received from exchange applicants, which shall be given a prior preference, will be classified for priority purposes and considered in the following order:

(a) First Priority Group. All complete applications filed prior to 2:00 p. m., January 25, 1956, by applicants who claim veterans preference. All such applications will be treated as simultaneously filed.

(b) Second Priority Group. All complete applications filed prior to 2:00 p. m., January 25, 1956, by applicants who do not claim veterans preference. All such applications will be treated as simultaneously filed.

(c) Third Group. All complete applications filed after 2:00 p. m., January 25, 1956. Such applications will be considered in the order in which they are filed if any farm units are available for sale to applicants within this group.

SEC. 10. Public drawing. After the priority classification, the board will conduct a public drawing of the names of the applicants in the First Priority Group as defined in subsection 9 (a) of this announcement. Applicants need not be present at the drawing in order to participate therein. The names of a sufficient number of applicants (not less than four times the number of farm units offered for sale) shall be drawn and numbered in the order drawn for the purpose of establishing the order in which the applications drawn will be examined by the board to determine whether the applicants meet the minimum qualifications prescribed in this announcement, and to establish the priority of qualified applicants for the selection of farm units. After such drawing, the board shall notify only those applicants whose names are drawn of their respective standings.

SEC. 11. Submission of evidence of qualification. After the drawing a sufficient number of applicants, in the order of their priority as established in the drawing, will be supplied with forms on which to submit evidence of qualification showing that they meet the qualifications set forth in sections 6 and 7 of this announcement and, in case veterans preference is claimed, establishing proof of such preference, as set forth in section 3 of this announcement. Full and accurate answers must be made to all questions. The completed form, together with any attachments required, must be received in the office of the Projects Manager, Yuma Projects Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona, within 30 days of the date the form is mailed to the last known address furnished by the applicant. Failure of an applicant to furnish all of the information requested or to see that information is furnished by his references within the period specified will subject his application to rejection.

SEC. 12. Examination and interview. After the information requested as outlined in section 11 of this announcement has been received or the time for submitting such statements has expired, the board shall examine in the order drawn a sufficient number of applications, together with the evidence of qualification submitted, to determine the applicants who will be permitted to purchase farm units. This examination will determine the sufficiency, authenticity, and reliability of the information and evidence submitted by the applicants. If the examination indicates that an applicant is qualified, the applicant may be required to appear for a personal interview with the board for the purpose of: (a) Affording the board any additional information it may desire relative to his qualifications; (b) affording the applicant any information desired relative to conditions in the area and the problems and obligations relative to development of a farm unit and (c) affording the applicant an opportunity to examine the farm units. If the applicant fails to appear before the board for a personal interview when requested he shall thereby forfeit his priority as established by the drawing.

If the board finds that an applicant's qualifications fulfill the requirements prescribed in this announcement, such applicant shall be notified, in person or by certified mail, that he is a qualified applicant and shall be given an opportunity to select one of the farm units then available for purchase. An applicant will be required prior to the execution of a land sale contract to submit evidence satisfactory to the board that he does not own more than 160 acres of land in the United States.

If the applicant fails to supply any of the information required or the board finds that the applicant's qualifications do not meet the requirements prescribed in this announcement, the applicant shall be disqualified and shall be notified by the board, by certified mail, of such disqualification and the reasons therefor and of the right to appeal to the Regional Director, Region 3, Bureau of Reclamation. All appeals must be received in the office of the Projects Manager, Yuma Projects Office, within 15 days of the applicant's receipt of such notice, or in any event, within 30 days from the date the notice is mailed to the last address furnished by the applicant. The Projects Manager will forward the appeals promptly to the Regional Director. The Regional Director's decision on all appeals shall be final.

SELECTION OF FARM UNITS

SEC. 13. Order of selection. The applicants who have been notified of their qualification to purchase a farm unit will successively exercise the right to select a farm unit in accordance with the priority established by the drawing. If a farm unit becomes available through failure of a qualified applicant to exercise his right of selection or failure to complete his purchase, it will be offered to the next qualified applicant who has not made a selection at the time the unit is again available. An applicant who is considered to be disqualified as a result of the personal interview will be permitted to exercise his right to select, notwithstanding his disqualification, unless he voluntarily surrenders his right in writing. If, on appeal, the action of the board in disqualifying an applicant as a result of the personal interview is reversed by the Regional Director, the applicant's selection shall be effective, but if such action of the board is upheld by the Regional Director, the farm unit selected by this applicant will become available for selection by qualified applicants who have not exercised their right to select.

If any of the farm units listed in this announcement remain unselected after all qualified applicants whose names were selected in the drawings have had an opportunity to select a farm unit, and if additional applicants remain in the First Priority Group, the board will follow the same procedure outlined in section 10 of this announcement in the selection of additional applicants from this group.

If any of the farm units remain unselected after all qualified applicants in the First Priority Group have had an opportunity to select a farm unit, the board will follow the same procedure to select applicants from the Second Priority Group and they will be permitted to exercise their right to select a farm unit in the manner prescribed for the qualified applicants from the First Priority Group.

Any farm units remaining unselected after all qualified applicants in the Second Priority Group have had an opportunity to select a farm unit will be offered to applicants in the Third Group in the order in which their applications were filed, subject to the determination of the board, made in accordance with the procedure prescribed herein, that such applicants meet the minimum qualifications prescribed in this announcement.

If any farm unit offered by this announcement remains unsold for a period of two years following the date of this announcement, the unit, unless withdrawn from the announcement, will be offered to the first applicant who files an application after the expiration of the two-year period and who meets the qualifications prescribed by this announcement, without regard to veterans preference.

SEC. 14. Failure to select. If any applicant, except a qualified exchange applicant, refuses to select a farm unit or fails to do so within the time specified by the board, such applicant shall forfeit his position in his priority group and his name shall be placed last in that group.

SEC. 15. Execution of land sale contract. When an available farm unit is selected by an applicant as provided in Section 13 of this announcement the Projects Manager promptly will give the applicant a written notice confirming the availability to him of the unit selected and will furnish him with the land sale contract form, together with instructions concerning its execution and return and the time allowed therefor. In that notice the Projects Manager also will inform the applicant of the amount of the minimum down payment for the farm unit and of any further action required in connection with the conversion of assets pursuant to subsection 6 (d), the payment pursuant to subsection 7 (d) of construction charges on lands owned on any Reclamation project and the submission pursuant to section 12 of evidence that he does not own more than 160 acres of land in the United States.

If in the case of any applicant the land sale contract is not executed, acknowledged and returned to the Projects Manager in conformity with the above-mentioned instructions, accompanied by payment of the above-mentioned amounts, and completion of any other action specified in the instructions the application will be subject to rejection.

SEC. 16. Terms of sale. Contracts for the sale of farm units pursuant to this announcement will contain among others, the following principal provisions:

(a) Down payment. An initial or down payment of $1.00 per acre or 10 percent of the purchase price, whichever is greater, will be required upon execution of the land sale contract. Larger proportions, or the entire amount of the purchase price, may be paid initially at the purchaser's option.

(b) Schedule for payment of balance and interest rate. If only a portion of the purchase price is paid initially, the balance will be payable within a period of 8 years following the date of the land sale contract. No payments on the balance of the principal will be required during the first three years. The balance of the principal will be payable in five equal installments, which shall be payable at yearly intervals on the anniversary date of the land sale contract beginning three (3) years after the date thereof. Payment of any or all installments or any portion thereof may be made before the due date at the purchaser's option. No interest shall be charged on any charges due from the purchaser except that on all such charges or any part thereof which remain unpaid by the purchaser to the United States after the same become due, an interest charge of ½ of 1 percent of the amount unpaid shall be added thereto and thereafter an additional interest charge of ½ of 1 percent of the principal sum unpaid shall be added on the first day of each succeeding calendar month until the amount due, including such interest, is paid in full.

(c) Cultivation requirements. In order that the irrigable area of the farm unit shall be developed with reasonable dispatch each purchaser will be required, as a minimum, to clear, level, irrigate and grow remunerative crops on at least ½ of the irrigable area of the farm unit for at least two years (24 consecutive months) prior to eight years from the date of execution of the contract or before receiving title to the unit, whichever is earlier. The crop production requirements of this section must be performed by the purchaser personally, by members of his immediate family residing with him, or by persons employed under his direction, supervision and management.

(d) Residence and improvement requirements. A major objective of the settlement program of the Gila Project is to assist and encourage permanent settlement of farm families. In keeping with this objective each purchaser will be required to reside on the land for a period of at least seven months during each of the three 12-month periods immediately following the establishment of residence, except that military and naval service of honorably discharged veterans with at least 90 days' service may be substituted month for month of the seven-month residence required during the third 12-month period and such service in excess of twelve months may be substituted month for month for the seven months of residence required during the second 12-month period. Such residence must be established by the purchaser by personally moving onto the farm unit within six months from the date of the land sale contract or within six months from the date the water is first made available to the irrigation block in which the farm unit is located, whichever is later. The time for compliance with the establishment of residence may be extended by the Projects Manager for periods of as long as six months, upon his determination that an extension is necessary to avoid undue hardship to the purchaser and that it will not be detrimental to the orderly development of the irrigation block, but the initial date for establishment of residence shall not in any event be extended for more than one year beyond the initial period first above provided. The purchaser shall erect a habitable dwelling upon the farm unit before receiving title to the unit.

(e) Waiver clause. In extraordinary situations, any or all of the requirements set out in (c) and (d) above may be waived by the Regional Director on his determination, after recommendation by the Projects Manager, that such waiver would be in the interest of the orderly development of the irrigation block.

(f) Land holding limitations. The farm units are sold pursuant to the provisions of this announcement and the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388), and Acts amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto, particularly the Act of December 21, 1928 (45 Stat. 1057), as amended, and the Act of July 30, 1947 (61 Stat. 628), and of the contract dated March 4, 1952, between the United States and Wellton-Mohawk Irrigation and Drainage District entitled: "Contract with Wellton-Mohawk Irrigation and Drainage District for construction of works and for delivery of water," as supplemented June 19, 1954, and as amended October 13, 1954, and December 16, 1954, and the purchaser must agree to comply with all the terms, conditions and limitations thereof and of Articles 24, 25, 26 of said contract, which provide, among other things, for the execution of recordable "excess-land" contracts.

(g) Copies of the contract form. The terms listed above and other contract provisions are contained in the "Land Sale Contract" form, copies of which may be examined in the offices of the Projects Manager, Yuma Projects Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona, or the offices of the Regional Director, Bureau of Reclamation, Boulder City, Nevada.

IRRIGATION, GENERAL REPAYMENT OBLIGATION AND OTHER CHARGES

SEC. 17. Temporary water rental charges. While some construction activity is continuing and the irrigation system is being tested, it is expected that water will be furnished on a temporary rental basis to those desiring it on terms which will be announced by the Regional Director.

SEC. 18. Charges for water delivery during development period. Pursuant to the provisions of the repayment contract on March 4, 1952, as supplemented June 19, 1954, and as amended October 13, 1954, and December 16, 1954, hereinafter referred to as the contract of March 4, 1952, between the United States and the Wellton-Mohawk Irrigation and Drainage District, the Secretary of the Interior has announced development periods of ten years starting October 28, 1953, for lands in Irrigation Block No. 1, and November 3, 1954, for lands in Irrigation Block No. 2, and will announce similar 10-year development periods for lands in each irrigation block yet to be established in the Wellton-Mohawk Division, during which time payment of general repayment obligation charges will not be required. Charges for delivery of water during the development period for each irrigation block will be established in accordance with the aforementioned contract of March 4, 1952.

In addition to temporary water rental charges and charges for delivery of water during development period, the farm unit will be subject to District taxes and assessments as provided in Section 20. From time to time following the beginning of the development period for each irrigation block the District upon making appropriate arrangements with the Secretary may undertake the care, operation and maintenance of the distribution system and other works except those specified as reserved works by the contract of March 4, 1952. After assumption of responsibility for operation and maintenance of works by the District, the District will make such charges as may be required to meet costs of the care, operation and maintenance of works transferred to it. These charges will be payable in addition to charges which will be made for the care, operation and maintenance of works retained by the United States and utilized in delivery of water to works under the care of the District.

SEC. 19. Payments after development period. The District shall, when necessary, levy and collect appropriate taxes, assessments and or other charges sufficient to enable it to pay to the United States operation and maintenance charges and general repayment obligation charges as provided in the contract of March 4, 1952.

The general repayment obligation of the District subject to certain qualifications will not exceed $42,000,000. Said obligation will be allocated among several irrigation blocks aggregating approximately 75,000 irrigable acres. Each irrigation block will be required to pay its allocated share during the 60-year period immediately following the end of its development period. District levies covering these charges will be graduated according to the productivity group, in which the land is situated in accordance with the mechanics therefor provided in the repayment contract. At the option of the Board of Directors of the District, payment of these charges will be computed in accordance with a variable formula providing for payment of lesser amounts during periods of low agricultural prices and greater payments during periods of high agricultural prices.

SEC. 20. Taxes and assessments. On the first Monday of the January next succeeding the date of each land sale contract the lands covered by such contract shall, within the limitations set out in Article 22 of the above-mentioned District contract dated March 4, 1952, become subject to the provisions of the laws of the State of Arizona relating to the organization, government and regulation of irrigation, electrical, power and other similar districts and subject to legal assessment or taxation by any such district and by said State or political subdivisions thereof, and to liens for such assessments and taxes and to all proceedings for the enforcement thereof, in the same manner and to the same extent as privately owned lands, and shall remain subject thereto during the time such land sale contract shall remain in effect. After title to said lands has passed to the purchaser, he will be subject to the same obligations as the owner of private lands situated within the District.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 21. Warning against unlawful settlement. No person shall be permitted to gain or exercise any right under any settlement or occupation of any of the lands covered by this announcement, except under the terms and conditions prescribed herein.

SEC. 22. Reservation of rights-of-way for public roads. Rights-of-way along section lines and other lines shown in red on the farm unit plats described in Section 1 of this announcement are reserved for county, State and Federal highways and access roads to the farm units shown on said farm unit plats.

SEC. 23. Reservations and exceptions. The sales of the farm units will be subject to existing rights-of-way in favor of the public or third parties and to any existing oil and gas leases. In each such sale, there will be reserved to the United States and its successors and assigns in the operation and maintenance of the Wellton-Mohawk Division rights-of-way for canals, laterals, ditches, levees, dikes, roadways, pipelines, electric transmission lines, and telephone and telegraph lines. There may also be reserved to the United States any mineral, oil, and gas rights if required.

SEC. 24. Flood hazard. The lands to be sold lie in the flood plain of the Gila River and may be subject to flooding from runoff after heavy rains. A flood control dam has been authorized for construction by the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, above the project area but money has been appropriated only for advance planning. Purchasers are warned that in case of runoff resulting in the flooding of any of the lands the Government assumes no responsibility for damage to persons or property caused by such flooding.

NOTE: The reporting requirement of this announcement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

FRED G. AANDAHL,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING ON PETITION TO AMEND PRIOR ORDER

Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern) on October 14, 1955, filed a petition requesting the Commission to amend its order issued October 9, 1953, in the above-entitled proceeding. By such petition Texas Eastern seeks to be relieved of the obligation to reduce its rates insofar as such obligation relates to the proceedings of United Gas Pipe Line Company (United) in Docket No. G–2019, in accordance with Finding (2) (ii) and paragraph (A) of the order issued October 9, 1953.

By its petition Texas Eastern requests that the order issued October 9, 1953, in this docket, be amended to provide that:

(i) Texas Eastern refund to its customers in Rate Zones C and D the actual difference between the costs of gas purchased from United at Longview, Texas, and Kosciusko, Mississippi, under rates effective prior to August 1, 1954, and on and after August 1, 1954, for the period from August 1, 1954, to the date that the changes in rates proposed by United in its September 30, 1955, filing become effective, under bond, or otherwise.

(ii) Texas Eastern's obligation to reduce its rates in its Rate Zones C and D to reflect the net decrease in the cost of gas purchased from United as a result of the order issued November 2, 1954, in Docket No. G–2019, be modified to substitute the final result on United's proposed increase filed September 30, 1955, as a basis for requiring a rate reduction by Texas Eastern, if the Commission's determination on that filing results in a cost of gas purchased by Texas Eastern from United which is less than the cost of gas under United's rate schedule in effect prior to August 1, 1954.

The Commission finds:

(1) It is reasonable and in the public interest to enter upon a hearing concerning the proposed amendment and modification of the order issued October 9, 1953, in this docket, as requested by Texas Eastern in its petition filed October 14, 1955.

(2) Good cause exists for fixing the date of hearing in this proceeding less than 15 days after publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the authority conferred upon the Commission by the Natural Gas Act, including particularly sections 4, 15 and 16 thereof, a public hearing be held commencing on November 2, 1955, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by the petition filed by Texas Eastern in this docket on October 14, 1955.

(B) On or before October 28, 1955, Texas Eastern shall submit in support of its petition herein, to each of its customers and to each of the intervenors in this docket, and to the staff, a cost of service study for the most recently available 12-month period.

(C) Interested State Commissions and all other parties heretofore granted intervention in this docket may participate in such hearing.

Adopted: October 19, 1955.

Issued: October 21, 1955.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

TEXAS GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING ON PETITION TO AMEND PRIOR ORDER

Texas Gas Transmission Corporation (Texas Gas) on October 14, 1955, filed a petition requesting the Commission to amend its order issued August 7, 1953, in the above-entitled proceeding. By such petition Texas Gas seeks to be relieved of the obligation to reduce its rates insofar as such obligation relates to the proceedings of United Gas Pipe Line Company (United) in Docket Nos. G-1142 and G-2019, in accordance with "Article III of the Proposed Settlement" agreed to by all the parties to the above proceeding, and accepted by the Commission in Opinion No. 260 as a just and reasonable basis for settlement of such proceedings, and as provided by paragraph (F) of the order accompanying that opinion.

By its petition filed herein on October 14, 1955, Texas Gas requests that the order issued August 7, 1953, in this docket be amended to provide that:

(i) Texas Gas file rates to become effective upon the same date that the changes in rates proposed by United in its September 30, 1955, filing become effective, under bond or otherwise, whereby Texas Gas would reduce the commodity charges in its presently effective rates by 0.06 cent per Mcf in Zones 1 and 2 and by 0.11 cent per Mcf in Zones 3 and 4 (in lieu of the reductions of 0.49 cent per Mcf and 0.54 cent per Mcf, respectively, that would be required absent United's filing of September 30, 1955);

(ii) Texas Gas refund and file changes in its rate schedules as may be required as a result of Commission final order directed to United's proposed increased rates filed September 30, 1955;

(iii) Texas Gas will not be relieved of its obligation to make the refunds received from United as a result of the Commission's order in Docket Nos. G-1142 and G-2019, for the period January 8, 1953, through July 31, 1954, upon final disposition of that order after court review, if any;

(iv) Texas Gas will not be relieved of its obligation to refund to its customers amounts representing the equivalent of the reduction in rates required by Paragraph (F) of the order issued August 7, 1953, in this docket for the period beginning August 1, 1954, and ending upon the day on which the rates referred to in (i) above become effective.

Texas Gas further states that upon issuance by the Commission of an order amending the order issued August 7, 1953, in this docket, as requested in its petition, it would take the necessary steps to withdraw its application for a general rate increase filed with the Commission on October 7, 1955, based principally on United's filing of September 30, 1955.

The Commission finds:

(1) It is reasonable and in the public interest to enter upon a hearing concerning the proposed amendment to our Opinion No. 260 and accompanying order issued August 7, 1953, requested by Texas Gas in its petition filed October 14, 1955.

(2) Good cause exists for fixing the date of hearing in this proceeding less than 15 days after publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the authority conferred upon the Commission by the Natural Gas Act, including particularly sections 4, 15 and 16 thereof, a public hearing be held commencing on November 1, 1955, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by the petition filed by Texas Gas in this docket on October 14, 1955.

(B) Interested State Commissions and all other parties heretofore granted intervention in this docket may participate in such hearing.

Adopted: October 19, 1955.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

PART 970—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN MAINE

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. (a) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 122 and Order No. 70 (7 CFR Part 970), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the State of Maine, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Maine Potato Marketing Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (iii) compliance with this amendment will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation, and (v) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

Order, as amended. The provisions of § 970.302 (b) (1) (FEDERAL REGISTER, September 16, 1955; 20 F. R. 6815) are hereby amended as follows:

(b) Order. (1) During the period from October 31, 1955, to June 30, 1956, both dates inclusive, and except as otherwise provided in this section, no handler shall handle (i) potatoes of the round white or of the red skin varieties unless such potatoes meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1 or better grade, 2¼ inches minimum diameter and 4 inches maximum diameter, and unless at least 90 percent of such potatoes are "fairly clean," and (ii) potatoes of the long varieties (including, but not limited to, the Russet Burbank variety) unless such potatoes are "fairly clean," and meet the requirements of (a) the U. S. No. 1 or better grade, Size A, 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight or (b) the U. S. No. 2 grade, 6 ounces minimum weight.

25, 1953 (18 F. R. 6799) which authorized the Administrator to establish increased maximum take-off weights for certain airplanes of 12,500 pounds or less operated by Alaskan air carriers and by the United States Department of the Interior in the Territory of Alaska. The authority contained in SR–399 terminates on October 25, 1955. Since the domestic economy of Alaska is greatly dependent upon the continued operation of Alaskan air carriers using airplanes of 12,500 pounds or less, and since the Department of the Interior expects to continue to use such airplanes in the Territory of Alaska, the authority currently provided by this special regulation is being extended for a period of 5 years. However, during this period the Board will study further the operating conditions and the types of airplanes in use in Alaska to determine whether this authorization should be permitted to expire or be extended 5 years hence or be made a permanent part of the Civil Air Regulations.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this regulation and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. Since this regulation imposes no additional burden on any person, it may be made effective on less than thirty days' notice.

In view of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby makes and promulgates a Special Civil Air Regulation, effective October 26, 1955, to read as follows:

1. The Administrator is hereby authorized to establish a maximum authorized weight for airplanes type certificated under the provisions of Aeronautics Bulletin No. 7–A of the Aeronautics Branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce, dated January 1, 1931, as amended, under the normal category of Part 4a, which are operated entirely within the Territory of Alaska by Alaskan air carriers as designated by Part 292, as amended, of the Board's Economic Regulations or by the U. S. Department of the Interior in the conduct of its game and fish law enforcement activities and its management, fire detection, and fire suppression activities with respect to public land.

2. The maximum authorized weight herein referred to shall not exceed any of the following:

(a) 12,500 pounds,

(b) 115 percent of the maximum weight listed in the CAA Aircraft Specification,

(c) The weight at which the airplane meets the positive maneuvering load factor requirement for the normal category specified in § 3.186 of the Civil Air Regulations, or

(d) The weight at which the airplane meets the climb performance requirements under which it was type certificated.

3. In determining the maximum authorized weight the Administrator shall also consider the structural soundness of the airplane and the terrain to be traversed in the operation.

4. The maximum authorized weight so determined shall be added to the airplane's operation limitations and identified as the maximum weight authorized for operations within the Territory of Alaska.

This regulation supersedes Special Civil Air Regulation No. SR–399, and shall terminate October 25, 1960, unless sooner superseded or rescinded.

[Reg. SR–408A]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

SPECIAL CIVIL AIR REGULATIONS; DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO ADMINISTRATOR TO ESTABLISH RULES APPLICABLE TO HIGH DENSITY TRAFFIC ZONE IN WASHINGTON, D. C., AREA

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 26th day of October 1955.

On October 20, 1954, the Civil Aeronautics Board adopted Special Civil Air Regulation No. SR–408, effective November 25, 1954, which delegated to the Administrator authority to designate a "High Density Air Traffic Zone" in the Washington, D. C., area and to establish additional rules for VFR operations within the zone for the purpose of conducting experiments with respect to procedures and rules necessary for the safe and efficient movement of air traffic in high density air traffic zones. The authority delegated to the Administrator by SR–408 is effective for a period of one year and will terminate on November 24, 1955.

At the time SR–408 was adopted, it was presumed that the Administrator would be able to promulgate additional rules within a reasonably short time. However, in view of the controversial nature of the matters involved, the Administrator deemed it necessary to hold a public hearing. As a consequence, the promulgation of the Administrator's rules was delayed considerably and they did not become effective until August 1, 1955. Unless the authority contained in SR–408 is extended, the rules of the Administrator will be in effect only for a period of approximately three and one-half months. This Special Civil Air Regulation extends until July 31, 1956, the authority contained in SR–408 so as to permit the rules prescribed by the Administrator to be in effect for one year as originally contemplated.

Special Civil Air Regulation No. SR–408 authorized the Administrator to designate all airspace located within the Washington control zone as a high density air traffic zone. However, it appears desirable to make express provision for the exclusion of some airspace surrounding airports within the control zone, other than Washington National Airport, in order to facilitate operations into and from such other airports. Accordingly, this regulation changes the description of the extent of the high density air traffic zone to include "all or any part" of the airspace located within the Washington control zone.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this regulation (20 F. R. 6717), and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

It is recognized that the promulgation of this rule will not permit 30 days effective notice prior to November 25, 1955. However, since this is an extension of the original authority contained in SR–408 and maintains the status quo; and since it would be confusing to the pub-

We and therefore be contrary to the

to this amendment. As stated in SR-proceeding, the Commission invited bound by a broad code of ethics and up-

lic, and therefore be contrary to the public interest, to permit this authority to lapse for several days, the Board finds that good cause exists for making this regulation effective on less than 30 days' notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby makes and promulgates the following Special Civil Air Regulation, effective November 25, 1955:

The Administrator is authorized to designate a zone to be known as a "High Density Air Traffic Zone" in the Washington, D. C., area, to include all or any part of the airspace located within the Washington control zone extending from the surface upward to 3,000 feet above the elevation of the Washington National Airport.

There is hereby delegated to the Administrator authority to prescribe such additional rules to be applicable in the Washington High Density Air Traffic Zone during VFR weather conditions as he shall find are necessary or desirable, for the purpose of conducting experiments with respect to procedures and rules necessary for the safe and efficient movement of air traffic in high density air traffic zones.

All operations of aircraft within the Washington High Density Air Traffic Zone shall be in compliance with the rules and procedures prescribed by the Administrator.

This regulation supersedes Special Civil Air Regulation No. SR-408 and shall terminate July 31, 1956, unless sooner superseded or rescinded by the Board.

PART 618—HIGH DENSITY AIR TRAFFIC ZONE RULES, WASHINGTON, D. C.

EXTENSION OF TERMINATION DATE

Pursuant to the provisions of Special Civil Air Regulation SR-408A,[1] by which the Civil Aeronautics Board extended the authority of the Administrator to designate the airspace located within the Washington control zone as a high density air traffic zone, and to prescribe additional rules which shall be applicable therein during VFR weather conditions, the Administrator hereby extends the termination date of Part 618 from November 24, 1955, to July 31, 1956. Such extension of time will permit the special working group of the Air Traffic Control and Navigation Panel a reasonable time in which to complete its evaluation of the experimental rules contained in Part 618.

This amendment was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER as a notice of proposed rule making on September 27, 1955 (20 F. R. 7197). Due consideration has been given to the views and comments received from interested persons relative to this amendment. As stated in SR-408A, compliance with the effective date requirements of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act is contrary to the public interest. Part 618 is amended as follows:

1. Section 618.30 is amended by changing the termination date from November 24, 1955, to July 31, 1956.

2. Section 618.1 is amended by adding "and SR-408A" after "SR-408 (19 F. R. 671)," in the first sentence of this section.

§ 1.13 Denial of admission, censure, suspension, or disbarment of practitioners. The Commission may, in its discretion, deny admission, censure, suspend, or disbar any person who, it finds, does not possess the requisite qualifications to represent others, or is lacking in character, integrity, or proper professional conduct. Any person who has been admitted to practice may be suspended or disbarred only after he is afforded an opportunity to be heard. All persons, whether or not admitted to practice under § 1.9, must, in their representations before the Commission, conform to the code of ethics published by the Association of Interstate Commerce Commission Practitioners as of April 1, 1955, which code is reprinted in the appendix to this section.

APPENDIX—CODE OF ETHICS FOR PRACTITIONERS BEFORE THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

PREAMBLE

No rules of conduct can be framed which will particularize all the duties of the practitioner in the varying phases of litigation or in his relations to clients, adversaries, other practitioners, the Commission and the public. The following canons of ethics are adopted as a general guide for those admitted to practice before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It will be remembered that the practitioners before the Commission include (a) lawyers, who have been regularly admitted to practice law, and (b) others having traffic or other technical experience qualifying them to aid the Commission in administration of the Interstate Commerce Act and related acts of Congress. The former are bound by a broad code of ethics and unwritten rules of professional conduct which apply to every activity of a lawyer; for the latter, no code of ethics has been written heretofore. The following canons do not release the lawyer from any of the duties or principles of professional conduct by which lawyers are bound. They apply alike to all practitioners before the Commission and the setting forth therein of particular duties or principles of conduct should not be construed as a denial of the existence of others equally imperative although not specifically mentioned. The word "Commission" as used herein includes Divisions of the Commission, and the representatives of the Commission, whether members, examiners, or other employees connected with the matter in hand.

CANONS OF ETHICS

1. Standards of ethical conduct in courts of United States to be observed. These canons are in furtherance of the purpose of the Commission's rules of practice which enjoin upon all persons appearing in proceedings before it to conform, as nearly as may be, to the standards of ethical conduct required of practitioners before the courts of the United States; and such standards are taken as the basis for these specifications, modified in so far as the nature of the practice before the Commission requires.

2. The duty of the practitioner to and his attitude towards the Commission. It is the duty of the practitioner to maintain towards the Commission a respectful attitude, not for the sake of the temporary incumbent of the office, but for the maintenance of the importance of the functions he administers. In many respects the Commission functions as a Court, and practitioners should regard themselves as officers of that Court and strive to uphold its honor and dignity. The Commission, not being wholly free to defend itself is peculiarly entitled to receive the support of the practitioner against unjust criticism and clamor. Whenever there is proper ground for serious complaint of a member or employee of the Commission it is the right and duty of the practitioner to submit his grievances to the proper authorities. In such cases, but not otherwise, such charges should be encouraged and the person making them should be protected.

3. Punctuality and expedition. It is the duty of the practitioner not only to his client, but also to the Commission and to the public, to be punctual in attendance, and to be concise and direct in the trial and disposition of causes.

4. Attempts to exert political influence on the Commission. It is unethical for a practitioner to attempt to sway the judgment of the Commission by propaganda, or by enlisting the influence or intercession of members of the Congress or other public officers, or by threats of political or personal reprisal.

5. Attempts to exert personal influence on the Commission. Marked attention and unusual hospitality on the part of a practitioner to a Commissioner, examiner, or other representative of the Commission, uncalled for and unwarranted by the personal relations of the parties, subject both to misconstruction of motive and should be avoided. A self-respecting independence in the discharge of duty, without denial or diminution of the courtesy and respect due the official station is the only proper foundation for cordial personal and official relations between Commission and practitioners.

6. The selection of Commissioners. The nomination of Commissioners is a duty of the President, and confirmation, of the Senate. It is the duty of the practitioners in so far as they attempt to advise the appointing or confirming officers, to endeavor to prevent any consideration from outweighing fitness in the selection.

7. The practitioner's duty in its last analysis. No client, corporate or individual, however powerful, no cause, civil or political however important, is entitled to receive, and no practitioner should render, any service or advice involving disloyalty to the law or disrespect of its official ministers, or corruption of any person or persons exercising a public office or employment or private trust, or deception or betrayal of the public. In rendering any such improper service or advice the practitioner invites and merits stern and just condemnation. Correspondingly, he advances the honor of his calling and the best interests of his client when he renders service or gives advice tending to impress upon the client and his undertaking exact compliance with the strictest principles of moral law. He must also observe and advise his client to observe the statute law, although until a statute shall have been construed and interpreted by competent adjudication, he is free and is entitled to advise as to its validity and as to what he conscientiously believes to be its just meaning and extent. But above all he will find his highest honor in a deserved reputation for fidelity to private trust and to public duty, as an honest man and as a patriotic and loyal citizen.

8. Private communications with the Commission. In the disposition of contested proceedings brought under the Interstate Commerce Act the Commission exercises quasi-legislative powers, but it is nevertheless acting in a quasi-judicial capacity. It is required to administer the Act and to consider at all times the public interest beyond the mere interest of the particular litigants before it. To the extent that it acts in a quasi-judicial capacity, it is grossly improper for litigants, directly or through any counsel or representative, to communicate privately with a commissioner, examiner or other representative of the Commission about a pending cause, or to argue privately the merits thereof in the absence of their adversaries or without notice to them. Practitioners at all times should scrupulously refrain in their communications to and discussions with the Commission and its staff from going beyond ex parte representations that are clearly proper in view of the administrative work of the Commission.

9. Adverse influences and conflicting interests. It is the duty of a practitioner at the time of retainer to disclose to the client all the circumstances of his relations to the parties, and any interest in or connection with the controversy, which might influence the client in the selection of the person to represent or assist him.

It is unethical to represent conflicting interests, except by express consent of all concerned given after a full disclosure of the facts. Within the meaning of this canon a practitioner represents conflicting interests when, in behalf of one client, it is his duty to contend for that which duty to another client requies him to oppose.

The obligation to represent the client with undivided fidelity and not to divulge his secrets or confidences forbids also the subsequent acceptance of retainers or employment from others in matters adversely affecting any interest of the client with respect to which confidence has been reposed.

10. Joint association of practitioners and conflicts of opinion. A client's proffer of the assistance of additional practitioner should not be regarded as evidence of want of confidence, but the matter should be left to the determination of the client. A practitioner should decline association as colleague if it is objectionable to the practitioner first retained, but if the client should relieve the practitioner first retained, another may come into the case.

When practitioners jointly associated in a cause cannot agree as to any matter vital to the interest of the client, the conflict of opinion should be frankly stated to him for his final determination. His decision should be accepted by them unless the nature of the difference makes it impracticable for the practitioner whose judgment has been overruled to cooperate effectively. In this event it is his duty to ask the client to relieve him.

Efforts, direct or indirect, in any way to encroach upon the business of another practitioner are unworthy of those who should be brethern, but, nevertheless, it is the right of any practitioner, without fear or favor, to give proper advice to those seeking relief against an unfaithful or neglectful practitioner, generally after communication with the practitioner of whom the complaint is made.

11. Withdrawal from employment. The right of a practitioner to withdraw from employment, once assumed, arises only from good cause. Even the desire or consent of the client is not always sufficient. The practitioner representing him should not throw up the unfinished task to the detriment of his client except for reasons of honor or self-respect. If the client insists upon an unjust or immoral course in the conduct of his case, or if he persists over the practitioner's remonstrance in presenting frivolous defenses, or if he deliberately disregards an agreement or obligation as to fees or expenses, the practitioner may be warranted in withdrawing on due notice to the client, allowing him time to employ another. So also when a practitioner discovers that his client has no case and the client is determined to continue it; or even if he finds himself incapable of conducting the case effectively. Sundry other instances may arise in which withdrawal is to be justified. Upon withdrawing from a case after a retainer has been paid, he should refund such part of the retainer as has not been clearly earned.

12. Advising upon the merits of a client's cause. A practitioner should endeavor to obtain full knowledge of his client's cause before advising thereon, and he is bound to give a candid opinion of the merits and probable result of pending or contemplated litigation. He should beware of bold and confident assurances to clients, especially where employment may depend upon such assurance. Whenever the controversy will admit of fair adjustment, the client should be advised to avoid or to end the litigation.

13. Negotiations with opposing party. A practitioner should not in any way communicate upon the subject of controversy with a party represented by another practitioner except upon express agreement with the practitioner representing such party; much less should he undertake to negotiate or compromise the matter with him, but should deal only with the practitioner who represents the other party. It is incumbent upon the practitioner most particularly to avoid everything that may tend to mislead a party not represented by a practitioner, and he should not undertake to advise him as to the law.

14. Fixing the amount of the fee. In fixing fees, practitioners should avoid charges which overestimate their advice and services, as well as those which undervalue them. A client's ability to pay cannot justify a charge in excess of the value of the service, although his poverty may require a less charge, or even none at all.

15. Compensation, commission and rebates. A practitioner should accept no compensation, commissions, rebates, or other advantages from parties to the proceeding other than his client without the knowledge and consent of his client after full disclosure.

16. Contingent fees. Contingent fees should be such only as are sanctioned by law. In no case, except a charity case, should they be entirely contingent upon success.

17. Division of fees. No division of fees for services is proper, except with a member of the bar or with another practitioner, based upon a division of service or responsibility. It is unethical for a practitioner to retain laymen to solicit his employment in pending or prospective cases, and reward them by a division of fees, and such a practice cannot be too severely condemned.

18. Suing clients for fees. Controversies with clients concerning compensation are to be avoided in so far as compatible with self-respect and with the right to receive reasonable recompense for services; and lawsuits against clients should be resorted to only to prevent injustice, imposition or fraud.

19. Acquiring interest in litigation. The practitioner shall not purchase or otherwise acquire any pecuniary interest in the subject matter of the litigation which he is conducting.

20. Expenses. A practitioner may not properly agree with a client that the practitioner shall pay or bear the expenses of litigation. He may in good faith advance expenses as a matter of convenience but subject to reimbursement by the client.

21. Witnesses. A practitioner shall not undertake that the compensation of a witness shall be contingent upon the success of the cause in which he is called. If the ascertainment of truth requires that a practitioner should seek information from one connected with or reputed to be biased in favor of an adverse party, he is not thereby deterred from seeking to ascertain the truth from such person in the interest of his client.

22. Dealing with trust property. Money of the client or other trust property coming into the possession of the practitioner should be reported promptly, and, except with the client's knowledge and consent, should not be commingled with the practitioner's private property or be used by him.

23. How far a practitioner may go in supporting a client's cause. Nothing will operate more certainly to create or foster popular prejudice against practitioners as a class, and deprive them of that full measure of public esteem and confidence which belongs to the proper discharge of their duties than does the false claim, often set up by the unscrupulous in defense of questionable transactions, that it is the duty of the practitioner to do whatever may enable him to succeed in winning his client's cause.

The practitioner owes "entire devotion to the interest of the client, warm zeal in the maintenance and defense of his rights, and the exertion of his utmost learning and ability," to the end that nothing be taken or be withheld from him, save by the rules of law, legally applied. No fear of the disfavor of the Commission or public unpopularity should restrain him from full discharge of his duty. The client is entitled to the benefit of any and every remedy and defense that is authorized by the law of the land, and he may expect his counsel to assert every such remedy or defense. But it is to be steadfastly borne in mind that this great trust is to be performed within and not without the bounds of the law. Admission to the privilege of appearing before the Commission as representing another does not permit, much less does it demand of him for any client, violation of law or any manner of fraud or chicane. He must obey his own conscience and not that of his client.

24. Restraining clients from improprieties. A practitioner should use his best efforts to restrain and to prevent his clients from doing those things which he himself ought not to do, particularly with reference to their conduct towards the Commission, other practitioners, witnesses and suitors. If a client persists in such wrong-doing the practitioner should terminate their relations.

25. Ill-feeling and personalities between advocates. Clients, not their representatives, are the litigants. Whatever may be the ill-feeling existing between clients, it should not be allowed to influence practitioners in their conduct and demeanor toward each other or toward suitors in the case. All personalities between practitioners should be scrupulously avoided. In the trial of a cause it is indecent to allude to the personal history or the personal peculiarities and idiosyncracies of practitioners on the other side. Personal colloquies between practitioners which cause delay and promote unseemly wrangling should also be carefully avoided. Their statements should be addressed to the Commission.

26. Treatment of witnesses and litigants. A practitioner should always treat adverse witnesses and suitors with fairness and due consideration, and he should never minister to the malevolence or prejudice of a client in the trial or conduct of a cause. The client cannot be made the keeper of the practitioner's conscience in such matters. He has no right to demand that the practitioner representing him shall abuse the opposing party or indulge in offensive personalities. Improper speech is not excusable on the ground that it is what the client would say if speaking in his own behalf.

27. (None.)

28. Discussion of pending litigation in public press. Attempts to influence the action and attitude of the members and examiners of the Commission through propaganda, or through colored or distorted articles, in the public press, are more apt to react against than in favor of the parties resorting to such measures. On the other hand, it is not against the public interest or unfair to the Commission that the facts of pending litigation shall be made known to the public through the press in a fair and unbiased manner and in dispassionate terms. Practitioners should themselves avoid, and should counsel their clients against, giving to the public press any press notices or statements of a nature intended to inflame the public mind, to stir up possible hostility toward the Commission, or to influence the Commission's course and judgment as to pending or anticipated litigation. When the circumstances of a particular case appear to justify a statement to the public through the press, it is unethical to make it anonymously.

29. Candor and fairness. The conduct of practitioners before the Commission and with other practitioners should be characterized by candor and fairness. The non-technical character and liberality of the Commission's practice call for scrupulous observance of the principles of fair dealing and just consideration for the rights of others.

It is not candid or fair for a practitioner knowingly to misstate or misquote the contents of a paper, the testimony of a witness, the language or the argument of an opposing practitioner, or the language or effect of a decision or a text book; or, with knowledge of its invalidity to cite as authority a decision which has been overruled or otherwise impaired as a precedent or a statute which has been repealed; or in argument to assert as a fact that which has not been proved, or to mislead his opponent by concealing or withholding positions in his opening argument upon which his side then intends to rely.

It is dishonorable to deal other than candidly with the facts in taking the statements of witnesses, in drawing affidavits and other documents, and in the presentation of causes.

A practitioner should not offer evidence, which he knows the Commission should reject, in order to get the same before the Commission by argument for its admissibility, or arguments upon any point not properly calling for determination. He should not introduce into an argument remarks or statements intended to influence the by-standers.

These and all kindred practices are unethical and unworthy of a practitioner.

30. Right of practitioner to control the incidents of the trial. As to incidental matters pending the trial, not affecting the merits of the cause or working substantial prejudice to the rights of the client, such as forcing the opposing practitioner to trial when he is under affliction or bereavement, forcing the trial on a particular day to the injury of the opposing practitioner when no harm will result from trial at a different time, agreeing to extensions of time and the like, the practitioner and not the client, must be allowed to judge. In such matters no client has a right to demand that his practitioner shall be illiberal or do anything therein repugnant to the practitioner's sense of honor and propriety.

31. Taking technical advantage of opposing practitioner; agreements with him. A practitioner should not ignore known customs or practice of the Commission, even when the law permits, without giving timely notice to the opposing practitioner. In so far as possible, important agreements affecting the rights of clients should be reduced to writing; but it is dishonorable to avoid performance of an agreement fairly made because it is not reduced to writing.

32. Advertising, direct or indirect. The most worthy and effective advertisement possible is the establishment of a well-merited reputation for capacity and fidelity to trust. This cannot be forced, but must be the outcome of character and conduct. The publication or circulation of ordinary simple business cards, being a matter of personal taste or local custom, and sometimes of convenience, is not improper. But solicitation of employment by circulars or advertisements, or by personal communications or interviews, not warranted by personal relations, is unethical. It is equally unethical to procure business by indirection through touters of any kind. Indirect advertisement for employment by furnishing or inspiring newspaper comments concerning causes in which the practitioner has been or is engaged, or concerning the manner of their conduct, the magnitude of the interests involved, the importance of the practitioner's positions, and all other like self-laudation, lower the tone of the calling and are intolerable.

33. Professional card. The simple professional card mentioned in Canon 32 may with propriety contain only a statement of the practitioner's name (and those of his associates), occupation, address, telephone number, and special branch or branches of practice. Such cards may be inserted in reputable lists and may give authorized references, or name clients with their permission.

34. Stirring up litigation, directly or through agents. It is unethical for a practitioner to volunteer advice that a proceeding be brought before the Commission, except in rare cases where ties of blood, relationship or trust make it his duty to do so. Stirring up strife and litigation is not only unethical but it is indictable at common law. It is disreputable for a practitioner to hunt up defects or other causes of action and disclose them in order to be employed to bring complaint, or to breed litigation by seeking out those having claims for damages or any other grounds of action in order to secure them as clients, or to employ agents or runners for like purposes, or to pay or reward, directly or indirectly, those who bring or influence the bringing of such cases to his office to seek his services. No complaint should be brought before the Commission by a practitioner except with the distinct knowledge and specific consent of the client in the particular case. A duty to the public and to the Association devolves upon every member having knowledge of such practices upon the part of any practitioner, immediately to inform thereof to the end that the offender may be disciplined or disbarred.

35. Justifiable and unjustifiable litigation. The practitioner must decline to conduct a cause or to make a defense when convinced that it is intended merely to harass or to injure the opposing party, or to work oppression or wrong. But otherwise it is his right, and having accepted retainer, it becomes his duty, to insist upon the judgment of the Commission as to the merits of his client's claim. His appearance should be deemed equivalent to an assertion upon his honor that in his opinion his client's case is one proper for determination.

36. Responsibility for litigation. No practitioner is obliged to act either as adviser or advocate for every person who may seek to become his client. He has the right to decline employment. Every practitioner upon his own responsibility must decide what employment he will accept, what causes he will bring before the Commisison for complainants, or contest for defendants or respondents. The responsibility for advising as to questionable transactions, for bringing questionable proceedings, for urging questionable defenses is his alone. He cannot escape it by urging as excuses that he is only following his client's instructions, or that he is under a stated retainer or in the regular employment of his client.

37. Discovery of imposition and deception. When a practitioner discovers that some fraud or deception has been practiced, which has unjustly imposed upon the Commission or a party, he should endeavor to rectify it; first by advising his client to forego any advantage thus unjustly gained and, if his client refuses, by promptly informing the injured person or his counsel (practitioner), so that appropriate steps may be taken.

38. Upholding the honor of the calling. Practitioners should expose without fear or favor before the proper tribunals corrupt or dishonest conduct and should accept without hesitation employment against a practitioner who has wronged his client. The practitioner upon the trial of a cause in which perjury has been committed owes it to the Commission and to the public to bring the matter to the knowledge of the prosecuting authorities. The practitioner should aid in guarding the bar of the Commission against admission thereto of candidates unfit or unqualified because deficient in either moral character or education. A practitioner should propose no person for admission to practice before the Commission unless from personal knowledge or upon reasonable inquiry he sincerely believes and is able to vouch that such person possesses the qualifications prescribed in the Commission's rules of practice. He should strive at all times to uphold the honor and maintain the dignity of his calling and to improve not only the law but the administration of justice.

39. Intermediaries. The services of a practitioner should not be controlled or exploited by any lay agency, personal or corporate, which intervenes between client and practitioner. His responsibility and qualifications are individual. He should avoid all relations which direct the performance of his duties in the interest of such intermediaries. His relation to the client should be personal, and the responsibility should be direct to the client.

He may accept employment from any organization such as an association, club or trade organization, authorized by law to be a party to proceedings before the Commission, to render services in such proceedings in any matter in which the organization, as an entity, is interested. This employment should only include the rendering of such services to the members of the organization in respect to their individual affairs as are consistent with the free and untrammeled performance of his duties to the Commission.

Nothing in this canon shall be construed as conflicting with canon 17.

40. Retirement from public employment. A practitioner, having once held public office or having been in the public employ, should not after his retirement, accept employment as an advocate or adviser in the same proceeding or as to the same, or substantially the same, facts as were involved in any specific question which he investigated or passed upon in a judicial or quasi-judicial capacity while in such office or employ, whether the same or different parties are concerned.

41. Confidences of a client. The duty to preserve his client's confidences in the course of his employment outlasts the practitioner's employment, and extends as well to his employees. None of them should accept employment which involves the disclosure or use of these confidences, either for the private advantage of the practitioner or his employees or to the disadvantage of the client, without knowledge and consent of the client even though there are other available sources of such information. A practitioner should not continue employment when he discovers that this obligation prevents the performance of his full duty to his former or to his new client.

If a practitioner is falsely accused by his client, he is not precluded from disclosing the truth in respect to the false accusation. The announced intention of a client to commit a crime is not included within the confidences which a practitioner is bound to respect. He may properly make such disclosures as to prevent the act or protect those against whom it is threatened.

42. Partnerships-names. Partnerships among practitioners for the practice of their calling are very common and are not to be condemned. The rules of the Commission provide that corporations or firms will not be recognized. Practitioners before the Commission should therefore appear individually and not as members of partnerships. In the formation of partnerships care should be taken not to violate any law locally applicable; care should also be taken to avoid any misleading name or representation which would create a false impression as to the position or privileges of a member not locally admitted, or who is not duly authorized to practice, and as such amenable to discipline. No person should be held out as a practitioner or member who is not so admitted. No practitioner who is not admitted to practice in the courts should be held out in a way which will give the impression that he is so admitted. No false or assumed or trade name should be used to disguise the practitioner or his partnership. The continued use of the name of a deceased or former partner is or may be permissible by local custom, but care should be taken that no imposition or deception is practiced through this use. If a member of the firm becomes a Commissioner, or an Examiner or other employee of the Commission his name should not be retained in the firm name, as such retention may give color to the impression that an improper relation or influence is continued or possessed by the firm.

This canon does not inhibit the association of a practitioner with a mercantile, manufacturing, or other commercial institution, in the capacity of its representative or adviser.

43. Titles. No member of the Association not admitted to the bar shall use the title "Attorney" or "Counsel" but should use the title "Traffic Manager," "Practitioner before the Interstate Commerce Commission," "Registered Practitioner," or other appropriate title or designation.

§ 1.24 Informal complaints not seeking damages—(a) Form and content. Informal complaint may be by letter or other writing, and will be serially numbered and filed as of the date of its receipt. No form of informal complaint is suggested, but in substance the letter or other writing (original and one copy shall be filed) must contain the essential elements of a formal complaint as specified in §§ 1.28 and 1.30. It may embrace supporting papers.

§ 1.36 Motions to dismiss or to make more definite and certain—(a) As to complaint. Defendant may file with his answer, or with his statement under modified or shortened procedure, a motion that the allegations in the complaint be made more definite and certain, such motion to point out the defects complained of and details desired. Defendant may also file with his answer a motion to dismiss a complaint because of lack of legal sufficiency appearing on face of such complaint.

* * * * *

§ 1.40 Protests against applications. * * *

(c) Copies; service. A protest filed under this section shall be served upon applicant and, unless otherwise specified in the public notice, the original and six copies of the protest shall be filed with the Commission.

* * * * *

§ 1.52 Modified procedure; copies of pleadings. The original and six copies of any statement made pursuant to § 1.51 shall be filed with the Commission. Subsequent pleadings are subject to § 1.54.

§ 1.72 Intervention; petitions—(d) Copies; service; replies. When tendered at the hearing, sufficient copies of a petition for leave to intervene must be provided for distribution as motion papers to the parties represented at the hearing. If leave be granted at the hearing, one additional copy must be furnished for the use of the Commission. When a petition for leave to intervene is not tendered at the hearing, the original and two copies of the petition shall be submitted to the Commission together with a certificate that service in accordance with § 1.22 has been made by petitioner. Any reply in opposition to a petition for leave to intervene not tendered at the hearing must be filed within 20 days after service. In the discretion of the Commission leave to intervene may be granted or denied before the expiration of the time allowed for replies.

The near end is designated as 5 and the far end as 6. The edges are identified by the number of the two faces which make that edge, as for example, 1–2 identifies the edge where the top and right side meet and 2–5 the edge having the manufacturer's joint. The corners are identified by the number of the three faces which meet to form that corner, as for example, 1–2–5 identifies the corner where the top, the right side, and the near end meet.

(c) Drop sequence as follows:

(1) A corner drop on 1–2–5.

(2) An edge drop on the shortest edge radiating from that corner (usually 2–5).

(3) An edge drop on the next shortest edge radiating from that corner (usually 1–5).

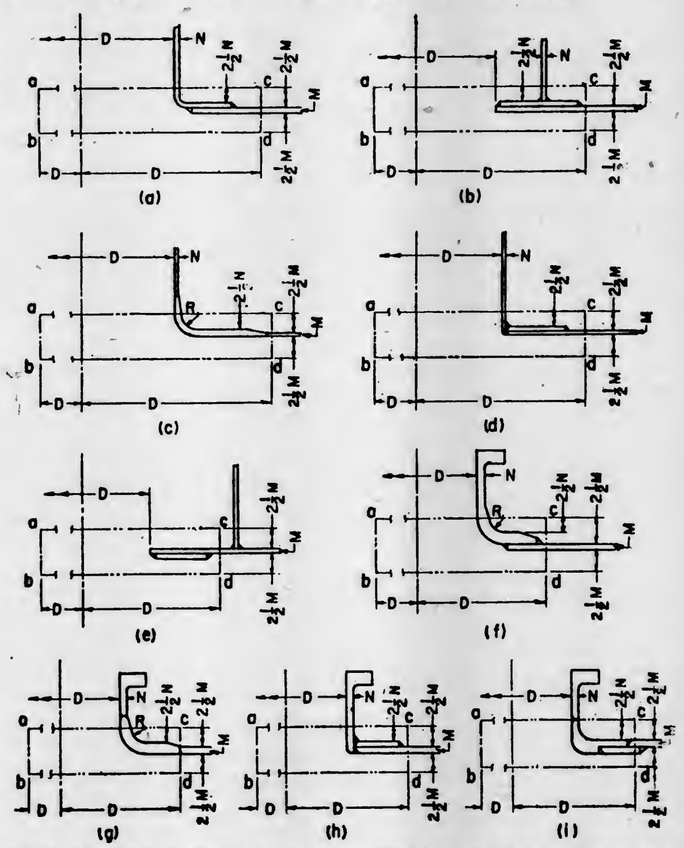

FIGURE 24—Acceptable designs for reinforced openings in tank shell. Other approved designs permitted for type (c), (f) and (g), see note 2.

NOTE 1. Reinforcement in tank shell shall be calculated by the following method:

Area available within the rectangle $abcd$ ----------=------
Area required=$2DTe$----------=------
Excess area----------=------

D= diameter of opening in tank shell, or diameter of the dome (or nozzle), whichever is least.
d= inside diameter of tank.
E= joint efficiency for tank shell 0.90.
e= 0.90 when opening is in solid plate or flued type reinforcement.
e= 1.00 when opening intersects any joint in the tank shell.
M= actual tank shell thickness.
N= actual dome or nozzle wall thickness.
P= bursting pressure in pounds per square inch.
R= corner radius of flued type reinforcement.
S= ultimate tensile strength in pounds per square inch (see table A, following Note 5, below)
T= calculated shell thickness required $= \frac{Pd}{2SE}$

NOTE 2: The boundary of reinforcement zone shall be determined as follows:

The length ac or bd shall be equal to the diameter of the opening in the tank shell, see figure 24 (b) and (e), or the diameter of the dome (or nozzle), whichever is least, on each side of the axis of the opening. The dimension ab or cd shall not exceed 2½ times the actual shell thickness, or 2½ times the dome shell (or nozzle) wall thickness plus the thickness of any added reinforcement, whichever is least, above and below the tank shell; except that for reinforcement flued from solid plate, this dimension may be equal to the corner radius R above the reinforcement, but must not exceed 3 inches. When the dome shell is located outside the reinforcement boundary $abcd$, as shown in figure 24 (e), only $2\frac{1}{2}M$ shall determine the dimension above and below the tank shell.

NOTE 3: The required reinforcement area shall be provided in all planes passing through the center of the opening and normal to the tank surface.

NOTE 4: Any weld metal within the boundary of reinforcement may be included as area available.

NOTE 5: No metal added as corrosion allowance may be considered as reinforcement.

SUBPART J—SPECIFICATIONS FOR CONTAINERS FOR MOTOR VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION

1. Add § 78.325 (15 F. R. 8554, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.325, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.325 Specification MC 304 for cargo tanks for the transportation of flammable liquids and poisonous liquids class B having Reid (ASTM D–323) vapor pressures of 18 pounds per square inch absolute at 100°F.

§ 78.325–1 Scope. (a) This specification is primarily intended to apply to the design and construction of new cargo tanks of tank motor vehicles to be used for the transportation of flammable liquids or poisonous liquids class B, having Reid (ASTM D–323) vapor pressures of 18 pounds per square inch absolute (18 psia) or more at 100° F., but less than those stated in § 73.300 of this chapter, in defining compressed gases.

§ 78.325–2 Existing tank motor vehicles continuing in service. (a) Cargo tanks of tank motor vehicles used for the transportation of flammable liquids or poisonous liquids class B, which shall have been in service prior to the effective date of this order may be continued in service and may be used for the transportation of materials specified in § 78.325–1, provided that they have been designed and constructed in accordance with specifications MC 300, 301, 302, or 303, and provided further that such tanks can and do, within three months of the effective date of this order, successfully pass the tests prescribed in § 78.325–5.

§ 78.325–3 New tank motor vehicles. (a) Except as provided elsewhere in these regulations, every new cargo tank manufactured on or after (three months after the effective date of the order) for the transportation of any flammable liquid or poisonous liquid Class B, having a Reid (ASTM D–323) vapor pressure of 18 psia or higher at 100° F. shall comply with the requirements of this specification. A certificate from the manufacturer of the cargo tank, or from a competent testing agency, certifying that each such tank is designed and constructed in accordance with the requirements of the specification shall be procured, and such certificate shall be retained in the files of the carrier during the time that such tank is employed in such transportation by him. In lieu of this certificate, if the motor carrier himself elects to ascertain if any such tank fulfills the requirements of this specification by his own tests and examinations, he shall similarly retain the test and examination data.

§ 78.325–4 Marking of cargo tanks. (a) Metal identification plate. There shall be on every cargo tank complying with all requirements of this specification a metal plate located on the right side, near the front, in a place readily accessible for inspection. This plate shall be permanently affixed to the tank by means of soldering, brazing, welding or other equally suitable means; and upon it shall be marked by stamping, embossing or other means of forming letters into or on the metal of the plate itself, in the manner illustrated below, at least the information indicated below. The plate shall not be so painted as to obscure the markings thereon.

Carrier's Serial Number
Manufacturer's Name

Design working pressure---------- p. s. i. g.
Test pressure---------- p. s. i. g.
Nominal tank capacity------- U. S. gallons.
(In compartments of --, --, --, --, and -- U. S. gallons)

(b) Existing tanks not meeting all requirements of this specification and continuing in service in accordance with § 78.325–2 shall be marked by the number "304" applied adjacent to the existing specification number, which number and other data on the original metal identification plate shall remain legible.

(c) Test date and pressure markings. The date of the last test or retest of the type required by this specification shall be painted on the tank in letters not less than one and one-fourth inches high, in legible colors, immediately below the metal identification plate specified in paragraph (a) of § 78.325–4. The test pressure shall be similarly indicated by painting on tanks requiring the test pressure of 50 p. s. i. g. in accordance with § 78.325–2.

(d) All tank inlets and outlets, except safety relief valves, shall be marked to indicate whether they communicate with vapor or liquid when the tank is filled to the maximum permitted filling level.

(e) Certification by markings. The markings specified in paragraphs (a), (c), and (d) in § 78.325–4 shall serve to certify that the tank complies with all requirements of this specification.

§ 78.325–5 Test and retest requirements—(a) Method of testing and retesting. For each existing specification MC 300, MC 301, MC 302, and MC 303 tank not complying with all requirements of this specification and continuing in service in accordance with the provisions of § 78.325–2 (see § 78.325–4 (b) regarding marking of such tanks), the standard test pressure for each required initial test and retest shall be 50 pounds per square inch gauge (50 p. s. i. g.). For each tank complying with all requirements of this specification, whether new or existing, the standard test pressure for each required initial test and retest shall be 40 pounds per square inch gauge (40 p. s. i. g.).

(1) Every cargo tank, and all piping, valves, and other accessories thereof which are subject to the pressure of the tank contents, except safety valves, shall be tested and retested by complete filling (including domes, if any) with water or other liquid having a similar viscosity and applying a pressure of not less than the standard test pressure above specified.

The pressure shall be gauged at the top of the tank. The tank must hold the prescribed pressure for at least 10 minutes. While under pressure, the tank shall be inspected for leakage, corroded areas, bad dents, or other conditions which indicate weakness that might render the tank unsafe for transportation service, and it shall not be placed in or returned to service if any evidence of such unsafe condition is discovered, until the deficiencies have been corrected and the tests repeated and passed successfully. The tank lagging and its jacket, if installed, need not be removed unless it is found to be impossible to reach the test pressure and to maintain a condition of pressure equilibrium after the test pressure is reached. All tank accessories shall be leakage tested after installation and proved tight at not less than the design working pressure of the tank, except that hose used on such tanks may be tested either before or after installation.

(b) Times of testing and retesting. The test specified in § 78.325–5 (a) shall be made or repeated on each cargo tank used for the transportation of materials specified in § 78.325–1 under the following circumstances, and such tanks as do not pass the test shall be withheld from service until the required tests have been made on such tanks and passed successfully:

(1) Whenever any tank, new or old, is acquired by a motor carrier;

(2) On each existing tank continuing in service in accordance with § 78.325–2, which tank has not been so tested within 21 months of the effective date of this order. The test required by § 78.325–2 shall be made within three months of the effective date of this order;

(3) On each tank which has been out of service for one year or longer;

(4) When or before the test date required by § 78.325–4 to be painted on the tank is five years old;

(5) When or before the test date required by § 78.325–4 to be painted on the tank is two years old, in the case of tanks not complying with all requirements of this specification but continuing in service as authorized in § 78.325–2;

(6) After the tank concerned has been involved in any accident in which the tank or any of its associated parts has been damaged in a manner likely to affect the safety of operation of the vehicle, or in which the damage to the vehicle is such as to make the safety of the tank uncertain;

(7) When required by the Commission, in its discretion, on the showing of probable cause of the necessity for testing or retesting.

§ 78.325–6 Requirements for design and workmanship. (a) Tanks constructed in accordance with this specification shall be of circular cross section and all-steel or aluminum construction, except that gaskets need not be metallic and except that piping and valves need not be ferrous metal or aluminum. Non-malleable materials shall not be used in the construction of the tank, its mountings and protective devices, or any valves, piping, or fittings. The metal and gaskets shall be substantially immune to chemical attack by the materials to be transported therein, or shall be suitably lined to prevent corrosive attack, or shall have the thickness of the material suitably increased over that required elsewhere in this specification by an amount sufficient to provide for such corrosion during the estimated useful life of the tank. Joints in the tank structure may be made by welding, and may be reinforced where desired. Care shall be taken to avoid damage by galvanic action due to the presence of dissimilar metals at joints.

(b) All aluminum cargo tanks and appurtenances built to this specification shall be fabricated of alloys authorized for welded construction by the 1952 edition of the ASME Code for Unfired Pressure Vessels. A certification from the material supplier will suffice as evidence of compliance with this requirement.

(c) Every cargo tank shall be constructed in accordance with the best known and available practices, in addition to the other requirements of this specification.

§ 78.325–7 Design working pressure. (a) The design working pressure of each tank shall be not less than 25 pounds per square inch gauge (25 p. s. i. g.).

§ 78.325–8 Minimum thickness of material. (a) Tanks for this service may be constructed of mild steel, high tensile steel, or aluminum. The material thicknesses shall not be less than those obtained by applying the following formulae, nor less than those specified in paragraph (d) of § 78.325–8.

Thickness of shell $= T_s = \frac{PD}{2SE_s}$,

Thickness of heads $= T_h = \frac{0.85PL}{SE_h}$,

(for pressure on concave side only)

T_s= Minimum thickness of shell material, exclusive of allowance for corrosion or other loadings.
T_h= Minimum thickness of head material, after forming, exclusive of allowance for corrosion and other loadings.
P= Design pressure or maximum allowable working pressure, pounds per square inch: The maximum allowable working pressure for aluminum shells shall be specified on the basis of the minimum tensile strength of the head material for the alloy used.
D= Inside diameter of shell, inches.
L= Inside crown radius of head, inches.
S= Maximum allowable stress value, pounds per square inch—equals one-fourth of specified minimum ultimate tensile strength.
E_s= Lowest efficiency of any longitudinal joint in shell.
E_h= Lowest efficiency of any joint in head.

The knuckle radius of the head shall not be less than three times the material thickness and the straight flange shall be not less than one inch.

For heads with pressure on the convex side, the material thickness as obtained by the above formula shall be increased by 67 percent unless such heads are adequately braced to prevent excessive distortion.

(b) Corrosion allowance: Vessels or parts of vessels subject to thinning by corrosion, erosion, or mechanical abrasion shall have provision made for the desired life of the vessel by a suitable increase in the thickness of the material over that determined by the design formulae, or by using some other suitable method of protection. Material added for these purposes need not be of the same thickness for all parts of the vessel if different rates of attack are expected for the various parts.

(c) Other loadings: In addition to the material requirements as specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 78.325–8, vessels shall be provided with stiffeners or other additional means of support if necessary to prevent overstress or large distortions due to the following other loadings:

(1) Impact loads.

(2) Weight of vessel and contents but not less than the water weight of tank and contents.[1]

(3) Superimposed loads such as operating equipment, insulation and piping.

(4) Reactions of supporting lugs or saddles.

(5) Effect of temperature gradients.

(d) Minimum thicknesses of mild steel tank sheets in U. S. standard gauges. (These thicknesses are to be multiplied by 1.44 for aluminum.)

§ 78.325–9 Bulkheads and baffles. (a) When bulkheads not required: No bulkheads shall be required in any cargo tank regardless of capacity which is used in service in which there is never less than 80 percent of the capacity volume of the tank while in transportation over the highway and which in service has its entire contents discharged at one unloading point, provided that this requirement shall not apply to tanks operating in or through any jurisdiction where State or local regulations require seasonal reduction of vehicle weight limitations during the time such reductions are in force.

(b) When bulkheads required: Except as provided in paragraph (a) in § 78.325–9, every cargo tank having a total capacity in excess of 3,000 gallons shall be divided by bulkheads into compartments none of which shall exceed 2,000 gallons. Each bulkhead required by this paragraph shall be of the same minimum strength as is required elsewhere in this specification for tank heads.

(c) Double bulkheads. Tanks with compartments carrying flammable liquids of different shipping names or with compartments containing flammable or poisonous liquids and liquids not so classified by the regulations, shall be provided with an air space between compartments. This air space shall be equipped and maintained with drainage facilities operative at all times.

(d) Baffles or shell stiffeners. Every cargo tank or compartment of a cargo tank over 90 inches in length shall be provided with baffles or equivalent shell stiffeners so located that the maximum distance between any two baffles or stiffeners and between any baffle or stiffener and the nearest tank head or bulkhead shall not exceed 60 inches.

§ 78.325–10 Tank outlets. (a) Outlet fixtures of tanks shall be substantially made and attached to the tank in such a manner as to prevent breakage at the outlet point.

§ 78.325–11 Pipe joints. (a) Welded pipe joints shall be used wherever possible. Joints in copper tubing shall be of the brazed type or of an equally strong metal union type. The melting point of brazing material must not be less than 1000° F. Such joints shall in any event be of such a character as not to decrease the strength of the tubing, as by the cutting of threads.

§ 78.325–12 Strength of piping, fittings, hose and hose couplings. (a) Hose, piping and fittings shall be designed for a bursting pressure at least 100 pounds per square inch gauge (100 psig), and not less than four times the pressure to which, in any instance, it may be subjected in service by the action of a pump or other device (not including safety relief valves), the action of which may be to subject certain portions of the tank piping and hose to pressures greater than the design working pressure of the tank. Any coupling used on hose to make connections shall be designed for a working pressure not less than 20 percent in excess of the design working pressure of the hose and shall be so designed that there will be no leakage when connected.

§ 78.325–13 Filling and discharge shut-off-valves. (a) Filling and discharge lines shall be provided with shut-off valves located as close to the tank outlet as is possible. If such valves are not manually operated, they shall be of an automatic quick-closing internal valve type or an automatic shut-off type provided that if such valves are used, the lines must have a manually-operated shut-off valve located in the line ahead of the hose connection. Stop-check or excess flow valves shall not be used to satisfy the requirements of this section.

§ 78.325–14 Safety devices—(a) Safety relief valves required. Each tank and each compartment of a tank shall be provided with one or more safety relief valves of the springloaded type, arranged to discharge upward and unobstructed in such a manner as to prevent any impingement of escaping gas upon the tank.

(b) Relief valve capacity. The required safety relief valves shall be set to start to discharge at a pressure not exceeding 26 pounds per square inch gauge (26 psig) and to close after discharge at a pressure not lower than 25 pounds per square inch gauge (25 psig). At a pressure not exceeding 30 pounds per square inch gauge (30 psig) they shall have a discharge capacity not less than that of an unobstructed opening of one square inch (1 sq. in.) for each 35 square feet (35 sq. ft.) of exterior area of the tank or compartment to which they are connected, provided that two or more such valves may be used on the same tank or compartment to obtain the discharge capacity herein required.

(c) Markings on relief valves. Each safety relief valve shall be plainly and permanently marked (1) with the pressure in pounds per square inch gauge at which it is set to start to discharge, (2) with the actual rate of discharge of the device in cubic feet per minute of air at 60° F. and atmospheric pressure and (3) with the manufacturer's name and catalogue number. The rated discharge capacity of the device shall be determined at a pressure of 30 pounds per square inch gauge (30 psig).

(d) Connections to relief valves. Connections to safety relief valves shall be of sufficient size to provide the required rate of discharge through the safety relief valves.

(e) Protection of relief valves. Safety relief valves shall be arranged so that the possibility of tampering will be minimized. If the pressure setting or adjustment is external, the safety relief valves shall be provided with suitable means for sealing the adjustment.

(f) Shut-off valves. No shut-off valves shall be installed between the safety relief valves and the tank except in cases where two or more safety relief valves are installed on the same tank, a shut-off valve may be used where the arrangement of the shut-off valve or valves is such as always to afford full required capacity flow through at least one safety relief valve.

(g) Connection of safety relief valve to vapor space. Safety relief valves shall have direct communication with the vapor space of the tank.

(h) Prevention of excessive hydrostatic pressure. Any portion of liquid piping or hose which at any time may be closed at each end must be provided with a safety valve to prevent excessive hydrostatic pressure. This safety relief valve must not have an intervening shut-off valve installed.

(i) Automatic excess-flow valves. Each cargo tank outlet shall be provided with a suitable automatic excess-flow valve or, in lieu thereof, may be fitted with a quick-closing internal valve designed, installed and operated so as to assure against escape of the contents in event of failure of the outlet. These valves shall be located inside the tank or at a point outside the tank where the line enters or leaves the tank. The valve seat shall be located inside the tank or shall be located within a welded flange or its companion flange, or within a nozzle, or within a coupling. The installation shall be made in such a manner as reasonably to assure that any undue strain which causes failure requiring functioning of the valve shall cause failure in such a manner that it will not impair the operation of the valve, except that safety device connections and liquid level gauging devices, which are so constructed that the outward flow of tank contents shall not exceed that passed by a No. 54 drill size opening, are not required to be equipped with excess-flow valves.

(j) Excess-flow valve settings. Excess-flow valves shall be so installed and adjusted that they close automatically at the rated flows of gas or liquid as specified by the valve manufacturer.

(k) Capacity of connections to valves. The connections or lines on each side of an excess-flow valve, including valve fittings, etc., shall have a greater capacity than the rated flow of the excess-flow valve.

(l) By-pass of valve. Excess-flow valves may be designed with a by-pass, not to exceed a No. 60 drill size opening, to allow equalization of pressures.

(m) Utilization of stop-check valves forbidden. The use of combination stop-check valves to satisfy with one valve requirements of § 78.325–13 and § 78.325–14 (j) and (k) is forbidden.

§ 78.325–15 Pumps. (a) Liquid pumps, whenever used, must be of suitable design, adequately protected against breakage by collisions, and kept in good condition. They may be driven by motor vehicle power take-off or other mechanical, electrical or hydraulic means. Unless they are of the centrifugal type, they shall be equipped with suitable pressure actuated by-pass valves permitting flow from discharge to suction or to the tank.

§ 78.325–16 Provision for expansion and vibration. (a) Suitable provision shall be made in every case to allow for and prevent damage due to expansion, contraction, jarring and vibration of all pipe. Slip joints shall not be used for this purpose.

§ 78.325–17 Shear section. (a) There shall be provided between each excess-flow valve seat or internal valve seat, and draw-off valves, a shear section which will break under strain, unless the discharge piping is so arranged as to afford equivalent protection, and leave the excess-flow valve seat or the internal valve seat intact in case of accident to the draw-off valve or piping.

§ 78.325–18 Protection of piping and appurtenances. (a) Piping, fittings and valves projecting beyond the frame, or if the vehicle be frameless beyond the shell, shall be adequately protected by steel bumpers or other equally effective devices, against collision. Any other part of any cargo tank connected with its cargo space and similarly protruding shall be similarly protected.

§ 78.325–19 Overturn protection. (a) All closures for filling openings shall be protected from damage in the event of overturning of the motor vehicle by being enclosed within the body of the tank or dome attached thereto or by the use of suitable metal guards securely attached to the tank or the frame of the motor vehicle. Protection shall also be provided for any protruding or projecting fitting or appurtenance by means of adequate metal guards. The calculated load for the protective devices shall be the weight of the tank motor vehicle with the tank full of water, at one "g" deceleration. If the overturn protection is so constructed as to permit accumulation of liquid on the top of the tank, it shall not be provided with drainage facilities which will permit drainage at or near the front of the tank.

§ 78.325–20 Liquid level gauging devices. (a) Every cargo tank, except tanks filled by weight, shall be equipped with one or more gauging devices which shall indicate accurately the maximum permitted liquid level in each compartment. Additional gauging devices may be installed but may not be used as primary controls for filling of cargo tanks at pressures above atmospheric. Acceptable gauging devices for use at pressures above atmospheric are the rotary tube, the adjustable slip tube and the fixed length dip tube. Gauge glasses are not permitted to be installed on any cargo tank.

(b) Fixed level indicators: All liquid level gauging devices, except those on tanks provided with fixed maximum level indicators, shall be legibly and permanently marked in increments of not more than 20° F to indicate the maximum levels to which the tank may be filled with liquid at temperatures above 20° F. In the event that it is impractical to put these markings on the gauging device, this information shall be marked on a suitable plate affixed to the tank in a location adjacent to the gauging device.

(c) Dip tubes: A fixed length dip tube gauging device, when used, shall consist of a dip pipe of small diameter equipped with a valve at the outer end, and extending into the tank to a specified fixed length. On horizontally-mounted cylindrical tanks, the fixed length to which the tube extends into the tank shall be such that the device will function to indicate when the liquid, at a point equidistant from the heads of the tank in a vertical plane containing the longitudinal axis of the tank, reaches the maximum level permitted by the regulations in this part. On spherical tanks and on vertically-mounted cylindrical tanks, the fixed length to which the tube extends into the tank shall be such that the device will function to indicate when the liquid at a point on the vertical axis of the tank in its normal position reaches the maximum level permitted by the regulations in this part.

§ 78.325–21 Anchoring of tank. (a) Adequate hold-down devices shall be provided to anchor each cargo tank in a suitable manner that will not introduce undue concentration of stresses and shall be built to withstand loadings in any direction equal to the weight of the tank and attachments when filled with water. These devices on vehicles with frames shall incorporate turnbuckles of similar positive action devices for drawing the tank down tight on the frame of the motor vehicle.

(b) Stops and anchors: Suitable stops and anchors shall be attached to the motor vehicle and the tank to prevent movement between them due to starting, stopping and turning. These stops or anchors shall be installed so as to be readily accessible for inspection and maintenance except that lagging for lagged tanks is permitted to cover such stops and anchors.

(c) Anchoring integral tanks: Whenever any cargo tank is so designed and constructed that the cargo tank constitutes, in whole or in part, the stress member used in lieu of a frame, then such cargo tanks shall be designed so as to successfully and adequately withstand the stresses thereby imposed in addition to those created by the working pressure.

2. Amend § 78.331–13 (18 F. R. 6784, Oct. 27, 1953) (49 CFR 1950 Rev., 1954 Supp., 78.331–13) to read as follows:

§ 78.331 Specification MC 311; cargo tanks.

§ 78.331–13 Heads, bulkheads and baffles. (a) Flat heads or flat bulkheads without reinforcement are not permitted. The use of baffles is not a specification requirement.

3. In § 78.336–1 add exception to paragraph (a), and amend paragraphs (b) and (c); amend § 78.336–2 paragraph (b); amend § 78.336–5 paragraph (a) (19 F. R. 1287, Mar. 6, 1954) (17 F. R. 7290, Aug. 9, 1952) (49 CFR 1950 Rev., 1954 Supp., 78.336–1, 78.336–2, 78.336–5) to read as follows:

§ 78.336 Specification MC 330; steel cargo tanks.

§ 78.336–1 Requirements for design and construction. (a) * * *

Exception: Chlorine tanks shall be fully radiographed and stress relieved in accordance with the provisions of the Code under which they are constructed.

(b) Except as noted below, all openings in the tank shall be grouped in one location, either at the top of the tank or at one end of the tank.

Exceptions: (1) Chlorine tanks shall be equipped with a nozzle located in the top of the tank. The nozzle shall be fitted with a dome cover plate which shall conform with the standard of The Chlorine Institute, Inc. Dwg. 7–B–345, dated March 3, 1953. There shall be no other opening in the tank. (2) The openings for liquid level gauging devices, or for safety devices may be installed separately at the other location or in the side of the shell. (3) One plugged opening of 2-inch National Pipe Thread or less provided for maintenance purposes may be located elsewhere. (4) Loading and unloading connections may be located in the bottom of the tank.

(c) All plates for tank, manway nozzle and anchorage of tanks used in the transportation of chlorine must be made of steel complying with requirements of A. S. T. M. Specification A–300–52T titled "Steel Plates for Pressure Vessels for Service at Low Temperatures", Class 1, Grade "A", flange or fire box quality. Impact test specimens made by the plate manufacturer shall be of the Charpy Keyhole notch type and must meet impact requirements (in both longitudinal and transverse directions of rolling) of this specification at a temperature of minus 50° F.

§ 78.336–2 Material. • • •

(b) Material of thickness less than 3/16 inch shall not be used for the shell, heads and protective housings specified in § 78.336–5, except for chlorine tanks the wall thickness shall be not less than 5/8 inch, including corrosion allowance.

§ 78.336–5 Protection of valves and accessories. (a) All valves, fittings, accessories, safety devices, gauging devices, and the like shall be adequately protected against mechanical damage by a housing closed with a cover plate.

Exceptions: (1) Liquid and vapor valves, fittings, and accessories installed in the bottom of the tank shall be adequately protected against mechanical damage, but the housing and cover plate may be omitted. (2) In lieu of a housing closed with a cover plate, tanks used for the transportation of carbon dioxide may have all valves, piping, fittings, accessories, safety devices, and the like installed within the motor vehicle framework, or a suitable collision-resisting subframe, guard or housing. (3) On chlorine tanks the protective housing and cover plate shall conform to the standard of The Chlorine Institute, Inc. Dwg. CS–843, dated July 27, 1954 and shall be of a design to permit the use of standard emergency kits for controlling leaks in fittings on the dome cover plate.

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

POWER AND ANTENNA HEIGHT REQUIREMENTS
ORDER EXTENDING EFFECTIVE DATE

In the matter of amendment of § 3.614 (b) of the rules governing television broadcast stations.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held in its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 19th day of October 1955;

The Commission has before it for consideration its Report and Order (FCC 55-802), issued in the above-entitled proceeding on July 22, 1955, amending § 3.614 (b) of its rules relating to antenna height and power requirements for VHF television stations in Zone I.

The amendment was originally scheduled to become effective on August 31, 1955. However, on September 1, 1955, the Commission issued an Order Extending the Effective Date to October 1, 1955, pointing out that several petitions had been filed with the Commission for reconsideration of its action in this proceeding and requesting that the effectiveness of the amendment be stayed pending such reconsideration. It was noted, also, that several requests had been submitted seeking postponement of the effective date of the amendment until the present studies of the Air Coordinating Committee on the subject of tall towers are completed. Oppositions to the various petitions for reconsideration and requests for stay have also been filed. On September 28, 1955, the Commission further extended the effective date to November 1, 1955.

Additional time will be necessary for the Commission to consider the above requests. Accordingly, the Commission believes that the public interest would be served by further staying the effectiveness of the amendment.

In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the effective date of the amendment of the Commission's rules and regulations adopted by its Report and Order issued July 22, 1955, in this proceeding, is extended to December 1, 1955.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303)

[SEAL] T. COLEMAN ANDREWS,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations are hereby prescribed under Public Law 74, 84th Congress.

Sec.
1.9000-1 Provisions of P. L. 74.
1.9000-2 Effect of repeal in general.
1.9000-3 Requirement of statement showing increase in tax liability.
1.9000-4 Form and content of statement.
1.9000-5 Effect of filing statement.
1.9000-6 Provisions for the waiver of interest.
1.9000-7 Provisions for estimated tax.
1.9000-8 Extension of time for making certain payments.

§ 1.9000-1 Statutory provisions. Public Law 74, 84th Congress, approved June 15, 1955, provides as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. Repeal of sections 452 and 462.—(a) Prepaid income. Section 452 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 is hereby repealed.

(b) Reserves for estimated expenses, etc. Section 462 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 is hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. Technical amendments. The following provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 are hereby amended as follows:

(1) Subsection (c) of section 381 is amended by striking out paragraph (7) (relating to carryover of prepaid income in certain corporate acquisitions).

(2) The table of sections for subpart B of part II of subchapter E of chapter 1 (relating to taxable year for which items of gross income included) is amended by striking out

"Sec. 452. Prepaid income."

(3) The table of sections for subpart C of such part II (relating to taxable year for which deductions are taken) is amended by striking out—

"Sec. 462. Reserves for estimated expenses, etc."

SEC. 3. Effective date. The amendments made by this act shall apply with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954.

SEC. 4. Saving provisions.—(a) Filing of statement. If—

(1) the amount of any tax required to be paid for any taxable year ending on or before the date of the enactment of this act is increased by reason of the enactment of this act, and

(2) the last date prescribed for payment of such tax (or any installment thereof) is before December 15, 1955, then the taxpayer shall, on or before December 15, 1955, file a statement which shows the increase in the amount of such tax required to be paid by reason of the enactment of this act.

(b) Form and effect of statement.—(1) Form of statement, etc. The statement required by subsection (a) shall be filed at the place fixed for filing the return. Such statement shall be in such form, and shall include such information necessary or appropriate to show the increase in the amount of the tax required to be paid for the taxable year by reason of the enactment of this act, as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate shall by regulations prescribe.

(2) Treatment as amount shown on return. The amount shown on a statement filed under subsection (a) as the increase in the amount of the tax required to be paid for the taxable year by reason of the enactment of this act shall, for all purposes of the internal revenue laws, be treated as tax shown on the return. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, that portion of the amount of increase in tax for any taxable year which is attributable to a decrease (by reason of the enactment of this act) in the net operating loss for a succeeding taxable year shall not be treated as tax shown on the return.

(3) Waiver of interest in case of payment on or before December 15, 1955. If the taxpayer, on or before December 15, 1955, files the statement referred to in subsection (a) and pays in full that portion of the amount shown thereon for which the last date prescribed for payment is before December 15, 1955, then for purposes of computing interest (other than interest on overpayments) such portion shall be treated as having been paid on the last date prescribed for payment. This paragraph shall not apply if the amount shown on the statement as the increase in the amount of the tax required to be paid for the taxable year by reason of the enactment of this act is greater than the actual increase unless the taxpayer establishes, to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate, that his computation of the greater amount was based upon a reasonable interpretation and application of sections 452 and 462 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as those sections existed before the enactment of this act.

(c) Special rules.—(1) Interest for period before enactment. Interest shall not be imposed on the amount of any increase in tax resulting from the enactment of this act for any period before the day after the date of the enactment of this act.

(2) Estimated tax. Any addition to the tax under section 294 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 shall be computed as if this act had not been enacted. In the case of any installment for which the last date prescribed for payment is before December 15, 1955, any addition to the tax under section 6654 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 shall be computed as if this act had not been enacted.

(3) Treatment of certain payments which taxpayer is required to make. If—

(A) The taxpayer is required to make a payment (or an additional payment) to another person by reason of the enactment of this act, and

(B) The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 prescribes a period, which expires after the close of the taxable year, within which the taxpayer must make such payment (or additional payment) if the amount thereof is to be taken into account (as a deduction or otherwise) in computing taxable income for such taxable year, then, subject to such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate may prescribe, if such payment (or additional payment) is made on or before December 15, 1955, it shall be treated as having been made within the period prescribed by such Code.

(4) Treatment of certain dividends. Subject to such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate may prescribe, for purposes of section 561 (a) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, dividends paid after the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year and on or before December 15, 1955, may be treated as having been paid on the last day of the taxable year, but only to the extent (A) that such dividends are attributable to an increase in taxable income for the taxable year resulting from the enactment of this act, and (B) elected by the taxpayer.

(5) Determination of date prescribed. For purposes of this section, the determination of the last date prescribed for payment or for filing a return shall be made without regard to any extension of time therefor and without regard to any provision of this section.

(6) Regulations. For requirement that the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate shall prescribe all rules and regulations as may be necessary by reason of the enactment of this act, see section 7805 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

§ 1.9000-2 Effect of repeal in general. (a) Section 452 (relating to prepaid income) and section 462 (relating to reserves for estimated expenses) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 were repealed by Public Law 74, 84th Congress, with respect to all years, subject to such Code. The effect of the repeal will generally be to increase the tax liability of taxpayers who elected to adopt the methods of accounting provided by sections 452 and 462. References to sections of law in §§ 1.9000-2 to 1.9000-8, inclusive, are references to the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 unless otherwise specified.

(b) If the last date prescribed for the payment of any tax (or any installment thereof) is before December 15, 1955, and if the amount of such tax is increased by the repeal of sections 452 and 462, then the taxpayer shall on or before such date file a statement as prescribed in § 1.9000-3. The last date prescribed for payment for this purpose shall be determined without regard to any extensions of time and without regard to the provisions of Public Law 74.

§ 1.9000-3 Requirement of statement showing increase in tax liability.—(a) Returns filed before June 15, 1955. Where a return reflecting an election under section 452 or 462 was filed before June 15, 1955, the taxpayer must file on or before December 15, 1955, a statement on Form 2175 showing the increase in tax liability resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example.

Example. Corporation X filed its income tax return for the calendar year 1954 on March 15, 1955, and elected under section 6152 to pay the unpaid amount of the tax shown thereon in two equal installments. Such installment payments are due on March 15, 1955, and June 15, 1955, respectively. The corporation elected to compute its tax for such taxable year under the methods of accounting provided by sections 452 and 462. Corporation X's tax liability is increased by reason of the enactment of Public Law 74, and since the last date prescribed for paying its tax expires before December 15, 1955, it is required to submit the prescribed statement on or before December 15, 1955, showing its increase in tax liability.

(b) Returns filed on or after June 15, 1955. A taxpayer filing a return on or after June 15, 1955, for a taxable year ending on or before such date, may elect to apply the accounting methods provided in sections 452 and 462. The election may be exercised—

(1) By computing the tax liability shown on such return as though the provisions of sections 452 and 462 had not been repealed. In such a case, the taxpayer must file on or before December 15, 1955, a statement on Form 2175 showing the increase in tax liability resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462, or.

(2) By computing his tax liability without regard to sections 452 and 462. In this case, Form 2175 must be filed with the return. However, taxable income and the tax liability computed with the application of sections 452 and 462 shall be shown on lines 8 and 14, respectively, of the form in lieu of the amounts otherwise called for on those lines.

If a taxpayer does not make an election to have the provisions of sections 452 and 462 apply, the savings provisions of section 4 of Public Law 74 are not applicable.

(c) Taxable years ending after June 15, 1955. A taxpayer having a taxable year ending after June 15, 1955, may not elect to apply the methods of accounting prescribed in sections 452 and 462 in computing taxable income for such taxable year. Such a taxpayer must file his return and pay the tax as if such sections had never been enacted.

(d) Other situations requiring statements. (1) A person who made an election under section 452 or 462 but whose tax liability was not increased by the reason of the enactment of Public Law 74, is nevertheless required to file a statement on Form 2175 if his gross income is increased or his deductions are decreased as the result of the repeal of sections 452 and 462. A partnership which makes an election under such sections must file such a statement. In addition a partner, stockholder, distributee, etc. (whether or not such person made an election under section 452 or 462), shall file a statement showing any increase in his tax liability resulting from the effects of the repeal on the gross income or deductions of the persons mentioned in the previous sentences of this subparagraph.

(2) A statement shall also be filed for a taxable year, other than a year to which an election under section 452 or 462 is applicable, if the repeal of such sections increases the tax liability of such other year. Thus, a statement must be filed for any taxable year to which a net operating loss is carried from a year to which an election under section 452 or 462 is applicable provided that the repeal of such sections affects the amount of the tax liability for the year to which such loss is carried. A separate statement must also be filed for a year in which there is a net operating loss which is changed by reason of the repeal of sections 452 and 462. Where there is a short taxable year involved, a taxpayer may have two taxable years to which elections under sections 452 and 462 are applicable and in such a case a statement, on Form 2175, must be filed for each such year.

§ 1.9000–4 Form and content of statement—(a) Information to be shown. The statement shall be filed on Form 2175 which may be obtained from district directors of internal revenue. It shall be filed with the district director for the district in which the return was filed. The statement shall be prepared in accordance with the instructions contained thereon and shall show the following information:

(1) The name and address of the taxpayer,

(2) The amounts of each type of income deferred under section 452,

(3) The amount of the addition to each reserve deducted under section 462,

(4) The taxable income and the tax liability of the taxpayer computed with the application of sections 452 and 462,

(5) The taxable income and the tax liability of the taxpayer computed without the application of sections 452 and 462,

(6) The details of the recomputation of taxable income and tax liability including any changes in other items of income, deductions, and credits resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462, and

(7) If self-employment tax is increased, the computations and information required on page 3 of Schedule C, Form 1040.

(b) Procedure for recomputing tax liability. In determining the taxable income and the tax liability computed without the application of sections 452 and 462, such items as vacation pay and prepaid subscription income shall be reported under the law and regulations applicable to the taxable year as if such sections had not been enacted. The tax liability for the year shall be recomputed by restoring to taxable income the amount of income deferred under section 452 and the amount of the deduction taken under section 462. Other deductions or credits affected by such changes in taxable income shall be adjusted. For example, if the deduction for contributions allowed for the taxable year was limited under section 170 (b), the amount of such deduction shall be recomputed, giving effect to the increase in adjusted gross income or taxable income, as the case may be, by reason of the adjustments required by the repeal of sections 452 and 462.

§ 1.9000–5 Effect of filing statement—(a) Years other than years affected by a net operating loss carryback. If the taxpayer files a timely statement in accordance with the provisions of § 1.9000–3, the amount of the increase in tax shown on such statement for a year shall, except as provided in paragraph (b) be considered for all purposes of the Internal Revenue Code, as tax shown on the return for such year. In general, such increase shall be assessed and collected in the same manner as if it had been tax shown on the return as originally filed. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. A taxpayer filed his return showing a tax liability computed under the methods of accounting provided by sections 452 and 462 as $1,000 and filed the statement in accordance with § 1.9000–3 showing an increase in tax liability of $200. The tax computed as though sections 452 and 462 had not been enacted is $1,200, and the difference of $200 is the increase in the tax attributable to the repeal of sections 452 and 462. This increase is considered to be tax shown on the return for such taxable year. Additions to the tax for fraud or negligence under section 6653 will be determined by reference to $1,200 (that is, $1,000 plus $200) as the tax shown on the return.

(b) Years affected by a net operating loss carry-back. In the case of a year which is affected by a net operating loss carryback from a year to which an election under section 452 or 462 applies, that portion of the amount of increase in tax shown on the statement for the year to which the loss is carried back which is attributable to a decrease in such net operating loss shall not be treated as tax shown on the return.

§ 1.9000–6 Provisions for the waiver of interest—(a) In general. If the statement is filed in accordance with § 1.9000–3 and if that portion of the increase in tax which is due before December 15, 1955 (without regard to any extension of time for payment and without regard to the provisions of §§ 1.9000–2 to 1.9000–8, inclusive) is paid in full on or before such date, then no interest shall be due with respect to that amount. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. Corporation M's return for the calendar year 1954 was filed on March 15, 1955, and the tax liability shown thereon was paid in equal installments on March 15, 1955, and June 15, 1955. It filed a statement on December 15, 1955, showing the increase in its tax liability resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462 and paid at that time the increase in tax shown thereon. No interest will be imposed with respect to the amount of such payment.

Interest shall be computed under the applicable provisions of the internal revenue laws on any portion of the increase in tax shown on the statement which is due after December 15, 1955, and which is not paid when due.

(b) Limitation on application of waiver. The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to any portion of the increase in tax shown on the statement if such increase reflects an amount in excess of that attributable solely to the repeal of sections 452 and 462, i. e., is attributable in part to excessive or unwarranted deferrals or accruals under section 452 or 462, as the case may be, in computing the tax liability with the application of such sections. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, paragraph (a) of this section shall be applicable if the taxpayer can show that the tax liability as computed with the application of sections 452 and 462 is based upon a reasonable interpretation and application of such sections as they existed prior to repeal. If the taxpayer complied with the provisions of the regulations under sections 452 and 462 in computing the tax liability with the application of such sections, it will be regarded as having reasonably interpreted and applied sections 452 and 462. In this regard it is not essential that the taxpayer submit with its return the detailed information required by such regulations in support of the deduction claimed under section 462, but such information shall be supplied at the request of the Commissioner.

(c) Interest for periods prior to June 16, 1955. No interest shall be imposed with respect to any increase in tax resulting solely from the repeal of sections 452 and 462 for any period prior to June 16, 1955 (the day after the date of the enactment of Public Law 74). The preceding sentence does not apply to that part of any increase in tax which is due to the improper application of sections 452 and 462. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to interest imposed under section 3779 of the 1939 Code. (See paragraph (d) of this section.)

(d) Amounts deferred by corporations expecting carrybacks. Interest shall be imposed at the rate of 6 percent on so much of the amount of tax deferred under section 3779 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 as is not satisfied within the meaning of section 3779 (i) (1), notwithstanding the fact that a greater amount would have been satisfied, had sections 452 and 462 not been repealed. Interest will be imposed at such rate until the amount not so satisfied is paid.

§ 1.9000–7 Provisions for estimated tax—(a) Additions to tax under section 294 (d) of the 1939 Code. Any addition to the tax under section 294 (d) (relating to estimated tax) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 shall be computed as if the tax for the year for which the estimate was made were computed with sections 452 and 462 still applicable to such taxable year. For the purpose of the preceding sentence, it is not necessary for the taxpayer actually to have made an election under section 452 or 462; it is only necessary for the taxpayer to have taken such sections into account in estimating its tax liability for the year. Thus, if in determining the amount of estimated tax, the taxpayer computed his estimated tax liability by applying those sections, that portion of any additions to tax under section 294 (d) resulting from the repeal thereof shall be disregarded.

(b) Additions to tax under section 6654. In the case of an underpayment of estimated tax any additions to the tax under section 6654, with respect to installments due before December 15, 1955, shall be computed without regard to any increase in tax resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462. Any additions to the tax with respect to installments due on or after December 15, 1955, shall be imposed in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, and as though sections 452 and 462 had not been enacted. Thus, a taxpayer whose declaration of estimated tax was based upon an estimate of his taxable income for the year of the estimate which was determined by taking sections 452 and 462 into account, must file an amended declaration on or before the due date of the next installment of estimated tax due on or after December 15, 1955. Such amended declaration shall reflect an estimate of the tax without the application of such sections. If the taxpayer bases his estimate on the tax for the preceding taxable year under section 6654 (d) (1) (A), an amended declaration must be filed on or before the due date of the next installment due on or after December 15, 1955, if the tax for the preceding taxable year is increased as the result of the repeal of sections 452 and 462. Similarly, if the taxpayer bases his estimate on the tax computed under section 6654 (d) (1) (B), he must file an amended declaration on or before the due date of the next installment, due on or after December 15, 1955, taking into account the repeal of sections 452 and 462 with respect to the preceding taxable year. Any increase in estimated tax shown on an amended declaration filed in accordance with this paragraph must be paid in accordance with section 6153 (c).

(c) Estimated tax of corporations. Corporations required to file a declaration of estimated tax under section 6016 for taxable years ending on and after December 31, 1955, shall estimate their tax liability for such year as if sections 452 and 462 had never been enacted. Thus, if the corporation bases its estimated tax liability on its operations for the preceding taxable year under section 6655 (d) (1) or (2), the effect of the repeal of sections 452 and 462 with respect to such year must be taken into account.

§ 1.9000–8 Extension of time for making certain payments—(a) Time for payment specified in Code. (1) If the treatment of any payment (whether its allowance as a deduction or otherwise) is dependent upon the making of a payment within a period of time specified in the Internal Revenue Code the period within which the payment is to be made is extended where the amount to be paid is increased by reason of the repeal of sections 452 and 462: Provided, That:

(i) The taxpayer, because of a preexisting obligation, is required to make a payment or an additional payment to another person by reason of such repeal;

(ii) The deductibility of the payment or additional payment is contingent upon its being made within a period prescribed by the Code, which period expires after the close of the taxable year; and

(iii) The payment or additional payment is made on or before December 15, 1955.

If the foregoing conditions are met, the payment or additional payment will be treated as having been made within the time specified in the Internal Revenue Code, and, subject to the other conditions in the Code, it shall be deductible for the year to which it relates. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following:

Example 1. Section 267 (relating to losses, expenses and interest between related taxpayers) applies to amounts accrued by taxpayer A for salary payable to B. For the calendar year 1954, A is obligated to pay B a salary equal to 5 percent of A's taxable income for the taxable year. The amount accrued as salary payable to B for 1954 is $5,000 with the taxable income reflecting the application of section 462. As a result of the repeal of section 462 the salary payable to B for 1954 is increased to $6,000. The additional $1,000 is paid to B on December 15, 1955. In recomputing A's tax liability for 1954 the additional deduction of $1,000 for salary payable to B will be treated as having been made within two and one-half months after the close of the taxable year and will be deductible in that year.

Example 2. On March 1, 1955, Corporation X, a calendar year taxpayer using the accrual method of accounting, makes a payment described in section 404 (a) (6) (relating to contributions to an employees' trust) of $10,000 which is accrued for 1954 and is determined on the basis of the amount of taxable income for that year. The taxpayer filed its return on March 15, 1955. By reason of the repeal of section 462, X's taxable income is increased so that it is required to make an additional contribution of $2,000 to the employees' trust. The additional payment is made on December 15, 1955. For purposes of recomputing X's tax liability for 1954, this additional payment is deemed to have been made on the last day of 1954.

(2) The time for inclusion in the taxable income of the payee of any additional payment of the type described in subparagraph (1) above, shall be determined without regard to section 4 (c) (3) of Public Law 74 and §§ 1.9000–2 to 1.9000–8, inclusive.

(b) Dividends paid under section 561. Under section 4 (c) (4) of Public Law 74 the period during which distributions may be recognized as dividends paid under section 561 for a taxable year to which section 452 or 462 apply may be extended under the conditions set forth below.

(1) Accumulated earnings tax or personal holding company tax. In the case of the accumulated earnings tax or the personal holding company tax, if—

(i) The income of a corporation is increased for a taxable year by reason of the repeal of sections 452 and 462 so that it would become liable for the tax (or an increase in the tax) imposed on accumulated earnings or personal holding companies unless additional dividends are distributed;

(ii) The corporation distributes dividends to its stockholders after the 15th day of the 3d month following the close of its taxable year and on or before December 15, 1955, which dividends are attributable to an increase in its accumulated taxable income or undistributed personal holding company income, as the case may be, resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462, and

(iii) The corporation elects in its statement, submitted under § 1.9000–3, to have the provisions of section 4 (c) (4) of Public Law 74 apply then such dividends shall be treated as having been paid on the last day of the taxable year to which the statement applies.

(2) Regulated investment companies. In the case of a regulated investment company taxable under section 852, if—

(i) The taxable income of the regulated investment company is increased by reason of the repeal of sections 452 and 462 (without regard to any deduction for dividends paid as provided for in this subparagraph);

(ii) The company distributes dividends to its stockholders after the 15th day of the 3rd month following the close of its taxable year and on or before December 15, 1955, which dividends are attributable to an increase in its investment company income resulting from the repeal of sections 452 and 462; and

(iii) The company elects in its statement, submitted under § 1.9000–3, to have the provisions of section 4 (c) (4) of Public Law 74 apply—then such dividends are to be treated as having been paid on the last day of the taxable year to which the statement applies. The dividends paid are to be determined under this subparagraph without regard to the provisions of section 855.

(3) Related provisions. An election made under subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph is irrevocable. The time for inclusion in the taxable income of the distributees of any distributions of the type described in subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph shall be determined without regard to section 4 (c) (4) of Public Law 74, and §§ 1.9000–2 to 1.9000–8, inclusive.

HANDLING OF WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING WITH RESPECT TO BUDGET OF EXPENSES OF THE WALNUT CONTROL BOARD AND RATES OF ASSESSMENT FOR THE MARKETING YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1955

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering the issuance of the proposed administrative rule set forth herein pursuant to the provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 105, as amended, and Order No. 84, as amended, regulating the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington (20 F. R. 5387), effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

Prior to the final issuance of such administrative rule, consideration will be given to data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, Washington 25, D. C., and which are received not later than the close of business on the tenth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except that if said tenth day after publication should fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, such submission may be received by the Director not later than the close of business on the next following work day.

The proposed budget of $112,000, the assessment rate of 0.12 cent per pound of merchantable unshelled walnuts handled or certified for handling, and the assessment rate of 0.15 cent per pound of shelled walnuts handled or declared for handling during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955, have been unanimously recommended by the Walnut Control Board, the administrative agency under said amended agreement and order.

The proposed budget is approximately $8,000 below actual expenses of the Board for the 1954–55 marketing year. This reduction appears justified in view of the fact that volume regulations will not be in effect for the 1955–56 marketing year.

On the basis of the proposed assessment rates and the estimated quantities of merchantable unshelled walnuts and shelled walnuts to be handled in the 1955–56 marketing year the Board's expenses would be prorated approximately 78 percent to the first (unshelled) category and 22 percent to the second (shelled) category of walnuts. This appears to be an equitable division of program costs between the two categories.

Therefore, the proposed administrative rule is as follows:

§ 984.307 Budget of expenses of the Walnut Control Board and rates of assessment for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955—(a) Budget of expenses. Expenses in the amount of $112,000 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Walnut Control Board for its maintenance and functioning, and for such purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of the amended agreement and order, determine to be appropriate for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955.

(b) Rates of assessment. Each handler shall pay to the Control Board on demand from time to time 0.12 cent per pound of merchantable walnuts handled or certified for handling and 0.15 cent per pound of shelled walnuts handled or declared for handling by him during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1955.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of October 1955.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket No. 11491, FCC 55–1048]

CLASS B FM BROADCAST STATIONS

AMENDMENT OF REVISED TENTATIVE ALLOCATION PLAN

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 19th day of October 1955;

The Commission having under consideration a proposal to amend its Revised Tentative Allocation Plan for Class B FM Broadcast Stations; and

It appearing that Notice of Proposed Rule Making (FCC 55–888) setting forth the above amendment was issued by the Commission on September 1, 1955, and was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 6666), which notice provided that interested parties might file statements or briefs with respect to the said amendment on or before September 30, 1955; and

It further appearing, that the only objection filed protested deletion of Channel No. 270 from the Clarksville, Tennessee, allocations, pointing out that deletion of the channel would leave only one available channel in the city where there are two AM stations which may be possible applicants for FM stations;

It further appearing that a number of other Class B FM channels are available in the area and can be allocated to Clarksville, Tennessee, and the addition of one of these channels, Channel No. 282, to replace the deleted Channel No. 270 will again make two channels available in the city;

It further appearing that Channel No. 282 can be added to the Clarksville allocations without causing any objectionable interference to existing stations or other vacant allocations in the area;

It further appearing that the adoption of the amendment would enable Commission consideration of an application requesting assignment of Channel No. 270 for a new FM broadcasting station in Central City, Kentucky;

It further appearing that authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r), and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended,

It is ordered, That effective immediately, the Revised Tentative Allocation Plan for Class B FM Broadcast Stations is amended as follows in respect to the cities of Central City, Kentucky; Clarksville, Tennessee; and Evansville, Indiana:

General area	Channels

It appearing that the above-mentioned new tariff schedules are designed to afford users of multiple private line channels and services between specific pairs of points a declining rate per channel as the number of such channels

It is further ordered, That, pursuant to the provisions of section 204 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the operation of the above-mentioned new tariff schedules is hereby suspended until the 1st day of February 1956, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission; and that during such period of suspension no changes shall be made in said tariff schedules unless authorized by special permission of the Commission;

It is further ordered, That, without in any way limiting the scope of the investigation, it shall include consideration of the following:

1. Whether the above-mentioned new tariff schedules in themselves and also in relationship to the currently effective tariff schedules set forth above will subject any person or class of persons to unjust or unreasonable discrimination or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any person, class of persons or locality, or subject any person, class of persons or locality to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage within the meaning of section 202 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

2. Whether any of the charges, classifications, regulations and practices contained in the above-mentioned new tariff schedules and in Tariff F. C. C. Nos. 134 and 145 insofar as they are applicable to the new tariff schedules are or will be unjust and unreasonable within the meaning of section 201 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

GREENVILLE BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re Applications of The Greenville Broadcasting Corporation, Greenville, Ohio, Docket No. 11519, File No. BP–9522; Western Ohio Broadcasting Co., Inc., Greenville, Ohio, Docket No. 11520, File No. BP–9888; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 19th day of October 1955;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled applications of The Greenville Broadcasting Corporation and Western Ohio Broadcasting Co., Inc., each for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1320 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, directional antenna, daytime only, at Greenville, Ohio;

It appearing that each of the applicants is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified, except as may appear from the issues specified below, to operate its proposed station, but that operation of both stations as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference; that both proposals would cause interference to Station WISH, Indianapolis; and that the proposal of The Greenville Broadcasting Corporation would receive interference from Stations WISH, WHOK, Lancaster, Ohio; and WILS, Lansing, Michigan; to the extent that more than 10 percent of the population within its normally protected primary service area would be affected in contravention of section 3.28, (c) of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicants were advised by letter dated August 5, 1955, of the aforementioned deficiencies and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of either application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that a timely reply was filed by each of the applicants; and

It further appearing that in a letter dated July 12, 1955, Station WISH requested that the applications be designated for hearing and that it be made a party to the proceeding on grounds of the above-described interference; and

It further appearing that The Greenville Broadcasting Corporation in a letter dated September 2, 1955, requested an extension of thirty days in which to reply to the Commission's letter and to file an amendment specifying a new transmitter site and changes in directional antenna; that in a letter dated September 7, 1955, Western Ohio Broadcasting Co., Inc., opposed the request on the grounds that ample time has been available for making such changes; and that the Commission is of the opinion that it would be expeditious to here deny the request for extension, as leave to amend may be granted for good cause shown after designation for hearing; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the above replies, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the proposed operations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether each of the proposed operations would cause objectionable interference to Station WISH, Indianapolis, Indiana; or any other existing station, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the operation proposed by The Greenville Broadcasting Corporation would receive interference from Stations WISH, Indianapolis, Indiana; WHOK, Lancaster, Ohio; and WILS, Lansing, Michigan; or any other existing stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and whether, because of the said interference, the proposed operation would comply with section 3.28 (c) of the Commission's Rules.

4. To determine which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would better serve the public interest in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues and record made with respect to the significant differences between the applicants as to:

(a) The background and experience of each of the above-named applicants to own and operate the proposed stations.

(b) The proposals of each of the above-named applicants with respect to the management and operation of the proposed stations.

(c) The programming service proposed in each of the above-mentioned applications.

5. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which, if either, of the applications, should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding may be enlarged by the Examiner on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding and upon sufficient allegations of fact in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue:

To determine whether funds available to the applicant will give reasonable assurance that the proposal set forth in the application will be effectuated.

It is further ordered, That Universal Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WISH, Indianapolis, Indiana, is made a party to the proceeding.

Released: October 24, 1955.

[Docket No. 11521, FCC 55-1049]

HOWARD E. GRIFFITH (KUZN)

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re Application of Howard E. Griffith (KUZN), West Monroe, Louisiana, Docket No. 11521, File No. BP-9902; for construction permit.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a protest filed on September 29, 1955, by James A. Noe, licensee of standard broadcast station KNOE, Monroe, Louisiana (1390 kc, 5 kw, DA-N, Unl.) pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, protesting the Commission's action of August 31, 1955, granting without hearing the above-entitled application of Howard E. Griffith for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station (KUZN) to operate on 1310 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt, daytime only, at West Monroe, Louisiana; and oppositions to said protest filed on October 4 and 10, 1955, by Howard E. Griffith.

2. West Monroe, Louisiana, is adjacent to Monroe, Louisiana, is separated therefrom by the Ouachita River and is an independently constituted municipality. There are no existing broadcast stations in West Monroe. Three standard broadcast stations, one FM station and one TV station are licensed to serve Monroe: KNOE, KMLB (1410 kc, 1 kw–5 kw–LS, DA–N, Unl.), KLIC (1230 kc, 250 w, Unl.) KMLB–FM and KNOE–TV (Channel 8). The protestant is also the licensee of KNOE–TV and has an application pending to change the facilities of KNOE to 540 kc, 5 kw–LS, DA–N, Unl. The permittee of KUZN is also the licensee of standard broadcast station KTLD, Tallulah, Louisiana, which is approximately 55 miles east of West Monroe.

3. Protestant claims that he is a party in interest within the purview of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended because Station KNOE would suffer economic injury from the operation of Station KUZN in West Monroe, Louisiana, which city, the protestant states, is "geographically only an extension or part of the Monroe market area". In support of his protest, protestant alleges, in substance that the Monroe-West Monroe market cannot support another radio station; that the permittee is licensee of standard broadcast station KTLD, Tallulah, Louisiana; that the service areas of the authorized West Monroe station and Station KTLD would overlap a "distance of thirty miles"; that the permittee is not financially qualified to construct and operate Station KUZN; that his "actual net worth is substantially less than the amount stated"; that the values listed in Griffith's balance sheet for residence property and Station KTLD ($24,000 and $20,000 respectively) are not substantiated; that the permittee "cannot successfully withstand" his expected loss of $5,000 for the first year's operation; that three existing standard broadcast stations in Monroe, Louisiana, are "the absolute optimum number of stations which can profitably exist in the Monroe-West Monroe market area"; that in 1950 the population of Monroe was 38,572 and of West Monroe 10,302; that in 1952 there were 635 retail outlets in Monroe with sales of $62,679,000 and wholesale sales were $68,054,000; that in 1954 KNOE lost $28,376.59 and through August 1955 has shown a profit of only $3,955.25 "despite stringent operating economies"; that the permittee sold his interest in television Station KFAZ, Monroe, Louisiana, operating on UHF Channel 43, less than a year after it had commenced operation; and that the same television station surrendered its license shortly thereafter, which is "strongly persuasive that the Monroe market cannot profitably support another radio station without resultant deterioration in the capacity of existing stations to serve the public convenience and necessity".

4. In his oppositions to KNOE's protest, the permittee contends that the protestant has not shown that he is a party in interest under section 309 (c); that KNOE would suffer no economic injury because the existing stations in Monroe "have not been able to handle the business that is available to them now"; that the businessmen and civic organizations of West Monroe have a great need for local radio facilities; that since 1950 the population of West Monroe has more than doubled and is now estimated at 26,000; that industrial organizations in West Monroe have shown equal growth; that the average income for families in West Monroe is 30 per cent above the national average; that KUZN would help the stations in Monroe since "it will force more business on the Monroe stations, because for the first time the West Monroe businessmen will have a way to promote their own products and services"; that the failure of television station KFAZ–TV was due to the "well-known nation-wide story of UHF versus VHF and the networks, and not to the inability of this market to support it"; that the protestant's allegation of insufficient advertising revenue being available to support additional radio facilities in the Monroe-West Monroe market is refuted by the fact that the protestant himself proposes to "spend a tremendous amount of money" to increase the power of Station KNOE to 10,000 watts and change frequency to 540 kilocycles in an application now pending before the Commission; that the signal strengths of Stations KUZN and KTLD "are virtually worthless" in the KUNZ–KTLD overlap area because of "high atmospheric and power line noises"; that the permittee's residential property has been appraised by a local mortgage loan and real estate firm at $27,750; that the $20,000 valuation listed for Station KTLD covers only the physical assets with no allowance for "the good will and profitable business that it is"; that permittee's Griffith Electric Company has shown a net profit in excess of $10,000 for the first eight months of 1955 and that "with the income tax structure as it is, if the new station did loss $5,000 a year, its loss to my personal income would be negligible" and that protestant has not alleged the "facts, matters and things relied upon" with the requisite specificity.

5. In view of the fact that the protestant is the licensee of standard broadcast station KNOE and television station KNOE–TV, Monroe, Louisiana; that Monroe is adjacent to West Monroe, Louisiana and that protestant's stations and the permittee's station will compete for advertising revenues; and that the protestant has alleged that it will suffer economic injury as a result of the grant complained of, we find the protestant to be a "party in interest" within the meaning of Section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. T. E. Allen and Sons, Inc., 9 Pike and Fischer RR 197; Federal Communications Commission v. Sanders Brothers Radio Station, 309 U. S. 407 (9 Pike and Fischer RR 2008).

6. We find further that the facts, matters and things relied upon by the protestant have been specified with sufficient particularity to warrant designating the above-entitled application for hearing. The protestant has framed the following issues upon which it requests an opportunity to present evidence at a hearing:

1. Whether it is reasonably probable that the market can support a fourth radio station without the occurrence of either inadequate revenue to the fourth station and its resultant failure, or the failure of one or more of the existing stations, or the rendering by the new station or existing stations of inadequate programming service.

2. Whether it is in the public interest to permit applicant to compete with his own wholly owned station at Tallulah, Louisiana, within substantially the same market area.

3. Whether Griffith is financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed station.

With respect to issue "1" above, it should be pointed out that the retention of such issue for hearing does not constitute a determination at this time that the competitive effect of the permittee's proposed station on protestant's station is a relevant consideration. This question will be determined at the hearing. Further, proposed issue "2" has been rephrased without changing the purpose and intent thereof.

7. In view of the foregoing, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-entitled application is postponed pending a final determination by the Commission in the hearing described below with respect to the protest of James A. Noe; and that the above-entitled application is designated for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on the following issues:

1. To determine whether it is reasonably probable that the West Monroe-Monroe, Louisiana market can support a fourth radio station with the occurrence of either inadequate revenue to the fourth station and its resultant failure, or the failure of one or more of the existing stations, or the rendering by the new station or existing stations of inadequate programming.

2. To determine whether a grant of the subject West Monroe application would be in contravention of the provisions of section 3.35 of the Commission's rules and the Commission's policies adopted thereunder.

3. To determine whether the permittee is financially qualified to construct and operate Station KUZN.

4. To determine whether, on the basis of the evidence adduced at the above hearing, the grant of the above-entitled application should be set aside.

The burden of proof as to each of the above issues shall be on the protestant.

It is further ordered, That protestant and the Chief, Broadcast Bureau are hereby made parties to the above-described proceedings and that:

(a) The hearing on the above issues shall commence at 10:00 a. m. on November 30, 1955, before an Examiner of the Commission; and

(b) The parties to the proceedings herein shall have fifteen (15) days after the issuance of the Examiner's decision to file exceptions thereto and seven (7) days thereafter to file replies to any such exceptions; and

(c) The parties intending to participate in the hearing herein shall file their appearances not later than November 23, 1955.

TITLE 6—AGRICULTURAL CREDIT

Chapter III—Farmers Home Administration, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter E—Account Servicing

PART 366—PAYMENT IN FULL

SUBPART B—SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION ACCOUNTS

Part 366, Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (20 F. R. 4175) is amended to add a new Subpart B covering the repayment in full of Soil and Water Conservation accounts, to read as follows:

Sec.
366.21 General.
366.22 Payment in full of insured Soil and Water Conservation loan with borrower funds, including refinancing and sale of farm.
366.23 Payment in full of insured Soil and Water Conservation loan by refinancing with holder of insured note on a non-insured basis.
366.24 Payment in full of direct Soil and Water Conservation loan made pursuant to Public Law 597, 83d Congress.

AUTHORITY: §§ 366.21 to 366.24 issued under R. S. 161, sec. 6 (3), 50 Stat. 870, sec. 10 (a) (7), 68 Stat. 735; 5 U. S. C. 22, 16 U. S. C. 590w (3), 590x (3). Interpret or apply secs. 2 (3), 5, 50 Stat. 869, 870, secs. 9, 10, 68 Stat. 735, 736; 16 U. S. C. 590s (3), 590v, 590x-2, 590x-3.

§ 366.21 General. This part sets forth the authorizations, policies, and procedures for processing final payment on insured and direct Soil and Water Conservation loans made pursuant to the Act of August 28, 1937, as amended by Public Law 597, 83d Congress (16 U. S. C. 590r et seq.). Final payments on direct Water Facilities loans coded J will be handled in accordance with § 361.7 of this chapter.

(a) Authority. The County Supervisor is authorized to accept final payment on a Soil and Water Conservation loan and to execute the necessary releases and satisfactions in connection with the indebtedness.

(1) The State Director with the assistance of the Attorney in Charge may issue a State Instruction regarding the release of Soil and Water Conservation loan mortgages. Form FHA–77, "Satisfaction," may be used when permitted by State statutes. If Form FHA–77 is not satisfactory, the State Director may secure from the Attorney in Charge a form of satisfaction.

(2) If State law requires recording or filing of the satisfaction by the mortgagee, two executed copies of the satisfaction will be prepared and the additional copy will be recorded or filed by the County Supervisor with the proper recording official.

(b) Loan insurance charges when loan is repaid—(1) Repayment of the loan after borrower has used loan funds. In all cases of final payment or refinancing of insured loan indebtedness when the borrower has had use of loan funds, he will be required to pay the entire annual loan insurance charge computed for the year then current, if not already paid. This charge will be one percent of the unpaid principal amount due on the promissory note as of January 1 preceding the date final payment is made on the note account. For the purpose of computing this charge, the date final payment is made on the note account will be the date the funds for final payment or refinancing of the note account are received by the County Supervisor for transmittal to the Finance Office. In transactions where final payment or refinancing of the note account is accomplished by the exchange of promissory notes without funds being paid to the Farmers Home Administration, the date final payment is made on the note account will be considered to be the date the insured loan is refinanced. This will be the date entered by the holder in the space entitled "Final Payment Received" in Form FHA–993, "Notice of Receipt of Final Payment on Insured Loan."

(2) Loan funds refunded in full after loan closing. If an insured loan borrower decides to refund in full his Soil and Water Conservation loan, he will be required to pay a loan insurance charge from the date of loan closing to the date the Treasury check is remitted to the lender. In the event the borrower has prepaid his loan insurance charge, any overpayment will be refunded by the Finance Office unless the borrower has a delinquent loan account, in which case, the overpayment will be applied to the delinquent loan account. (Interest will be charged on the note account from the date of loan closing to the date the Treasury check is remitted to the lender.)

§ 366.22 Payment in full of insured Soil and Water Conservation loan with borrower funds, including refinancing and sale of farm—(a) Determining balance of indebtedness and collection. When the borrower is ready to make his final payment, the County Supervisor upon receipt of Form FHA–835 from the Finance Office will compute the amount necessary to repay in full the note and loan insurance accounts.

(1) Interest on the note account will be calculated to a date 10 days (20 days if payment is made by uncertified check drawn on the bank account of an individual) beyond the date on which the collection is received by the County Supervisor. Any overpayment will be refunded to the borrower by the Finance Office unless the borrower is delinquent on another loan account, in which case, the overpayment will be applied to the delinquent loan account. On any advances made for the account of the borrower from the insurance fund, interest will be calculated to the date the payment of the loan insurance account is received by the County Supervisor.

(2) The County Supervisor will collect from the borrower the full amount, if any, owned the loan insurance account and the balance of the principal and interest due on the note account.

(b) Finance Office action—(1) Adjustment of records. Upon receipt of the collection in the Finance Office, if the collection pays in full the outstanding balance of the loan insurance account to the date of receipt issued to the borrower and the outstanding balance of the note account to the date of the Treasury check to be issued to the holder, the Director, Finance Office, will sign the original and two copies of Section II of Form FHA–993 and will satisfy the Finance Office records as a fully paid account.

(2) Notice to holder. The Finance Office will furnish the original and two copies of Form FHA–993 to the holder and will advise the holder that the borrower has made final payment of the note account. The Finance Office will inform the holder of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the note account to the date of the Treasury check and request the holder to execute Section I of the original and one copy of Form FHA–993 and the canceled prom-Treasury check if the amount of the Treasury check is in agreement with his records. The holder also will be requested to send the executed copies of Form FHA–993 and the canceled promissory note to the County Supervisor.

(c) County Office action. Upon receipt of the canceled promissory note and the original and one copy of the completed Form FHA–993 from the holder, the County Supervisor will prepare an instrument of satisfaction, if needed. The canceled promissory note and the satisfied mortgage will be delivered to the borrower. The County Supervisor will make proper distribution of any property insurance as prescribed in Farmers Home Administration Instructions for Farm Ownership program real property insurance.

(d) Escrow arrangements. In any case in which a lender or purchaser insists upon a satisfaction of the mortgage and cancellation of the note at the time the Soil and Water Conservation loan is paid in full, he will be advised that he may make his own escrow arrangements. All accounts owed by the borrower on the note and loan insurance accounts must be paid to the County Supervisor, as collection agent for the lender and the Government, at the time the satisfaction is delivered to the escrow agent. The note may be delivered by the lender to the escrow agent before or at the time of delivery of the satisfaction to him. The escrow agent will cancel the note at the time the funds paying the loan in full are given to the County Supervisor, and then forward the note to the borrower. No part of the expense for an escrow arrangement will be paid by the Government.

§ 366.23 Payment in full of insured Soil and Water Conservation loan by refinancing with holder of insured note on a non-insured basis. This section applies when final payment of an insured Soil and Water Conservation loan is to be made by refinancing by the holder of the insured note on a non-insured basis. In such a case, final payment of the note account may be accomplished by exchanging a non-insured note for the insured promissory note. Since no funds are involved in final payment of the note account, only the collection of the loan insurance account will be transmitted to the Finance Office.

(a) Collection of loan insurance account. When final payment of the note account of the insured borrower is to be accomplished by the above method, the County Supervisor, upon receipt of Form FHA–835 from the Finance Office, will collect from the borrower the full amount, if any, owed the loan insurance account. If Form FHA–835 shows an unpaid balance of any amount advanced from the insurance fund, the County Supervisor will compute the interest on such amount to the date he receives payment.

(b) Preparation of Form FHA–993. The County Supervisor will complete the information in Section I of Form FHA–993 with respect to the borrower and the promissory note and will check the appropriate blocks in Section III. The original and two copies of the partially completed Form FHA–993 will be delivered to the holder of the insured loan. The County Supervisor will inform the holder of the outstanding balance of principal and interest on the insured note account as of the date of Form FHA–835 and the daily rate of accrual of interest. The County Supervisor will request that, if such amount is in agreement with the holder's records, the holder should insert the date the final payment is received (date insured loan is refinanced), execute the original and one copy of Form FHA–993, and return to the County Supervisor the executed original and copy of Form FHA–993 together with the canceled promissory note.

(c) County Office action. After the Finance Office has determined that the full amount owed the insurance account has been paid and forwarded the completed copy of Form FHA–993 to the County Office, the County Supervisor will issue an appropriate form of satisfaction, if needed. The canceled promissory note and the satisfied real estate mortgage will be delivered to the borrower. Property insurance will be canceled in accordance with Farm Ownership program instructions covering real property insurance.

§ 366.24 Payment in full of direct soil and water conservation loan made pursuant to Public Law 597, 83d Congress. Upon receipt of Form FHA–835 from the Finance Office, the County Supervisor will notify the borrower that he is prepared to accept final payment.

(a) Delivery of documents after note stamped "Paid in Full" is received from the Finance Office. Upon receipt from the Finance Office of the note, stamped paid in full the County Supervisor will deliver the stamped note, any property insurance policies, and the original mortgage to the borrower. For all real estate loans and when required for notes secured by chattel property, a satisfaction executed in accordance with the State instruction will be delivered to the borrower for recording if desired.

The cost of inspection, weighing, issuance of certificates, observation of diversion and checkloading shall be borne by the diverter.

(d) Period of diversion. No payment under this program will be made in connection with any dates diverted unless the diversion was accomplished by the diverter after the date of approval of his application and prior to 12 o'clock midnight, p. s. t., September 30, 1956.

§ 518.527 Set-off. The Secretary may set off, against any amount owed to any diverter hereunder, any amount owed by such diverter to the Commodity Credit Corporation, the United States Department of Agriculture, or any other agency of the United States. Set-off as provided in this subpart shall not deprive the diverter of the right to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved, either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

§ 518.528 Joint payee or assignment. A diverter may name a joint payee on claim for payment or may assign, in accordance with the provisions of the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, Public Law 811, 76th Congress, as amended (31 U. S. C. 203, 41 U. S. C. 15), the proceeds of any claim to a bank, trust company, Federal lending agency, or other recognized financing institution: Provided, That, such assignment shall be recognized only if and when the assignee thereof files written notice of the assignment with the Administrator, together with a true copy of the instrument of assignment, in accordance with the instructions on Form AMS–66 "Notice of Assignment," which form must be used in giving notice of assignment to the Administrator. The "Instrument of Assignment" may be executed on Form AMS–347 or the assignee may use his own form of assignment. The AMS forms may be obtained from the Administrator or the Western Area Administrative Division.

§ 518.529 Good faith. If the Administrator determines that any diverter has not acted in good faith in connection with any transaction under this program, or has failed to discharge fully any obligation assumed by him under this program, such diverter may be denied the right to continue participating in this program or the right to receive payment under this program in connection with any diversion previously made under this program, or both.

§ 518.530 Definitions. As used in this subpart, the following terms have the following meanings:

Approved products, other than those specifically named herein, shall be restricted to those for which it is determined, on the basis of Departmental and such other sources as are reasonably available, that there has been no commercial sale, other than on an experimental basis or under a previous Department diversion program, prior to the effective date of this program. Butter as distinguished from macerated dates or paste, shall mean finely ground dates of near powder consistency, stabilized by additives such as sugar or citric acid, having a full bodied date flavor and odor, having a uniform color and containing moisture sufficient to permit easy spreading. NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements contained herein have been approved by, and subsequent requirements will be subject to the approval of, the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 29—TOBACCO INSPECTION

SUBPART D—ORDERS OF DESIGNATION OF TOBACCO MARKETS

HENDERSON, KY., AND GATE CITY, VA., TOBACCO AUCTION MARKETS

Upon referenda conducted, pursuant to prior notice (20 F. R. 7077), during the period October 6, 1955–October 8, 1955, both dates inclusive, among tobacco growers, who, during the 1954–55 marketing season, sold tobacco at auction on the market at Henderson, Kentucky, and on the market at Gate City, Virginia, it is found that more than two-thirds of the growers voting in each such referendum favor the designation of each such market under section 5 of the Tobacco Inspection Act (7 U. S. C. 511 et seq.) for the free and mandatory inspection and certification of tobacco sold on each such market. Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, and for the purposes of said Act, the orders of designation of tobacco markets (7 CFR 29.601) are amended by adding thereto at the end thereof the following paragraph (ss):

S. Department of Agriculture according to standards established under the Tobacco Inspection Act (7 U. S. C. 511 et seq.): Provided, however, That such requirement of inspection and certification may be suspended at any time when it is found impracticable to provide inspection or when the quantity of tobacco available for inspectoin is not sufficient to justify the cost of such service.

AUTHORITY: §§ 52.2341 to 52.2352 issued under sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1624.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION, STYLES, AND GRADES

§ 52.2341 Product description. Dehydrated (low-moisture) apples, hereinafter referred to as "dehydrated apples," are prepared from clean and sound fresh or previously dried (or evaporated) apples from which the peels and cores have been removed and which have been cut into segments. The dried (or evaporated) apple segments may be cut further into smaller segments in preparation for dehydration whereby practically all of the moisture is removed to produce a very dry texture and are prepared to assure a clean, sound, wholesome product. The sulphur dioxide content of the finished product may not exceed 500 parts per million but no other additives may be present.

§ 52.2342 Styles of dehydrated apples—(a) Pie pieces. Pie pieces consist predominantly of parallel-cut, irregularly shaped pieces, approximating 3/16-inch or less in thickness and 3/4-inch or longer in their longest dimension.

(b) Flakes. Flakes consist predominantly of parallel-cut, irregularly shaped pieces, approximating 3/16-inch or less in thickness and less than 3/4-inch in their longest dimension.

(c) Wedges. Wedges are fairly thick sectors, approximating no more than 5/8-inch at their greatest thickness.

(d) Sauce pieces. Sauce pieces are small popcorn-like units of varying shapes and sizes, not otherwise conforming to the style of flakes, and in which practically all of the units when free-flowing will pass through 0.446-inch square openings. Sauce pieces of this style are considered "finely-cut" when practically all of the units will pass through 3/8-inch square openings.

§ 52.2343 Grades of dehydrated apples. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" dehydrated apples is the quality of dehydrated apples in which the moisture content of the finished product is not more than 2.5 percent by weight; that possess a normal flavor and odor, that possess a good color, that are reasonably uniform in size, that are practically free from defects, that possess a good texture, and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 85 points.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Choice" dehydrated apples is the quality of dehydrated apples in which the moisture content of the finished product is not more than 3.5 percent by weight; that possess a normal flavor and odor, that possess a reasonably good color, that are fairly uniform in size, that are reasonably free from defects, that possess a reasonably good texture, and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 70 points.

(c) "Substandard" dehydrated apples is the quality of dehydrated apples that fail to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.2344 Ascertaining the grade. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated:

(a) Factors not rated by score points.
(1) Moisture content.
(2) Flavor and odor.

(b) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

	Points
(1) Color	20
(2) Uniformity of size	20
(3) Absence of defects	40
(4) Texture	20
Total score	100

(c) The factors of flavor and odor, color, and texture are acertained both upon the dehydrated apples and the cooked product as outlined in this subpart.

(d) "Normal flavor and odor" means that the dehydrated apples and the cooked product possess a characteristic flavor and odor that is free from objectionable flavors or objectionable odors of any kind. A flavor and odor in the dehydrated apples indicative of proper sulphur treatment is not considered objectionable.

§ 52.2345 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

§ 52.2346 Color—(a) (A) classification. Dehydrated apples that possess a good color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good color" means that the dehydrated apples possess a reasonably uniform, reasonably bright, light yellow to yellow-white characteristic color which, upon cooking, is a reasonably bright color typical of cooked dehydrated apples that have been properly prepared and processed.

(b) (B) classification. If the dehydrated apples possess a reasonably good color, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Dehydrated apples that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" means that the dehydrated apples possess a fairly uniform, fairly bright, light yellow-amber or light yellow to yellow-white characteristic color and which, upon cooking, may be variable in color but is typical of cooked dehydrated apples that have been properly prepared and processed.

(c) (SStd) classification. Dehydrated apples that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2347 Uniformity of size—(a) (A) Classification. Dehydrated apples that are reasonably uniform in size may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Reasonably uniform in size" has the following meanings for the respective styles:

(1) Pie pieces. (i) Not less than 75 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are 3/4-inch or more in their longest dimension and of the units of this length not less than 35 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are 1 inch or more in their longest dimension;

(ii) Practically all of the units 3/4-inch or more in their longest dimension are 3/16-inch or less at their greatest thickness; and

(iii) Not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may be so fine as to pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 4 sieve (0.187-inch, ±3 percent, square openings); but

(iv) Not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 8 sieve (0.0937-inch, ±3 percent, square openings).

(2) Flakes. (i) Not less than 95 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are less than 3/4-inch in their longest dimension;

(iii) Not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may be so fine as to pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 8 sieve (0.0937-inch± 3 percent, square openings); but

(iv) Practically none of the product may pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 16 sieve (0.0469-inch±3 percent, square openings).

(3) Wedges. (i) Not less than 95 percent, by weight, of all the units are 1 inch or longer in their longest dimension; and

(ii) Practically all of such sized units are 5/8-inch or less at their greatest thickness.

(4) Sauce pieces. (i) Not less than 95 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are units of such size, or so fine, as to pass through 0.446-inch square openings;

(ii) Not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may be so fine as to pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 8 sieve (0.0937-inch± 3 percent, square openings); but

(iii) Practically none of the product may pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 16 sieve (0.0469-inch±3 percent, square openings).

(b) (B) Classification. If the dehydrated apples are fairly uniform in size a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Dehydrated apples that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly uniform in size" has the following meanings for the respective styles:

(1) Pie pieces. (i) Not less than 60 percent by weight, of the dehydrated apples are ¾-inch or more in their longest dimension and of the units of this length not less than 25 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are 1 inch or more in their longest dimension;

(ii) Practically all of the units ¾-inch or more in their longest dimension are 3/16-inch or less at their greatest thickness; and

(iii) Not more than 15 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may be so fine as to pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 4 sieve (0.187-inch, ±3 percent, square openings); but

(iv) Not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 8 sieve (0.0937-inch, ±3 percent, square openings).

(2) Flakes. (i) Not less than 85 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are less than ¾-inch in their longest dimension;

(ii) Practically all of such sized units are 3/16-inch or less at their greatest thickness; and

(iii) Not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may be so fine as to pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 16 sieve (0.0469-inch, ±3 percent, square openings).

(3) Wedges. (i) Not less than 85 percent, by weight, of all the units are 1 inch or longer in their longest dimension; and

(ii) Practically all of such sized units are ⅝-inch or less at their greatest thickness.

(4) Sauce pieces. (i) Not less than 85 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples are units of such size, or so fine, as to pass through 0.446-inch square openings; but

(ii) Not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the dehydrated apples may be so fine as to pass through meshes of a U. S. Standard No. 16 sieve (0.0469-inch, ±3 percent, square openings).

(c) (SStd) classification. Dehydrated apples that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2348 Absence of defects—(a) Definitions of defects. The factor of absence of defects refers to the degree of freedom from carpel tissue; from units damaged by pieces of peel, bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, or damaged by other means; from units damaged by calyxes and stems; and from defects not specifically mentioned as defined in this paragraph.

(1) Practically free from carpel tissue. "Practically free from carpel tissue" means that for each 1¾ ounces of dehydrated apples any carpel tissue that may be present does not exceed in the aggregate an area equal to ½-square inch.

(2) Reasonably free from carpel tissue. "Reasonably free from carpel tissue" means that for each 1¾ ounces of dehydrated apples any carpel tissue that may be present in the aggregate exceeds an area equal to ½-square inch but does not exceed an area equal to 1 square inch.

(3) Damaged by pieces of peel. "Damaged by pieces of peel" means pieces of peel, regardless of color, which in their greatest dimension exceed ¼-inch.

(4) Damaged by bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, and other similar defects. "Damaged by bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, and other similar defects" means the appearance or eating quality of the unit is materially affected by such defects.

(5) Damaged by other means. "Damaged by other means" means defects not specifically mentioned which affect materially the appearance or edibility of the piece so damaged.

(6) Damaged by calyxes and stems. "Damaged by calyxes and stems" means the appearance or eating quality of the unit is materially affected by such defects including portions thereof.

(7) Defects not specifically mentioned. "Defects not specifically mentioned" include but are not limited to such apple materials as excessive loose seeds or loose stems which are not considered as damaged units and which singly or collectively affect materially the appearance or edibility of the product.

(b) (A) Classification. Dehydrated apples that are practically free from defects may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Practically free from defects" means that dehydrated apples of any style are practically free from carpel tissue and defects not specifically mentioned and, in addition, has the following meanings for the respective styles:

(1) Pie pieces; wedges. Not more than 10 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by pieces of peel, bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, other means, calyxes, and stems: Provided, That not more than 1 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by calyxes and stems.

(2) Flakes; sauce pieces. Not more than 5 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by pieces of peel, bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, other means, calyxes, and stems: Provided, That not more than ½ of 1 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by calyxes and stems.

(c) (B) classification. If the dehydrated apples are reasonably free from defects, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Dehydrated apples that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that the dehydrated apples of any style are reasonably free from carpel tissue and defects not specifically mentioned and, in addition, has the following meanings for the respective styles:

(1) Pie pieces; wedges. Not more than 15 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by pieces of peel, bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, other means, calyxes, and stems: Provided, That not more than 2 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by calyxes and stems.

(2) Flakes; sauce pieces. Not more than 8 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by pieces of peel, bruises or other discoloration, bitter pit or corky tissue, water core, other means, calyxes, and stems: Provided, That not more than 1 percent, by weight, of all the units may be damaged by calyxes and stems.

(d) (SStd) classification. Dehydrated apples that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2349 Texture—(a) (A) classification. Dehydrated apples that possess a good texture may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good texture" means with respect to the dehydrated product that the units are brittle; and, upon cooking in accordance with the methods outlined in this subpart, the textures of the respective styles are as follows:

(1) Pie pieces; wedges. The units are reasonably uniform in tenderness and texture; are practically free from any tough (or "leathery") units; and there is no more than moderate disintegration except for small pieces that may have been present.

(2) Flakes. The units are reasonably uniform in tenderness and texture; are practically free from any tough (or "leathery") units; and there may be considerable disintegration of the pieces but not to the degree of a grainy applesauce consistency.

(3) Sauce pieces. The mass has a reasonably uniform texture and finish ranging from that of a coarse, grainy applesauce to a fine, grainy applesauce, without practically any hard particles.

(b) (B) classification. If the dehydrated apples possess a reasonably good texture, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Dehydrated apples that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good texture" means with respect to the dehydrated product that the units are brittle; and, upon cooking in accordance with the methods outlined in this subpart, the textures of the respective styles are as follows:

(1) Pie pieces; wedges. The units are fairly uniform in tenderness and texture but moderately free from any tough (or "leathery") units; and there may be more than moderate disintegration except for small pieces that may have been present.

(2) Flakes. The units are fairly uniform in tenderness and texture but moderately free from any tough (or "leathery") units; and the pieces may have become disintegrated to the degree of a grainy applesauce consistency.

(3) Sauce pieces. The mass has a fairly uniform texture and finish ranging from that of a coarse, grainy applesauce to a fine, grainy applesauce; and hard particles may be noticeable but not objectionable.

(c) (SStd) classification. Dehydrated apples that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

EXPLANATIONS AND METHODS OF ANALYSES

§ 52.2350 Explanations of methods and analyses—(a) Moisture method. "Moisture" in dehydrated apples is determined in accordance with the official method applicable to dried fruits as outlined in the "Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists."

(b) Cooking procedures. A representative sample of not less than 2 ounces avoirdupois to approximately 4 ounces avoirdupois is recommended for purposes of the cooking procedures in this paragraph. The procedures for cooking to ascertain compliance with requirements for color and texture are as follows for the respective styles:

(1) Pie pieces. Add 1 part, by weight, of pie pieces to 6 parts, by weight, of water just below the boiling point; cover, bring to a boil, and simmer for 20 minutes.

(2) Flakes. Add 1 part, by weight, of the flakes to 5 parts, by weight, of water just below the boiling point; cover, bring to a boil, and simmer for 15 minutes.

(3) Wedges. Add 1 part, by weight, of the wedges to 6 parts, by weight, of water just below the boiling point; cover, bring to a boil, and simmer for 30 minutes.

(4) Sauce pieces. Add 1 part, by weight, of the sauce pieces to 8 parts, by weight, of water just below the boiling point; cover, bring to a boil, and simmer for 15 minutes.

(c) Sifting methods. The technique for ascertaining compliance with the requirements for pieces that pass through U. S. Standard No. 4, No. 8, and No. 16 sieves is as follows:

(1) Pie pieces. (i) From a 4-ounce representative sample of dehydrated apple "pie pieces," remove all pieces which are ¾-inch or more in their longest dimension;

(ii) Place the remainder of the sample on a U. S. Standard No. 4, 8-inch diameter, full-height sieve nested on top of a U. S. Standard No. 8, 8-inch diameter, full-height sieve to which a bottom pan has been attached;

(iii) Place the assembly on a smooth level surface and with a steady, fairly rapid sieving motion, move the assembly approximately 20 inches in a straight line and return to its original position, repeating the movement 20 times;

(iv) Weigh the fine material sifted through to the bottom pan and calculate on the basis of the original sample (under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) as the percentage which passed through the No. 8 sieve; and

(v) Weigh the material sifted through the No. 4 sieve and remaining on the No. 8 sieve; calculate on the basis of the original sample (under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) and add the percentage which remained on the No. 8 sieve to the percentage which passed through the No. 8 sieve (under subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph) as the total percentage which passed through the No. 4 sieve.

(2) Flakes. (i) From a 4-ounce representative sample of dehydrated apple "flakes" remove all pieces which are ¾-inch or more in their longest dimension;

(ii) Place the remainder of the sample on a U. S. Standard No. 8, 8-inch diameter, full-height sieve nested on top of a U. S. Standard No. 16, 8-inch diameter, full-height sieve to which a bottom pan has been attached;

(iii) Place the assembly on a smooth level surface and with a steady, fairly rapid sieving motion, move the assembly approximately 20 inches in a straight line and return to its original position, repeating the movement 20 times;

(iv) Weigh the fine material sifted through to the bottom pan and calculate on the basis of the original sample (under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) as the percentage which passed through the No. 16 sieve; and

(v) Weigh the material sifted through the No. 8 sieve and remaining on the No. 16 sieve; calculate on the basis of the original sample (under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) and add the percentage which remained on the No. 16 sieve to the percentage which passed through the No. 16 sieve (under subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph) as the total percentage which passed through the No. 8 sieve.

(3) Sauce pieces. (i) From a 4-ounce representative sample of dehydrated apple "sauce pieces" remove all pieces which in their smallest dimensions will not pass readily through 0.446-inch square openings by gentle hand pressing;

(ii) Place the remainder of the sample on a U. S. Standard No. 8, 8-inch diameter, full-height sieve nested on top of a U. S. Standard No. 16, 8-inch diameter, full-height sieve to which a bottom pan has been attached;

(iii) Place the assembly on a smooth level surface and with a steady, fairly rapid sieving motion, move the assembly approximately 20 inches in a straight line and return to its original position, repeating the movement 20 times;

(iv) Weigh the fine material sifted through to the bottom pan and calculate on the basis of the original sample (under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) as the percentage which passed through the No. 16 sieve; and

(v) Weigh the material sifted through the No. 8 sieve and remaining on the No. 16 sieve; calculate on the basis of the original sample (under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) and add the percentage which remained on the No. 16 sieve to the percentage which passed through the No. 16 sieve (under subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph) as the total percentage which passed through the No. 8 sieve.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2351 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of dehydrated apples the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if with respect to those factors which are scored:

(1) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(2) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(3) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(4) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

PART 989—RAISINS PRODUCED FROM RAISIN VARIETY GRAPES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

FREE, RESERVE, AND SURPLUS PERCENTAGES FOR 1955-56 CROP YEAR AND LIST OF COUNTRIES FOR EXPORT SALE OF SURPLUS TONNAGE THROUGH HANDLERS

Notice was published in the October 11, 1955, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 7576) that the Secretary of Agricutlure was considering a proposed rule to establish free tonnage percentages, reserve tonnage percentages, and surplus tonnage percentages, and a list specifying the countries to which sale in export of surplus tonnage raisins may be made by or through handlers, with respect to raisins produced from raisin variety grapes grown in California and acquired by handlers during the 1955-56 crop year. These percentages and the list of specified countries were proposed after consideration of the recommendations submitted by the Raisin Administrative Committee and other information available to the Secretary, in accordance with the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 109, as amended, and Order No. 89, as amended (20 F. R. 6435), regulating the handling of raisins produced from raisin variety grapes grown in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). In said notice, opportunity was afforded all interested persons to file any data, views, or arguments with respect thereto.

After consideration of the data, views, or arguments which were submitted by interested persons, and other available information pertaining thereto, it is hereby found that to designate free tonnage percentages, reserve tonnage percentages, and surplus tonnage percentages and establish a list specifying the countries to which sale in export of surplus tonnage raisins may be made by or through handlers, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the aforesaid act, and it is, therefore, ordered, that such percentages and countries shall be as follows:

§ 989.210 Countries to which sale in export of surplus tonnage raisins may be made by or through handlers. The countries to which sale in export of surplus tonnage raisins acquired by handlers during the crop year beginning September 1, 1955, and ending August 31, 1956, may be made by or through handlers shall include all countries outside of the Western Hemisphere except: (a) Australia, Cyprus, Greece (including Crete), Iran, Turkey, Spain, and the Union of South Africa; and (b) those countries and areas listed in Subgroup A of Group R of the Comprehensive Export Schedule, as amended (15 CFR, 371.3 (a); 20 F. R. 1048), issued by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, United States Department of Commerce, or as the same may be further amended during the period while surplus tonnage raisins of such crop year are being sold in export. For purposes of this section, "Western Hemisphere" shall include Greenland and the area east of the International Date Line and west of 30 degrees W. longitude.

It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for not delaying the effective date of this document for 30 days, or any lesser period, after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that: (1) Acquisition of raisins by handlers during the 1955-56 crop year has begun, and it is necessary to have this regulation in effect promptly for application against such acquisitions of raisins and to provide surplus tonnage raisins to meet current export demand for such raisins; (2) this document is being issued as soon as practicable after reasonably reliable information concerning the 1955 production of raisins became available; and (3) handlers have been aware for some time that action of this nature would be taken and they should need no additional advance notice for compliance with this regulation. In these circumstances, this document should be made effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued this 25th day of October 1955, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 1103—AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION; VIRGIN ISLANDS

SUBPART—1956

There is no more important responsibility within the Department of Agriculture than that for taking aggressive leadership for the conservation and improvement of the Nation's soil and water resources. Cost-sharing under the Agricultural Conservation Program is an important and effective means through which landowners and operators are aided in doing essential conservation work needed in the public interest.

The extent to which the program helps meet conservation objectives is dependent upon the wholehearted participation of all those interested in conservation, at national and local levels, and we solicit their cooperation in making the program effective. I am calling on all those in the Department who have responsibilities in the field of soil and water conservation to join in making the 1956 program a productive tool for conservation and improvement of the agricultural resources of the Nation's farms and ranches. We hope that farmers and ranchers will join in using the program to meet, more than ever before, the community and individual farm conservation problems which would not otherwise be solved.

INTRODUCTION

§ 1103.500 Introduction. (a) Through the 1956 Agricultural Conservation Program for the Virgin Islands (referred to in this subpart as the "1956 program") administered by the Department of Agriculture, the Federal Government will share with farmers in the Virgin Islands the cost of carrying out approved conservation practices in accordance with the provisions contained in this subpart and such modifications thereof as may hereafter be made.

(b) Information with respect to the several practices for which costs will be shared when carried out on a particular farm, and the exact specifications and rates of cost-sharing for such practices, are set forth in this subpart. Any additional information may be obtained at the respective local offices of the Soil Conservation Service located at St. Croix and St. Thomas.

(c) The 1956 program was developed by the ASC State Office, the Director of the Soil Conservation Service for the Caribbean Area, the Forest Service representative having jurisdiction of farm forestry in the Virgin Islands, representatives of the Virgin Islands Corporation, the Director of the U. S. Experiment Station at St. Croix, and representatives of the Government of the Virgin Islands.

GENERAL PROGRAM PRINCIPLES

§ 1103.501 General program principles. The 1956 Agricultural Conservation Program for the Virgin Islands has been developed and is to be carried out on the basis of the following general principles:

(a) The program is confined to the conservation practices on which Federal cost-sharing is most needed in order to achieve the maximum conservation benefit.

(b) The program is designed to encourage those conservation practices which provide the most enduring conservation benefits practicably attainable in 1956 on lands where they are to be applied.

(c) Costs will be shared with a farmer only on satisfactorily performed conservation practices for which Federal cost-sharing was requested by the farmer before the conservation work was begun.

(d) Costs should be shared only on practices which it is believed farmers would not carry out to the needed extent without program assistance. Generally, practices that have become a part of regular farming operations on a particular farm should not be eligible for cost-sharing.

(e) The rates of cost-sharing are the minimum required to result in substantially increased performance of needed practices.

(f) The purpose of the program is to help achieve additional conservation on land now in agricultural production rather than to bring more land into agricultural production. Such of the available funds as cannot be wisely utilized for this purpose will be returned to the public treasury.

(g) If the Federal Government shares the cost of the initial application of conservation practices which farmers otherwise would not perform but which are essential to the national interest, the farmers should assume responsibility for the upkeep and maintenance of those practices.

ALLOCATION OF FUNDS

§ 1103.502 Allocation of funds. The amount of funds available for conservation practices under this program is $12,000. This amount does not include the amount set aside for administrative expenses and the amount required for the increase in small Federal cost-shares in § 1103.517.

SELECTION OF PRACTICES, RESPONSIBILITY FOR TECHNICAL PHASES, AND BULLETINS, INSTRUCTIONS, AND FORMS

§ 1103.503 Selection of practices. The practices included in this subpart are those for which the ASC State Office, the Soil Conservation Service, and the Forest Service agree that cost-sharing is essential to permit accomplishment of needed conservation work which would not otherwise be carried out in the desired volume.

§ 1103.504 Responsibility for technical phases of practices. (a) The Soil Conservation Service is responsible for the technical phases of the practices contained in §§ 1103.548 to 1103.551 (practices 8 to 11). This responsibility shall include (1) a finding that the practice is needed and practicable on the farm, (2) necessary site selection, other preliminary work, and layout work of the practice, (3) necessary supervision of the installation, and (4) certification of performance.

(b) The Forest Service is responsible for the technical phases of the practices contained in §§ 1103.544 to 1103.546 (practices 4 to 6). This responsibility shall include (1) providing necessary specialized technical assistance, (2) development of specifications for the practices, and (3) working through the ASC State Office, determining performance in meeting these specifications.

§ 1103.505 Bulletins, instructions, and forms. The Administrator, ACPS, is authorized to make determinations and to prepare and issue bulletins, instructions, and forms containing detailed information with respect to the 1956 program as it applies to the Virgin Islands, and forms will be made available at the ASC State Office at San Juan, Puerto Rico, and at the offices of the Soil Conservation Service at St. Thomas and St. Croix. Persons wishing to participate in this program should obtain all information needed from the offices mentioned in this subpart.

APPROVAL OF CONSERVATION PRACTICES ON INDIVIDUAL FARMS

§ 1103.506 Opportunity for requesting cost-sharing. Each farm operator shall be given an opportunity to request that the Federal Government share in the cost of those practices on which he considers he needs such assistance in order to permit their performance in adequate volume on his farm.

§ 1103.507 Prior request for cost-sharing. Costs will be shared only for those practices for which cost-sharing is requested by the farm operator before performance thereof is started. For practices for which (a) approval was given under the 1955 Agricultural Conservation Program, (b) performance was started but not completed during the 1955 program year, and (c) the ASC State Office believes the extension of the approval to the 1956 program is justified under the 1956 program regulations and provisions, the filing of the request for cost-sharing under the 1955 program may be regarded as meeting the requirements of the 1956 program that a request for cost-sharing be filed before performance of the practice is started. Any farm operator who wishes to participate in the 1956 program must file a Cert. Form No. 39–56 V. I., Declaration of Intention, Request for Inspection, Certification of Conservation Needs, and Notice of Approval, on or before June 30, 1956. In cases of hardship, such date may be extended by the ASC State Office. These forms may be obtained and filed at any of the offices of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), offices of the Extension Service, and Farmers Home Administration, at St. Croix or St. Thomas.

§ 1103.508 Method and extent of approval. The ASC State Office will determine the extent to which Federal funds will be available to share the cost of each approved practice on each farm, taking into consideration the available funds, the conservation problems of the individual farm and other farms, and the conservation work for which requested Federal cost-sharing is considered as most needed in 1956. Prior approval of the ASC State Office is required for all practices. The notice of approval shall show for each approved practice the number of units of the practice for which the Federal Government will share in the cost and the amount of the Federal cost-share for the performance of that number of units of the practice. The maximum Federal cost-share for a farm shall be equal to the total of the cost-shares for all practices approved for the farm and carried out in accordance with the specifications for such practices.

§ 1103.509 Repair, upkeep, and maintenance of practices. Federal cost-sharing is not authorized for repairs or for upkeep or maintenance of any practice.

PRACTICE COMPLETION REQUIREMENTS

§ 1103.511 Completion of practices. Federal cost-sharing for the practices contained in this subpart is conditioned upon the performance of the practices in accordance with all applicable specifications and program provisions. Except as provided in § 1103.512, practices must be completed during the program year in order to be eligible for cost-sharing.

§ 1103.512 Practices substantially completed during program year. Approved practices may be deemed, for purposes of payment of cost-shares, to have been carried out during the 1956 program year, if the ASC State Office determines that they are substantially completed by the end of the program year. However, no cost-shares for such practices shall be paid until they have been completed in accordance with the applicable specifications and program provisions.

FEDERAL COST-SHARES

§ 1103.515 Practices carried out with State or Federal aid. The Federal share of the cost for any practice shall not be reduced because it is carried out with materials or services furnished through the program or by any agency of a State to another agency of the same State, or with technical advisory services furnished by a State or Federal agency. In other cases of State or Federal aid, the total Federal cost-share computed on the basis of the total number of units of the practice performed shall be reduced by the value of the aid, as determined by the ASC State Office, in computing the amount of the Federal cost-share to be paid for performance of the practice. Materials or services furnished or used by a State or Federal agency for the performance of practices on its land shall not be regarded as State or Federal aid for the purposes of this section.

§ 1103.516 Division of Federal cost-shares—(a) Federal cost-shares. The Federal cost-share shall be credited to the person who carried out the practices by which such Federal cost-shares are earned. If more than one person contributed to the carrying out of such practices, the Federal cost-share shall be divided among such persons in the proportion that the ASC State Office determines they contributed to the carrying out of the practices. In making this determination, the ASC State Office shall take into consideration the value of the labor, equipment, or material contributed by each person toward the carrying out of each practice on a particular acreage and shall assume that each contributed equally unless it is established to the satisfaction of the ASC State Office that their respective contributions thereto were not in equal proportion. The furnishing of land or the right to use water will not be considered as a contribution to the carrying out of any practice.

(b) Death, incompetency, or disappearance. In case of death, incompetency, or disappearance of any person, any Federal share of the cost due him shall be paid to his successor, determined in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in ACP–122, as amended (Part 1108 of this chapter).

§ 1103.517 Increase in small Federal cost-shares. The Federal cost-share computed for any person with respect to any farm shall be increased as follows: Provided, however, That in the event legislation is enacted which repeals or amends the authority for making such increases, the Secretary may in such manner and at such time as is consistent with such legislation discontinue such increases.

(a) Any Federal cost-share amounting to $0.71 or less shall be increased to $1.

(b) Any Federal cost-share amounting to more than $0.71, but less than $1, shall be increased by 40 percent.

§ 1103.518 Maximum Federal cost-share limitation. (a) The total of all Federal cost-shares under the 1956 program to any person with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places in the United States (including Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands) for approved practices which are not carried out under pooling agreements shall not exceed the sum of $1,500, and for all approved practices, including those carried out under pooling agreements, shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

(b) All or any part of any Federal cost-share which otherwise would be due any person under the 1956 program may be withheld, or required to be refunded, if he has adopted, or participated in adopting, any scheme or device, including the dissolution, reorganization, revival, formation, or use of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other means, designed to evade, or which has the effect of evading, the provisions of this section.

§ 1103.519 Persons eligible to file application. Any person who, as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper on a farm, bore a part of the cost of an approved conservation practice is eligible to file an application for payment of the Federal cost-share due him.

§ 1103.520 Time and manner of filing application and required information. (a) It shall be the responsibility of persons participating in the program to submit to the SCS Work Unit offices on the Islands forms and information needed to establish the extent of the performance of approved conservation practices and compliance with applicable program provisions. Time limits with regard to the submission of such forms and information shall be established where necessary for efficient administration of the program. Such time limits shall afford a full and fair opportunity to those eligible to file the forms or information within the period prescribed. At least 2 weeks' notice to the public shall be given of any general time limit prescribed. Such notice shall be given by mailing notice to the SCS Work Unit offices on the Islands and making copies available to the press. Other means of notification, including individual notices to persons affected, shall be used to the extent practicable. Notice of time limits which are applicable to individual persons, such as time limits for reporting performance of approved practices, shall be issued in writing to the persons affected. Exceptions to time limits may be made in cases where failure to submit required forms and information within the applicable time limits is due to reasons beyond the control of the farmer.

(b) Payment of Federal cost-shares will be made only upon application submitted on the prescribed form to the SCS Work Unit offices on the Islands not later than February 28, 1957, except that the ASC State Office may accept an application filed after February 28, 1957, but not later than December 31, 1957, in cases where the failure to timely file was not the fault of the applicant. Any application for payment may be rejected if any form or information required of the applicant is not submitted to the SCS Work Units offices within the applicable time limit.

(c) If an application for a farm is filed within the time prescribed, any person on the farm who did not sign the application may subsequently file an application, provided he does so on or before December 31, 1957.

§ 1103.521 Appeals. (a) Any person may, within 15 days after notice thereof is forwarded to or made available to him, request the ASC State Office in writing to reconsider its recommendation or determination in any matter affecting the right to or the amount of his Federal cost-shares with respect to the farm. The ASC State Office shall notify him of its decision in writing within 30 days after the submission of the appeal. If he is dissatisfied with the decision of the ASC State Office, he may, within 15 days after its decision is forwarded to or made available to him, request the Administrator, ACPS, to review the decision of the ASC State Office. The decision of the Administrator, ACPS, shall be final. Written notice of any decision rendered under this section by the ASC State Office shall also be issued to each other landlord, tenant, or sharecropper on the farm who may be adversely affected by the decision.

(b) Appeals considered under this section shall be decided in accordance with the provisions of this subpart on the basis of the facts of the individual case: Provided, That the Secretary, upon the recommendation of the Administrator, ACPS, and the ASC State Office, may waive the requirements of any such provision, where not prohibited by statute, if, in his judgment, such waiver under all the circumstances is justified to permit a proper disposition of an appeal where the farmer, in reasonable reliance on any instruction or commitment of any member, employee, or representative of the ASC State Office, in good faith performed an eligible conservation practice and such performance reasonably accomplished the purpose of the practice.

GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO FEDERAL COST-SHARING

§ 1103.523 Compliance with regulatory measures. Persons who carry out conservation practices under the 1956 program shall be responsible for obtaining the authorities, rights, easements, or other approvals necessary to the performance and maintenance of the practices in keeping with applicable laws and regulations. The person with whom the cost of the practice is shared shall be responsible to the Federal Government for any losses it may sustain because he infringes on the rights of others or fails to comply with applicable laws and regulations.

§ 1103.524 Maintenance of practices. The sharing of costs, by the Federal Government, for the performance of approved conservation practices on any farm under the 1956 program will be subject to the condition that the person with whom the costs are shared will maintain such practices in accordance with good farming practices as long as the land on which they are carried out is under his control.

§ 1103.525 Practices defeating purposes of programs. If the ASC State Office finds that any person has adopted or participated in any practice which tends to defeat the purposes of the 1956 or any previous program, including, but not limited to, failure to maintain in accordance with good farming practices, practices carried out under a previous program, it may withhold, or require to be refunded, all or any part of the Federal cost-share which otherwise would be due him under the 1956 program.

§ 1103.526 Depriving others of Federal cost-shares. If the ASC State Office finds that any person has employed any scheme or device (including coercion, fraud, or misrepresentation), the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of the Federal cost-share due that person under the program, it may withhold, in whole or in part, from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require him to refund in whole or in part, the Federal cost-share which otherwise would be due him under the 1956 program.

§ 1103.527 Filing of false claims. If the ASC State Office finds that any person has knowingly filed claim for payment of the Federal cost-share under the program for practices not carried out, or for practices carried out in such a manner that they do not meet the required specifications therefor, such person shall not be eligible for any Federal cost-sharing under the 1956 program and shall refund all amounts that may have been paid to him under the 1956 program. The withholding or refunding of Federal cost-shares will be in addition to and not in substitution of any other penalty or liability which might otherwise be imposed.

§ 1103.528 Federal cost-shares not subject to claims. Any Federal cost-share, or portion thereof, due any person shall be determined and allowed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in § 1103.529, and except for indebtedness to the United States subject to setoff under orders issued by the Secretary (Part 1109 of this chapter)); and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

§ 1103.529 Assignments. Any person who may be entitled to any Federal cost-share under the 1956 program may assign his right thereto, in whole or in part, as security for cash loaned or advances made for the purpose of financing the making of a crop in 1956, including the carrying out of soil and water conserving practices. No assignment will be recognized unless it is made in writing on Form ACP–69 and in accordance with the regulations issued by the Secretary (Part 1110 of this chapter).

CONSERVATION PRACTICES AND MAXIMUM RATES OF COST-SHARING

PRACTICES PRIMARILY FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF PERMANENT PROTECTIVE COVER

§ 1103.541 Practice 1: Initial establishment of permanent pasture for erosion control by seeding, sodding, or sprigging perennial grasses, or other approved forage plants. Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for planting any of the following grasses, or similar approved grasses or forage plants: Guinea, Molasses, Para, Barbados Sour, Bermuda, Sour Paspalum, St. Augustine, Merker, Pangola. The varieties of grass must be well adapted to conditions of the particular area to be planted. The land must be properly prepared by plowing, and harrowing if necessary, and furrowing along contour lines, and sufficient quantities of slips, cuttings, or seeds used to assure a good ground cover at maturity. Where pasture is established by using seed, the rate of seeding should be not less than 12 pounds per acre. Where pasture is established by using slips or cuttings, the distance between the rows must not be more than 3 feet. On land of 2 percent or more slope, the plantings and cultivating must be as nearly as practicable along contour lines. Federal cost-sharing for carrying out this practice is limited to not more than 20 acres on any farm, as defined in § 1103.533 (f). In St. Croix no Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for this practice unless the practice contained in § 1103.542 (practice 2) is also carried out.

Maximum Federal cost-share. $4.50 per acre.

§ 1103.542 Practice 2: Initial eradication of hurricane grass for establishing permanent pasture for erosion control. The eradication must be carried out by plowing or disking the whole area along contour lines, where practicable, to a depth of at least 6 inches and double cutting with a heavy disk harrow at least twice at 30-day intervals. Permanent pasture of the varieties specified in the practice contained in § 1103.541 (practice 1) must be established as soon as practicable after the hurricane grass has been eradicated. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for carrying out this practice on any acreage for which Federal cost-sharing for eradicating hurricane grass was allowed under a previous program. Federal cost-sharing for carrying out this practice is limited to not more than 20 acres on any farm, as defined in § 1103.533 (f).

Maximum Federal cost-share. $3.00 per acre.

§ 1103.543 Practice 3: Initial eradication of shrubs or trees for establishing new permanent pasture for erosion control. Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for eradicating any of the following shrubs or trees: Acacia, soap brush, Kenappy (Kennep), Guava, Logwood, Marigold, Wild Cedar, Ginger Thomas, all varieties of cactus, Sage, Tan Tan, Thibet (Tebit). All shrubs or trees, except such as can be used for timber or shade, must be thoroughly uprooted either by hand labor or mechanical implements, and all shrubs, trees, and roots must be removed from the land or may be burned thereon. Permanent pasture of the varieties specified in the practice contained in § 1103.541 (practice 1) must be established as soon as practicable. Temporary use of the land for other crops may be permitted where the ASC State Office determines this is essential to establishing the grasses. Farmers must obtain prior approval from the ASC State Office of the area and acreage to be cleared before starting the practice. Federal cost-sharing will not be allowed for this practice on any area on which cost-sharing for this practice has been allowed under a previous program. Federal cost-sharing for carrying out this practice is limited to not more than 20 acres on any farm, as defined in § 1103.533 (f). This practice is applicable only to St. Thomas and St. John Islands. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for this practice if the Virgin Islands Corporation shares in the cost under any other program.

Maximum Federal cost-share. (1) $4 per acre on land with light growth where the shrubs or trees cover up to 30 percent of the area.

(2) $7 per acre on land with medium growth where the shrubs or trees cover more than 30 percent and up to 60 percent of the area.

(3) $10 per acre on land with heavy growth where the shrubs or trees cover more than 60 percent of the area.

§ 1103.544 Practice 4: Initial establishment of a stand of adapted trees on farmland for farm woodlots, erosion control, or for forestry purposes. The trees must be planted, regardless of the slope of the land, in rows not less than 10 feet apart, with a distance of not less than 10 feet within the row. Only those trees which are living at least one year after planting will be counted. All plantings must be protected from fire and grazing. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for this practice if the Virgin Islands Corporation shares in the cost under any other program.

Maximum Federal cost-share. $0.05 per tree.

§ 1103.545 Practice 5: Initial establishment of a stand of adapted trees on strips which have been cleared in areas of heavy brush, for erosion control and forestry purposes. All brush on the strips must be uprooted and the brush removed from the spaces where the trees are to be planted. The trees must be planted on the strips cleared in this manner, and spaced not more than 10 feet apart. All plantings must be protected from fire and grazing. Federal cost-sharing will be allowed only for well-established trees, approximately 1 foot high and living at the time of inspection, and for not more than 200 trees per acre. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for this practice if the Virgin Islands Corporation shares in the cost under any other program.

Maximum Federal cost-share. (1) For clearing strips 3 feet wide at intervals of 20 feet. $3 per acre.

(2) Planting trees such as mahogany or varieties suitable for timber, recommended by the Forest Service. $0.05 per tree.

§ 1103.546 Practice 6: Initial establishment of a stand of fruit trees for erosion control in bare or unprotected gullies. Trees must be planted on the contour and protected from fire and grazing. A permanent cover of grass, legumes, or mulch must be maintained under the trees. Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for not more than 200 trees on a farm. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for this pratice if the Virgin Islands Corporation shares in the cost under any other program.

Maximum Federal cost-share. $0.10 per tree.

PRACTICES PRIMARILY FOR IMPROVEMENT AND PROTECTION OF ESTABLISHED VEGETATIVE COVER

§ 1103.547 Practice 7: Construction of permanent cross fences to obtain better distribution and control of livestock grazing and to promote proper grassland management for protection of the established forage resources. Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for new fences constructed entirely of new materials. Federal cost-sharing will not be allowed for boundary fences, fences between pastures and other land, and the repair, replacement, or maintenance of existing fences.

Maximum Federal cost-share. (1) If fences are established with barbed wire—$2.20 per 100 linear feet. Hardwood or living tree posts or steel posts shall be used. Posts must be spaced not more than 6 feet apart with corner posts adequately braced. Four strands of No. 12½ standard gauge or heavier barbed wire must be used and tightly stretched.

(2) If fences are established with woven wire—$3 per 100 linear feet. Hardwood or living tree posts or steel posts shall be used. The posts must be spaced not more than 10 feet apart with corner posts adequately braced. The woven wire must be not less than 4 feet high with a top and bottom strand of No. 10 standard gauge wire, and of 12½ standard gauge in all intermediate wires, and with stay wires 12 inches apart. The woven wire must be tightly stretched.

§ 1103.548 Practice 8: Constructing wells for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock, and encourage rotation grazing and better grassland management, as a means of protecting established vegetative cover. The wells should be constructed or drilled in an area of the farm where the providing of water will contribute to a better distribution of grazing. The necessary pumping equipment must be installed, except in connection with artesian wells. Adequate drinking troughs for animals also must be installed. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for wells constructed or drilled primarily for the use of farm headquarters nor unless an adequate water supply is obtained.

Maximum Federal cost-share. (1) Constructing dug wells lined with stone—$3.25 per cubic yard of well dug. The wells must have a minimum diameter of not less than 8 feet, including the stone lining, which must have a thickness of not less than 12 inches.

(2) Drilling wells:

(a) $1 per linear foot of well for wells having a bore taking a casing of less than 4 inches in diameter, and artesian wells.

(b) $2 per linear foot of well for wells having a bore taking a casing of 4 inches or more but less than 6 inches in diameter, excluding artesian wells.

(c) $3 per linear foot of well for wells having a bore taking a casing of 6 inches or more in diameter, excluding artesian wells.

§ 1103.549 Practice 9: Installing pipelines for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock and encourage rotation grazing and better grassland management as a means of protecting established vegetative cover. (a) Federal cost-sharing will be allowed when the pipeline carries water to areas where no other water supply for livestock is available and proper drinking troughs for livestock have been provided; and where the pipe used is new galvanized or comparable pipe meeting the following minimum specifications.

STANDARD GALVANIZED PIPE

Size (inches)	Diameters		Thickness	Weight per foot		Threads per inch
	External	Internal		Plain ends	Threads and couplings
¾	1.050	0.824	0.113	1.130	1.134	11
1	1.315	1.049	.133	1.678	1.684	11½
1¼	1.660	1.380	.140	2.272	2.281	11½
1½	1.900	1.610	.145	2.717	2.731	11½
2	2.375	2.067	.154	3.652	3.678	11½
2½	2.875	2.469	.203	5.793	5.819	8
3	3.500	3.068	.216	7.575	7.616	8
3½	4.000	3.548	.226	9.109	9.202	8

(b) No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for this practice if the cost is shared by the Virgin Islands Corporation under any other program.

Maximum Federal cost-share. (1) $0.10 per linear foot when galvanized pipes of from ¾ to 1 inch diameter are used.

(2) $0.15 per linear foot when galvanized pipes of from 1¼ to 1½ inches diameter are used.

(3) $0.25 per linear foot when galvanized pipes of 2 inches or more diameter are used.

PRACTICES PRIMARILY FOR THE CONSERVATION AND DISPOSAL OF WATER

§ 1103.550 Practice 10: Constructing concrete or rubble masonry storage tanks for accumulating water from artesian wells or springs for livestock. (a) Storage tanks must be constructed in places where the accumulated water may be piped to areas of the farm where the provision of water will contribute to a better distribution of grazing livestock and to the improvement of the pasture management, and must conform to the following minimum specifications.

(1) Concrete storage tanks. Concrete storage tanks will be constructed to conform to plans and specifications approved by qualified Soil Conservation Service engineers. Since the size and shape of these structures will necessarily vary greatly to meet local requirements, detailed plans must be prepared and approved before construction is begun. The minimum requirements for which Federal cost-sharing will be allowed are:

(i) Minimum bottom thickness will be 8". This will be reinforced with deformed reinforcing steel, no smaller than ½" diameter, on 12" centers both directions, placed 2" from top and 2" from bottom of floor.

(ii) Side walls will be a minimum of 8" thick with ½" diameter (minimum size) deformed reinforcing steel on 12" centers both vertically and horizontally, placed 2" from inside face and 2" from outside face of walls.

(iii) Construction and installation will conform to Technical Specifications for Class B concrete as prepared by the Soil Conservation Service. These specifications may be obtained from the local Soil Conservation Service office.

(2) Rubble masonry tanks. Walls will have a minimum top width of 12" and will have a batter of 1" per foot height on both faces. Bottom will be excavated as nearly level and smooth as practicable to a firm foundation. A minimum of 2" of mortar will be poured in the bottom and the stone bedded firmly in the mortar. Stone used in paving will be at least 6" thick. All joints, cracks, and voids will be filled with mortar when the floor is constructed. It is recommended that the inside of tanks, floor, and walls be plastered to insure water tightness and facilitate cleaning. Where reinforced concrete bottoms are used, specifications for bottom of concrete tanks will apply. In this case the floor and footings for wall support will be poured as one continuous slab.

(i) Mortar. The mortar mix shall consist of one part by volume of cement to three parts of clean, well graded sand. Sand and cement shall be thoroughly mixed dry, after which only sufficient water shall be added to produce a workable mixture. This should be not more than 5½ gallons per sack of cement, this to include free water in the sand.

(ii) Stone. Stone should be clean, hard, and free from decomposed or foreign materials. The use of weathered stone or stone with a deteriorated outer surface is prohibited.

(iii) Placing. All stone should be thoroughly cleaned and wetted before being used. All stones should be laid so as to break joints. Stratified stones should be laid on their natural beds and not on edges. All spaces between stone must be filled with mortar. No dressing or tooling shall be done upon any stone after it is in place.

(iv) Curing. During construction and for at least 7 days after completion, the new structure should be covered with wet burlap or similar material that will keep the masonry in a moist condition during its curing period.

(b) Whenever needed, adequate pumping equipment and drinking troughs for animals must be installed. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for maintaining an existing structure.

Maximum Federal cost-share. (1) $12.00 per cubic yard of concrete structure.

(2) $7 per cubic yard of rubble masonry structure.

§ 1103.551 Practice 11: Constructing rock barriers to form bench terraces or to obtain or control the flow of water and check erosion on sloping land. (a) The construction of bench terraces and supporting rock barriers is limited by the slope of the field and the depth of the soil. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed on slopes exceeding 60 percent. Minimum specifications for different slopes and soil depths required are given in the following table.

Slope of land in percent	Minimum soil depth	Vertical interval	Lateral spacing	Required height of rock wall	Minimum base width of wall	Batter on exposed face
	Feet	Feet	Feet	Feet	Inches	Inches per foot high
10 or less	1.5	1.5	15	2.5	18	3
11 to 15	2.0	2.0	13.3	3.0	21	3
16 to 20	2.25	2.5	12.5	3.5	23	3
21 to 25	2.5	3.0	12.0	4.0	24	3
26 to 30	2.75	3.5	11.6	4.5	26	3
31 to 35	3.0	4.0	11.4	5.0	27	3
36 to 40	3.25	4.5	11.2	5.5	29	3
41 to 45	3.5	5.0	11.0	6.0	30	3
46 to 50	3.5	5.0	10.0	6.0	30	3
51 to 55	3.5	5.0	9.0	6.0	30	3
56 to 60	3.5	5.0	8.0	6.0	30	3

(b) Rock barriers must be laid out on their layout approved by a Soil Conservation Service technician. They must be on the contour or across the slope with grade from ridge to or toward the natural drainageway of not more than 0.5 percent. Bench terraces must conform to and become a part of the overall water disposal system. Protected water disposal channels and/or structures must be provided prior to the construction of bench terraces. A water disposal trench must be established on each terrace at the base of the next higher rock barrier. This trench should be at least 6 inches deep and 1 foot wide with a maximum grade of 0.5 percent to the protected outlet. The top of the terrace must have a grade of from 0.2 percent to 0.5 percent from the outer edge toward the disposal trench at the base of the next higher barrier. When the Soil Conservation Service technician determines it necessary, a diversion ditch must be constructed above the bench terraces to intercept surface runoff from the area above.

Maximum Federal cost-share. $1.50 per cubic yard of rock used.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of October 1955.

(2) The Operations Officer, England Air Force Base, Louisiana, shall schedule the firing periods at least two weeks in advance of actual firing and publicize by:

(i) A public notice issued in sufficient time to permit circularization to interested parties and posting on bulletin boards of post offices in surrounding localities.

(ii) Notice to the press in Port Arthur, Texas, Orange, Texas, Lake Charles, La., and Morgan City, La.

(iii) Notice to the Commandant, 8th Coast Guard District, New Orleans, La., for publication in local "Notice to Mariners".

(ii) Cargo and passenger carrying vessels may transit the danger zone without interruption and firing will be suspended, if necessary, to insure the safety of such vessels during their passage. Masters are requested to avoid the danger zone whenever possible so that interference with firing training may be minimized.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 3—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY OR INTERPRETATION

PESTICIDE CHEMICALS; FURTHER EXTENDED DATES ON WHICH STATUTE SHALL BECOME FULLY EFFECTIVE

In § 3.41 Pesticide chemicals; extended dates on which statute shall become fully effective, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 20, 1955 (20 F. R. 5161) and in § 3.42 Pesticide chemicals; additional extended dates on which statute shall become fully effective; denial of requests for extensions, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 28, 1955 (20 F. R. 5391), the date on which the statute (68 Stat. 511 et seq.; 21 U. S. C. 342, 346a) shall become fully effective was extended for a number of pesticide chemicals. Additional extensions of the date on which the statute shall become fully effective are necessary for some of these pesticide chemicals to permit the Food and Drug Administration to process petitions received prior to October 31, 1955, and to permit additional data to be secured to support petitions for tolerances or exemptions from the requirement of tolerances for residues that remain from post-harvest application of certain pesticide chemicals to raw agricultural commodities.

Now, therefore, in exercise of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 402 (a) (2), 408; 68 Stat. 511, 517 (Ch. 559, Secs. 2, 5); 21 U. S. C. 342 (a) (2) and note 1 under section 342, 346a) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), it having been found that conditions exist necessitating such extensions, the following statement of policy is issued:

§ 3.44 Pesticide chemicals; further extended dates on which statute shall become fully effective. The amendments in clause (2) of section 402 (a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act shall become fully effective on the dates specified for the pesticide chemicals named in this section. The extensions prescribed in this section apply only to the extent that tolerances or exemptions from tolerances under section 408 of the act shall not have been established prior to the effective dates as extended. This section supersedes any extended effective dates for the same pesticide chemicals for use on the same raw agricultural commodities previously published in §§ 3.41 and 3.42. All further changes in extended effective dates on the same or other pesticide chemicals will be published as amendments to this section.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE, 1954

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter E—Alcohol, Tobacco, and Other Excise Taxes

[T. D. 6151]

PART 194—LIQUOR DEALERS

SUBPART M—PRESCRIBED RECORDS AND REPORTS, AND POSTING OF SIGNS

Part 194 of Title 26 of the Code of Federal Regulations amended to provide for prescribed commercial records of receipt and disposition to be kept in lieu of Record 52, the reports to be rendered thereon, and the discontinuance of Form 52F.

On August 9, 1955, a notice of proposed rulemaking with respect to the records and reports required of wholesale and retail dealers was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 5725). The proposal was based on an extensive study of present requirements for recordkeeping and reporting of transactions in liquors which determined that the interests of the Government may now be served by records and reports based solely on the physical movement of distilled spirits. The purposes of the proposal were to provide for (a) elimination of the requirement for recording and reporting transactions in warehouse receipts covering distilled spirits in bond, (b) elimination of the requirement for recording and reporting third-party transactions, (c) discontinuance of Record 52, (d) keeping of commercial records of receipt of distilled spirits, wines, and beer, by wholesale liquor dealers, (e) keeping of commercial records of disposition of distilled spirits by wholesale liquor dealers, (f) keeping of commercial records of receipt of beer by wholesale and retail beer dealers, and (g) authorization of assistant regional commissioners to waive the submission of reports on Forms 52A and 52B under certain conditions. After consideration of all relevant matter presented by interested parties regarding the regulations proposed, the regulations are hereby adopted in the form set forth below:

§ 194.213 Dealers not selling distilled spirits. Wholesale liquor dealers who sell wines and beer only, and wholesale beer dealers are not required to maintain the records or submit the reports prescribed in § 194.210, but are required to keep records of wines and beer received, as prescribed in § 194.211.

§ 194.214 Records to be kept by States. The provisions of this subpart relative to the maintenance of records and the submission of reports, shall not apply to States and political subdivisions thereof and liquor stores operated by such entities that maintain and make available for inspection by internal revenue officers such records as will enable such officers to verify receipts of wines and beer and to trace readily all distilled spirits received and disposed of by them: Provided, That such States and political subdivisions thereof, and the liquor stores operated by them, shall, on request of the assistant regional commissioner, furnish such transcripts, summaries, and copies of their records as he shall require.

§ 194.215 Proprietors. The proprietor of an industrial alcohol plant or industrial alcohol bonded warehouse shall keep records and render reports in his capacity as a wholesale dealer in liquors in accordance with Part 182 of this chapter. The proprietor of a registered distillery shall keep records and render reports in his capacity as a wholesale dealer in liquors in accordance with Part 220 of this chapter. The proprietor of a fruit distillery shall keep records and render reports in his capacity as a wholesale dealer in liquors in accordance with Part 221 of this chapter. The proprietor of an internal revenue bonded warehouse shall keep records and render reports in his capacity as a wholesale dealer in liquors in accordance with Part 225 of this chapter. The proprietor of a taxpaid bottling house who (a) does not maintain wholesale liquor dealer premises, or (b) does maintain a wholesale liquor dealer room which is contiguous to the taxpaid bottling house and is used exclusively for products bottled at such taxpaid bottling house, shall keep records and render reports in his capacity as a wholesale dealer in liquors in accordance with Part 230 of this chapter. The proprietor of a rectifying plant who (a) does not maintain wholesale liquor dealer premises, or (b) does maintain wholesale liquor dealer premises which are contiguous to the rectifying plant and are used exclusively for products bottled at such rectifying plant, shall keep records and render reports in his capacity as a wholesale dealer in liquors in accordance with Part 235 of this chapter.

§ 194.216 Records of receipt. Every wholesale liquor dealer, upon the physical receipt of each individual lot or shipment of distilled spirits, shall prepare a commercial record of receipt which shall show (a) name and address of consignor, (b) date of receipt, (c) brand name, (d) name of producer or bottler, (e) kind of spirits, except that this may be omitted if the dealer keeps available for inspection a separate list or record identifying "kind" with the brand name, (f) quantity actually received (showing number of packages, if any, and number of cases by size of bottle, and explaining any shortage, breakage, leakage, or other difference from the quantity shown on the commercial papers covering the shipment), and (g) serial numbers of packages and cases, unless such serial numbers are available on the consignor's invoice or attachments thereto. Additional information desired by the wholesale dealer may also be shown. All information required to be shown on records of receipt shall be entered on such records by the close of the business day next succeeding that on which the spirits are received. Where the wholesale dealer so defers the preparation of such records, he shall keep memorandum records, prepared at the time the spirits are received, which shall show the data needed to prepare the prescribed records of receipt. Records of receipt may be prepared by entering each individual lot of distilled spirits either (1) on an individual looseleaf "Record of Receipt", preprinted as prescribed in § 194.219, (2) in chronological order on records prepared by tabulating or other mechanical office equipment, if such records are preprinted as prescribed in § 194.219, or (3) in chronological order in a bound record book, provided all pages of such book are numbered as prescribed in § 194.219. The dealer may elect to use any one of the above types of record, but may not change from one type to another without prior approval from the assistant regional commissioner. All entries, with the exception of those prescribed for returned merchandise, must be supported by corresponding invoices of the consignor. Credit memorandums conforming to the requirements of § 194.219 may, if desired, be used in lieu of individual looseleaf "Records of Receipt" to show the receipt of returned merchandise. Variations in the format or in the methods of preparation may be authorized, as provided in § 194.220.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

§ 194.219 Format of records of receipt and disposition. Each individual "Record of Receipt" and "Record of Disposition", each credit memorandum used for recording the receipt of returned distilled spirits, and each sheet, or page used in tabulating or other mechanical office equipment for recording the receipt or disposition of distilled spirits must be preprinted with the name and address of the wholesale liquor dealer. Each such record, sheet, or page shall also bear a preprinted serial number, beginning with number 1 and, before repeating, continuing in numerical sequence to a number high enough to preclude the duplication of a serial number in such group within a period of six months: Provided, That upon application, the assistant regional commissioner may authorize a wholesale dealer to affix serial numbers in consecutive order during the preparation or processing of the prescribed commercial records, or authorize the serial numbering of such records beginning with some number other than 1, or authorize the repetition of blocks of serial numbers within a lesser period than six months, where the assistant regional commissioner finds that the dealer's accounting system will afford an effective measure of control and such variation will not be likely to lend itself to the falsification of records. Each serially numbered form or sheet must be accounted for by the dealer. If a bound record book is used for recording receipts and dispositions, all of the pages of such book must be numbered in unbroken sequence.

§ 194.220 Variations in format, or preparation, of records. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, may approve variations in the format of records of receipt and disposition, or in the methods of preparing such records, where it is shown that variations from the requirements are necessary in order to use tabulating equipment, business machines, or existing accounting systems, and will not (a) unduly hinder the effective administration of this part, (b) jeopardize the revenue, or (c) be contrary to any provision of law. A dealer who proposes to employ format or methods other than as provided in this part shall submit a letter-head application so to do, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner. Such application shall describe the proposed variations and set forth the need therefor. The assistant regional commissioner will determine the need for the variations, and whether approval thereof would unduly hinder the effective administration of this part or result in jeopardy to the revenue. The assistant regional commissioner will forward two copies of the application to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, together with a report of his findings and his recommendation. Variations in format or methods shall not be employed until approval is received from the Director.

§ 194.221 Recapitulation records. Every wholesale liquor dealer shall, daily, prepare a recapitulation record showing, in wine gallons, the total quantities of distilled spirits received and disposed of during the day. At the end of each month he shall prepare grand totals of all receipts and dispositions during the month. The work sheets from which totals are obtained shall be retained for a period of 2 years.

DAILY AND MONTHLY REPORTS

§ 194.222 Wholesale liquor dealer's monthly report, Form 338. Every wholesale liquor dealer who is required to keep the records prescribed in § 194.210 shall file with the assistant regional commissioner a monthly report, on Form 338, of the total quantities of bottled distilled spirits received and disposed of during the month, not later than the 10th day of the month succeeding that for which rendered.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

§ 194.223 No transactions during month. If there were no receipts or disposals of distilled spirits by a wholesale liquor dealer during a month, Form 338 must be prepared and forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner, showing the quantity on hand the first day of the month and the quantity on hand the last day of the month and marked "No transactions during month." Wholesale liquor dealers maintaining records in the simplified manner prescribed by § 194.230 should show on Form 338 that no distilled spirits were on hand the first day and the last day of the month.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

§ 194.225 Daily reports, Forms 52A and 52B. Except as otherwise provided in this subpart, every wholesale liquor dealer shall prepare and submit, daily, a report on Form 52A of all distilled spirits received by him, and on Form 52B of all distilled spirits disposed of by him. The reports shall be filed with the assistant regional commissioner by delivering or mailing them to such officer on the date the transactions entered therein occur: Provided, That in any case in which the assistant regional commissioner shall direct, the reports shall be so filed with the supervisor in charge instead of with the assistant regional commissioner. Each report shall bear the following declaration signed by the person or officer authorized to execute Form 338:

I declare under the penalties of perjury that this report, consisting of ------ pages, has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is a true, correct, and complete report of all the transactions which occurred during the period covered thereby, and each entry therein is correct.

If in any case the assistant regional commissioner shall so authorize, the reports, in lieu of being filed daily, may be filed for such periods and at such times as he may deem necessary in the interest of the Government, or the reports may be waived as provided in § 194.210.

§ 194.226 Entries on Forms 52A and 52B. Where more than one shipment of distilled spirits is received from the same consignor during any month, there will be reported on Form 52A for the first shipment received, the name and address of such consignor, followed by the registry number (preceded by appropriate identifying symbols) and the State of the consignor's plant or warehouse (for example, IRBW–4–Ky.) or, in the case of shipments received from wholesale liquor dealers or importers, the permit number of the consignor (for example, 3–I–1234). For the remaining shipments received from such consignor during the month, there may be reported in the column designated "Name" such registry number or permit number, as the case may be, and the name and address of the consignor may be omitted. Likewise, where more than one shipment of distilled spirits is sent to the same consignee during any month, there will be reported on Form 52B for the first shipment made the name and address of such consignee followed by the registry number or permit number of the consignee. For the remaining shipments made to such consignee during the month, there may be reported in the column designated "Name" such registry number or permit number, as the case may be, and the name and address of the consignee may be omitted. Where the consignor or consignee is a retail dealer in liquors, the name and address must be reported on Form 52A or 52B for each shipment received or sent.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

§ 194.228 Serial numbers of cases. Serial numbers of cases of distilled spirits received, or disposed of, shall be reported on Forms 52A or 52B unless the omission of such case serial numbers is specifically authorized by the assistant regional commissioner.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

RETAIL DEALERS RECORDS AND REPORTS

§ 194.229 General requirements for retail dealers. Each retail dealer in liquors and each retail dealer in beer shall keep at his place of business a complete record of all distilled spirits, wines, or beer received, showing (a) the quantities thereof, (b) from whom received, and (c) the receiving dates. Such record, which must be kept for a period of not less than two years as prescribed in § 194.234, may consist of all purchase invoices or bills covering distilled spirits, wines, and beer received or, at the option of the dealer, a book record containing all of the required information. Retail dealers who do not maintain a wholesale department are not required to prepare and submit reports of purchases and sales to assistant regional commissioners.

§ 194.230 Requirements where wholesale department is kept. A liquor dealer engaged in the business of selling primarily at retail, who at the same premises also makes occasional sales of distilled spirits in quantities of 5 wine gallons or more in his capacity as a wholesale liquor dealer, shall keep the records prescribed in § 194.229 for all retail dealers. In addition, as prescribed by § 194.217, he shall prepare commercial records of disposition on all distilled spirits transferred into and sold from his wholesale department, and shall prepare recapitulation records of such spirits, as prescribed by § 194.221. The monthly report on Form 338, prescribed in § 194.222, must be submitted even if there have been no transactions in the wholesale department. Unless the dealer is relieved from such requirement, daily or periodic reports on Forms 52A and 52B shall be submitted by him on all the distilled spirits transferred from the retail department, as prescribed by §§ 194.210 and 195.225. As used in this subpart, the term "selling primarily at retail" shall mean that sales at retail must normally represent at last 90 percent of the volume of distilled spirits sold during a month. Where a liquor dealer is engaged in such business, all distilled spirits at the premises may be considered as having been received in the retail department. When a sale of 5 wine gallons or more is made, the distilled spirits involved in the transaction shall be considered as having been transferred to the wholesale department at the time of sale. The wholesale department need not be maintained in a separate room or be partitioned off from the retail department, but sales at wholesale must be made in a part of the premises designated as the wholesale department.

§ 194.231 Requirements when wholesale liquor dealer maintains a retail department. A wholesale liquor dealer who sells distilled spirits in wholesale quantities, and at the same premises maintains a separate retail department where distilled spirits are sold in retail quantities, shall keep the records and render the reports prescribed by § 194.210 on all distilled spirits received and disposed of in his capacity as a wholesale dealer. When distilled spirits are transferred from the wholesale department to the retail department, a commercial record showing such disposition shall be prepared as prescribed by § 194.217. Where it is necessary in the filling of a wholesale order to transfer distilled spirits from the retail department to the wholesale department, a commercial record showing such receipt in the wholesale department shall be prepared as prescribed in § 194.216, and the entire sale entered on a record of disposition in the same manner as any other disposition from the wholesale department. The provisions of this subpart relating to submission of reports on Forms 52A and 52B are applicable to all transfers between wholesale and retail departments. The retail department need not be maintained in a separate room, or be partitioned off from the wholesale department, but the retail department must in fact be separate from the wholesale department. Where a wholesale dealer does not maintain a separate retail department, all distilled spirits received and disposed of must be accounted for on records of receipt and disposition regardless of the quantities involved.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

FILES OF RECORDS AND REPORTS

§ 194.232 Manner of filing looseleaf records of receipt and disposition. One legible copy of (a) each "Record of Receipt," (b) each credit memorandum used for the purpose of recording the receipt of returned merchandise, and (c) each "Record of Disposition," shall be marked or stamped as "Government File Copy," and shall be filed chronologically, and in numerical sequence within each date, in looseleaf binders or books. Where the chronological filing of such records disarranges their numerical sequence to such an extent that the sequence of numbers cannot be readily traced, a control record shall be maintained by the wholesale liquor dealer, which shall key the numerical sequence of the records to their respective dates. Government file copies shall be filed not later than the close of the business day next succeeding that on which the transaction occurred. Separate files shall be maintained for "Records of Receipt," for credit memorandums used to record receipt of returned merchandise, and for "Records of Disposition." Supporting documents such as consignors' invoices, delivery receipts, and bills of lading, or exact copies thereof, may be filed in accordance with the wholesaler's customary practice. Documents supporting records of disposition shall have noted thereon the identifying serial numbers of the records of disposition to which they refer, as required by § 194.217.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

§ 194.233 Place of filing. Prescribed records of receipt and disposition and file copies of Forms 52A, 52B, 338, and the recapitulation records required by § 194.221, shall be maintained in chronological order in separate files at the premises where the distilled spirits are received and sent out: Provided, That upon application, the assistant regional commissioner may authorize the files, or any individual file, to be maintained at other premises under control of the same dealer, if he finds that such maintenance will not delay the timely filing of any document, or cause undue inconvenience to internal revenue officers desiring to examine such files.

(68A Stat. 619; 26 U. S. C. 5114)

PERIOD OF RETENTION

§ 194.234 Retention of records and files. All records prescribed by this part, documents or copies of documents supporting such records, and file copies of reports submitted, shall be preserved for a period of not less than 2 years, and during such period shall be available, during business hours, for inspection and the taking of abstracts therefrom by internal revenue officers. Any records, or copies thereof, containing any of the information required by this part to be prepared, wherever kept, shall also be made available for such inspection and the taking of abstracts therefrom.

(68A Stat. 619, 681; 26 U. S. C. 5114, 5555)

PROCUREMENT OF REPORT FORMS

§ 194.235 Forms to be provided by users at own expense. Forms 52A, 52B and 338 will be provided by users at their own expense, but must be in the form prescribed by the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division: Provided, That, with the approval of the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, they may be modified to adapt their use to tabulating or other mechanical equipment. Application for permission to modify such forms shall be filed in the manner prescribed in § 194.220.

POSTING OF SIGNS

§ 194.236 By wholesale dealers in liquors. Every person engaged in business as a wholesale dealer in liquors shall place and keep conspicuously on the outside of his place of business a sign exhibiting in plain, durable, and legible letters the name, or firm of the dealer and the words "Wholesale Liquor Dealer." In those states where the definition of wholesale liquor dealer differs from the definition given in § 194.29, the words "Wholesale Liquor Dealer under Federal Law" may be used. In the case of a wholesale liquor dealer who procures and posts a special tax stamp designated "Wholesale Dealer in Wines", or "Wholesale Dealer in Wines and Beer", the requirements of this section will be met by the posting of a sign of the character prescribed herein, but with words conforming to the designation of the special tax stamp.

§ 194.237 By others than wholesale liquor dealers. Internal revenue laws do not require the posting of signs by retail dealers in liquors, retail dealers in beer, or wholesale dealers in beer.

Inasmuch as this Treasury decision, except sections 194.211, 194.212, 194.213, 194.229, and 194.234, relieves restriction, it is hereby found that it is unnecessary to issue this Treasury decision subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)). Accordingly, this Treasury decision shall be effective on October 1, 1955, except sections 194.211, 194.212, 194.213, 194.229, and 194.234, which, to the extent that they relate to dealers in beer and wine, shall be effective on the first day of the first month which begins not less than 30 days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] T. COLEMAN ANDREWS,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 1]

HEARING MANUAL FOR COMPARATIVE BROADCAST PROCEEDINGS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

EDITORIAL NOTE: In the notice of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter published at page 8051 of the issue for Wednesday, October 26, 1955, the following was inadvertently omitted:

APPENDIX—HEARING MANUAL FOR COMPARATIVE BROADCAST PROCEEDINGS

I. Conduct of hearing. A. Comparative broadcast hearings before hearing examiners are to be conducted in the most equitable and expeditious manner possible. To achieve this end, the following principles are to be adhered to unless waived for good cause:

1. The hearing examiner may permit argument in support of or in opposition to objections; counsel shall state succinctly the basis for the position taken; argument shall be limited to three minutes by each party; the hearing examiner shall rule on objections as promptly as possible; written comments in lieu of or in addition to oral argument shall be filed only if permitted by the hearing examiner.

2. The reason for an objection to the receipt of evidence must be stated on the record; no formal "exception" to the ruling is required.

3. Offers of proof may be made orally or in writing.

4. a. Cross-examination of principals may cover the entire affirmative presentation. Cross-examination of all other witnesses not principals shall be limited to matters raised on direct examination, and only one opportunity for cross-examination shall be afforded each party, except that further cross-examination shall be allowed on matters raised by other parties on cross-examination and shall take place prior to redirect examination. The foregoing shall not limit examination to test credibility of witnesses. As used herein, "principal" is defined as an officer, director, general manager, stockholder, sole owner, or partner of the applicant, except that in cases of corporate applicants having more than fifty stockholders, those holding less than one percent of the outstanding stock, who are neither officers nor directors, are excluded.

b. Redirect examination shall be limited to matters raised on cross-examination.

c. Recross-examination shall be limited to matters raised on redirect examination.

d. No other examination shall be permitted.

5. The proceeding shall "go off the record" only upon the order of the hearing examiner. If the hearing examiner or any party requests it, a summary of the "off the record" discussion shall be made by counsel who asked to go off the record. No summary shall be made in the absence of a request.

II. Evidence. A. Except as hereinafter provided, the rules of evidence governing nonjury civil proceedings in courts of the United States shall govern formal hearings relating to comparative broadcast matters. Such rules may be relaxed if the ends of justice will be better served by so doing. (See Commission's Rules, 1.871.)

B. In all comparative hearings relating to broadcast matters, the following methods of proof, which are relaxations of or limitations on the rules of evidence set out in Section II, A, will be adhered to unless justice would be served by a waiver thereof.

C. Program logs. 1. Program logs of a broadcast facility will not be accepted as evidence of past programming. Any showing of over-all past performance based upon a particular week shall include, but not be limited to, a program log analysis and type analysis, as provided in Section IV of FCC Form 301, plus an exhibit containing descriptions and classifications of the programs broadcast during the selected week. Logs of the weeks selected must be made available to opposing parties upon their request.

2. The number of weeks for which programming is to be shown should be limited by the hearing examiner to avoid cumulative evidence; provided, however, upon request of any party such showing must include the latest composite week issued by the Commission and any other period or composite week which may have been determined in the prehearing conference.

3. Program logs or excerpts thereof may be introduced by an adverse party; provided, however, that program logs or excerpts of the same log may then be introduced by the applicant in rebuttal.

4. Upon request, an adverse party may be entitled to examine the program logs of a broadcast facility at the place such logs are normally maintained and under such conditoins as may be imposed by the hearing examiner to avoid hardship; however, if copies of any program logs are requested, the expense of making such copies must be borne by the party making the request.

5. The methods of proof described in the section above relate solely to the method of preparing program log material and analyses; such sections are not intended to be a limitation on the scope or type of proof generally of past programming.

D. Awards. 1. Awards made to a broadcast facility may be shown only by a factual listing covering the following points:

a. The name and address of organization making the award;

b. A brief description of the award;

c. The date of the award;

d. Whether or not solicited.

2. The original awards or copies thereof must be made available for inspection by adverse parties upon their request.

E. Letters. Letters received relating to past programming are not admissible.

F. Pictures. Pictures will not be received unless introduced by the party with personal knowledge of the contents. Pictures must be accompanied by written descriptions of what they purport to show.

G. Programming analyses. If any party desires to submit program analyses, one such analysis must conform to the forms set out in Paragraphs 2 and 4, Section IV of FCC Form 301.

H. Operation of other facilities. 1. The past operation of facilities in other locations will not be inadmissible solely because of the fact of location.

2. The admission of evidence relating to the past operation of broadcast facilities, not legally controlled by the applicant, must be determined by the hearing examiner upon the facts of each individual case. This question should be resolved in the prehearing conference.

I. Contacts. 1. Exhibits showing the results of contacts concerning proposed programming may be introduced by the person under whose direction the contacts were made, and may contain the following information:

a. Date of contact;

b. By whom made;

c. Method of contact;

d. Name, address and position of person contacted;

e. Matters discussed.

2. Letters from persons contacted by the applicant in connection with proposed programming are not admissible.

J. Film, record and wire services. The Commission will presume that all film, record and wire services regularly sold to broadcast stations, will be available to each applicant.

K. Cooperation of local organizations. The Commission will presume that each applicant may expect to receive the general cooperation of local civic, educational and governmental groups: Provided, however, That such a presumption shall not apply to specifically named persons or organizations or to participation in a particular program.

L. Proposed programming. 1. Proposed programming will be limited to a showing of one typical week's program schedule to be broadcast the first year of operation. Such a program showing should not deviate from the typical week's programming contained in the application; provided, however, that a full description of the programs in such schedule may be presented at the hearing, including variations in the format from week to week.

2. Exhibits as to special programming that will be done by the applicant during the first year of operation will be admitted even though no reference is made thereto in the application.

3. Exhibits covering the plans for proposed remote broadcasts, consisting of maps showing the location of the remote broadcasts and descriptions of the programs proposed, will be acceptable upon the following showing, even though no reference is made thereto in the application:

a. Testimony by a witness that each location has been examined and is suitable for the program proposed;

b. Testimony that permission has been secured to originate programs from the location specified;

c. Testimony that it is technically feasible to originate such a program.

M. Staff. 1. Biographies of proposed employees, signed and subscribed by them, may be introduced by the principal who secured the information.

2. The affidavit of any proposed employee must show that he is aware of the use to be made of the document and must also state that he intends to accept employment if the applicant is successful.

3. Such proposed employee must be made available for cross-examination by deposition, at his place of residence, upon request of any adverse party.

4. The Commission will presume that each applicant will be able to obtain an experienced and adequate staff.

N. Equipment. 1. The Commission will presume that all equipment required to operate the broadcast facility as proposed will be available.

2. Equipment contracts will be admissible upon the testimony of the representative of the applicant who signed such contract.

3. The Commission will presume that all necessary furniture, furnishings and shop equipment will be purchased by the applicant.

4. Video and audio block diagrams, and exhibits of a similar nature, will not be admissible on direct examination.

O. Studios and transmitter buildings. 1. Blueprints and specifications of proposed buildings are admissible upon the testimony of the principal who ordered their preparation.

2. Costs of construction prepared by a contractor or architect may be admitted if prepared in affidavit form, and if they contain statements that the estimates are based upon blueprints and specifications which will be made available to adverse parties upon request. If examination of the contractor or architect is required, such person shall be available for deposition if requested.

3. The Commission will presume that the applicant's proposed site and necessary utilities will be available and the local zoning ordinances allow the erectoin of all proposed structures.

P. Facts about community. 1. The hearing examiner will accept, without formal proof, general economic, geographical and business informatoin about a locality which appears in any governmental or regularly published business document.

2. The party introducing such evidence must make excerpts of the pertinent portions thereof and must also make available to all parties the copy of the publication from which the excerpt was made.

Q. Hearsay. 1. Hearsay, as such, is not generally admissible in a Commission proceeding unless the hearing examiner finds that particular circumstances lending reliability exist to warrant a waiver of this limitation.

2. The following exceptions to the hearsay rule shall be recognized in these proceedings:

a. Business entries and the like. (1) A writing offered as a memorandum or record of an act, event or condition is admissible as tending to prove the occurrence of the act or event or the existence of the condition if the hearing examiner finds that it was made in the regular course of a business and that it was the regular course of that business for one with personal knowledge of such an act, event or condition to make such a memorandum or record or to transmit information thereof to be included in such a memorandum or record, and for the memorandum or record to be made at or about the time of the act, event or condition or within a reasonable time thereafter.

(2) Evidence of the absence of a memorandum or record of an asserted act, event or condition from the memoranda or records of a business is admissible as tending to prove the nonoccurrence of the act or event or the nonexistence of the condition in that business, if the hearing examiner finds that it was the regular course of that business to make such memoranda of all such acts, events or conditions at the time thereof or within a reasonable time thereafter, and to preserve them.

(3) The word "business" as used in these sections includes every kind of occupation and regularly organized activity, whether conducted for profit or not.

b. Written statements by persons required to report authorized acts. Subject to Section II, R, 1, infra, evidence of a writing made as a record, report or memorandum of facts and conclusions concerning an act, event or condition, unless specifically privileged from disclosure by a statute requiring it to be made, is admissible as tending to prove the truth of each matter stated therein in compliance with statutory requirements if the hearing examiner finds that:

(1) The maker of the writing was duly authorized pursuant to statute to perform designated functions, performance of which by persons not so authorized was forbidden by statute, and was required by statute to file a written report in a designated place or office setting forth specified matters relating to the performance of those functions and the persons or things connected therewith; and

(2) The writing was made and filed by him as a report so required by the statute.

c. Commercial lists and the like. Evidence of statements or matters of interest to persons engaged in an occupation contained in a list, register, periodical, or other published compilation is admissible as tending to prove the truth of any relevant matter so stated if the hearing examiner finds that the compilation is published for use by persons engaged in that occupation and is generally used and relied upon by them therein.

R. Discretion of hearing examiner to exclude evidence. 1. The hearing examiner in his discretion may exclude evidence admissible under Section II, Q, 2, supra, if he finds the adverse parties have not been furnished a copy of the writing or of its material portions a reasonable time before the evidence is offered.

2. The above-listed exceptions to the hearsay rule are not meant to be all-inclusive and evidence offered under any recognized exception to the hearsay rule is admissible.

III. Rebuttal of presumptions. A. All presumptions herein provided for may be rebutted by an adverse party.

B. In each case where such presumption is rebutted, the burden will then be upon applicant to prove the fact in issue.

IV. Prehearing conferences. A. All hearing examiners, assigned to hearings relating to comparative broadcast matters, will hold a prehearing conference not less than 21 days before the exchange of evidence as required by Section 1.841 of the Commission's Rules. At this hearing conference, the following evidentiary matters will be discussed and the hearing examiner will rule as to the admissibility of each item, and, if admissible, under what conditions:

1. Period for which past programming showing may be made;

2. Listener or viewer surveys;

3. Monitored broadcasts;

4. Past programming of broadcast stations not legally controlled by the applicant;

5. Newspaper and magazine material;

6. Availability of network affiliation;

7. Option hour practices.

V. Relevance and materiality of evidence. A. The sections of this manual assume that all evidence offered will be relevant and material and no provision contained herein can be or is intended to prevent a party from objecting to any evidence upon the grounds of materiality or relevance at the time it is offered.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 812-967]

INVESTORS DIVERSIFIED SERVICES, INC.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR EXEMPTION WITH RESPECT TO THRIFT PLAN

OCTOBER 25, 1955.

Notice is hereby given that Investors Diversified Services, Inc. ("IDS"), has filed an application pursuant to sections 6 (c), 17 (a), 17 (b), 17 (d) and 22 (d) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "act") and Rule N-17D-1 thereunder, relating to a retirement plan proposed to be offered to certain employees of IDS and of Investors Syndicate Title & Guaranty Company ("IST & G"), including officers, who become eligible under its terms.

IDS is registered under the act as a face-amount certificate company. It is engaged in servicing its outstanding face-amount certificates sold prior to the enactment of the Act, and is also the distributor of the securities of, and investment adviser for, Investors Syndicate of America, Inc., a registered face-amount certificate company and a wholly-owned subsidiary, and Investors Mutual, Inc., Investors Stock Fund, Inc., Investors Selective Fund, Inc., and Investors Group Canadian Fund Ltd., registered open-end investment companies organized and promoted by IDS. IST & G, a wholly owned subsidiary of IDS, is engaged in selling participation certificates in New York State and is exempt from registration under the act pursuant to section 6 (a) (5) thereof.

IDS proposes to establish an Employees Incentive and Thrift Plan ("Plan") for the benefit of those employees of IDS and of affiliated companies who are eligible to participate ("Participants"), and to qualify the same under section 401 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. An affiliated company is defined in the Plan as a wholly owned United States subsidiary having employees and becoming a party to the Plan. The only such affiliated company at the present time is IST & G.

The Plan provides for establishment of a trust fund with the First National Bank of Minneapolis as trustee. Contributions to such trust fund will be made for the benefit of all full-time, permanent employees of IDS and its affiliated companies (IST & G) who have attained thirty years of age and completed six months of continuous service. The Plan will be administered by an administrative committee ("Committee") consisting of a director of IDS who is not an officer of IDS, and a non-officer Participant, both designated by the President of IDS, and a member of the Controller's department designated by the Controller.

IDS will contribute to the trust fund for each fiscal year, beginning with the year ending December 31, 1955, an amount equal to 15 percent of net income before tax, but not more than 15 percent of the compensation otherwise paid or accrued to Participants during such year. No such contribution, however, may be in such amount as would reduce net income after tax for the current year below an amount equal to $4 a share for each outstanding share of the presently authorized Common Stock and Common Stock, Class A, of IDS or would reduce total cumulative net income after tax for the years during which the Plan has been in operation below an amount equal to the sum of the foregoing amounts for each year of operation of the Plan. Based on the amount of IDS stock now outstanding, such "floor" for the fiscal year 1955 would be $5,815,000. All contributions made in accordance with the Plan will be deductible for tax purposes pursuant to section 404 of the Internal Revenue Code. Net income is defined by the Plan as the net income or loss of IDS and its wholly owned United States subsidiaries before providing for contributions under the Plan, and exclusive of intercompany dividends. Attributable portions will be charged to IST & G.

Individual accounts will be established for each Participant and a portion of each contribution to the trust fund by IDS will be allocated to each Participant on the basis of the ratio of his compensation, for the fiscal year for which such contribution was made, to the total such compensation of all Participants. Amounts so allocated will vest immediately in each Participant, and cannot thereafter be forfeited.

A Participant may contribute to the trust fund annually an amount not in excess of $2,400 or 6 percent of his annual compensation, whichever is the lesser. Such contribution is entirely optional, will not in any way be urged by IDS, and will not affect a Participant's rights to allocate portions of contributions made by IDS.

Each Participant will be entitled to designate, in the manner prescribed, from named classes of securities, those specific securities in which the funds in his account are to be invested. The eligible classes of securities so specified are fully-paid face-amount certificates issued by Investors Syndicate of America, Inc.; capital stock of any of the registered open-end investment companies affiliated with IDS and the stock of which is distributed by IDS, namely, Investors Selective Fund, Inc., Investors Mutual, Inc., Investors Stock Fund, Inc., and Investors Group Canadian Fund, Ltd.; issued and outstanding capital stock of IDS; any security listed on the New York Stock Exchange; United States Government bonds, and as to any Participant, any securities contributed by such Participant in lieu of contributions in money. However, the amount invested for a Participant in IDS stock may not exceed the aggregate amount of IDS contributions allocated to the Participant. Participants may at any time, subject to reasonable regulation, direct that securities in which their funds have been invested be sold and that other securities eligible under the Plan be purchased. In the absence of designation by a Participant, his funds will normally, but in the discretion of the Committee, be invested in securities distributed by IDS, approximately one-half in fully-paid face-amount certificates issued by Investors Syndicate of America, Inc. and approximately one-half in capital stock of Investors Stock Fund, Inc. No sales load is to be charged by IDS to the trustee upon its acquisition of securities distributed by IDS, and no commission or profit will be realized by IDS upon acquisition of other securities by the trustee.

A Participant's interest in the trust fund will normally be distributed in accordance with one or more of three optional methods only upon his retirement, total disability, or termination of employment. Basically these optional methods embrace immediate payment in full, in cash or kind; payment over a period of years, and purchase of an annuity. A Participant may, however, at any time request a loan or distribution of his interest upon a showing of personal hardship. Any such request will be determined by the Committee on the basis of uniform and non-discriminatory rules. A Participant may also request in any year with respect to which an allocation of an IDS contribution is thereafter made to him that the whole or any part of the trust fund assets represented by such allocation as may be attributable to the first $6,000 of his compensation be paid to him at the expiration of two years from the end of the year for which the allocation is made. This election does not cover ordinary income from or dividends on trust fund assets representing the allocations to, or contributions made by, a Participant.

Notice is hereby given that Fall River Electric Light Company ("Fall River"), a public-utility company, and its parent, Eastern Utilities Associates, a registered holding company, have filed with this Commission a declaration and amendments thereto pursuant to sections 7 and 12 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rule U-42 promulgated thereunder regarding the proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

Fall River has outstanding 210,000 shares of $25 par value common capital stock and 5,000 shares of $10 par value employees' stock. Each share of common capital stock is entitled to one vote and ten shares of employees' stock are entitled to one vote. The offer will be made on the basis of two whole shares of common capital stock for five whole shares of employees' stock or multiples thereof. According to the declaration there are only thirty-five holders of employees' stock and, by reason of limitations provided in Fall River's by-laws prescribed by authority granted in the General Laws of Massachusetts, such stock may not be transferred except to Fall River employees or the company and if sold or transferred to Fall River the price which can be paid for such stock is limited to its par value.

The foregoing transactions have been expressly authorized by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities and its appears that no other commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. It is further stated that there are no commissions, fees or expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions, except legal fees and expenses estimated in the aggregate at $1,600. It is requested that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 14, 1955, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on this matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by such filing which he proposes to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. CENTRAL PUBLIC UTILITY CORP. AND ISLANDS GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER DENYING REQUEST FOR HEARING AND APPROVING PROPOSED DONATION OF PREFERRED STOCK BY PARENT TO SUBSIDIARY

OCTOBER 25, 1955.

Central Public Utility Corporation ("Central"), a registered holding company, and its wholly owned subsidiary, The Islands Gas and Electric Company ("Islands"), have filed a joint declaration pursuant to sections 12 and 15 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rules U-26, U-42 and U-45 thereunder, regarding the following proposed transactions:

Islands has outstanding bonds, notes, preferred stock and common stock, all of which are owned by Central. As a step in the simplification of the capital structure of Islands, Central proposes to donate to Islands, as a contribution to its capital, 50,000 shares of $7 cumulative preferred stock of Islands (par value $1 per share), being all of the preferred stock which Islands now has outstanding. Central also proposes not to reduce or otherwise change, as a result of such contribution, the amount of the carrying value of its investment in the securities of Islands.

Islands proposes to acquire and thereafter, by appropriate amendment of its Certificate of Incorporation, to extinguish said 50,000 shares of its preferred stock. Islands also proposes, concurrently with the extinguishment of said shares, to reduce its capital stock and to increase its capital surplus to the extent of $50,000, being the aggregate par value of the shares extinguished.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said declaration, and a hearing having been requested by Victor E. Piton, a former stockholder of Central; and it appearing that he now has no interest in the Central system which would be affected by the proposed transactions and that his request for a hearing should therefore be denied; and a hearing not having been ordered by the Commission on its own motion; and the Commission finding with respect to the proposed transactions that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the declaration be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, That the request for a hearing filed herein by Victor E. Piton be, and it hereby is, denied.

It is further ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration be, and it hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Valencia Orange Reg. 59, Amdt. 1]

PART 922—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

Findings. 1. Pursuant to Order No. 22 (19 F. R. 1741), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective March 31, 1954, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recomemndation and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (ii) of § 922.359 (Valencia Orange Regulation 59, 20 F. R. 7959) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(ii) District 2: 323,400 boxes.

Dated: October 27, 1955.

AUTHORITY: §§ 924.0 to 924.132 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 924.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Detroit, Michigan, on March 22–25, 1955, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, effective not later than November 1, 1955. Any delay beyond that date in making this order amending the order effective will tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order do not require persons affected to make substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. Proposed amendments which would result in changes similar to those effected by this order amending the order were considered at a public hearing held in Detroit during March 22–25, 1955; a recommended decision in this proceeding, to which interested parties were given an opportunity to file written exceptions, was filed on September 2, 1955, and a final decision was issued on October 25, 1955. Under these circumstances persons affected by this order amending the order have been afforded a reasonable time within which to prepare for its effective date. Therefore, good cause exists, pursuant to sec. 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (Public Law 404, 79th Congress, 60 Stat. 237), for making this order amending the order effective November 1, 1955.

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, amending the order, which is marketed within the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum and who, during the determined representative period (August 1955), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as set forth below:

All supply plants which are operated by one handler, or all of the plants from which a handler is responsible for the movement of milk to distributing plants under a marketing arrangement certified to the market administrator by both parties, may be considered as a unit, upon written notice to the market administrator specifying the plants to be considered as a unit and the period during which such consideration shall apply. Such notice, and notice of any change in designation, shall be furnished on or before the 5th working day following the month to which the notice applies. In any of the months of February through September a unit shall not contain plants which were not qualified as pool plants, either individually or as members of another unit, during the previous October through January.

§ 924.17 Call percentage. (a) The "call percentage" is the percentage of net receipts at a supply plant (after subtracting any milk disposed of as Class I other than transfers to other pool plants) which such plant is required to ship to a distributing plant(s) in order to qualify as a pool plant pursuant to § 924.16. A call percentage may be announced for any month except April, May, June, or July and shall be issued on or before the first day of the month to which it applies. The call percentage shall be computed by the market administrator from his estimate of the Class I utilization of distributing pool plants during the month for which the call percentage is being computed, plus an operating margin of 15%. From such estimated gross Class I requirements of distributing plants, inclusive of the 15% operating reserve, shall be deducted the estimated receipts directly from producers during such month at such distributing plants and from those supply plants which regularly send their entire available supply to such distributing plants during the months of August through March. The remainder shall be divided by the estimated net available supply (after subtracting any milk estimated to be disposed of as Class I other than transfers to other pool plants) at supply plants other than those regularly shipping their entire supply as described above, and the result shall be multiplied by 75 to determine the call percentage. No call percentage of less than 25 shall be issued.

(b) The market administrator's announcement of a call percentage shall include the historical data on which his estimates of Class I utilization and the various sources of supply are based, together with appropriate explanatory comments on the computations involved.

(c) At any time during a month when it appears that more milk is being delivered to distributing plants than is needed to fulfill their Class I requirements, the market administrator may reduce the call percentage applicable for such month.

(b) On or before the 20th day of each month each handler who received milk from producers shall report his producer payroll for the preceding month which shall show:

(1) The pounds of base milk and pounds of excess milk received from each producer, and the percentage of butterfat contained therein;

(2) The amount and date of payment to each producer (or to a cooperative association); and

(3) The nature and amount of each deduction or charge involved in the payments referred to in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

§ 924.32 Records and facilities. Each handler shall maintain and make available to the market administrator during the usual hours of business, such accounts and records of all of his operations and such facilities as are necessary to verify reports, or to ascertain the correct information with respect to (a) the receipts and utilization or disposition of all skim milk and butterfat received, including all milk products received and disposed of in the same form; (b) the weights and tests for butterfat, skim milk and other contents of all milk and milk products handled; and (c) payments to producers and cooperative associations.

§ 924.33 Retention of records. All books and records required under this part to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of three years to begin at the end of the month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That, if within such three-year period, the market administrator notifies a handler in writing that the retention of such books and records, or of specified books and records, is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records until further written notification from the market administrator. The market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 924.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received at a pool plant, or diverted pursuant to § 924.7,

(a) In milk from producers or from a cooperative association (except as provided in § 924.43 (c)),

(b) In any form from other handlers, and

(c) In other source milk required to be reported pursuant to § 924.30; shall be classified (separately as skim milk and butterfat) in the classes set forth in § 924.41.

§ 924.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 924.42 and 924.43 the classes of utilization shall be:

(a) Class I utilization shall be all skim milk (including the skim milk equivalent of concentrated products) and butterfat:

(1) Disposed of for consumption in fluid form as milk, flavored milk, skim milk, buttermilk, or half-and-half; and

(2) Not accounted for as Class II utilization.

(b) Class II utilization shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Disposed of for fluid consumption as sweet or sour cream;

(2) Used to produce sterilized flavored milk drinks, ice cream or ice cream mix, cheese (including cottage cheese), dried whole milk, nonfat dry milk solids, evaporated or condensed whole or skim milk, sweetened or unsweetened, disposed of in bulk or in hermetically sealed cans, eggnog, or butter;

(3) Disposed of as livestock feed or skim milk dumped subject to prior notification to and inspection (at his discretion within 18 hours) by the market administrator;

(4) In shrinkage of producer milk up to 2 percent of receipts from producers; or

(5) In shrinkage of other source milk.

§ 924.42 Shrinkage. (a) If producer milk is utilized in conjunction with other source milk, the shrinkage shall be allocated pro rata between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk and other source milk.

(b) Producer milk transferred by a handler from a pool plant to another pool plant without first having been received for the purpose of weighing and testing in the transferor handler's pool plant shall be included in the receipts at the plant of the transferee handler for the purpose of computing his shrinkage and shall be excluded at the plant of the transferor handler in computing his shrinkage.

(c) Producer milk received at a plant from which a route is not operated in the marketing area and transferred in bulk from such plant to a plant from which a route is operated in the marketing area shall be subtracted from the producer milk receipts at the first plant and added to the producer milk receipts at the second plant in computing shrinkage.

§ 924.43 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat disposed of by a handler from a pool plant to the pool plant of another handler (except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section), in the form of milk or skim milk shall be Class I utilization, unless Class II utilization is indicated by both handlers in their reports submitted pursuant to § 924.30: Provided, That in no event shall the amount so classified in Class II be greater than the amount of producer milk used in such class by the transferee handler after allocating other source milk in his plant in series beginning with the lowest priced utilization.

(b) Skim milk and butterfat disposed of by a handler from a pool plant to a nonpool plant in the form of milk or skim milk shall be Class I utilization unless the market administrator is permitted to audit the records of receipts and utilization at such nonpool plant, in which case the classification of all skim milk and butterfat at such nonpool plant shall be determined and the skim milk and butterfat transferred from the pool plant shall be allocated to the highest use. If all or a portion of the milk so transferred is retransferred to a second nonpool plant the same conditions of audit, classification, and allocation shall apply.

(c) Producer milk transferred in bulk by a cooperative association to a pool plant, shall be deducted before classification of producer milk at the transferor's plant and shall be included in producer milk classified at the plant of the transferee handler.

§ 924.44 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification. All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I utilization unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 924.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I and Class II utilization for such handler.

§ 924.46 Allocation of butterfat classified. The pounds of butterfat remaining after making the following computations shall be the pounds in each class allocated to milk received from producers.

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class II utilization, the pounds of butterfat shrinkage allowed pursuant to § 924.41 (b) (4);

(b) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk;

(c) Subtract from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class, the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers (except from a cooperative as set forth in § 924.43 (c)) in such classes pursuant to § 924.43 (a); and

(d) Add to the remaining pounds of butterfat in Class II utilization the pounds subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section;

(e) If the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class in series, beginning with the lowest-priced utilization.

§ 924.47 Allocation of skim milk classified. Allocate the pounds of skim milk in each class to milk received from producers in a manner similar to that prescribed for butterfat in § 924.46.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 924.50 Basic formula price. The basic formula price to be used in determining the price per hundredweight of Class I utilization shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the U. S. D. A.

(b) The percentage which total receipts of producer milk by all handlers during the next two preceding months is of total Class I utilization at all pool plants, exclusive of variation in inventory during such period shall be computed each month by the market administrator and for the month in which the computation is made the Class I price shall be decreased 15 cents if such percentage is 5.0 percentage points or more above the average of the percentages for the corresponding months in the following schedule and increased 15 cents if such percentage is 5.0 percentage points or more below the average of the percentages for the corresponding months in such schedule and the Class I price shall be decreased or increased an additional 15 cents for each additional full 5 percentage points which such ratio of producer milk receipts to Class I utilization is above or below such average percentage:

Month:	Percentages
January	125.6
February	126.1
March	130.4
April	137.4
May	146.8

§ 924.53 Handler butterfat differential. There shall be added to or subtracted from, as the case may be, the prices of milk for each class as computed pursuant to §§ 924.51 and 924.52, for each one-tenth of one percent variation in the average butterfat test of the milk in each class above or below 3.5 percent an amount equal to the producer butterfat differential applicable to milk delivered in the current month.

DETERMINATION OF PRICE TO PRODUCERS

§ 924.60 Computation of value of milk for each handler. (a) Subject to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, the value of producer milk received during the month by each handler shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the applicable class price adjusted pursuant to § 924.53 the total combined hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat received in producer milk allocated to each class pursuant to §§ 924.46 and 924.47, adding together the resulting amounts, and if such handler has a utilization greater than has been accounted for as received from all sources, add an amount computed by multiplying any such excess utilization classified pursuant to § 924.46 (e) and § 924.47 by the applicable class prices.

(b) Each handler operating a pool plant at which other source milk is allocated to Class I pursuant to §§ 924.46 and 924.47 shall pay to the producer equalization fund each month an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk so allocated by the difference between the Class I and the Class II prices for the month adjusted by (1) a location adjustment, to apply on any other source milk shipped as fluid whole milk or fluid skim milk, at the same rate as specified in paragraph (c) of this section for the location at which the other source milk originates, and (2) the butterfat differentials provided in § 924.53 to the butterfat test of such other source milk.

(c) A handler who operates a pool plant as described in § 924.16 (b) (or § 924.16 (a) and located more than 34 miles by shortest highway distance from the boundary of the market area) and who disposes of, from such plant for Class I utilization (other than to a handler), milk received from producers, and a handler who receives at a plant described in § 924.16 (a) producer milk moved in bulk from a plant described in § 924.16 (b) (or § 924.16 (a) and located more than 34 miles by shortest highway distance from the boundary of the marketing area), which milk is utilized as Class I (prorating to such milk the utilization of all producer milk received at the plant) shall receive a credit with respect to milk so disposed of or so received and utilized at a rate determined by the market administrator as follows:

Shortest road distance from Detroit City Hall:	Rate per hundredweight
More than 34 miles but not more than 50 miles	$0.14
More than 50 miles but not more than 60 miles	0.15
Add 1 cent for each 10 miles or fraction thereof over 60 miles.

§ 924.61 Computation of the 3.5 percent value of all producer milk. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the 3.5 percent value of producer milk by:

(a) Combining into one total the individual values of milk of all handlers, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of § 924.60;

(b) Adding the aggregate value of all allowable producer location adjustments computed at the rates for the appropriate zones as provided in § 924.81;

(c) Adding or subtracting any charges or credits pursuant to § 924.90 (a) or (b);

(d) Adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented in paragraph (a) of this section is less than 3.5 percent, or subtracting if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is more than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such average butterfat test from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential provided in § 924.82 multiplied by 10;

(e) Adding not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-equalization fund.

§ 924.62 Uniform price. For each month the uniform price shall be computed by:

(a) Dividing the amount computed pursuant to § 924.61 by the hundredweight of milk received from producers represented by the values included in § 924.61 (a), and

(b) Subtracting not less than 6 cents nor more than 7 cents.

§ 924.63 Excess milk price. For each month the excess milk price shall be determined by adding 17 cents to the Class II price determined pursuant to § 924.52.

§ 924.64 Computation of uniform price for base milk. (a) Multiply the total pounds of excess milk and milk to be paid for at the excess milk price pursuant to § 924.70 (b) for the month by the excess milk price.

(b) Multiply the total amount of milk to be paid for at the uniform price pursuant to § 924.70 (b), (c), and (d) by the uniform price for the month.

(c) Subtract the total values arrived at in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section from the total 3.5 percent value of all producer milk arrived at in § 924.61;

(d) Divide the resultant value by the total hundredweight of base milk and milk to be paid for at the base price pursuant to § 924.70 (b); and

(e) Subtract not less than 6 cents nor more than 7 cents. The resultant hundredweight price shall be the uniform price of base milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received at pool plants.

§ 924.65 Handler operating a plant which is not a pool plant. Each handler who operates a nonpool plant from which Class I milk is disposed of on a route(s) in the marketing area during a month, shall in lieu of the payments required pursuant to § 924.80 through § 924.82, pay to the market administrator, for the producer-settlement fund, on or before the 25th day after the end of such month, the amount resulting from the computations of either paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this section, whichever is less.

(a) The product of the quantity of milk received by such handler which was disposed of in the marketing area on routes as Class I milk during the month multiplied by the difference between the price for Class I milk pursuant to § 924.51 and the price for Class II milk pursuant to § 924.52, adjusted by a location adjustment at the same rate as specified in § 924.60 (c) and by the butterfat differentials provided in § 924.53.

(b) Any plus amount resulting from the following computation. From an amount equal to the net pool obligation which would be computed pursuant to § 924.60 for such handler for such month if such handler operated a pool plant deduct the gross payments made by such handler to those dairy farmers whose milk was approved for fluid use and received during such month.

§ 924.66 Notification. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(a) The amounts and values of his milk in each class and the total of such amounts and values;

(b) The base of any producer delivering milk to the handler which was not used in making payments for the previous month;

(c) The amount due such handler from the producer-equalization fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-equalization fund, as the case may be; and

(d) The totals of the minimum amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 924.80, 924.84, 924.86, 924.87, and 924.90.

BASE RULES

§ 924.70 Determination of base. (a) A producer who delivered milk on at least 122 days during the period August 1 through December 31, inclusive, of any year shall have a base computed by the market administrator to be applicable, subject to § 924.72, for the 12 months' period beginning the following February 1, equal to his daily average milk deliveries from the date on which milk was first delivered in the period to the end of such August 1–December 31 period: Provided, That a producer who had a base on December 1 and whose average of daily deliveries for the August 1–December 31 period is less than such base shall have a base computed by subtracting from his previous base any amount by which 90 percent of his previous base exceeds such average of daily deliveries.

(b) A producer who has no base shall be paid during the first three full months he is a producer the uniform price in each of the months of August through December and in other months, the price applicable to base milk for the following percentages of his milk deliveries and the price applicable to excess milk for the remainder of his deliveries: 75 percent for January and February, 70 percent for March, 60 percent for April and July and 40 percent for May and June. At the conclusion of the first three full months' delivery, a base shall be established in the following manner: Multiply the total deliveries in the months of August and September by 0.8 and October, November and December by 0.9, in January and February by 0.75, in March by 0.7, in April and July by 0.6, and in May and June by 0.4. Add the amounts so computed and divide by the number of days in which milk was delivered during the three months.

(c) Whenever total receipts of producer milk by all handlers during the month are less than 112.5 percent of the total Class I utilization of all milk by handlers during such month, all producers and cooperative associations shall be paid the uniform price for all milk delivered.

(d) A producer who does not forfeit his base pursuant to § 924.71 (c) but who fails to deliver milk on at least 122 days of the August 1 through December 31 period shall have his base for the 12 months beginning the following February 1 computed by dividing the total pounds shipped during the period by 122.

§ 924.71 Application of bases. (a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account milk was delivered during the base period, and upon death may be transferred to a member or members of the deceased producers' immediate family.

(b) Bases may be transferred under the following conditions upon written notice by the holder of the base to the market administrator on or before the last day of the month that such base is to be transferred:

(1) Upon retirement or entry into military service of a producer, the entire base may be transferred to a member or members of his immediate family.

(2) Bases may be held jointly and if such joint holding is terminated the base may be divided among the joint holders as specified in writing to the market administrator.

(3) Two or more producers with bases may combine those bases upon the formation of a bona fide partnership.

(c) A producer who does not deliver milk to any handler for 45 consecutive days shall forfeit his base except that a producer who suffers the complete loss of his barn as a result of fire or windstorm may retain his base without loss for six months.

§ 924.72 Establishing a new base. A producer with a base, by notifying the market administrator that he relinquishes such base, may establish a new base pursuant to § 924.70 (b) once during the 12-month period ending December 31, the period for establishing a new base to begin the first day of the month specified but not earlier than the first day of the month in which such notification is received by the market administrator.

PAYMENT FOR MILK

§ 924.80 Time and method of payment. On or before the 15th day after the end of each month each handler who received milk from producers or from a cooperative association shall pay for milk received during such month to each producer, or to a cooperative association for milk received from such association or from producers for the account of such association, the uniform price as provided in § 924.70 (b) and (c) or the base price for base milk and for milk to be paid for at the base price pursuant to § 924.70 (b) and milk transferred pursuant to § 924.43 (c), and the excess price for excess milk and milk to be paid for at the excess price pursuant to § 924.70 (b), adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 924.82 and any location adjustment pursuant to § 924.81: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 924.85, he shall not be deemed to be in violation of this section if he reduces uniformly to all producers and cooperative associations his payments per hundredweight by a total amount not in excess of the reduction in payments due from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment uniformly to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this section next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

§ 924.81 Location adjustments to producers. In making payments to producers or cooperative associations pursuant to § 924.80 a handler may deduct with respect to all milk received by him from producers at a plant located outside the marketing area and more than 34 miles by shortest highway distance from the Detroit City Hall, as determined by the market administrator, and if milk is distributed from such plant on a route(s) in the marketing area, also located more than 34 miles by the shortest highway distance from the boundary of the marketing area, the amount per hundredweight applicable to the zone in which such plant is located as set forth in § 924.60 (c).

§ 924.82 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 924.80, the base price and excess price or the uniform price shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk received from each producer or a cooperative association above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential of 7 cents when the average price of butter as described in § 924.50 (b) (1) is 60 cents, which differential shall be increased one-half cent for each full 5 cents variance in such price of butter above 60 cents and decreased one-half cent for each full 5-cent variance in such price of butter below 64.99 cents.

§ 924.83 Producer equalization fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund, known as the "producer-equalization fund" into which he shall deposit all payments received pursuant to § 924.84 and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to § 924.85.

§ 924.84 Payments to the producer-equalization fund. (a) On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, each handler whose value of milk is required to be computed pursuant to § 924.60 (a) shall pay to the market administrator any amount by which such value for such month (in the case of a cooperative association which is a handler plus the value of any milk transferred as provided in § 924.43 (c) at the price for base milk for the month adjusted pursuant to § 924.82) is greater than the minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to § 924.80.

(b) On or before the 13th day after the end of each month each handler who is required to make payment pursuant to § 924.60 (b) shall pay such amount to the market administrator.

(c) On or before the 25th day after the end of each month each handler who is required to make payment pursuant to § 924.65 shall pay such amount to the market administrator.

§ 924.85 Payment out of the producer-equalization fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the value of milk for such handler for the month pursuant to § 924.60 (a) (in the case of a cooperative association which is a handler plus the value of any milk transferred as provided in § 924.43 (c) at the price for base milk for the month adjusted pursuant to § 924.82) is less than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to § 924.80, less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to § 924.84: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-equalization fund is insufficient to make all payments to all such handlers pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available.

§ 924.86 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 13th day after the end of each month two cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding two cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to all receipts within the month of milk from producers, including milk of such handler's own production, and all other source milk on which payments are made pursuant to § 924.60 (b) and § 924.65.

§ 924.87 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments pursuant to § 924.80 for milk received from each producer (including milk of such handler's own production) at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct five cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding five cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, and, on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of milk received from producers and to provide producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the Secretary, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments required pursuant to § 924.80 as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 13th day after the end of the month to the cooperative association rendering such services of which such producers are members.

ADJUSTMENT OF ACCOUNTS

§ 924.90 Payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses adjustments to be made, for any reason, which result in moneys due:

(a) To the market administrator from such handler,

(b) To such handler from the market administrator or

(c) To any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

§ 924.91 Overdue accounts. Any unpaid obligation of a handler or of the market administrator pursuant to §§ 924.84, 924.85, 924.86, 924.87, and 924.90 shall be increased one-half of one percent on the first day of the month next following the due date of such obligation and on the first day of each month thereafter until such obligation is paid.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 924.100 Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to in this part as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association.

§ 924.101 Handler exemption. A handler who operates a plant located outside the marketing area from which Class I milk is disposed of on a route(s) within the marketing area but from which the disposition of Class I milk on all routes operating wholly or partly within the marketing area averages less than 600 pounds per day for the month, and from which no milk is transferred to other handlers, or a handler whom the Secretary finds is subject, during the delivery period, to another Federal order, and whose disposition of Class I milk in the other Federal marketing area exceeds that in the Detroit marketing area, shall be exempted for such month from all provisions of this part except §§ 924.31, 924.32, and 924.33.

§ 924.102 Producer-handler exemption. A producer-handler shall be exempt from all provisions of this part except §§ 924.31, 924.32, 924.33 and 924.60 (b).

TERMINATION OF OBLIGATIONS

§ 924.110 Termination of obligations. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or association, or, if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or wilful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or setoff by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 924.120 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or of any amendment hereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 924.121 When suspended or terminated. The secretary shall, whenever he finds that this part, or any provision thereof, obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this part or any such provision thereof.

§ 924.122 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 924.123 Liquidation. Under the suspension or termination of the provisions of this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers, in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 924.130 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 924.131 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

§ 924.132 Special reporting dates. When a holiday prevents normal business activities on any day except Sunday during the first 15 days of the month, those of the dates specified in §§ 924.22 (j) (2), 924.31 (b), 924.66, 924.80, 924.84, 924.85, 924.86, and 924.87 which follow such holiday shall be postponed by the number of days lost as a result of such holiday.

§ 517.463 Eligibility for payment—(a) Application for export payment. No payment will be made under this subpart, unless the exporter files an application (see § 517.472 (c)) with the designated Representative of the Secretary, as indicated in § 517.460 (b), nearest the principal office of the exporter, and such application is approved by the Representative of the Secretary. The application must be prepared separately for each sales contract and shall be filed as promptly as possible after the date of sale but in no event later than the date of export. No payment will be made if such application is filed after the date of export unless the Secretary, upon written request by the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, waives this requirement. The Secretary will approve applications meeting the requirements of this program, so long as funds which have been allocated to this program are available, in the order in which the applications are received or on such other basis as he may determine to be equitable, will give written notice of approval or disapproval to the exporter, and will notify the exporter as promptly as possible after receipt of any application if any information shown in such form does not conform with the terms and conditions of this offer. No payment will be made in excess of the sum indicated in the approved application, unless the Secretary, upon written request by the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, approves a larger amount.

(b) Sales contract. No payment under this subpart will be made in connection with any sales contract unless the date of sale (see § 517.472 (d) and (e)) is on or after the effective date of this offer, except that a sale made prior to the effective date of this offer and expressly made contingent upon the Secretary's issuing this or a similar offer or made contingent upon the buyer benefiting by any payment offered by the Secretary prior to exportation, will be deemed to be a sale made on or after the effective date of this offer. In the event the sales contract covered by any approved application is canceled or will not be completely fulfilled, the exporter shall promptly request the Representative of the Secretary who approved the application to cancel the quantity which will not be exported. Such request shall be made not later than thirty (30) days after the intended date of export shown in the approved application.

(c) Date of export. No payment under this subpart will be made in connection with any exportation unless the products are exported during the period specified in paragraph (i) of this section, for the respective eligible products. Products shall be deemed to have been exported when loaded on board the exporting carrier provided such products are not thereafter unloaded from such carrier in the United States, its territories, or possessions, and are not diverted to an ineligible country. The date of export of any lot shall be considered to be the date of loading on board the exporting carrier on which movement of such lot from the United States is effected. The date of the on-board bill of lading (or loading tally sheet, see § 517.465 (a) (3)) shall be considered to be the date the products were loaded on board, unless an "on-board" date is shown.

(d) Minimum size of lot. No payment will be made under this subpart for the exportation of any lot of less than one hundred (100) units of any one eligible product. A unit is 1 box, crate, or carton, of fresh fruit, 1 case of citrus products, or 1 gallon or equivalent of concentrated juice. A lot is that quantity of any one eligible product loaded to any one export carrier at any one departure to any one consignee.

(e) Inspection. Exporters shall furnish, at no expense to the Secretary, certificates of inspection, as provided in this subpart, for fresh or processed products exported pursuant to this offer indicating that the product meets the applicable requirements set forth in this section and § 517.464. Such certificates for fresh fruit shall be issued by representatives of the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service and for processed products by representatives of the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS, USDA. Inspection of all concentrated products containing sweetening ingredients or preservatives shall be performed during the process of manufacture and also on the finished product after processing. For fresh oranges and grapefruit the period from date of completion of inspection for standards for export to date of exportation, both dates inclusive, must not exceed ten (10) days, except that for shipments exported from U. S. North Atlantic and Canadian Atlantic Ports such period must not exceed fifteen (15) days, and for processed products the period from date of completion of inspection to date of exportation, both dates inclusive, must not exceed ninety (90) days: Provided, That, if such periods will be exceeded when the eligible product is loaded on board the exporting carrier, the exporter shall prior to such loading obtain, at no expense to the Secretary, certificates of inspection covering, in the case of fresh fruit reinspection for standards for export and, in the case of processed products reinspection for quality and condition: Except, That, upon request of the exporter indicating substantial reasons therefor, the Secretary may, if he deems it desirable, waive reinspection requirements and grant an extension of time from date of inspection to date of exportation: Provided also, That the Secretary may, at his discretion, have any lot of fresh oranges or grapefruit reinspected at port of export for standards for export. The cost of reinspection made at the discretion of the Secretary will be borne by the Secretary. Any lot of fruit found not to meet program requirements will not be eligible for payments under this program.

(f) Packaging. (1) All products to be exported under this program shall be suitably packed for export in new boxes, crates, cartons or cases (or new kegs or barrels for preserved concentrate if so specified in sales contract) acceptable for export shipment in accordance with standard commercial practice and in a manner which reasonably shall assure their arrival in good condition in the country of destination. The best known practices to prevent shrinkage and decay shall be followed in packing fresh fruit for export shipment.

(2) For fresh fruit, only containers meeting the following minimum specifications may be used but the Secretary, upon request by the exporter, may approve [1] other containers:

Name or Kind of Container and Description

Orange and grapefruit box—nailed; freight container tariff Nos. 635 and 675 (inside dimensions 11½ x 11½ x 23$^{15}/_{16}$ inches or 12 x 12 x 24 inches).

Wirebound citrus crate; freight container tariff No. 3690 (inside dimensions 11$^{15}/_{16}$ x 11$^{15}/_{16}$ x 24¼ inches), or the identical container without the center divider.

Fibreboard citrus carton; half-box (⅗ or $^{9}/_{10}$ bushel) made of doubleface corrugated fibreboard, telescope type, or a regular slotted container with a one-piece inside liner around the sides and ends.

The described containers are not intended to be all inclusive but indicate the minimum container requirements under the program. Other containers of heavier construction, which are suitable for exporting fresh fruit, also may be used without prior approval of the Secretary.

(g) Export shipment. Fresh oranges shall be exported from other than U. S. North Atlantic and Canadian Atlantic Ports in refrigerated space on ocean carriers and the export bills of lading covering such shipments shall show that the oranges are stowed in refrigerated space. Fresh oranges may be exported from U. S. North Atlantic and Canadian Atlantic Ports in ventilated space on ocean carriers until April 15, 1956, inclusive, following which date export shipments from such ports shall be made in refrigerated space: Provided, That fresh California Valencia oranges may be exported from U. S. North Atlantic and Canadian Atlantic Ports in ventilated space on ocean carriers until July 15, 1956, inclusive, following which date export shipments from such ports shall be made in refrigerated space.

(h) Re-entry or diversion. The exporter shall undertake, as a part of his application, which is required in paragraph (a) of this section, that the products exported under this program will thereafter not re-enter the United States or its territories or possessions, or be diverted to other than an eligible country as listed herein, in fresh or processed form. In the event of such reentry or diversion to other than an eligible country, the exporter shall refund to the Secretary any export payment received under this offer with respect to the quantity so re-entered or diverted.

(i) Periods for export. Products to be exported under applications approved pursuant to this program shall be exported during the following periods, both dates inclusive:

Fresh oranges and grapefruit produced in California or Arizona, November 1, 1955, to September 30, 1956.

All processed products, November 1, 1955, to October 31, 1956.

§ 517.464 Product specifications. No payment will be made under this subpart unless the respective products exported meet the following applicable requirements. "United States Standards" or "U. S. Standards" for the respective products, as used in this section, have reference to such standards which are in effect on the date of inspection.

§ 517.465 Claims for payment supported by evidence of compliance. (a) The exporter shall file claims for payment with the AMS Area Administrative Division listed in § 517.460 (c) not later than sixty (60) days after the date of export of such lot: Provided, That, upon request of the exporter indicating substantial reason therefor, the Secretary may, if he deems it desirable, grant an extension of time for such filing. Each claim for payment shall be filed in an original and two copies on voucher Form AMS–21 or CSS–21, "Public Voucher—Commodity Programs," shall show the serial number of the related approved application, and shall be supported by:

(1) One certified copy of the sales contract;

(2) One certified copy of the sales invoice to the buyer showing:

(i) The f. a. s. sales price,

(ii) The payment to be made by the Secretary,

(iii) The balance f. a. s. U. S. Port to be paid by the buyer (other charges, if any, such as ocean freight, insurance, etc., shall be shown separately on the invoice), and

(iv) In the case of an invoice to a party named by the buyer as the party to be billed, the exporter shall furnish a certified copy of the directions by the buyer to bill such party;

(3) One copy of the on-board export bill of lading signed by an agent of the exporting carrier (except that where loss, destruction or damage occurs subsequent to loading on board exporting carrier but prior to issuance of the on-board bill of lading, one copy of a loading tally sheet or similar document may be submitted in lieu of such bill of lading) and in the case of exportation via a contiguous country, one signed copy of the on-board bill of lading covering the movement from such contiguous country;

(4) The original (or a signed copy) of the inspection certificate(s) required in § 517.463 (e), and;

(5) Such other documents, if any, as may be required by the Secretary, evidencing purchase, sale and exportation of the commodity on which payment is claimed.

(b) The export bill of lading must show the quantity and description of the commodity, inspection certificate number, or other reference sufficient to relate the commodity loaded on board the export carrier to the commodity covered by the related inspection certificate, the date and place of loading, the fact that such commodity is on board, the destination of the commodity, the name and address of both the exporter and consignee, and, in the case of fresh oranges, whether they are stowed in refrigerated space. If the shipper or consignor named in such bill of lading is other than the exporter (seller) named in the application, the exporter shall furnish with each copy of such bill of lading a waiver by such shipper or consignor, in favor of such exporter, of any right to claim payment under this program for the commodity covered by such bill of lading. If the bill of lading shows the name of a consignee different from that appearing as the buyer on the contract under which the bill of lading is made, the exporter shall accompany his claim on the exportation covered by such bill of lading with a certification that the shipment under that bill of lading is to the buyer named in the contract and is made pursuant to that contract.

(c) The foregoing required evidence will not be accepted as conclusive if the Secretary has reason to believe that exportation of all or any quantity of the products was not actually accomplished or that there has not been compliance with other requirements of this offer, and in any such instance the Secretary may require such additional evidence as he deems reasonable.

§ 517.466 Records and accounts. The exporter shall maintain adequate records showing purchases, sales, and deliveries of products exported or to be exported in connection with this program. Such records, accounts, and other documents relating to any transaction in connection with this program shall be available during regular business hours for inspection and audit by authorized employees of the United States Department of Agriculture, and shall be preserved for at least two years after the effective date of this program.

§ 517.467 Amendment and termination. The Secretary may amend or terminate this program at any time upon public announcement thereof. Such amendment or termination, however, shall not apply to applications approved under the program prior to the effective time of such amendment or termination.

§ 517.468 Persons not eligible. No member of, or Delegate to, Congress or Resident Commissioner shall be admitted to any payment made under this program or to any benefit that may arise therefrom, but this provision shall not be construed to extend to a payment made to a corporation for its general benefit, or to such person in his capacity as a farmer (grower of the products exported).

§ 517.469 Set-off. The Secretary may set-off, against any amount owed to any exporter hereunder, any amount owed by such exporter to Commodity Credit Corporation, the United States Department of Agriculture, or any other agency of the United States. Setting-off as provided in this subpart shall not deprive the exporter of the right to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved, either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

§ 517.470 Joint payment or assignment. An exporter may name a joint payee on vouchers for payment or may assign the proceeds of any application for export payment to a recognized financing institution, in accordance with the provisions of the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, Public Law No. 811, 76th Congress, as amended: Provided, That such assignment shall be recognized only if and when the assignee thereof files written notice of assignment, in accordance with the instructions on Form AMS–66 "Notice of Assignment" which form must be used in giving notice of assignment to the Representative of the Secretary. The "Instrument of Assignment" may be executed on Form AMS–347 or the assignee may use his own form of assignment. The AMS forms may be obtained from any Representative of the Secretary.

§ 517.471 Good faith. Whereas it is the intent of this program to encourage the exportation of fresh and processed oranges (including concentrated tangerine juice) and grapefruit produced in the United States by making such products available to foreign buyers at prices below domestic market prices in the amount of the payment offered in this subpart; now, therefore, if the Secretary determines that any exporter has not acted in good faith in carrying out the purpose of this program, has not passed on to foreign buyers the incentive payment offered in this subpart, or otherwise fails to discharge fully any obligation assumed by him under this program, such exporter may be denied the right to continue participating in this program, or the right to receive payment under this program in connection with any exportation previously made under this program, or both.

§ 517.472 Definitions. As used in §§ 517.460 to 517.472, the following terms have the following meanings:

(a) "Secretary" means the Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, or any authorized Representative of the Secretary.

(d) "Sales contract" may be in the form of offer and acceptance, confirmation of sale or purchase, or other documentary evidence of consummation of sale including contracts between exporter and buyer, and includes a transaction involving the transfer of a product from an exporter to his foreign branch, affiliate or associate. Such sales contract may, however, be conditioned upon contingencies or events over which the exporter has no control, such as the allocation of the necessary dollars by the eligible foreign country, or the making of an export payment by the Secretary in connection with the particular sales contract pursuant to this offer.

(e) "Date of sale" means the date on which both buyer and seller signed a written contract, or the date on which buyer accepts an offer of sale or confirms the purchase, or the date on which the seller accepts an offer to purchase or confirms the sale. In the event documentary evidence does not clearly establish the date of consummation of sale, the date of sale shown in the application will be considered to be the date the sale was consummated.

(f) "F. a. s." means free alongside ship or other export carrier.

(g) "On-board export bill of lading" includes any bill of lading covering the exportation of fresh or processed oranges (including concentrated tangerine juice) or grapefruit from the United States.

(i) "Certified" means a written, signed declaration, contained in or attached to any document, stating that the document is a true and correct copy of the original of such document.

(j) "Filed." Applications, claims, and related documents are deemed to be filed when they are postmarked, if mailed, or when received by the designated AMS office if otherwise delivered.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Administration, Department of Commerce

PART 620—SECURITY CONTROL OF AIR TRAFFIC

REVISION OF PART

Pursuant to section 1201 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended (64 Stat. 825; 49 U. S. C. Supp 701), the President determined in Executive Order 10197 (published on December 22, 1950, in 15 F. R. 9180) that it is necessary in the interest of national security to establish security provisions for the use of aircraft in designated areas in the airspace above the United States, its Territories, and its Possessions (including areas of land or water administered by the United States under international agreement). In accordance with such determination and the authority delegated to me by the Secretary of Commerce (published on January 4, 1951, in 16 F. R. 99), Part 620 was adopted. This part, as amended, is revised herewith as recommended by the Board for Security Control of Air Traffic in Air Defense after coordination with the Department of Defense, the Civil Aeronautics Board, and representatives of the industry. The Air Defense Identification Zones in the Continental United States are generally reduced in area along the boundaries of the country. Two new ADIZ's are designated which enclose the northeastern area of the United States and the area west of the Continental Divide. These two areas are designated as the Eastern Defense Area and the Western Defense Area. Flights entering these areas or any ADIZ are required to comply with Part 620, but exceptions are made for flights departing these areas. Although the 4,000-foot exception has been removed, aircraft which maintain a true air speed of 110 knots or less and an altitude of 1,500 feet or less above the terrain are now exempt from the requirements of this Part. A military function of the United States is involved. Therefore, compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not required. Part 620 is revised to read:

Subpart A—Introduction

Sec.
620.1 Basis and purpose.
620.2 Definitions.

Subpart B—Operating Rules

620.10 Scope.

(p) VFR flight. A flight conducted under the Visual Flight Rules of the air traffic rules of Part 60 of this title.

SUBPART B—OPERATING RULES

§ 620.10 Scope. Aircraft shall not be operated into or within and Air Defense Identification Zone (ADIZ) prescribed by the Administrator in Subpart C of this part in violation of the rules stated in this subpart.

NOTE: These Air Defense Identification Zones are depicted in CAA Flight Information Manual, Radio Facility Charts published by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and USAF and Navy Radio Facility Charts.

§ 620.11 Flight plans. Unless otherwise authorized under § 620.13, prior to penetrating an ADIZ or prior to takeoff from a point within an ADIZ, a flight plan shall be filed with an appropriate aeronautical facility.

NOTE: Pilots are urged to file flight plans in person or by telephone prior to take-off. Within the Continental United States, a pilot unable to file in person may file a DVFR flight plan by placing a collect telephone call to the nearest CAA communications station or other CAA facility. (Standard procedures for making use of this service are published in the Airman's Guide and Flight Information Manual.)

(a) IFR flights. Unless an abbreviated flight plan is authorized by air traffic control, the flight plan shall contain the following information:

(1) Aircraft identification, and if necessary, radio call sign;

(2) Type of aircraft, or in the case of a formation flight, the types and number of aircraft involved;

(3) Full name, address, and number of pilot certificate of pilot in command of the aircraft, or of the flight commander if a formation flight is involved;

(4) Point of departure;

(5) Cruising altitude, or altitudes, and the route to be followed;

(6) Point of first intended landing;

(7) Proposed true air speed at cruising altitude;

(8) Radio transmitting and receiving frequencies to be used;

(9) Proposed time of departure;

(10) Estimated elapsed time until arrival over the point of first intended landing;

(11) Alternate airport or airports;

(12) Amount of fuel on board expressed in hours;

(13) Any other information which the pilot in command of the aircraft, or air traffic control, deems necessary for air traffic control purposes;

(14) For international flights, the number of persons on board.

(b) VFR flights. Unless an abbreviated flight plan is authorized by air traffic control, the flight plan shall contain the information specified in paragraphs (a) (1) through (10) of this section. Such a flight plan shall be designated by the pilot in command as a Defense Visual Flight Rules (DVFR) flight plan.

(c) Notification of arrival. If a DVFR flight plan has been filed, or if an IFR flight plan has been filed for a flight for which an air traffic control clearance is not required, the pilot in command of the aircraft, upon landing or completion of the flight, shall file an arrival or completion notice with the nearest CAA communications station or control tower, unless the pilot in command states in the flight plan that no arrival notice will be filed.

NOTE: Pilots are urged to file flight plans either in person or by telephone. Flight plans filed by radio while in flight may result in interception of the aircraft to confirm its identity.

§ 620.12 Reporting points—(a) Flights within or penetrating a Domestic ADIZ. Unless otherwise authorized under § 620.13:

(1) IFR flights—(i) Within control zones and areas. Position reports shall be made as required by the Instrument Flight Rules of Part 60 of this title.

(ii) Outside control zones and areas. The reporting procedures specified for DVFR flights will apply.

(2) DVFR flights. The pilot in command of an aircraft shall not operate an aircraft into or within an ADIZ unless the aircraft is equipped with a functioning two-way radio and shall not enter an ADIZ until:

(i) He has reported to an appropriate aeronautical facility the time, position, and altitude at which the aircraft passed the last reporting point along the flight path of the aircraft prior to penetration of an ADIZ and his estimated time over the next reporting point along the intended flight path of the aircraft; or if it is not practicable to comply with this reporting procedure.

(ii) A report which contains the estimated time, position, and altitude at which he will penetrate the ADIZ has been made to an appropriate aeronautical facility at least fifteen minutes prior to penetration.

NOTE: A pilot of an aircraft departing from an airport too close to an ADIZ boundary to reach cruising altitude before entering the ADIZ or to report an estimated time and place of penetration at least 15 minutes prior to penetration will be considered to have complied with 620.12 and 620.14:

Provided, He reports immediately after takeoff the departure time with an estimate at the first reporting point along the flight path.

(b) Aircraft entering the United States through a Coastal ADIZ—(1) United States aircraft. The reports prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section are required.

(2) Foreign aircraft. The pilot in command of a foreign aircraft shall not operate an aircraft into the United States without:

(i) Making position reports as prescribed for United States aircraft in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, or

(ii) Reporting to an appropriate aeronautical facility when the aircraft is not less than one hour and not more than two hours average cruising distance via the most direct route, from the United States. Thereafter, reports shall be made as instructed by the facility receiving the original report.

NOTE: Operators of foreign aircraft who exercise the optional position reporting method described in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph are cautioned that this procedure does not eliminate the position reporting requirements prescribed for the control of air traffic.

§ 620.13 Authorized exceptions. The provisions of this subpart except for § 620.17 are not applicable to the following aircraft operations:

(a) Speeds excepted. Aircraft operating into or within an ADIZ at true air speeds of 110 knots or less if the flight is conducted at an altitude of 1,500 feet or less above the terrain.

(b) Altitudes excepted—(1) Hawaiian ADIZ. Aircraft operating within the Hawaiian ADIZ on inter-Hawaiian Island flights on Red Civil Airway No. 87 southeast of the Island of Oahu, below seven thousand (7,000) feet MSL.

(2) Alaskan Domestic ADIZ. Aircraft operating within the Alaskan Domestic ADIZ on a VFR flight originating from within the Alaskan Domestic ADIZ if:

(i) The flight is confined to altitudes of 4,000 feet or less above the immediate terrain; and

(ii) The aircraft is flown no closer than 500 feet to any other aircraft.

(c) Areas or routes excepted—(1) General. Flights exempted by a CAA air route traffic control center. Such flights shall be operated in accordance with the instructions, if any, issued at the time the exemption is granted.

NOTE: Flights which may be exempted, after approval has been obtained from appropriate military commanders, are (a) flights wholly within the boundaries of an ADIZ, (b) flights not currently of significance to the air defense system, or (c) military flights which are conducted in accordance with special procedures prescribed by appropriate military authorities.

(2) Continental United States. (i) A flight originating within the Eastern Defense Area which maintains an outbound track into or through the Eastern ADIZ, Northern ADIZ, Presque Isle ADIZ, or Southern Border ADIZ without penetrating the Albuquerque ADIZ, Western ADIZ, or a Coastal ADIZ.

(ii) A flight originating within the Western Defense Area which maintains an outbound track into or through the Western ADIZ, Northern ADIZ, or Southern Border ADIZ without penetating the Albuquerque ADIZ, Eastern ADIZ, or a Coastal ADIZ.

(iii) A flight originating within the Central Open Area which maintains an outbound track into or through the Northern ADIZ or Southern Border ADIZ without pentrating the Albuquerque ADIZ, Eastern ADIZ, or Western ADIZ.

(iv) A flight originating in the Albuquerque ADIZ proceeding outbound into the Central Open Area without penetrating the Eastern or Western ADIZ: Provided, The route of flight passes no closer to Albuquerque or Los Alamos, New Mexico, than the point of departure.

(v) A local flight within ten (10) miles of the point of departure.

(vi) Exception from requirement for two-way radio. Aircraft without two-way radio may enter and operate within an ADIZ: Provided, That the pilot adheres to a filed DVFR flight plan which includes the route, altitude, point of penetration and estimated elapsed time to the point of penetration. Aircraft without two-way radio may operate entirely within an ADIZ: Provided, That the pilot adheres to a filed DVFR flight plan which includes the route and altitude within the ADIZ and he departs within five minutes of his estimated time of departure.

NOTE: The tolerances outlined in the note under § 620.14 (b) will apply to this exemption.

(3) Hawaiian ADIZ. Aircraft operating within the Hawaiian ADIZ over any island or within three miles of the coastline of any island.

(4) Guam ADIZ. Within the Guam ADIZ, the exceptions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be granted by the aeronautical facility exercising security control. The instructions issued at the time authorization is granted for an intra-zone VFR flight shall include the requirement that the aircraft be equipped with a functioning two-way radio and that a listening watch be maintained on the appropriate radio frequency.

§ 620.14 Adherence to flight plans or air traffic clearances—(a) IFR flights—(1) Within control zones and areas. No deviation shall be made from an air traffic clearance unless an amended clearance is obtained from CAA air traffic control. In case emergency authority is used to deviate from the provision of an air traffic clearance, the pilot in command shall notify air traffic control as soon as possible and, if necessary, obtain an amended clearance. However, nothing in this paragraph shall prevent a pilot, operating on an IFR traffic clearance, from notifying air traffic control that he is canceling his IFR flight plan and proceeding under VFR: Provided, That he is operating in VFR weather conditions when he takes such action.

NOTE: A pilot who cancels an IFR flight plan should not neglect to file a DVFR flight plan if any of the remainder of the flight will be conducted in an Air Defense Identification Zone.

(2) Outside control zones and areas. When a flight is conducted in accordance with IFR within or into an ADIZ where an air traffic clearance is not required by the Civil Air Regulations, no deviation from the flight plan, as filed, shall be made unless prior notification is given to an appropriate aeronautical facility.

(b) DVFR flights. No deviation shall be made from a DVFR flight plan unless prior notification is given to an appropriate aeronautical facility.

NOTE: The requirements of the air defense of the United States make it imperative that pilots adhere to their flight plans or air traffic clearances within the following time distance, and altitude tolerances. Failure to meet these requirements may jeopardize the effective identification of aircraft and thereby the national defense effort. Flights which are operated in excess of these tolerances may be subject to interception:

(a) Five minutes from an estimated time over a reporting point or point of penetration of an ADIZ; or, in the case of a flight originating within an ADIZ, five minutes from the proposed time of departure specified in the flight plan, unless the actual time of departure is reported to the appropriate aeronautical facility.

(b) Ten miles from the centerline of route of flight if the flight is entering or operating within a Domestic ADIZ or 20 from the centerline of the route of if the flight is entering or operating a Coastal ADIZ.

(c) A pilot in command of an aircraft when on a DVFR flight plan or an IFR plan for which air traffic clearance is required should not deviate from the course altitude specified in the flight plan without prior notification is given to an appropriate aeronautical facility, except that he may begin descent from the altitude specified in flight plan within reasonable distance destination without reporting change altitude.

§ 620.15 Emergency situations. In emergency situations which require immediate decision and action for the safety of the flight, the pilot in command of the aircraft may deviate from the provisions of this part to the extent required for such emergency. When a deviation is exercised, the pilot in command shall report such deviation and the reasons therefor, as soon as practicable to an appropriate aeronautical facility.

§ 620.16 Radio failure—(a) IFR flights. If unable to maintain two-way radio communications, the pilot in command of the aircraft shall:

(1) If operating under VFR conditions, proceed under VFR and land as soon as practicable, or

(2) Proceed according to the last air traffic clearance to the radio facility serving the airport of intended landing, maintaining the minimum safe altitude or the last acknowledged assigned altitude whichever is higher. Descent shall start at the expected approach time last authorized or, if not received and acknowledged, at the estimated time of arrival indicated by the elapsed time specified in the flight plan.

NOTE: Detailed procedures to be followed by the pilot are contained in the CAA Flight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) DVFR flights. In case of radio failure of two-way radio communication, the flight may proceed in accordance with the original DVFR flight plan. When the pilot in command of the aircraft is unable to make a report of such failure, as soon as possible, to an appropriate aeronautical facility.

§ 620.17 Air defense security instructions. Under emergency air defense conditions which may involve the national security, aircraft shall be operated within or within an ADIZ in accordance with such additional special security instructions as may be issued by the Administrator. Such instructions will be consistent with the provisions of the "Plan for the Security Control of Air Traffic During a Military Emergency" as approved 15 July 1952, or as subsequently amended.

§ 620.18 Violations. In addition to the penalties otherwise provided for by the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, any person who knowingly and wilfully violates any provision prescribed in this part, or any order issued thereunder shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be subject to a fine of not exceeding $10,000 or to imprisonment not exceeding one year, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

This proceeding was heard by Loren H. Laughlin, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission—which charged respondents with improper use of the word "Wholesale" in their corporate name and with representing thereby that their merchandise, including furniture, appliances, rugs, and luggage, was sold to the general public at wholesale prices—and an agreement between counsel for the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of October 17, 1955, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, became, on October 4, 1955, the "Decision of the Commission".

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents, American Wholesale Furniture Company, a corporation, and its officers, and Peter K. Barskis and Eleanora Barskis, individually and as officers of said corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives, and employees, directly or through any other corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of merchandise to the general public, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Using the word "wholesale" or any other word or words of similar import as a part of any corporate or trade name, or representing in any manner, directly or indirectly, that they operate as a wholesaler.

In the Matter of Fuelgas Corporation, a Corporation, Morris Birnbaum and Daniel Birnbaum, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by William L. Pack, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission—which charged respondents with making sales and contracts for sale of their liquefied petroleum gas, "Homgas" steel containers for storage and transportation of said gas, gas service equipment and gas burning appliances, and making leases of their said steel containers on condition that the purchaser-distributor or lessee not use or deal in the goods, etc., of respondents' competitors; and with canceling distributors' contracts and otherwise intimidating distributors unless they rigidly adhered to such exclusive-dealing contracts—and an agreement between respondents and counsel supporting the complaint providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of October 6, 1955, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, became the "Decision of the Commission".

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents, Fuelgas Corporation, a corporation, Morris Birnbaum, Daniel Birnbaum, individually and as officers of said corporation, their agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of liquefied petroleum gas, steel containers for such gas, gas service equipment, or gas burning appliances or in connection with the leasing of such gas containers or gas service equipment in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Selling or making any contract for sale or lease of any such products on the condition, agreement or understanding that the purchaser or lessee thereof shall not use, deal in or sell such products obtained or leased from any competitor or competitors of respondents;

2. Enforcing or continuing in operation or effect any condition, agreement or understanding in, or in connection with, any existing contract of sale or lease, which condition, agreement or understanding is that the purchaser of such products from respondents will deal in and sell or lease only such products supplied by respondents and not those of a competitor or competitors of respondents:

It is further ordered, That the respondents, Fuelgas Corporation, a corporation, Morris Birnbaum and Daniel Birnbaum, individually and as officers of said corporation, their agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of liquefied petroleum gas, steel containers for such gas, gas service equipment, or gas burning appliances or in connection with the leasing of such gas containers or gas service equipment in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Selling or making any contract for sale or lease of any such products on the condition, agreement, or understanding that the purchaser or lessee thereof shall not use, deal in, or sell such products obtained or leased from any competitor or competitors of respondents;

2. Enforcing or continuing in operation or effect any condition, agreement, or understanding in, or in connection with, any existing contract of sale or lease, which condition, agreement, or understanding is that the purchaser of such products from respondents will deal in and sell or lease only such products supplied by respondents and not those of a competitor or competitors of respondents;

3. Cancelling, or directly or by implication threatening the cancellation of, any contract or franchise or selling agreement with respondents' distributors, or with any other customers, for the sale or lease of said products, because of the failure of such purchasers to purchase or deal exclusively in the products sold and distributed by respondents.

4. Enjoining or threatening to enjoin any of respondents' distributors or customers from engaging in the liquefied petroleum gas business for the period of five years, three years or any other period, where such actions are taken by respondents for the purpose or having the effect either of coercing or intimidating such distributors into dealing in respondents' products to the exclusion of products of competitors or for the purpose or having the effect of retaliating against such distribtuors for their failure or refusal to purchase or deal exclusively in the products sold and distributed by respondents.

5. The performance of any act of intimidation or coercion either through statements, oral or written, made by representatives of respondents either at the time when a distributor agrees to purchase or lease any products from respondents or during the course of any calls made upon distributors or customers at their places of business or at any other time or place, or the use of any other plan, practice, system or method of doing business for the purpose or having the effect of intimidating or coercing the respondents' distributors or other customers to purchase or lease the products or merchandise in which they deal, exclusively from respondents.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act, as amended—Payment or acceptance of commission, brokerage, or other compensation under 2 (c): § 13.820 Direct buyers.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 2, 38 Stat. 730, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 13) [Cease and desist order, The Union Malleable Manufacturing Company, Ashland, Ohio, Docket 6366, October 13, 1955.]

This proceeding was heard by Frank Hier, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission—which charged respondent manufacturer with granting an allowance amounting to brokerage to Sears Roebuck & Company on direct purchases of respondent's "U-Brand" plumbing supplies in addition to the discounts allowed its other customers, all of whom purchased through brokers—and an agreement between counsel for the parties providing for the entry of a consent order in accordance with § 3.25 of the Commission's rules of practice.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which by the Commission's order of September 23, 1955, pursuant to § 3.21 of the rules of practice, became, on October 13, 1955, the "Decision of the Commission".

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent, The Union Malleable Manufacturing Company, a corporation, and its officers, directors, associates, or employees, directly or through any corporate or any other device, in connection with the sale of plumbing products or any other merchandise in interstate commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the aforesaid Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

Granting or giving, directly or indirectly, to any buyer, or to anyone acting for or in behalf of, or who is subject to the direct or indirect control of any buyer, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation or any discount or allowance in lieu thereof, upon or in connection with any sale of plumbing products, or other commodities, made for the buyer's own account.

By said "Decision of the Commission", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: September 23, 1955.

By the Commission.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 29—FRUIT BUTTERS, FRUIT JELLIES, FRUIT PRESERVES, AND RELATED PRODUCTS; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

Correction

In Federal Register Document 55-8682, published at page 8073 of the issue for Thursday, October 27, 1955, the introductory text of amendatory paragraph 10d (affecting § 29.1) should read as follows:

d. A new subparagraph (6), reading as follows, is added to paragraph (e):

PART 130—DRUGS EXEMPTED FROM PRESCRIPTION-DISPENSING REQUIREMENTS OF SECTION 503 (b) (1) (C) OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT

EXEMPTION OF MECLIZINE HYDROCHLORIDE PREPARATIONS FROM PRESCRIPTION-DISPENSING REQUIREMENTS

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs, in accordance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 701 (a), 65 Stat. 649, 52 Stat. 1052, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c), 371 (a)) and the authority delegated to him by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR, 1954 Supp. 1.108 (c)), and finding that no written comments have been filed with respect to the notice of proposed rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 24, 1955 (20 F. R. 7170), hereby orders the following amendment:

Section 130.1 (a) is amended by adding the following new subparagraph (6):

§ 130.1 Exemption for certain drugs limited by new-drug applications to prescription sale. (a) • • •

(6) Meclizine hydrochloride (1-p-chlorobenzhydryl - 4 - m - methylbenzylpiperazine dihydrochloride) preparations meeting all the following conditions:

(i) The meclizine hydrochloride is prepared, with or without other drugs, in tablet or other dosage form suitable for oral use in self-medication, and containing no drug limited to prescription sale under the provisions of section 503 (b) (1) of the act.

(ii) The meclizine hydrochloride and all other components of the preparation meet their professed standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity.

(iii) If the preparation is a new drug, an application pursuant to section 505 (b) of the act is effective for it.

(iv) The preparation contains not more than 25 milligrams of meclizine hydrochloride per dosage unit.

(v) The preparation is labeled with adequate directions for use in the prevention of motion sickness.

(vi) The dosages recommended or suggested in the labeling do not exceed: For adults, 50 milligrams of meclizine hydrochloride per 24-hour period; for children 6 to 12 years of age, 25 milligrams of meclizine hydrochloride per 24-hour period.

(vii) The labeling bears, in juxtaposition with the dosage recommendations, clear warning statements against:

(a) Exceeding the recommended dosage.

(b) Administration of the drug to children under 6 years of age, except as directed by a physician.

(c) Driving a car or operating machinery while using the drug, since it may cause drowsiness.

(d) Keeping the drug within reach of children, if it is in candy form.

This amendment removes the drugs mentioned therein from the prescription-dispensing requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 503 (b) (1) (C), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (1) (C)). These drugs were previously limited by their new-drug applications to use under professional supervision because the scientific data establishing the toxic potential of the drugs and their intended use showed that they were safe only if used under professional supervision.

Pursuant to the regulations in § 1.108 (c) of this chapter (21 CFR, 1954 Supp., 1.108 (c)), petitions have been submitted to remove the prescription restrictions from these drugs. Evidence now available through investigation and marketing experience shows that the drugs can be safely used by the laity in self-medication if they are used in accordance with the proposed labeling. The restriction to prescription sale is no longer necessary for the protection of the public health.

This action in removing the prior restriction limiting these drugs to prescription sale is taken under the authority of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 503 (b), (3), 505 (c), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c)), which provides for and requires the removal of such restrictions if they are not necessary for the protection of the public health.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 30 days after the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Such notation will constitute evidence merely that the holding or claim was recorded under the act and will otherwise have no bearing, one way or another, on the validity of the claim.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 10962; FCC 55-1042]

[Rules Amdt. 3-58]

INTERNATIONAL BROADCAST STATIONS

In the matter of amendment of Part 3, Subpart F of the Commission's rules governing International Broadcast Stations to provide for the use of the High Frequency Broadcasting Bands between 5,950 and 26,100 kilocycles by International Broadcast Stations.

1. On March 17, 1954, the Commission adopted a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the above entitled matter (FCC 54-361) and set the date of May 19, 1954, as the last day upon which comments would be received from interested persons. Upon request from several interested parties, this date was extended to June 21, 1954.

2. Comments were received from the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), Associated Broadcasters, Inc. (Associated), General Electric (G. E.), World Wide Broadcasting System, Inc. (World Wide), Crosley Broadcasting Corp. (Crosley), and the United States Information Agency (USIA).

3. Inasmuch as interested persons directed their comments to particular sections of the Proposed Rules, in some instances objecting to the substance of a particular Rule and in other instances merely requesting clarification, this Report and Order will treat the individual Proposed Rules in numerical order.

4. Section 3.701 (a). World Wide commented that if the definition "International Broadcast Station" contemplated that rebroadcasting of the programs transmitted to a distant target area, by foreign stations in that target area, is to be prohibited, there is objection to the proposed definition. The only reply which can be made to this comment is to state that the Commission does not have jurisdiction over the transmissions of foreign stations which might rebroadcast programs originating from stations in the United States. In order to fully appreciate the significance of the Rules herein adopted it is necessary to review the definitions of services and stations appearing in Article 1 of the Radio Regulations of the International Telecommunication Union and in Part 2 of the Commission's Rules. The four pertinent definitions are:

Fixed Service—A service of radiocommunication between specified fixed points.

Fixed Station—A station in the fixed service.

Broadcasting Service—(a) A radiocommunication service of transmissions to be received directly by the general public.

(b) This service may include transmissions of sounds or transmissions by television, facsimile or other means.

Broadcasting Station—A station in the broadcasting service.

The rules herein adopted define "International Broadcast Station" in terms of the above definition of "Broadcasting Station."

5. From these definitions, it is quite clear that a program originating from a station in the United States which is to be rebroadcast by a station on foreign soil is a transmission in the fixed service. Therefore, the originating station, from the foregoing definitions, must be classified as a fixed station, since (a) it is "a service of radiocommunication between specified fixed points" namely the originating transmitter and the relay transmitter and (b) it is not a service of transmissions "to be received directly by the general public," since it is apparent that the originating station has made arrangements with the relay station for relaying. In cases where an originating station intends its transmissions to be received by persons who wish to rebroadcast the programs, either simultaneously or at a later time, as well as by the general public, under the concept of service-allocation of radio frequencies the originating station must be classified either as a fixed station or a broadcast station and cannot be classified as both. The fact that the program is being relayed appears, in itself, a clear indication that the licensee of the originating station considers that rebroadcasting is necessary in order that the program material may be received by the general public in the target area concerned and that such reception would not be provided by the original transmission. It is therefore considered that, in such instances, the broadcast aspect of the original transmission is of a secondary nature and that the station should be classified as a fixed station. Moreover, if the originating station is a fixed station and not a broadcasting station, the frequency of the originating station should be selected from the fixed bands and not from the broadcasting bands. If the originating station is to be licensed by the Commission in the high frequency spectrum and the relay point is outside the United States, the only service in which the originating station could qualify for a license would be the International Fixed Public service regulated by Part 6 of the Commission's Rules. The originating station, in these circumstances, would be classified as a station open to public correspondence and be subject to common carrier regulation including the regulation of tariffs. It is our hope that the foregoing explanation will resolve the questions which were prompted by the Commission's proposal in this proceeding with respect to the classification of services and station when relaying is involved.

6. Section 3.702. Assignment and use of frequencies.

(NOTE: This section was numbered § 3.711 in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making.)

A number of comments were received concerning the various subsections of this rule from the several parties submitting comments. For convenience they are discussed here by subject.

a. A question was raised by several of the parties as to the appropriateness of limiting the target areas and reference points utilized for making the several calculations required by the section to those shown in Figure 1 and Table A respectively. It was argued that they were not always appropriate for the particular transmission intended.

Figure 1 and Table A were evolved at the International High Frequency Broadcasting Conference (Mexico, 1948-49) where thousands of high frequency broadcasting requirements were submitted by various countries of the world. In order to reduce the enormous amount of work and extensive computations involved in developing High Frequency Broadcast Assignment Plans based on these numerous requirements, it was agreed that the use of a relatively small number of standard target areas and reference points within those areas would prove more satisfactory than attempting to consider the multitude of various target areas indicated in the requirements. As a result, Figure 1 and Table A were evolved and used as a basis for computing standard propagation curves for the transmission path between each pair of reference points. These curves, which were computed for various hours and seasons throughout the 11-year sunspot cycle greatly simplified the task of determining the OWF and Delivered Median Field Intensity for any standard transmission path at any time.

These curves are available at the Commission's Washington Offices for reference and may be used with respect to standard target areas and reference points set forth in Figure 1 and Table A for calculating the Optimum Working Frequencies (OWF) and Delivered Median Field Intensities as required by § 3.702 (e) and (d) respectively. They are not usable where different target areas or reference points are used, and in such cases complete, detailed propagation computations, in accordance with the procedures set forth in the Rules, will be necessary before the OWF and Delivered Median Field Intensity may be calculated. For this reason the use of non-standard target areas and reference points is discouraged. However, the amended Rules do permit licensees to designate target areas other than those shown in Figure 1 provided adequate justification is made as to why it is inappropriate to use a standard target area, with special reference to the nature and special suitability, if any, of the programming proposed. Licensees are warned that the Commission will not permit the choice of nonstandard target areas as a device for evading the minimum signal strength requirement of the Rules. It will be necessary in such cases for the licensee to specify a reasonable reference point with respect to providing coverage for the entire target area specified, and provide complete computations of OWF and Delivered Median Field Intensity for each non-standard target area when requesting a frequency assignment. In the case of broadcasts to be directed to more than one standard target area in the same region, the primary target area should be indicated by the licensee and the reasons for selecting that area adequately justified.

b. In connection with the total number of frequency hours available for private broadcasting, as proposed in § 3.702 (k), Crosley commented that in the event the total number of frequency hours for Government and private contract operations combined reached between 75 and 80 percent of the hours in Table B, the hours remaining available for private operations would result in the non-assignment of as much as 6.25 percent of the frequency hours in Table B. The Rules herein adopted have been modified so as to eliminate the possibility of the non-assignment of frequency hours as pointed out by Crosley. World Wide stated that if the proposed Rule meant that private operations would be limited to 25 percent of the total number of frequency hours, the possible curtailment of Government operations could result in the non-assignment of some of the frequency hours available to this country. World Wide expressed the belief that any frequency hours not used for Government operations should be made available for private use. The rule herein adopted guarantees the availability of at least 25 percent of the U. S. frequency hours (Table B) for private use, regardless of the extent to which Government and contract operations may exceed 75 percent of the available U. S. frequency hours.[1] In the event the combined Government or contract operations are less than 75 percent, all of the remaining portion of the available U. S. frequency hours may be assigned for private use. The comments from the USIA question the advisability of placing any ceiling on the number of frequency hours available for private, non-contract operations. The Commission believes, however, that the absence of any limit on such operations would serve to impede international agreement in this field. The Commission believes that in view of the importance of limiting High Frequency Broadcasting operations on a world wide basis, if the Agreements reached at the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference (Geneva, 1951), are to be fully carried out, that it is essential that the private operations covered by subsections (j) and (k) of § 3.702 be limited as herein provided.

It should be noted that the preceding paragraph relates only to the total number of frequency hours available daily to all licensees in any one frequency band and season of the year (table B). The policy of guaranteeing the availability of at least 25 percent of these frequency hours for private broadcasting is consistent with the provisions of the Smith-Mundt Act relating to the broadcast hours of individual stations. This Act, entitled "United States Information and Educational Exchange Act of 1948, 62 Stat. 6", provides that a licensee of an International Broadcast Station may retain 25 percent of his daily broadcasting time for private broadcasting.

c. GE commented with respect to restricting operations to one frequency per program (§ 3.702 (e)) that in some instances it could be shown that better service could be provided by not having such a restriction. However, there is insufficient spectrum space available to the various countries of the world who have to share these international broadcasting bands, thereby precluding such multiple assignment. Although an acceptable International High Frequency Broadcasting Plan has not, as yet, been developed, it is clear to the Commission that if an acceptable international agreement in this regard is to be obtained, such restrictions are necessary and the proposed Rules were based upon this concept.

d. GE and CBS commented with regard to the effect the Rule designated § 3.702 (e) herein would have in patterns of operation, periodic shifting in frequency, and the net effect on the listening audience in the foreign target area. A pooling of frequencies, as has been done in this service for the past decade, is an efficient method of utilizing frequency time available to the United States in these international frequency bands throughout the eleven-year sunspot cycle and seasonal cycles. It is the Commission's intent to continue this principle, maintaining assignments for private international broadcasting on a program thread basis, with a minimum of shifting of frequencies (program threads) within a given band or between bands, throughout the eleven-year sunspot cycle insofar as possible. The intent of the Rule is to eliminate the occupancy of a frequency where propagation conditions will not adequately support transmissions to a given target area. In this regard, by planning his operations well in advance, a licensee can help eliminate wasted frequency hours. Continuation of the frequency pool concept also provides a maximum of flexibility as it pertains to sharing of frequencies among the various licensees of international broadcast stations as their program requirements change throughout the sunspot cycle and seasonal cycles.

[1] It is recognized that at the present time, most, if not all of those non-Government stations which have previously engaged in "contract operations" as defined in these Rules, are now considered Government stations within the meaning of section 305 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and therefore are not within the jurisdiction of the Commission. However, there appears to be a valid need for making provision in these Rules to permit contract operations by non-Government stations licensed by the Commission.

e. GE raised the question in its comments whether more than one target area may be designated as the area to which transmissions are directed. The Commission wishes to state that any number of target areas may be utilized in reaching a determination of the best frequency (program thread) for broadcasting a particular program. The intent of the Rule is to eliminate the simultaneous multiple use of frequencies in the transmission of a single program. The reason for this position has been explained above.

7. Section 3.711 (d)—Minimum Field Strength in Target Areas—and related § 3.751—Minimum Transmitter Power Requirements. With reference to the proposed requirement for a Delivered Median Field Intensity at the distant, foreign target area of 150 uv/m–50 percent, the only objection received was from World Wide in a statement intended to show that 100 uv/m constituted an adequate signal level. In this connection, the Commission wishes to point out that the 150 uv/m level is the standard signal level contained in the Mexico City Agreement (1949) and represents the considered technical judgement of the majority of the participants of that Conference with reference to the signal level required to provide satisfactory reception within a target area. The Commission believes that the requirement, as proposed, is both realistic and desirable and therefore should be adopted. Concerning the proposed minimum transmitter power requirement of 100 kw, the Commission based its proposal on the fact that studies of the various transmission paths from the U. S. to other countries of the world, throughout the eleven year sunspot cycle and seasonal cycles, indicated that difficulties in providing a signal of adequate level can be expected, particularly in the case of East-West and West-East transmission paths. Therefore, the power gain of three decibels, which would result from increasing the minimum power from 50 kw to 100 kw, was considered a desirable addition to the gain which can be provided by directional antennas. Although Crosley supported the proposed 100 kw minimum power requirement, it was the concensus of the comments received that an increase in minimum transmitter power was not required in view of the minimum field strength requirement and that additional gain could be realized more economically through improvements in directional antennas, when necessary. Therefore, because of the possibility that with 50 kw power the minimum field strength requirement can be met for those target areas which licensees actually wish to serve, the Commission believes that, at present, the minimum transmitter power requirement should remain 50 kw.

8. Section 3.752—Frequency control and tolerance (and related § 3.767). Comments were received from Crosley, Associated, GE, World Wide, CBS and the USIA regarding the proposed amendments to these sections of the Rules. All of the comments expressed the view that a frequency tolerance of plus or minus 20 cycles per second, as proposed for § 3.752, was not practical in the present state of the art and all except Associated recommended a value of plus or minus 0.003 percent. Associated stated that it would be possible to obtain a tolerance of plus or minus 0.001 percent without undue cost or unsolvable engineering problems.

After due deliberation and consideration at the International High Frequency Broadcasting Conference at Mexico City (1949) it was the consensus that, in principle, the frequency tolerance should be such that the simultaneous sharing of channels would not be restricted thereby. Therefore, in order to minimize heterodyne interference between stations operating simultaneously on the same channel, there was general agreement at that Conference that such stations would maintain a frequency tolerance of plus or minus 50 cycles per second until January 1, 1953, at which time the tolerance should become plus or minus 20 cycles per second. This would apply only to operations in the high frequency broadcast bands below 10 Mc where channels are shared on a world-wide basis. In the case of operations in the high frequency broadcast bands above 10 Mc, it was the general view that a frequency tolerance of plus or minus 100 cycles per second should apply in the interest of reducing heterodyne interference between adjacent 10 kc channels. The Notice of Proposed Rule Making was in error on this point to the extent that this distinction was not drawn.

The Commission believes that any High Frequency Broadcast assignment plan based on simultaneous co-channel sharing in some bands and simultaneous 10 kc adjacent channel operations in others would require the use of frequency tolerance values such as those adopted at the Mexico City Conference in order to prevent serious heterodyne interference. In view of the many requirements of the various countries of the world for frequency hours, and the limited amount of space allocated internationally for Broadcasting in the high frequency region of the spectrum, it appears certain that such sharing will be mandatory. Therefore, due consideration should be given at this time to the fact that tolerance values such as those adopted at Mexico City represent a sound, basic need which may materialize in the relatively near future.

Engineering considerations indicate that such tolerance values are technically feasible at this time. However, until the actual need arises, economic considerations make it desirable that less stringent requirements should be permitted until that time. Therefore, the Rules herein adopted permit this. The 0.005 percent frequency tolerance previously permitted will continue until July 1, 1956, after which the required tolerance becomes 0.003 percent on an interim basis. It appears that this time schedule will permit any necessary modifications in existing equipment, or design changes in new equipment, without incurring any undue hardship on licensees or manufacturers.

9. Section 3.756—Required transmitter performance. Comments were received from Crosley, Associated, GE, World Wide, CBS, and the USIA with regard to the matter of the attenuation of spurious emissions, including harmonics. Generally, the comments consisted of expressions of belief that the proposal is impractical of achievement or unduly expensive under the present state of the art. CBS suggested as a counter proposal that the formula for computing the maximum level of spurious emissions be $50+10\ \mathrm{Log}_{10}$ (power in kw) db. For a 50 kw transmitter such spurious emissions would have to be suppressed to a level of 67 db. (To comply with the Commission's proposal, a suppression to a level of 97 db would be required.) Associated stated in its comments that between 70 and 80 db attenuation of the third harmonics was obtainable only after overcoming serious problems and difficulties and that in the television broadcast service only 60 db suppression of spurious emissions is required. With regard to the suppression required in the television broadcast service, the Rules state that it is a temporary requirement which may be increased at a later date. The Commission is of the opinion that the higher figure of spurious emission suppression as expressed by the formula $80+10\ \mathrm{Log}_{10}$ (power in kw) db is a desirable level of suppression toward which progress should be made in the high frequency broadcast service. It is a level of suppression which has been achieved in the case of other radio services. The presence of spurious emissions from stations operating on frequencies allocated for high frequency broadcasting is of serious concern to the Commission because signals of low intensity may be propagated over very great distances. Also, the harmonic relationships of certain of the high frequency broadcasting bands to television channels is a matter of concern. In these cases the use of an alternate frequency will not alleviate such interference conditions due to the harmonic relationship of the entire high frequency broadcast band to the television channels involved.

The Commission agrees that the economic problems involved are substantial. It is recognized that most existing transmitters could not be modified, at reasonable cost, to meet the proposed requirement of 97 db suppression and, in the case of new equipment, the techniques of shielding and filtering normally employed in modern transmitter design become somewhat expensive because of the high power involved and the requirement for multifrequency operation. However, because of the problem of interference to other radio services, it is believed that, as a general principle, the degree of suppression for high powered stations should be greater than that required for low powered stations. It is expected that the approaching high in the eleven year sun spot cycle will greatly increase the seriousness of this interference problem because of spurious emissions in the lower VHF region of the radio spectrum.

However, based on the comments received, it is believed that additional study must be given to this matter prior to the establishment of specific levels of suppression. Therefore, action on this phase of the problem is not being taken at this time. However, a provision is being added to this section of the rules which would require that licensees take special measures to eliminate any interference problems caused by spurious emissions.

10. Commission Order 108. With reference to the Commission's proposal to rescind Commission Order No. 108 adopted December 22, 1942, such action would, by itself, reinstate the provisions of the following previous rules:

(a) Section 3.781(b), (b) (1) and (b) (2); (formerly § 4.43 (f) (1), (2) and (3)).

(b) Section 3.702 (d) and (c); (formerly § 4.44 (d) and (e)).

(c) Section 3.791; (formerly § 4.46).

With reference to this proposal, CBS commented to the effect that, in contract operations, the licensees did not normally receive reception reports for use in providing the information which would be required under § 3.791 (c) with reference to reception and interference reports and propagation conditions for assigned frequencies. World Wide commented to the effect that the requirement to make verbatim mechanical records and translations of all programs, to be kept for a period of two year, § 3.781 (b), (b) (1) and (b) (2) would place an undue economic burden on the licensees and would be of questionable value.

The Commission believes that, in the current circumstances, no further need exists for § 3.781 (b), (b) (1) and (b) (2). However, the Commission wishes to emphasize that in eliminating this requirement in the rules, it is not in any way attempting to pass judgment as to the extent to which licensees should, in the process of exercising reasonable discretion and good judgment, make and keep recordings, written scripts or other records of program material which their experience indicates are likely to be the subject of later inquiry. With reference to the provisions of § 3.791 (c) requiring certain supplemental information with renewal applications concerning reception conditions, the Commission agrees that adequate reception reports may not be available to the broadcaster in the case of contract operations and believes that the requirement of § 3.791 (c) should apply only to private operations. Certain provisions of Order 108 with reference to the assignment and use of frequencies, formerly § 3.702 (d) and (e), are no longer applicable, as indicated in the new § 3.702.

Therefore, through various changes in the Rules, it appears that Order 108 can now be rescinded without having the effect of reinstating the various provisions of Rules which are no longer considered necessary or desirable.

11. Allocation of Frequency and Program Hours. Several comments indicated the desirability of the Commission's adoption of a policy regarding the making of high frequency broadcasting assignments. Others appeared to question the overall intent of the Commission's proposal or requested some statement as to the overall intent of the Commission in this regard. In view of this apparent desire, the Commission wishes to point out various factors involved in arriving at its proposal and which served as a foundation for these Rules.

The Mexico City Conference resulted in substantial agreement with respect to certain principles. Most important to be considered by the United States is the fact that, in order for any plan to be successful, it must obtain the recognition and support of a majority of countries of the world. Failure to arrive at an agreed plan would seriously hinder the overall communications interests of the United States, since international broadcasting by the world without appropriate international agreement could seriously disrupt our vital communications services. Much of the recent effort of the United States with respect to radio regulation and the making of radio frequency assignments has been based upon consideration of the Atlantic City, 1947, Radio Regulations and has involved the expenditure of great sums of money and extensive efforts over a period of several years of many frequency experts in the United States. In the face of these facts, the Commission's proposal is based upon the Mexico City High Frequency Broadcasting Plan which is the only Plan which has received the support of a majority of the members of the International Telecommunication Union. The Commission believes that the public interest will be served by adopting Rules for High Frequency Broadcasting which are consistent with the technical principles developed at the Mexico City Conference. Accordingly, and to this end, the following principles were used as the basis for the Rules which have been adopted:

a. Frequency assignments should be so chosen that a given frequency may provide the longest period of reliable transmission to cover the greatest area with the strongest practicable signal.

b. A single program to a single area should require no more than one frequency assignment during a given period of time.

c. Technical characteristics of emissions should be as high in quality as the state of the art permits.

12. In addition to the substantive amendments to these Rules, certain changes of a purely editorial nature have been made. For example, in the case of formerly numbered footnotes, the texts have been incorporated into the various sections of the rules to which they apply for easier reference, either as notes or parenthetical statements.

13. Accordingly: It is ordered, That effective December 21, 1955, the amendments to Part 3—Subpart F "Rules Governing International Broadcast Stations" set forth below are hereby adopted and Commission Order No. 108, adopted December 22, 1942 (7 F. R. 11119) is hereby rescinded with the same effective date.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303)

[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

Part 3, Subpart F "Rules Governing International Broadcast Stations" is amended as follows:

1. Section 3.701 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.701 Definitions. The following definitions apply to terminology employed in this Subpart:

(a) International broadcast station. A broadcasting station employing frequencies allocated to the broadcasting service between 5950 and 26100 kc, whose transmissions are intended to be received directly by the general public in foreign countries.

(b) Frequency-hour. One frequency used for one hour.

(c) Day. Any twenty-four hour period beginning 0000 e. s. t. and ending 2400 e. s. t.

(d) Sunspot number. The predicted 12 month running average of the number of sunspots for any month as indicated in the National Bureau of Standards CRPL Series D publications.

(e) Vernal equinox season. That period of any calendar year starting at 0000 e. s. t. on 1 February and ending at 2400 e. s. t. on 30 April.

(f) Summer season. That period of any calendar year starting at 0000 e. s. t. on 1 May and ending at 2400 e. s. t. on 31 July.

(g) Autumnal equinox season. That period of any calendar year starting at 0000 e. s. t. on 1 August and ending at 2400 e. s. t. on 31 October.

(h) Winter season. That period of any calendar year starting at 0000 e. s. t. on 1 November and ending at 2400 e. s. t. on 31 January.

(i) Maximum usable frequency (MUF). The highest frequency which is returned to the surface of the earth for a particular path and time of day on 50 percent of the days of the reference month.

(j) Optimum working frequency (OWF). The frequency which is returned to the surface of the earth for a particular path and time of day on 90 percent of the days of the reference month.

(k) Reference month. The middle month of any season listed in § 3.704 ("Frequency Hours Available for U. S. International Broadcasting").

(l) Delivered median field intensity or field intensity. The field intensity incident upon the target area expressed in microvolts per meter, or decibels above one microvolt per meter, which is exceeded by the hourly median value on 50 percent of the days of the reference month.

(m) Target area. Geographic area in which the reception of particular programs is specifically intended and in which adequate broadcast coverage is contemplated.

(n) Contract operation. Any non-Government operation of an international broadcast station pursuant to a contract with an agency of the United States Government and subject to governmental control as to program content, target areas to be covered, and time of broadcast.

(o) Private operation. Any non-Government operation of an International Broadcast station which is not "contract operation."

2. Section 3.702 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.702 Assignment and use of frequencies. (a) Frequencies will be assigned by the Commission from time to time and in accordance with the provisions of this section, to authorized international broadcast stations for use at specified hours and for transmission to specified target areas. Licensees may request the assignment of specific frequencies for transmission during given hours of operation to specified target areas by filing informal requests in triplicate with the Commission no less than 15 days prior to the start of a new season. Such requests will be honored to the extent that interference and propagation conditions permit and that they are otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this section. Requests for changes in frequency or hour assignments at other times during the year or which are received less than 15 days before the start of a new season will be processed as rapidly as practical. All specific frequency authorizations will be made only on the express understanding that they are subject to immediate cancellation or change without hearing whenever the Commission determines that interference or propagation conditions so require and that each assignment of frequency hours for a given season is unique unto itself and not subject to renewal, with the result that completely new assignments must be secured for the forthcoming season. Where a station is simultaneously engaged in both private and contract broadcasting, as defined in § 3.701, it must receive separate frequency hour authorizations for each of these operations.

(b) Any foreign standard target areas shown in Figure 1 of § 3.792 may be specified by the licensee, in which case field intensity calculations should be based on the transmission path between the corresponding reference points listed in § 3.703. In the event a broadcast is to be directed to more than one target area in the same region, the primary target area should be specified and the reasons for selecting that particular target area given, with special reference to the nature and special suitability, if any, of the programming proposed. Field intensity calculations should be based on the transmission path to the standard reference point in § 3.703 for the primary target area. In the event a licensee wishes to specify target areas other than those shown in Figure 1 of § 3.792, adequate justification must be given to show that the use of standard target areas is inappropriate, with special reference given to any specialized programming proposed which appears suitable only for the non-standard target areas designated. When non-standard target areas are proposed, special reference points must be specified (by geographical coordinates) and reasonably chosen so as to insure complete and adequate coverage of the target areas.

(c) Frequencies assigned by the Commission will be within the following bands:

Band A: 5950 to 6200 kc.
Band B: 9500 to 9775 kc.
Band C: 11700 to 11975 kc.
Band D: 15100 to 15450 kc.
Band E: 17700 to 17900 kc.
Band F: 21450 to 21750 kc.
Band G: 25600 to 26100 kc.

(d) No frequency will be assigned which would provide a Delivered Median Field Intensity, either measured or calculated, of less than 150 uv/m—50 percent or 43.5 decibels above one uv/m at the distant foreign target area. (This value of Delivered Median Field Intensity is expected to provide protection against atmospheric and industrial noise for at least 90 percent of each hour during 90 percent of the days of the month.) With each request for frequency assignment, licensees must submit computations which adequately show that this requirement would be met.

NOTE: Standard OWF propagation curves and Delivered Median Field Intensity curves for the various hours and seasons throughout the eleven year sunspot cycle have been computed for transmission paths between standard reference points listed in § 3.703 for the standard target areas shown in Figure 1 of § 3.792. These curves, which were developed and used at the Mexico City High Frequency Broadcasting Conference (1948-49), are available at the Commission's Washington offices and may be used in calculating the propagation data which licensees are required to provide under these Rules. The methods used in computing these data are described in Chapter 7, paragraph 7.7 of the National Bureau of Standards Circular 462. In lieu of that data, and in all cases where non-standard target areas are specified as provided in § 3.702 (b), licensees must develop their own propagation curves for use in computing values of OWF and Delivered Median Field Intensity for the particular transmission paths involved. In doing so, use may be made of the published propagation data of the National Bureau of Standards known as CRPL Series D, "Basic Radio Propagation Predictions", published monthly in conjunction with National Bureau of Standards Circular 465, "Instructions for the use of Basic Radio Propagation Predictions." These publications are available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. A typical example of a computation for a transmission path between standard target areas is from New York (Area 8) to Buenos Aires (Area 15). The Delivered Median Field Intensity for the equinox season, sunspot 5, and for the 6 Mc band for the hours 0200 to 0400 GMT is indicated by the appropriate propagation curve as 24 decibels above one microvolt per meter for 1 kw radiated power. The transmitter power output of 20 decibels (100 kw) is added. The transmitting antenna gain of 12 decibels is added. The resultant total (56 decibels) exceeds the level of 43.5 decibels required to deliver a median field intensity of 150 uv/m at the distant target area.

(e) Frequencies assigned will be as near as possible to the Optimum Working Frequency. In no case will they exceed the Maximum Usable Frequency for more than a total of 15 minutes during any period of transmission. With each request for frequency assignment, licensees must submit computations which adequately show that this requirement would be met. (See note in paragraph (d) of this section regarding methods for computation.)

(f) Not more than one frequency will be authorized for use at any one time for any one program transmission except in instances where a program is intended for reception in more than one target area and the intended target areas cannot be served by a single frequency.

(g) No authorization for use of a particular frequency will be issued which fails to provide a minimum co-channel Delivered Median Field Intensity protection ratio of 40 db to the transmissions of other broadcasting stations at the reference point in the target area being served by such stations which, in the opinion of the Commission, have priority of assignment.

(h) Authorization for use of a particular frequency will not be issued which does not provide a minimum adjacent channel Delivered Median Field Intensity protection ratio of 11 db to the transmissions of other international broadcasting stations at the reference points in the target areas being served by such stations which, in the opinion of the Commission, have priority of assignment.

(i) Any frequency authorized to an international broadcast station shall also be available for assignment to other international broadcast stations.

(j) Not more than one frequency shall be used simultaneously under the same authorization and call letter and equipment installation number designation.

(k) Subject to all other pertinent provisions of this subpart, the total maximum number of frequency-hours which will be authorized to all licensees of private international broadcast stations for private operation combined in any frequency band for any pertinent season during any one day will be those in § 3.704 less the number of frequency-hours in these bands scheduled for use by both (1) government international broadcasting stations, and (2) international broadcast stations licensed by the Commission to use frequencies in these bands for contract operations.

NOTE: Paragraphs (c) through (k) do not apply to stations when engaged in contract operations as defined in § 3.701.

(l) In the event the total number of frequency hours in any band scheduled for both (1) government international broadcasting stations, and (2) international broadcast stations licensed by the Commission to use frequencies in these bands for contract operations equals or exceeds 75 percent of the frequency hour figures given in § 3.704, the maximum number of frequency-hours which will be authorized to all licensees of international broadcast stations for private operation in any frequency band for any pertinent season during any one day will be 25 percent of the frequency hours shown in § 3.704.

(m) If the requests for international broadcasting frequency-hours for private operation in any band or bands exceed those available under the terms of these Rules, in the absence of any voluntary agreement for reduction of frequency-hours requested, the Commission will designate all requests for frequency-hours in the band or bands in question for hearing. Pending such hearing the Commission will temporarily assign the available frequency-hours equally among the several applicants: Provided, however, That with respect to such temporary allocation:

(1) An existing licensee shall not, to the extent such frequency hours are available, receive less than the number of frequency-hours utilized during the preceding season or requested for the forthcoming season, whichever is lesser.

(2) Where the number of frequency-hours available for private international broadcasting during a forthcoming season are insufficient to permit existing licensees to secure a temporary allocation equal to that previously utilized or requested, whichever is lesser, the allocation shall be pro-rated among such persons in a manner which will give them a share of the available frequency-hours proportionate to that utilized in the preceding season.

(3) In any event, where an applicant's share of the available frequency hours would be more than requested, the surplus shall be divided among the remaining applicants in the manner herein prescribed.

3. Add § 3.703 to read as follows:

5. Section 3.711 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.711 Application for international broadcast stations. (a) If the application is for a construction permit or for modification of an existing authorization, FCC Form 309 shall be filed; if for a license, FCC Form 310 shall be filed; if for a renewal of license, FCC Form 311 shall be filed.

NOTE: Until these forms are revised, information required by these Rules and not required by the forms shall be submitted as a supplement to the application and will be considered a part thereof.

(b) Authorizations issued to international broadcast stations by the Commission will not specify the frequencies or hours of use, but will be authorizations to permit the construction or use of a particular transmitting equipment combination and related antenna systems for international broadcasting.

NOTE: Requests for the use of frequencies and frequency hours for transmissions to specific target areas should be submitted separately as provided in § 3.702.

(c) In the case of applications for authorizations to permit contract operations, as defined in § 3.701 (n), the contracting agency and contract number should be indicated for each operation.

6. Section 3.713 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.713 Installation of apparatus. Applications for construction permit or modification thereof, involving the installation of new transmitting apparatus, shall be filed at least 60 days prior to the contemplated installation.

7. Add paragraph (c) to § 3.715 as follows:

(c) If a construction permit has been allowed to expire for any reason, application may be made for a new permit on FCC Form 321, "Application for Construction Permit to Replace Expired Permit."

8. Section 3.716 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.716 Equipment tests. (a) During the process of construction of an international broadcast station, the permittee after notifying the Commission and Engineer in Charge of the radio district in which the station is located may, without further authority of the Commission, conduct equipment tests for the purpose of such adjustments and measurements as may be necessary to assure compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefore, and the rules and regulations. No programing shall be conducted during equipment tests.

(b) The Commission may notify the permittee to conduct no tests or may cancel, suspend, or change the date for the beginning of equipment tests as and when such action may appear to be in the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

(c) Equipment tests may be continued so long as the construction permit shall remain valid.

(d) Inspection of a station will ordinarily be required during the equipment test period and before the commencement of program tests. After construction and after adjustments and measurements have been completed to show compliance with the terms of the construction permit, the technical provisions of the application therefore, and the rules and regulations, the permittee should notify the Engineer in Charge of the radio district in which the station is located that it is ready for inspection.

(e) The authorization for tests embodied in this section shall not be construed as constituting a license to operate but as a necessary part of construction.

9. Delete the text of § 3.717 and substitute the expression "Reserved."

10. Change the expression "60" in the fifth line of § 3.720 (a) to read "90".

11. Section 3.731 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.731 Licensing requirements; necessary showing. A license for an international broadcast station will be issued only after a satisfactory showing has been made in regard to the following, among others:

(a) That there is a need for the international broadcast service proposed to be rendered.

(b) That the necesary program sources are available to the applicant to render an effective international service.

(c) That directive antennas and other technical facilities will be employed to deliver maximum signals to the target area or areas for which the service is designed.

(d) That the production of the program service and the technical operation of the proposed station will be conducted by qualified persons.

(e) That the applicant is technically and financially qualified and possesses adequate technical facilities to carry forward the service proposed.

(f) That the public interest, convenience and necessity will be served through the operation of the proposed station.

12. Section 3.752 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.752 Frequency control. The transmitter of each international broadcast station shall be equipped with automatic frequency control apparatus so designated and constructed that it is capable of maintaining the operating frequency within the following limits:

(a) Until July 1, 1956, the frequency tolerance will be plus or minus 0.005 percent.

(b) After July 1, 1956, the frequency tolerance will be plus or minus 0.003 percent.

13. Section 3.756 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.756 Required transmitter performance. (a) The construction, installation, operation, and performance of the international broadcast transmitter system shall be in accordance with good engineering practice.

NOTE: The establishment of specific levels of attenuation for spurious emissions will be the subject of further Rule Making in Docket 10962 pending the completion of additional studies of this matter.

(b) In addition to the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, in the event of spurious emissions cause harmful interference, such additional steps as may be necessary to eliminate the interference must be taken immediately by the licensee.

14. Paragraph (c) (2) of § 3.757 is amended to read as follows:

(2) The transmission of regular programs during maintenance or modification work on the main transmitter, necessitating discontinuance of its operation for a period not to exceed 5 days. (This includes the equipment changes which may be made without authority as set forth elsewhere in the Rules and Regulations or as authorized by the Commission by letter or by construction permit. Where such operation is required for periods in excess of 5 days, request therefor shall be in accordance with § 1.324 of this chapter.)

15. Amend § 3.767 to read as follows:

§ 3.767 Frequency tolerance. The operating frequencies of international broadcast station transmitters shall, at all times, be maintained within the frequency tolerances specified in § 3.752.

16. Section 3.781 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.781 Logs. The licensee or permittee of each international broadcast station shall maintain program and operating logs in the following manner:

(a) In the program log:

(1) An entry of the time each station identification announcement (call letters and location) is made.

(2) An entry briefly describing each program broadcast, such as "music", "drama", "speech", etc., together with the name or title thereof, language, and the sponsor's name, with the time of the beginning and ending of the complete program.

(3) An entry showing, for each program of network origin, the name of the network originating the program.

(b) In the operating log:

(1) An entry of the time the station begins to supply power to the antenna, and the time it stops.

(2) An entry of the time the program begins and ends.

(3) An entry of each interruption to the carrier wave, its cause, and duration.

(4) An entry of the following each 30 minutes:

(i) Operating constants of last radio stage of the transmitter (total plate current and plate voltage).

(ii) Frequency monitor reading.

(5) A log must be kept of all experimental operation. If the entries required above are not applicable thereto, then the entries shall be made so as to fully describe the operation.

(c) Where an antenna structure(s) is required to be illuminated see § 17.38, "Recording of tower light inspections in the station record," of Part 17 of this chapter (Construction, Marking and Lighting of Antenna Structures).

17. Change the designator of § 3.872 to read § 3.782.

18. Amend paragraphs (b) (5), (c) and (d) of § 3.788 to read as follows:

(5) In case of any other type of advertising, such advertising is directed to the foreign country or countries to which the program is directed and is consistent with the purpose and intent of this section.

(c) The geographic areas to be served by international broadcast stations are the foreign standard target areas shown in Figure 1 of § 3.792, or foreign nonstandard target areas as provided in § 3.702 (d), and directive antennas shall be employed to direct the transmission to these specific target areas.

(d) An international broadcast station may transmit the program of a standard broadcast station or network system: Provided, The conditions in paragraph (b) of this section in regard to any commercial continuities are observed and when station identifications are made, only the call letter designation of the international stations is given on its assigned frequency: And provided further, That in the case of chain broadcasting the program is not carried simultaneously by another international station (except another station owned by the same licensee operated on a frequency in a different group to obtain continuity of signal service), the signals from which are directed to the same area. (See section 3 (p) of the Communications Act of 1934 for the definition of "chain broadcasting.")

19. Delete footnote 5 and designator from § 3.788 (a).

20. Paragraph (a) of § 3.790 is amended to read as follows:

(a) The licensee of an international broadcast station may, without further authority of the Commission, rebroadcast the program of a United States standard, FM non-commercial educational, or FM broadcast station, provided the Commission is notified of the call letters of each station rebroadcast and the licensee certifies that express authority has been received from the licensee of the station originating the program. The notice and certification of consent must be given within 3 days of any single rebroadcast, but in case of the regular practice of rebroadcasting certain programs of another broadcast station several times during a license period, notice and certification of consent must be given for the ensuing license period with the application for renewal of license, or at the beginning of such rebroadcast practice if begun during a license period. Note: The broadcasting of a program relayed by a remote pickup broadcast station is not considered a rebroadcast.

21. Section 3.791 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.791 Supplemental report with renewal application. A supplemental report shall be filed with and made a part of each application for renewal of license and shall include statements of the following:

(a) The number of hours operated on each frequency, listing contract operations and private operations separately.

(b) Outline of reports of reception and interference and conclusions with regard to propagation characteristics of assigned frequencies. (If such information is not available to the applicant in the case of contract operations, a statement to this effect will be considered adequate.)

22. Add § 3.792 Engineering Chart, Figure 1 to Subpart F.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

Department of the Navy

[No. 18]

NAVIGATIONAL LIGHT WAIVERS FOR CERTAIN NAVAL VESSELS

All ships are warned that, if U. S. naval vessels are met on the high sea or on navigable waters of the United States during periods when navigational lights may be displayed, they may expect that certain navigational lights of some naval vessels may vary from the requirements of the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea, 1948, 33 U. S. Code Sections 144 to 147d, and Rules applicable to the navigable waters of the United States, as to number, position, range of visibility or arc of visibility. These differences are necessitated by reasons of military function or special construction of the naval ships. An example is the aircraft carrier where the two white lights are in most instances on the island superstructure considerably displaced from the center or keel line of the vessel when viewed from ahead. Certain other naval vessels cannot comply with the horizontal separation requirements of the white lights, and the two white lights on even larger naval vessels, such as some battleships, will thus appear to be crowded together when viewed from a distance. Other naval vessels may also have unorthodox navigational light arrangements or characteristics when seen either underway or at anchor.

Naval vessels may also be expected to display certain other lights. These lights include, but are not limited to, different colored recognition light signals, landing lights on carriers, pulsating red lights to indicate speed to other naval ships, and green lights to indicate minesweeping operations. These lights may sometimes be shown in combination with navigational lights.

During peacetime naval maneuvers, naval ships, alone or in company, may also dispense with showing any lights, though efforts will be made to display lights on the approach of shipping.

33 U. S. Code, Sections 143a and 360, provides that the requirements of the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea, 1948, the Inland Rules, the Great Lakes Rules and the Western River Rules as to the number, position, range of visibility, or arc of visibility of lights required to be displayed by vessels shall not apply to any vessel of the Navy where the Secretary of the Navy shall find or certify that, by reason of special construction or purpose, it is not possible for such vessel or class of vessels to comply with the statutory provisions as to lights.

Waiver Certificate No. 15 published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Volume 18, No. 250 on December 24, 1953, as amended by Waiver Certificates Nos. 16 and 17, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Volume 19, No. 154 on August 10, 1954, and Volume 20, No. 156, on August 11, 1955, respectively, lists certain naval vessels unable to comply with certain requirements as to navigational lights. The instant waiver certificate further amends Waiver Certificate No. 15 by correcting certain data promulgated therein and by finding and certifying that additional naval vessels, designated by type and class, are unable to comply with these navigational light requirements by reason of special construction, and in the manner indicated by appropriate modification of the Tables of Waiver Certificate No. 15, as amended by Waiver Certificates Nos. 16 and 17, as follows:

Change as follows, under the column entitled "Vessel type and Class":

(1) After "DL–1" in the column entitled "Approximate horizontal separation in feet between the two, 20-point white lights" change "20" to "27".

(2) Add "DD–931" followed in succeeding columns by "62", "84", "22" and "22".

TABLE 3

Change as follows, under the column entitled "Vessel type and Class":

(1) Add "LCU–1608" followed in succeeding columns by "34" and "2.*".

The above navigational lights, as well as those listed in Waiver Certificate No. 15, are positioned approximately in accordance with the stated dimensions which may vary by at least several feet in certain instances.

The above modifications hereby become a part of Waiver Certificates Nos. 15, 16 and 17 and shall have force and effect as if originally incorporated therein.

Dated at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of October, A. D., 1955.

C. S. THOMAS, Secretary of the Navy.

Sec. 24, S½SW¼, SW¼SE¼.

The lands comprise small tracts and contain a total of 960 acres.

2. Classification of the above-described lands by this order segregates them from all appropriations, including location under the mining laws, except as to application under the mineral leasing laws.

3. The area constitutes, in part, the lower hill slopes surrounding Isabella Reservoir in the North and South Forks of the Kern River, approximately 50 miles by road northeast of Bakersfield, California.

The Kernville-South Fork Valley is of a semi-arid nature, lying on the western edge of the Mojave Desert. It has warm, dry summers and mild winters. The annual precipitation is about 10 inches.

The vegetation ranges from blue oak-digger pine woodland through annual grassland to juniper-sagebrush desert shrub.

The soil is in general a grayish brown sandy loam.

The water supply is limited.

4. The lands will be leased and sold in square tracts of 2½ acres each, approximately 330 x 330 feet in size, and described as aliquot parts of the section. The tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way, and to rights-of-way 33 feet in width along the boundary of each tract for access roads and public utilities. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal Government or the State, County, or municipality in which the tract is located, or by any agency thereof. The rights-of-way may, in the discretion of the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management, be definitely located prior to issuance of patent. If not so located, they may be subject to location after patent is issued.

5. Leases will be issued to qualified applicants for a term of three (3) years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. The appraised value of the 2½-acre tracts is $150. The minimum rental is $10 per tract per annum, or a total of $30. Therefore, before leases can be issued, an additional payment for advance rental in the amount of $15 is due and payable to the Manager, Land Office, Los Angeles, from individuals having statutory preference. Leases will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee.

6. To maintain their rights under their leases, lessees will be required either (a) to construct substantial improvements on their lands or (b) file a copy of an agreement with their neighbors binding them to construct substantial improvements on their lands. Such improvements must conform with health, sanitation, and construction requirements of local ordinances and must, in addition, meet the following standards:

The dwelling house must be suitable for year-round use, on a permanent foundation and with a minimum of 400 square feet of floor space. It must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. Adequate disposal and sanitary facilities must be installed. Conventional concrete, concrete slab, or masonry foundations are acceptable. Concrete piers are not acceptable as foundations.

7. Applicants must file in duplicate with the Manager, Land Office, Room 1516 Post Office Building, Los Angeles, California, application form 4–776, filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and accompanied by any showings or documents required by those instructions. Copies of the application form can be seeured from the above-named official.

The application must be accompanied by a filing fee of $10 plus the advance rental specified above. Failure to transmit these payments with the application will render the application invalid. Advance rentals will be returned to unsuccessful applicants. All filing fees will be retained by the United States.

8. The lands are now open to filing of drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) only by persons entitled to veterans' preference. In brief, persons entitled to such preference are (a) honorably discharged veterans who served in the armed forces of the United States for a period of at least 90 days after September 15, 1940, (b) surviving spouse or minor orphan children of such veterans, and (c) with the consent of the veteran, the spouse of living veterans. The 90-day requirement does not apply to veterans who were discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty or the surviving spouse or minor children of veterans killed in the line of duty. Drawing-entry cards (Form 4–775) are available upon request from the Manager, Land Office, 1516 Post Office Building, Los Angeles 12, California.

Drawing-entry cards will be accepted if filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and with the above-named official prior to 10:00 a. m., February 28, 1956. A drawing will be held on that date or shortly thereafter. Any person who submits more than one card will be declared ineligible to participate in the drawing. Tracts will be assigned to entrants in the order that their names are drawn. All entrants will be notified of the results of the drawing. Successful entrants will be sent copies of the lease forms (4–776), with instructions as to their execution and return and as to payment of fees and rentals.

9. All valid applications filed prior to 9:30 a. m., September 22, 1955, will be granted the preference right provided for by 43 CFR 257.5 (a) if the preference right applicants conform to the provisions of this order as to area, reducing the size of the tracts to 2½ acres.

Bureau of Foreign Commerce

[Case No. 199A]

STEMMLER-IMEX, N. V., ET AL.

ORDER REVOKING EXPORT LICENSES AND DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of Stemmler-Imex, N. V., Carl Herman Ferdinand Stemmler, Manager and Director, Leidseplein-Hirschgebouw, Post Box 649, Amsterdam, Netherlands; N. V. Chemische Industrie "Den Haag" Jhr. C. A. de Pesters, Adjunct Managing Director, Le van der Kunstraat 55–57, The Hague, Netherlands, Respondents; case No. 199A.

The Director, Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, having charged the respondents, Carl Herman Ferdinand Stemmler, Stemmler-Imex, N. V., both of Amsterdam, the Netherlands, and Jhr. C. A. de Pesters and N. V. Chemische Industrie, "Den Haag", both of The Hague, the Netherlands, with having violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and regulations promulgated thereunder, in connection with the transshipment to unauthorized destinations of certain commodities exported from the United States under General License, and the respondents having denied said charges, the Stemmler respondents demanding an oral hearing, a hearing was duly held in Washington, D. C., on June 20, 1955 and days following, before the Compliance Commissioner of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, the Stemmler respondents being there present by their authorized representatives, and represented by counsel. Chemische was similarly represented.

The Compliance Commissioner, having heard and considered all the evidence submitted in support of the charges and all the evidence and arguments submitted by all the respondents in opposition thereto, and having considered also briefs submitted by all counsel and having allowed exceptions filed by the Stemmler respondents to the transcript of testimony, has transmitted to the undersigned Director, Office of Export Supply, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, his written report, including findings of fact and findings that violations have occurred, and his recommendation that the respondents be denied export privileges as hereinafter provided, together with which report there have been transmitted also the transcript of testimony, all exhibits submitted at the hearing, the charging letters, answers, correspondence, exceptions and briefs.

Now, after reviewing and considering the entire record of this case, the Compliance Commissioner's Report and Recommendation, and the briefs, I hereby make the following

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned (a) Stemmler-Imex, N. V. was and now is a firm engaged in the import-export business, in Amsterdam, Holland, and Carl Herman Ferdinand Stemmler was and now is its Manager and Director; (b) N. V. Chemische Industrie "Den Haag" was and now is a firm engaged in the chemical industry in The Hague, Holland, and Jhr. C. A. de Pesters was its Adjunct Director and is now its Director.

2. That with respect to the findings hereinafter made as to red phosphorus and borax (this term including also boric acid), Carl Herman Ferdinand Stemmler is included in the reference "Stemmler" (such reference meaning both the firm and the individual), the evidence being that Stemmler knew, or should have known by reason of his position and activity in his firm, all that transpired with respect to the commodities mentioned.

3. That with respect to the findings hereinafter made as to borax, de Pesters is included in the reference, "Chemische", de Pesters having been the employee of Stemmler who originated the correspondence leading up to the borax transaction, who was put on notice as to the prohibition against its shipment to Red China and who thereafter, while Adjunct Director of Chemische, allowed and permitted Chemische to become the record or nominal purchaser thereof, which in turn made it available to Stemmler for shipment to Red China.

4. That on or about the 8th day of November, 1951, Stemmler cabled an American supplier that it required ten tons of red phosphorus to be transshipped via Rotterdam to Turkey for the match industry there.

5. That on or about the same day, the American supplier cabled Stemmler an offer of ten tons of red phosphorus at 52 cents a pound, C. I. F. Benelux, and stated that no export license was required.

6. That on or about the 9th day of November, 1951, Stemmler sent the American supplier detailed specifications for the phosphorus, which specifications described it as being, "Red Phosphorous for the Match Industry."

7. That, although Stemmler had so communicated with the American supplier following receipt by it of a request from Turkey for the quantity and quality of red phosphorus described, after receiving the reply from the American supplier that no export license was required for the Turkish transaction it entered into negotiations and contracted with a firm in East Germany for the sale to it of two tons of red phosphorus.

8. It then, referring to the cable previously received from the American supplier, offered to purchase from him two tons of red phosphorus, at 48½ cents a pound, f. a. s. New York, (as distinguished from 52 cents C. I. F. Benelux), this purchase being intended for the purpose of completing the contract with the firm in East Germany. This offer was accepted by the American supplier.

9. On or about the 12th day of December, 1951, Stemmler instructed the American supplier to ship the red phosphorus to Rotterdam, Holland.

10. The American supplier made the shipment to Rotterdam on or about the 24th day of January, 1952.

11. Stemmler, thereafter, on or about the 21st day of April, 1952, transshipped the red phosphorus to Rostock, East Germany.

12. At no time prior to such transshipment did Stemmler inform the American supplier that it had ordered the two tons of red phosphorus for a buyer in East Germany and not for the buyer in Turkey.

13. Prior to the time that Stemmler sent the American supplier its first inquiry for red phosphorus to be used in the match industry in Turkey, Stemmler had been informed by the Director of the Investigation Staff, Office of International Trade, now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, (a) that the United States Export Control Law and the regulations "make it unlawful for any person or firm knowingly to make or cause to be made any false representation, statement or certification, or to falsify or conceal any material fact, for the purpose of effecting or causing to be effected an exportation, of any commodity or commodities from the United States"; (b) that this provision was applicable to persons not situated in the United States; (c) that this provision was applicable whether or not the person involved is the purchaser or ultimate consignee of the merchandise; (d) that a failure to disclose to a supplier the true ultimate destination and actual end use contemplated for the merchandise is a violation; (e) that any change in destination, consignee or end use must be communicated promptly to the American supplier or to the Office of International Trade.

14. Stemmler and de Pesters on its behalf, in a letter dated June 4, 1952, wrote an American supplier, quoting from a letter received by it from a firm in Hong Kong to the effect that local factories in Hong Kong required a constant tonnage of granular borax, that the United States Government would not grant any export licenses and that "good trade prospects" were promised if there was a "solution". In their letter to the American supplier they asked him whether he saw possibilities "for delivery via Europe although shipment via Europe will make the freight costs extremely high."

15. The American supplier, in a letter dated June 9, 1952, wrote Stemmler, and de Pesters as well, he having seen the letter, that all material for export from the United States to Hong Kong required an export license and that the prime reason for this was to prevent material from reaching Red China. He suggested the possibility that export licenses for material to be shipped to Hong Kong might be granted if precise information regarding the intended use and the name and address of the consuming factory were furnished.

16. After being informed that all materials to be exported from the United States to Hong Kong required an export license and that the purpose was to prevent material from reaching Red China, Stemmler, and de Pesters on its behalf, wrote the American supplier on June 25, 1952, that it had a reasonable possibility of selling about 2000 tons of granular borax, 99.5 percent pure, and requested an offer "for delivery C. I. F. Rotterdam."

17. Stemmler followed this letter with a cabled inquiry, on June 26, 1952, for quotations f. a. s. Los Angeles on 50 ton lots of boric acid and thousand ton lots of borax, both 99½ percent pure, and stated that it presumed no export license was required, to which the American supplier, on the same day, replied by confirming that no export license was required and quoting borax at $48.30 in thousand ton lots and boric acid at $106.70 in fifty ton lots, both f. a. s. Los Angeles. These cables were confirmed in a letter dated July 3, 1952.

18. Twenty days thereafter, on July 23, 1952, Stemmler wrote the American supplier that negotiations for borax and boric acid, with a continental customer, were becoming more positive. It indicated the probability of closing a contract for two thousand tons of borax at the reduced price of $46.50 per short ton and also the probable purchase of 30 tons of boric acid at the same time.

19. About one month thereafter, on August 21, 1952, following a reminder from the American supplier, Stemmler wrote him to the effect that a decision was possible in the following week and in the letter stated that the purchase was for reexport, that the contract had been signed a few days before, and that a license from the Bank of England was necessary before a definite order could be given. The necessity for license from the Bank of England was repeatedly stressed in this letter.

20. On September 9, 1952, Stemmler ordered 2000 metric tons of 99.5 percent granular borax and 30 metric tons of 99.5 percent boric acid and, in the cable containing the order, as well as the letter confirming, named Chemische of The Hague, Holland, as the buyer.

21. That at the time when said order was given, Stemmler had a contract with a firm in Red China for the sale of said borax and boric acid to it and gave said order to the American supplier for the purpose of completing its contract with the firm in Red China but did not inform the American supplier to that effect.

22. The American supplier, after being furnished with a letter of credit opened on behalf of Chemische, shipped 2000 metric tons of borax and 30 metric tons of boric acid, from the United States to Rotterdam, Holland, and supported said shipment under General License, GRO, with export declarations in which he named Chemische as the intermediate and ultimate consignee, and The Hague, Holland, as the place and country of ultimate destination.

23. The said borax and boric acid arrived at Rotterdam, Holland, in the early part of November 1952.

24. After the arrival thereof in Rotterdam, and while the said borax and boric acid were lying in the Port of Rotterdam, the American Consul and the American supplier both notified Stemmler and Chemische that United States law and regulations made illegal the contemplated transshipment of said borax and boric acid to Red China.

25. After receiving such notifications and, in defiance thereof, Stemmler did nevertheless transship the said borax and boric acid to Taku Bar, China.

26. That, in connection with the purchase of the borax and boric acid by Chemische from the American supplier, Chemische, by de Pesters, had knowledge that the same could not be exported from the United States to Red China without an export license, but nevertheless allowed its name to be used as the buyer of the borax and boric acid, knowing full well that it was not in fact the buyer and thereby provided the means whereby Stemmler was enabled to transship the said materials to Taku Bar, China.

27. That Chemische, having knowledge that the borax and boric acid were not in fact being purchased by it for consumption in Holland, failed to disclose such information to the American supplier from whom it had purchased the same and allowed and permitted Stemmler to represent falsely to the American supplier that it was such purchaser.

And, from the foregoing, the following are my

CONCLUSIONS

A. That Stemmler and Chemische concealed material facts for the purpose of effecting or causing to be effected the exportation of commodities from the United States, in violation of Section 381.1 (b) (1) (ii) of the export control regulations, then in effect;

B. That Stemmler diverted and transshipped to Rostock, East Germany, and to Taku Bar, China, commodities exported from the United States, in violation of §§ 381.1 (b) (3) (i) and 371.4 (b) of the export control regulations, then in effect.

Before stating this recommendation, the Compliance Commissioner stated in his report,

• • • After observing the witnesses and carefully considering the documentary evidence in relation to the testimony. I am convinced that they (the respondents), at all times knew what they were doing and that they did what they did for the purpose of circumventing the regulations. I believe that their alleged interpretations and understandings of the law and regulations have been constructed solely for the purpose of presentng a technical defense and a means or method of circumventing the regulations.

The facts indicate that Stemmler is actively engaged in trade with countries in the Red Bloc • • • and works closely with Chemische, using it as convenient. Engaging in the East-West trade is not the prime criterion to be considered in connection with the recommendation to be made because such activity, when it does not contravene our laws and regulations, may not be the subject of the type of action here recommended. However, when these activities do result in contraventions and when their nature and the attitudes of the respondents indicate a disposition to complete such transactions by supplying commodities, exported from the United States, to unauthorized persons and destinations, despite our regulations to the contrary, and, when the conduct of the respondents indicates wilful planning for the circumvention of our regulations, then the activities and the contraventions assume a most grave and serious aspect. In such cases, in order to achieve effective enforcement of the law, it is necessary to take drastic measures to make certain that the law will not be violated in the future and that its objectives will not be defeated and frustrated. That is the purpose and need for this proceeding.

He thereupon recommended that the action hereinafter set forth be taken against the respondents.

Now, after careful consideration of the entire record, the answers, the briefs, and the report of the Compliance Commissioner, and being of the opinion that the recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner is fair and just, and that this order is necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law: It is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses held by or issued in the name of Stemmler-Imex, N. V. or Carl Herman Ferdinand Stemmler or N. V. Chemische Industrie "Den Haag" or Jhr. C. A. de Pesters or in which they appear or participate as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

II. Henceforth, and for the duration of export controls, each of the said respondents be and he or it hereby is suspended from and denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, in an exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada, whether such exportation has heretofore or hereafter been completed. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing denial of export privileges, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit participation by any of the respondents, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control documents, (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in storing, financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such exports from the United States.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to each of the respondents, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which any of them may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade in which may be involved exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

IV. Upon condition that the respondents comply in all respects with this order and with all other requirements of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and all regulations promulgated thereunder, those respondents so complying, commencing two years following the date hereof, may engage in and enjoy all export privileges permitted by United States laws and regulations.

V. The privileges conditionally restored to any of the respondents, under Part IV hereof, may be revoked summarily and without notice upon a finding by the Director of the Office of Export Supply, or such other official as may at that time be exercising the duties now exercised by him, that such respondent has, at any time, whether before or after two years following the date hereof, knowingly failed to comply with any of the conditions or provisions set forth in Part IV hereof, in which event Part II hereof shall then be and remain effective against such respondent, without prejudice to any other action which may be taken by reason of any such new or additional violation.

VI. No person, firm, corporation, partnership, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, during any time when any respondent is prohibited under the terms hereof from engaging in any activity within the scope of Part II hereof, shall, without prior disclosure to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity (a) apply for, obtain, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any such prohibited activity, (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport or forward, any commodity on behalf of or in any association with such respondent, or (c) do any of the foregoing acts with respect to any commodity or exportation in which such respondent may have any interest of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

Dated: October 27, 1955.

Director,
Office of Export Supply.

such juice, it is concentrated; and fresh orange juice extracted from sorted and washed fruit, as aforesaid, is admixed to the concentrate. The concentrated orange juice is packed in accordance with good commercial practice and is frozen and maintained at temperatures necessary for the preservation of the product.

§ 52.1582 Styles of frozen concentrated orange juice—(a) Style I, without sweetening ingredient added. The Brix value of the finished concentrate shall be not less than 41.8 degrees nor more than 44.0 degrees.

(b) Style II, with sweetening ingredient added. The finished concentrate, exclusive of added sweetening ingredient, has a Brix value of not less than 40 degrees; and the finished concentrate, including added sweetening ingredient, shall have a Brix value of not less than 42 degrees but not more than 49 degrees.

§ 52.1583 Grades of frozen concentrated orange juice. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of frozen concentrated orange juice which reconstitutes properly and of which the reconstituted juice possesses the appearance of fresh orange juice; that possesses a very good color; that is practically free from defects; that possesses a very good flavor; and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 85 points.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Choice" is the quality of frozen concentrated orange juice which reconstitutes properly and of which the reconstituted juice possesses a good color; that is reasonably free from defects; that possesses a good flavor; and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 70 points.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of frozen concentrated orange juice that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice.

FILL OF CONTAINER

§ 52.1584 Recommended fill of container. The recommended fill of container is not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purposes of these grades. It is recommended that the container be as full of frozen concentrated orange juice as practicable without impairment of quality.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.1585 Ascertaining the grade. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards the following quality factors are evaluated:

(a) Factors not rated by score points. (1) Faculty of reconstituting properly.

(2) Appearance of fresh juice.

(b) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

	Points
(1) Color	40
(2) Absence of defects	20
(3) Flavor	40
Total score	100

§ 52.1586 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

§ 52.1587 Color—(a) (A) Classification. Frozen concentrated orange juice of which the reconstituted juice possesses a very good color may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Very good color" means a very good yellow to yellow-orange color that is bright and typical of rich-colored fresh orange juice.

(b) (B) Classification. If the reconstituted juice possesses a good color, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Frozen concentrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Good color" means that the color is the yellow to yellow-orange color typical of fresh orange juice, which may be dull but is not off color for any reason.

(c) (SStd) Classification. If the reconstituted juice fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section, a score of 0 to 27 points may be given. Frozen concentrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.1588 Absence of defects—(a) General. The factor of absence of defects refers to the degree of freedom from seeds and portions thereof, from excessive juice cells, from pulp, from recoverable oil, and from other defects.

(1) Pulp. "Pulp" means particles of membrane, core, and peel.

(b) (A) Classification. Frozen concentrated orange juice of which the reconstituted juice is practically free from defects may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Practically free from defects" means that there may be present: (1) small seeds or portions thereof that are of such size that they could pass through round perforations not exceeding ⅛ inch in diameter, provided such seeds or portions thereof do not materially affect the appearance or drinking quality of the juice; (2) juice cells and pulp that do not materially affect the appearance or drinking quality of the juice; and (3) other defects that are not more than slightly objectionable. To score in this classification the frozen concentrated orange juice may contain not more than 0.100 milliliter of recoverable oil per 100 grams of the concentrated product.

(c) (B) Classification. If the reconstituted juice is reasonably free from defects, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Frozen concentrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that there may be present: (1) Small seeds or portions thereof that are of such size that they could pass through round perforations not exceeding ⅛ inch in diameter, provided such seeds or portions thereof do not seriously affect the appearance or drinking quality of the juice; (2) juice cells and pulp that do not seriously affect the appearance or drinking quality of the juice; and (3) other defects that are not materially objectionable. To score in this classification the frozen concentrated orange juice may contain not more than 0.120 milliliter of recoverable oil per 100 grams of the concentrated product.

(d) (SStd) Classification. Frozen concentrated orange juice that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.1589 Flavor—(a) (A) Classification. Frozen concentrated orange juice of which the reconstituted juice possesses a very good flavor may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Very good flavor" means that the flavor is fine, distinct, and substantially typical of orange juice extracted from fresh mature sweet oranges. To score not less than 34 points frozen concentrated orange juice shall meet the following requirements for the respective styles:

(1) Style I, without sweetening ingredient added. The ratio of Brix value to acid is not less than 11.5 to 1 nor more than 18 to 1 (see Table I of this subpart).

(2) Style II, with sweetening ingredient added. The ratio of Brix value to acid is not less than 12 to 1 nor more than 14 to 1 (see Table II of this subpart).

(b) (B) Classification. If the reconstituted juice possesses a good flavor, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Frozen concentrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Good flavor" means that the flavor is fairly typical of fresh orange juice extracted from fresh mature sweet oranges and is free from abnormal flavors and off flavors of any kind. To score not less than 28 points frozen concentrated orange juice shall meet the following requirements for the respective styles:

(1) Style I, without sweetening ingredient added. The ratio of Brix value to acid is not less than 10 to 1 nor more than 19 to 1 (see Table I of this subpart).

(2) Style II, with sweetening ingredient added. The ratio of Brix value to acid is not less than 10 to 1 nor more than 15 to 1 (see Table II of this subpart).

(c) (SStd) classification. If the frozen concentrated orange juice fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section, a score of 0 to 27 points may be given. Frozen concentrated orange juice that falls into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

EXPLANATIONS AND METHODS OF ANALYSES

§ 52.1590 Definitions of terms and methods of analyses—(a) Oranges. "Oranges" means oranges of the sweet orange group (Citrus sinensis) and the Mandarin group (Citrus reticulata), except tangerines.

(b) Reconstituted juice. "Reconstituted juice" means the product obtained by mixing thoroughly 3 parts by volume of distilled water and one part by volume of frozen concentrated orange juice.

(c) Reconstitutes properly. "Reconstitutes properly" means that the concentrate goes into solution readily; and that in approximately 250 ml. of the reconstituted juice, after standing four (4) hours at a temperature of not less than 68 degrees Fahrenheit in a clear glass cylinder (approximately 1¼ inches in diameter), there may be a noticeable separation of suspended matter but any resulting zone of greater clarity shall be definitely turbid and not clear or transparent.

(d) Acid. "Acid" means the percent by weight of total acidity, calculated as anhydrous citric acid, in frozen concentrated orange juice. Total acidity is determined by titration with standard sodium hydroxide solution, using phenolphthalein as indicator.

(e) Brix value. "Brix value" in frozen concentrated orange juice is the refractometric sucrose value determined in accordance with the "International Scale of Refractive Indices of Sucrose Solutions" and to which the applicable correction for acid is added (see Table III of this subpart for corrections). The measurement of Brix value is determined on the thawed concentrate in accordance with the refractometric method for sugars and sugar products, outlined in the "Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists."

TABLE III[1]—CORRECTIONS FOR OBTAINING BRIX VALUE

(f) Recoverable oil. "Recoverable oil" is determined by the following method:

(1) Equipment.

Oil separatory trap similar to either of those illustrated in Figure 1 or Figure 2.[1]
Gas burner or hot plate.
Ringstand and clamps.
Rubber tubing.
3-liter narrow-neck flask.

(2) Procedure. (i) Exactly 400 grams of the thawed concentrate mixed with water to approximately two liters are placed in a 3-liter flask. Close the stopcock, place distilled water in the graduated tube, run cold water through the condenser from the bottom to top, and bring the solution to a boil. Boiling is continued for one hour at the rate of approximately 50 drops per minute.

(ii) By means of the stopcock, lower the oil into the graduated portion of the separatory trap, remove the trap from the flask, allow it to cool, and record the amount of oil recovered.

(iii) The number of milliliters of oil recovered divided by 4 equals the volume of recoverable oil per 100 grams of concentrate.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.1591 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of frozen concentrated orange juice the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if, (1) all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification; and (2) with respect to those factors which are scored:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(iii) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iv) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

[Lemon Reg. 612, Amdt. 1]

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 19 F. R. 7175; 20 F. R. 2913), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b (1) (ii) of § 953.719 (Lemon Regulation 612, 20 F. R. 7961) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(ii) District 2: 190 carloads.

PROCEDURE ALTERATIONS

The standard instrument approach procedure alterations appearing hereinafter are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 609 is amended as follows:

NOTE: Where the general classification (LFR, VAR, ADF, ILS, GCA, or VOR), location, and procedure number (if any) of any procedure in the amendments which follow, are identical with an existing procedure, that procedure is to be substituted for the existing one, as of the effective date given, to the extent that it differs from the existing procedure; where a procedure is canceled, the existing procedure is revoked; new procedures are to be placed in appropriate alphabetical sequence within the section amended.

1. The low frequency range procedures prescribed in § 609.6 are amended to read in part:

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

[CGFR 55–46]

Subchapter F—Marine Engineering

EDITORIAL CHANGES REGARDING MATERIAL SPECIFICATIONS

The material specification standards prescribe requirements covering materials for use in the construction of boilers, unfired pressure vessels, piping, valves, fittings, and appurtenances. Coast Guard regulations require that materials shall comply with standard specifications issued by the American Society for Testing Materials (A. S. T. M.), 1916 Race Street, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, subject to certain described limitations. During the last year this Society reissued certain specifications referred to in Coast Guard regulations, which are designated: A31–55, A53–55T, A72–55, A83–55T, A84–55, A105–55T, A106–55T, A135–55T, A178–55T, A179–55T, A181–55T, A182–55T, A192–55T, A193–55T, A194–55T, A209–55T, A210–55T, A213–55T, A217–55, A226–55T, A307–55T, A312–55T, A335–55T, A339–55, B11–55, B13–55, B42–55, B43–55, B75–55, B88–55, B111–55, B169–55, and B171–55.

The cancellation of 46 CFR 51.01–95, regarding emergency alternate provisions for material specifications, is made because the Government restrictions on use of critical materials have been removed and the American Society for Testing Materials discontinued the use of these emergency alternate provisions to the A. S. T. M. Standards.

The amendments to 46 CFR 51.07–1, 51.13–1, 51.25–1, 51.34–1, 51.46–1, 51.49–1, 51.58–1, 51.61–1, 51.67–1, 51.70–1, and 51.73–1 revise and bring up to date the references to A. S. T. M. specifications.

The amendments to 46 CFR 52.05–10, 55.07–1, and 55.07–5, cancel references to obsolete A. S. T. M. specifications.

The amendments to 46 CFR 52.70–10 and 52.70–25 transfer the text of one paragraph from one section to another in order to have a better arrangement of requirements.

The amendment to 46 CFR 56.01–20, regarding arc welding electrodes, editorially corrects the title of the pamphlet "Equipment Lists" in which are published acceptable brand names of arc welding electrodes.

Because the amendments in this document are editorial in nature and bring references to material standards up to date, it is hereby found that compliance with the Administrative Procedure Act respecting notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedures thereon, and effective requirements thereof is unnecessary.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Treasury Department Order No. 120, dated July 31, 1950 (15 F. R. 6521), and Treasury Department Order 167–9, dated August 3, 1954 (19 F. R. 5195), to promulgate regulations in accordance with the statutes cited with the regulations below, the following amendments in this document are prescribed and shall become effective upon date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

CONTINENTAL IMPORT & EXPORT CO. ET AL.

In the matter of The Continental Import & Export Company, N. V., Stadhouderskade 51, Amsterdam, Netherlands; N. V. Noord-Hollandsche Handelsassociatie, Keizersgracht 702, Amsterdam, Netherlands; Sipke N. Bierma, Keizersgracht 702, Amsterdam, Netherlands; respondents.

The Continental Import & Export Co., N. V., N. V. Noord-Hollandsche Handelsassociatie and Sipke N. Bierma, all of Amsterdam, the Netherlands, having been charged by the Director, Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce of the Department of Commerce, with having violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, in that, as alleged, (1) they made and submitted false statements and representations for the purpose of causing to be effected exportations from the United States, and (2) they diverted or caused to be diverted and transshipped to unauthorized destinations commodities exported from the United States under export control documents limiting their shipment to places named in such documents, duly answered the charges, admitted the facts, and offered special defenses primarily to the effect that, (a) being in the Netherlands they should be bound only by Dutch laws and since they did not violate Dutch laws they should not be the object of any action by the United States Government; (b) that the commodities transshipped were not transshipped by them to a country behind the Iron Curtain; (c) that the commodities were of no strategic importance and (d) that the ultimate consignee statements submitted were submitted not as the basis for any governmental action but as commercial representations to their vendors.

None of the respondents demanded an oral hearing but, in accordance with the practice, this case was referred to the Compliance Commissioner who notified the respondents of the time when and the place where he would receive proof of the charges. None of them appeared at the time and place specified and, after the evidence was submitted, the Compliance Commissioner in due course made his report and recommendation, which, upon the facts as hereinafter found, appears to be fair and just and is therefore adopted.

Now, after considering the entire record consisting of the charges, the answers of the respondents, the evidence submitted in support of the charges and the report and recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner, I hereby make the following findings of fact:

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, The Continental Import & Export Company, N. V., N. V. Noord-Hollandsche Handelsassociatie, and S. N. Bierma were engaged in the import-export business in Amsterdam, the Netherlands; and Bierma was the Manager of both companies and he actively conducted the business resulting in the transactions hereinafter mentioned.

2. That prior to and during the times of the performance of all of the acts hereinafter mentioned, the respondents were informed and well knew that ultimate consignee statements were necessary and material supporting papers to export license applications, that statements made therein were material representations in connection with applications for export licenses and that no exports or transshipments of "validated license" commodities might be made at the times involved without prior specific approval by the Office of International Trade (now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce).

3. That prior to the time of the performance of the acts described in Findings 6 and 7 hereof, the respondents Bierma and Continental were informed and well knew that no exports or transshipments of otherwise "general license" commodities from the United States, with Hong Kong as the ultimate destination, might be made, at the times stated in Findings 6 and 7, without a "specific" or validated export license, and that in all cases involving the purchase of general license commodities, a purchaser of goods to be exported from the United States was required to notify the American exporter of any intention to transship the goods to a Soviet Bloc country, Hong Kong or Macao.

4. That from and including May 1951, until and including September 1951, Bierma, either in the name of Continental or in the name of Noord, made ten purchases of American goods consisting of sulfadiazine, sulfathiazole, caustic soda or DDT and, in connection with each of such purchases did furnish to the American exporter of said goods, for submission to the Office of International Trade, ultimate consignee statements in which were set forth false representations that the signer thereof was the purchaser and that the goods were to be imported into and used in the Netherlands. The said ultimate consignee statements were thereafter submitted by the American exporter to the Office of International Trade in support of applications for export licenses which in due course were granted.

5. The American exporter then, under authority of said licenses, shipped the goods so purchased to Continental or Noord, as ultimate purchaser or consignee in the Netherlands, but the respondents, after the arrival of the said shipments in the Netherlands transshipped (a) all the sulfas and the DDT to Hong Kong and (b) the caustic soda to Tanganyika, East Africa, without prior approval from the Office of International Trade and despite the fact that as to each of the said shipments but one, respondents were further informed by destination control notices on the shipping documents that diversion to an unauthorized destination was prohibited by United States law.

6. That in December 1952, Continental purchased about $9,000 worth of boric acid from an American exporter, boric acid at that time being a general license commodity, but, at the time of such purchase and until the time when the said boric acid was exported from the United States to Continental, Continental failed and omitted to notify the American exporter that it was not the ultimate consignee in the Netherlands and that it intended to transship the boric acid to Hong Kong.

7. That the American exporter, believing that the boric acid was to be consumed in the Netherlands, exported the same to Continental, under invoices which restricted their ultimate destination to the Netherlands and under bills of lading naming Continental as the ultimate consignee.

8. That Continental, after arrival of the boric acid in the Netherlands, did, without prior approval by the Office of International Trade, transship the same to Hong Kong.

From which I have concluded:

A. That the respondents and each of them did make false representations and certifications and falsified and concealed material facts for the purpose of causing to be effected exportations from the United States in violation of Section 381.1 (b), (now Sec. 381.5), of the export control regulations then in effect;

B. That the respondents diverted or caused to be diverted from the country to which commodities were shipped (under and pursuant to export licenses authorizing their exportation from the United States), to countries other than the country for which the exportations were authorized by the Office of International Trade, without prior written authorization from the said Office of International Trade, in violation of Sections 381.1 (b) (3) (i) and 381.4 (b) (3), (now Sec. 381.6), of the export control regulations then in effect;

C. That, after receiving bills of lading containing destination control notices affecting commodities shipped thereunder, respondents did divert or cause to be diverted such commodities to destinations other than those named in the bills of lading and to which such commodities were restricted, in violation of Section 381.4 (d) and (e), (now Sec. 379.10 (d) (2)), of the export control regulations then in effect;

D. That respondents Bierma and Continental concealed or caused to be concealed from a United States exporter and so the Office of International Trade, material facts concerning the true purchaser and ultimate destination of a commodity otherwise subject to general license, such concealment being in violation of Section 381.1 (b) of the export control regulations then in effect;

E. That said respondents Bierma and Continental diverted or caused to be diverted to Hong Kong from the Netherlands commodities exported to the Netherlands under general license, such diversion having been made without prior authorization from the Office of International Trade and being in violation of Section 371.4 (a) and (b) of the export control regulations then in effect.

In his report, the Compliance Commissioner said;

> Apart from the fact that legality of the actions in Holland under Dutch law, or even approval by the Dutch authorities, would not be a defense to contraventions of our regulations, I find that respondents were well informed and had actual knowledge that (a) ultimate consignee statements were necessary supporting papers to license applications, (b) that statements made therein were material representations, (c) that no exports or transshipments of either validated license commodities or general license commodities to Hong Kong could be made without prior specific approval by the Office of International Trade (now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce). The special defenses offered by Continental are therefore insufficient and without basis. • • •
> In this case, consideration should be given to the fact that, when apprehended, these respondents did not defend these proceedings by dilatory tactics or false denials of the facts of the transactions. Also, in framing the remedial action to be taken, the possibility that respondents are now well aware of their responsibilities with respect to goods exported from the United States and that they will not violate in the future should likewise be considered. On the other hand, very large quantities of sulfa drugs and boric acid were transshipped to Hong Kong at a critical time. It is my recommendation that all the respondents be denied export privileges for the duration of export controls but that, after an effective period of one year from the date of the order to be entered herein, such privileges be restored to them upon condition that the order prior to that time has not been violated and the further condition that respondents have not violated export control laws or regulations following the date of the order and do not so violate following the expiration of said period of one year.

Having concluded that the recommended action is fair, just and necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law: It is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses in which The Continental Import & Export Company, N. V., N. V. Noord-Hollandsche Handels-associatie, or Sipke N. Bierma appears or participates as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

II. Henceforth, and for the duration of export controls, each of the said respondents be and he or it hereby is suspended from and denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, in an exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada, whether such exportation has heretofore or hereafter been completed. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing denial of export privileges, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit participation by any of the respondents, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control documents, (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in storing, financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such exports from the United States.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to each of the respondents, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which any of them may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade in which may be involved exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

IV. Upon condition that the respondents comply in all respects with this order, and with all other requirements of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and all regulations promulgated thereunder, those respondents so complying, commencing one year following the date hereof, may engage in and enjoy all export privileges permitted by United States laws and regulations.

V. The privileges conditionally restored to any of the respondents, under Part IV hereof may be revoked summarily and without notice upon a finding by the Director of the Office of Export Supply, or such other official as may at that time be exercising the duties now exercised by him, that such respondent has, at any time following the date hereof, knowingly failed to comply with any of the conditions or provisions upon which or whereby, by Part IV hereof, he or it has been permitted to engage in any phase of the export business otherwise denied to him under Part II hereof, without prejudice to any other action which may be taken by reason of any such new or additional violation. In the event that it be so determined that a respondent has breached the conditions of Part IV hereof, the suspension and denial of respondent's export privileges shall be deemed to commence on the day of such determination and shall continue thereafter for the duration of export controls.

VI. No person, firm, corporation, partnership, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, during any time when any respondent is prohibited under the terms hereof from engaging in any activity within the scope of Part II hereof, shall, without prior disclosure to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, (a) apply for, obtain, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any such prohibited activity, (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport or forward, any commodity on behalf of or in any association with such respondent, or (c) do any of the foregoing acts with respect to any commodity or exportation in which such respondent may have any interest of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

Dated: October 28, 1955.

Director,
Office of Export Supply.

[Case 200]

D. LIJNZAAD, N. V., ET AL.

CONDITIONAL ORDER DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of D. Lijnzaad, N. V., Transport en Handelmaatschappij, 58 Coolsingel, Boursgebouw, Rotterdam, Netherlands; Dirk Lijnzaad, 7 Duinweg, Wassenaar, Netherlands; Nedimtrans, N. V., Exchange Buildings, Rotterdam, Netherlands; respondents.

Dirk Lijnzaad, D. Lijnzaad, N. V. and Nedimtrans, N. V., having been charged by the Director of Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, with having violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, in that as alleged, they purchased boric acid and borax from an exporter in the United States, for shipment under General License to the Netherlands, they failed to disclose to the American exporter that these commodities were intended for transshipment to Hong Kong, and they, without persission from the Office of International Trade, now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, transshipped said commodities to Hong Kong after their arrival in the Netherlands;

And the respondents having duly answered the charges, having appeared herein by counsel and having demanded an oral hearing;

This proceeding was duly referred to the Compliance Commissioner, who has held a hearing at which the respondents were present by their representative and their attorney, and who, having heard the evidence, has duly filed his report and recommendation, all in accordance with the procedure set forth in Title 15, Chapter III, Code of Federal Regulations, §§ 382.7 and 382.8.

Now, after reading the record herein and giving careful consideration to the Compliance Commissioner's Report and Recommendation, the following are my findings of fact:

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, Dirk Lijnzaad was engaged in the shipping and forwarding business in Rotterdam, the Netherlands, and he conducted this business in the name of D. Lijnzaad, N. V. He controlled also a merchant import-export company, Nedimtrans, N. V., and the method of doing business as well as the operations of Nedimtrans, N. V., were such as to make it identical with Lijnzaad's business for all practical purposes involved in this proceeding.

2. That during and after January 1953, respondents were informed and knew (a) that all exports from the United States to Hong Kong were subject to the validated export license procedure while boric acid and borax were permitted to be exported to the Netherlands under general license and (b) that they were required to notify the American exporter in any case where the commodity was to be shipped to Hong Kong.

3. That having such knowledge, and with the additional knowledge that Nedimtrans, N. V., was not the actual purchaser and that the Netherlands was not the country of ultimate destination, they did nevertheless (a) on or about February 20, 1953, order and purchase from an American exporter 100 tons of boric acid, in the name of Nedimtrans, N. V., for delivery to Antwerp, Belgium, or Rotterdam, the Netherlands, indicating the place of ultimate destination as Rotterdam, the Netherlands, and (b) on or about April 9, 1953, order and purchase from the same American exporter 100 tons of borax, also in the name of Nedimtrans, N. V., for delivery to Rotterdam, the Netherlands, indicating that or West Germany as the place of ultimate destination.

4. That at no time prior to the making of such purchases from the American exporter or prior to the time that the exportations thereof were made from the United States, did any of the respondents disclose to the American exporter that Nedimtrans, N. V., was not the actual purchaser of the commodities or that the Netherlands and/or West Germany were not or might not be the countries of ultimate desination.

5. That at the time when Nedimtrans, N. V. made its purchase of the boric acid from the American exporter, respondents knew that it was to be transshipped to Hong Kong.

6. That the boric acid and borax were thereafter exported from the United States to the Netherlands and, after their arrival in the Netherlands, respondents changed the marks on the bags in which said commodities had been shipped and the marks which they caused to be put thereon showed that the commodities so shipped were destined for Hong Kong. Respondents then shipped the entire 100 tons of boric acid and 50 tons of the borax to Hong Kong, without prior authorization from the Office of International Trade, now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

From all of which I have concluded that respondents did violate sections 371.4, 384.5 and 381.1 (b) (1) of the export control regulations then in effect (1) falsely representing to the American exporter that Nedimtrans, N. V. was the actual purchaser and that the Netherlands or West Germany were the countries of ultimate destination of the said commodities, thus concealing from him the true purchaser and true destination, and (2) by transshipping the said boric acid and borax from the Netherlands to Hong Kong without prior authorization from the Office of International Trade by validated license or otherwise.

The Compliance Commissioner, after setting forth the facts of the case, has considered the general demeanor of the respondent Dirk Lijnzaad, the reputation of the respondents, the financial impact which a denial of export privileges would have on respondents, his belief that violations will not occur in the future and the nature of the violations found. After such consideration, he has recommended that the respondents be denied export privileges for a period of six months but that such denial shall not become effective unless the respondents or any of them at any time following the date hereof again violate the Export Control Act or any of its regulations. His recommendation seems fair and just and, the undersigned being of the opinion that it is fair and necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law: It is hereby ordered:

I. Upon condition that the respondents, Dirk Lijnzaad, D. Lijnzaad, N. V., and Nedimtrans, N. V., during the time that export controls shall be in effect hereafter, comply fully with and do not knowingly violate all or any of the terms of this order and all or any of the provisions of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and the regulations promulgated thereunder, such respondent so complying with this condition shall be permitted all export privileges as though this order had not been made; but, in the event that it be found that any respondent has failed to comply in any respect with this condition, the Director of the Office of Export Supply, or such other official as may at that time be performing the duties now performed by him, may summarily and without notice to the person or company responsible for such violation, enter and publish an order against such respondent as provided in Parts II, III and IV hereof, subject however to the right of such respondent, as provided in the regulations, to apply for a reconsideration of or to appeal from such supplemental order, without prejudice to such other action and remedy as may be proper and reasonable by reason of any such conduct which may be a violation of the Export Control Act or regulations promulgated thereunder;

II. In the event that a determination be made, as provided in Part I hereof, that respondents or any of them have violated the condition in Part I provided, all validated licenses then outstanding and as to which any such respondent may be a party shall be revoked, and such respondents or respondent, for a period of six months from the date of such determination, shall be denied all privileges of participating directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity, in and exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada, whether such exportation has theretofore or thereafter been completed. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing provisions, participation in an exportation shall be deemed to include and prohibit respondents' participation, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any export license application, (b) in the preparation or filing of any export license application or document to be submitted therewith, (c) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control document, (d) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing, in any foreign country, of any commodities in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States, and (e) in the financing, forwarding, transporting, storing, or other servicing of exports from the United States;

III. In the event of the making of such a determination, the order entered thereon shall apply not only to the respondent named therein but shall apply and extend also to any other person, firm, corporation or business organization with which he may then or thereafter be related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith;

IV. In that event, no person, firm, corporation, or other business organization shall, without prior disclosure to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, (a) apply for, obtain, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any such prohibited exportation of commodities from the United States, or (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport, forward, or otherwise service or participate in, any such prohibited exportation from the United States, or in reexportation of any commodity within the scope of this order and exported from the United States, with respect to which such respondent shall have any interest of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED INCREASES IN RATES

United Gas Pipe Line Company (United), on September 30, 1955, tendered for filing First Revised Sheet Nos. 1, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 17, 17–A, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 28, 30, 32, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, and revised Title Sheet, to its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, and First Revised Sheet Nos. 54 and 57 to its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1 proposing to take effect as of November 1, 1955. By said filing United proposes a general rate increase to all of its sales for resale subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, except transportation for others. Said increase is estimated to be approximately $9,978,000 per year based on a test year ending April 30, 1955, as adjusted, or an increase of approximately 14 percent.

United bases part of its proposed rate increase on claimed increases in the cost of purchased gas. It does not appear that such increases in cost will occur in fact on November 1, 1955, nor can it now be determined the amount which United will actually incur. Additionally, United is claiming a rate of return of 6½ percent, acquisition adjustment costs, an increased allowance for income taxes, and allocation of costs which do not appear to be justified. These, as well as other items of cost, have not been established and it appears that the increased rates and charges proposed in United's rate filing have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential or otherwise unlawful.

Alabama Public Service Commission as well as numerous customer companies of United request that the proposed rates be investigated and after suspension a hearing be held to determine just and reasonable rates.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the rates proposed by United in its filing of September 30, 1955, and that the rates in the above-designated tariff sheets[1] be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in Sections 4, 5, and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's General Rules and Regulations (18 CFR, Chapter I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the rates and charges proposed by United in its filing of September 30, 1955; and, pending such hearing and decision thereon, First Revised Sheet Nos. 1, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 28, 30, 32, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, and revised Title Sheet to its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, and proposed First Revised Sheet, Nos. 54 and 57 to its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1, be and the same hereby are suspended and the use thereof deferred until April 1, 1956, and until such further time as they may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

[1] First Revised Sheet Nos. 16, 17, 17–A, 18, 19, and 20 to First Revised Volume No. 1 pertain to sales of gas for resale for industrial use only and therefore may not be suspended pursuant to section 4 of the Natural Gas Act.

(B) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by sections 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

Adopted: October 21, 1955.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 812–968]

SCRIPPS-HOWARD INVESTMENT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR ORDER EXEMPTING TRANSACTION BETWEEN AFFILIATES

OCTOBER 27, 1955.

Notice is hereby given that the Scripps-Howard Investment Company ("Scripps-Howard"), a registered closed-end investment company, has filed an application pursuant to the provisions of section 17 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act") for an order exempting from the prohibitions of section 17 (a) the proposed purchase by the E. W. Scripps Company ("EWS") from Scripps-Howard of 500 shares of the Class A Common Stock of United Press Associations ("UP") at a price of $750 per share in cash.

UP is engaged in the business of furnishing news reports and news pictures to newspapers, radio stations and others subscribing for its services. UP has issued and outstanding 70,000 shares of no par value Preference Stock, 2,999 shares of $100 par value Preferred Stock, 2,500 shares of no par value Common Voting Stock and 7,500 shares of no par value Class A Common Stock. The holders of the two classes of common stock have identical rights except that the holders of the Class A Common Stock do not have voting rights.

Of the foregoing, EWS owns 61,500 shares equivalent to 87.8 percent of the outstanding Preference Stock; 104 shares equivalent to 3.5 percent of the outstanding Preferred Stock; 100 percent of the outstanding Common Voting Stock, and 4,450 shares, equivalent to 59.33 percent of the outstanding Class A Common Stock. As of September 1, 1955, 2,500 shares of Class A Common Stock were owned by 14 officers and directors of UP and members of their families. Scripps-Howard owns 500 shares of Class A Common Stock of UP.

The proposed acquisition by EWS of the 500 shares of Class A Common Stock of UP owned by Scripps-Howard is to be made pursuant to the exercise by EWS of an option to repurchase these shares of stock. The option agreement, dated April 22, 1941, provides that the price to be received by Scripps-Howard upon the exercise of the option shall be the fair value at the time of exercise but not less than cost of $750 per share plus interest, less dividends paid and interest on dividends. Scripps-Howard and EWS have determined that the fair value for the stock under the option agreement is $750 per share.

It is represented that during September 1955 EWS purchased from UP 50 shares of Class A Common Stock which UP held in its treasury at a price of $750 per share, and eleven of the fourteen persons who hold 2,500 shares of the Class A Common Stock have sold or agreed to sell 1,650 shares of Class A Common Stock to EWS at a price of $750 per share. Scripps-Howard has been advised that EWS has offered to purchase the remaining 850 shares at a price of $750 per share held by the other three officers and directors. It is further stated that EWS expects to obtain the 850 shares shortly and that upon the acquisition of the 500 shares held by Scripps-Howard, EWS will then own 100 percent of the issued and outstanding Class A Common Stock of UP.

There is no established market for the Class A Common Stock of UP. It is represented that the only sales of such stock within the last seven years have all been effected at a price of $750 per share. The last sale prior to the September 1955 sale referred to above, occurred on February 1, 1955 when EWS purchased 250 shares from Hugh Baillie, Chairman of the Board of UP, at a price of $750 per share. Earnings and dividends per share applicable to both classes of common stock of UP were, respectively, $48.82 and $45.00 in 1950; $25.73 and $42.50 in 1951; $31.69 and $30.00 in 1952; $26.28 and $30.00 in 1953; earnings deficit of $5.27 and dividends of $11.25 in 1954. No change in earnings in 1955 over 1954 is expected to take place, and no dividends have been paid to date in 1955.

The application notes that the directors, in the exercise of their duties under the act, have determined the fair value of the Class A Common Stock to be $750 per share at December 31, 1948 and at each year-end thereafter.

EWS owns 85,752 shares of common stock of Scripps-Howard equivalent to approximately 14.6 percent of the latter's outstanding common stock. Accordingly, EWS is an affiliated person of Scripps-Howard as defined in the Act. Section 17 (a) of the act prohibits, among other things, an affiliated person of a registered investment company from purchasing any security from such registered company, subject to one exception not applicable here, unless the Commission upon application pursuant to section 17 (b) of the act, grants an exemption upon the basis that the evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of anyone concerned; that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned, as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act; and is consistent with the general purposes of the act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 10, 1955, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act.

By the Commission.

Notice is hereby given that Missouri Edison Company ("Missouri Edison"), a public-utility company subsidiary of Union Electric Company of Missouri, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"). Declarant has designated sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act, and Rule U–50 (a) (2) promulgated thereunder, as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to the declaration on file in the offices of the Commission for a statement of the transactions proposed therein, which are summarized as follows:

Missouri Edison proposes to borrow from time to time up to June 30, 1956, from The Boatmen's National Bank of St. Louis, amounts aggregating not in excess of $1,100,000, and to evidence each borrowing by the issuance of a promissory note maturing not later than September 30, 1956, and bearing interest at the prime rate effective in St. Louis at the time of the particular borrowing.

Missouri Edison represents that the proceeds of the proposed borrowings are to be used in part to repay at maturity outstanding bank loan notes in the amounts of $375,000, due January 18, 1956, and $225,000 due June 25, 1956, and that the remainder of such proceeds are to be used to pay in part the costs of construction of additional facilities during 1955–1956. It is further represented that the funds for the repayment of the proposed borrowings and for the continuation of its construction program are to be obtained through the issue and sale of additional bonds or other securities during the second half of 1956.

Missouri Edison states that no State Commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has any jurisdiction over the proposed transactions; and that no fees, commissions, and expenses are to be incurred or paid, other than nominal expenses.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 17, 1955, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held in respect of these matters, stating the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by the declaration which he proposes to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission orders a hearing thereon. Any such request should bear the caption of this notice and should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the declaration as filed or as it may hereafter be amended, may be permitted to become effective pursuant to Rule U-23 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the act, or the transactions proposed therein may be exempted as provided by Rules U-20 (a) and U-100.

By the Commission.

ISLANDS GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION OF SUBSIDIARY HOLDING COMPANY FOR MODIFICATION OF EXEMPTION

OCTOBER 27, 1955.

The Islands Gas and Electric Company ("Islands"), a subsidiary exempt holding company in the system of Central Public Utility Corporation ("Central"), a registered holding company, has filed an application pursuant to section 3 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") requesting modification of the qualified section 3 (b) exemption granted to it herein on July 31, 1941 (as heretofore extended), so that its exemption as a subsidiary of Central will be without qualifications.

Islands was granted exemption from registration as a holding company pursuant to section 3 (a) (5) of the act by an order of the Commission dated June 29, 1936 (1 S. E. C. 533). Islands was also granted an exemption as a subsidiary of The Consolidated Electric and Gas Company, formerly a registered holding company subsidiary of Central which has been merged into Central, pursuant to section 3 (b) of the act by the aforesaid order dated July 31, 1941 (9 S. E. C. 829); which exemption was subject to various limitations designed to make it applicable solely to acts and operations essentially foreign in their nature, preserving the jurisdiction of the Commission with respect to Islands' domestic activities.

Islands has four subsidiaries, one of which is inactive and the other three of which are utility companies whose utility assets and operations are in foreign countries (Haiti, Canary Islands, Philippine Islands). All the securities of Islands (consisting of common and preferred stocks, bonds and promissory notes) are owned by Central. Neither Central nor Islands has any utility assets or operations within the United States.

Islands states that it does not now and that it has never derived any material part of its income directly or indirectly from sources within the United States. As an inducement to the immediate granting of its section 3 (b) application, Islands agrees that while it shall remain an intermediate holding company it will not, without the prior approval of the Commission, incur any indebtedness except by way of short-term bank loans payable within nine months and loans made to it by Central or by another subsidiary of Central, or issue or sell any security other than notes evidencing short-term bank loans, as aforesaid, except to Central or to another subsidiary of Central.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said application, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable standards of section 3 (b) of the act are satisfied, that said application should be granted, and that this order should become effective upon issuance:

It is ordered, That said application be, and the same hereby is, granted, effective forthwith: Provided, however, That so long as Islands shall remain an intermediate holding company, it will not, without the prior approval of the Commission, incur any indebtedness except by way of short-term loans payable within nine months and loans made to it by Central or by another subsidiary of Central, or issue or sell any security, other than notes evidencing short-term bank loans as aforesaid, except to Central or to another subsidiary of Central.

By the Commission.

Assistant Secretary.

SPECULATORS DIVERSIFIED, INC.

ORDER TEMPORARILY DENYING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

OCTOBER 27, 1955.

I. Speculators Diversified, Inc., 223 Fremont Street, Las Vegas, Nevada, having filed with the Commission on July 27, 1955, a Notification on Form 1-A and an offering circular, and having subsequently filed an amendment thereto on August 5, 1955, relating to a proposed public offering of 580,000 shares of its common stock, 1 cent par, at 50 cents per share, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder; and

II. The Commission having reasonable cause to believe:

A. That the terms and conditions of Regulation A have not been complied with in respect of such Notification and the offering circular filed as a part thereof, in that: the Notification fails to disclose the subscription for 290,000 shares of the company's common stock by William Matteson, president and director and Robert Frost, vice-president, treasurer and director, and that William Mateson and Robert Frost are affiliates of the company as required by Items 3 and 4 of Form 1-A; and the offering circular fails to disclose the name and address of the principal underwriter, the purposes, amounts and priority of use of the proceeds from the offering, and the financial statements as required by Rules 219 (c) (4), (5) and (6).

B. That the offering circular contains untrue statements of material fact and omits to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading, particularly with respect to the following:

1. The method and plans for investing in and operating "five speculative fields of financing," i. e., (a) Motion Picture and Television Industry, (b) Race Horse Breeding and Racing, (c) Oil and Mining Production, (d) Real Estate and (e) Broadway Plays; and

2. The statements in the offering circular under each of the five named fields, the more significant of which are: the tremendous opportunity for production, the gross returns, the profits and the average Television resale prices of low budget motion pictures; the benefits and advantages of ownership of a racing stable, the receipt of reports when to expect a winning race, and the profits to be derived therefrom; the profit potential and the fortunes made in oil and mining; the millions of dollars being made in speculative building to meet the enormous growth; the big profits from Broadway plays and the advantages of being a "Broadway Angel"; and the advantages of diversification in the five fields to the small individual investor.

C. That use of the offering circular with respect to the securities proposed to be offered thereunder would operate as a fraud or deceit upon the purchasers.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the General Rules and Regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily denied.

Notice is hereby given that any person having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of denial should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of the additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

It is further ordered, That this Order and Notice shall be served upon Speculators Diversified, Inc. and William R. Matteson, President, 14233 Runnymede Street, Van Nuys, California, personally or by registered mail or by confirmed telegraphic notice, and shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

AUTHORITY: §§ 472.536 to 472.547 issued under sec. 4, 62 Stat. 1070, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 714b. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 62 Stat. 1072; 15 U. S. C. 714c.

§ 472.536 Sales agents. (a) Sales of wool owned by CCC are made by wool dealers, cooperative marketing associations, and pulleries (such persons are referred to in this subpart as "handlers") who have entered into agreements with CCC to store, handle, and sell wool to which CCC acquires title under its Wool Price Support Programs. Such sales may be made at not less than the minimum prices contained in schedules, as stated in § 472.540 (b), and will be referred to in this subpart as "sales at schedule prices". Sales are also made by CCC on the basis of bids received, and such sales will be referred to in this subpart as "competitive bid sales". Wherever in this subpart the terms "sale" and "sales" are used without qualification, those terms include both "competitive bid sales" and "sales at schedule prices". Each handler is authorized to sell at not less than schedule prices, or to show, only the CCC-owned wool which is in his custody. Handlers are required to give all purchasers an equal opportunity to purchase or to make bids on wool owned by CCC. Options shall not be granted, and wool is not to be earmarked for any prospective purchaser.

(b) The sales operations are administered through the CSS Commodity Office located at Boston, Massachusetts. (The Commodity Stabilization Service is referred to in this subpart as "CSS.") Names of the approved handlers authorized to sell at not less than schedule prices for the account of CCC or to show wool belonging to CCC may be obtained from the Boston CSS Commodity Office, 408 Atlantic Avenue, Boston 10, Massachusetts. Handlers are not authorized to modify or waive the terms of sale as set forth in this subpart or any amendments or supplements thereto.

§ 472.537 Method of sale. Beginning November 7, 1955, sales of wool owned by CCC will be made by CCC on a competitive bid basis at prices accepted by CCC. Sales made on this basis for domestic use will be limited to a monthly quota of 1/24th of the inventory as of November 1, 1955. During the time that bids are being received by CCC, handlers will also be authorized to sell wool owned by CCC at not less than schedule prices. Such sales will not be charged against the monthly limitation applicable to competitive bid sales.

§ 472.538 Submission and acceptance of bids. Persons interested in buying CCC-owned wool on the competitive bid basis shall submit bids to the Boston CSS Commodity Office, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Boston 10, Massachusetts. Bids shall be submitted on CCC Form BN-66, "Bid on CCC Wool," or in a telegraphic form prescribed by CCC. CCC Form BN-66, which contains the telegraphic form, can be obtained from the handlers who have custody of CCC wool or from the Boston CSS Commodity Office. All bids shall be subject to the terms, conditions, and instructions included in CCC Form BN–66 and to the terms and conditions applicable to competitive bid sales set forth in this subpart. No amendments will be considered after the closing time for receipt of bids unless the amendment is made for the purpose of correcting an error apparent in the original bid or for clarifying an ambiguity or supplying as omission in the bid. CCC has the right to reject any or all bids. In case a bid covers more than one lot, the wool in each lot shall be considered the subject of a separate bid, and may be accepted or rejected as such. In the event equal bids are received on any lot of wool, preference will be given to the first bid received by the Boston CSS Commodity Office.

§ 472.539 Basis of sale. All sales are final and unconditional, and the wool is sold "as is, where is." Grease wool may be sold subject to a redetermination of shrinkage by core test if the bid so indicates, in which event the purchaser will take delivery of the wool irrespective of whether the shrinkage is increased or decreased. Although part lots may be sold, sales are not made subject to the right of the purchaser to select specific bags or bales of wool from a lot or to reject wool from the bags or bales. Wool (original bag or otherwise) is not sold subject to withdrawal of tags, black, burry, or other off wools.

§ 472.540 Sales prices—(a) Competitive bid sales. Competitive bid sales will be made at the prices accepted by CCC.

(b) Sales at schedule prices. The minimum prices applicable to CCC-owned wool sold at schedule prices are issued from time to time by the Boston CSS Commodity Office. The minimum selling price for any lot of wool sold at schedule prices is determined on the basis of the description and shrinkage of the wool as shown in the latest appraisal certificate covering the lot and the minimum selling price prescribed by CCC which is in effect on the date of sale. While this is the minimum price at which wool owned by CCC may be sold by handlers selling at schedule prices, the handlers are required, as agents of CCC, to obtain the highest prices possible for wool under prevailing market conditions.

§ 472.541 Sales confirmation—(a) Competitive bid sales. A sale on the basis of competitive bids is made subject to a possible sale of the same wool by the handler who has custody thereof at schedule prices, made prior to his receipt of a notice from the Boston CSS Commodity Office of the competitive bid sale. Immediately upon notification from CCC that a bid has been accepted on a lot or portion of a lot of wool in the handler's custody, the handler shall either send confirmations to the bidder and the Boston CSS Commodity Office that the wool is available, or notify the bidder and the Boston CSS Commodity Office that the wool is not available as a result of a previous sale at schedule prices for which he had a confirmation in writing when he received the notification from the Boston CSS Commodity Office. In the event the lot or portion of the lot of wool so bid upon is not available, the competitive bid sale as to that lot or portion shall be of no effect. The date of CCC's acceptance of a bid shall be the date of sale, unless such acceptance is of no effect due to a sale at schedule prices.

(b) Sales at schedule prices. All verbal sales at schedule prices shall be confirmed in writing by an authorized representative of the purchaser. Such a sale shall not be binding upon the CCC or the handler in case a bid has been accepted covering the same wool unless the confirmation of the sale at schedule prices is received by the handler prior to his receipt of a notice from the Boston CSS Commodity Office that a competitive bid sale of the same wool has been made. The purchaser's confirmation must show the date of sale and the price, and must clearly describe the wool by type, quantity, and lot number or other definite identification so that no doubt will arise as to which wool is covered by the sale.

§ 472.542 Point of delivery. Deliveries of wool pursuant to this subpart are made on an ex-warehouse basis. The purchaser shall take delivery at the warehouse where the wool is stored at the time of sale and will be billed at the applicable selling price less, in the case of wool stored outside the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, a freight allowance determined by the handler in accordance with procedure prescribed by CCC.

§ 472.543 Weight—(a) General. CCC wool is sold on the basis of outweights at the warehouse where the wool is stored at the time of sale, except in cases where CCC specifically authorizes the use of a different weight. If, as a result of the purchaser's failure to issue delivery instructions, the outweights are not determined in time to permit remittance of sales proceeds to CCC within 30 days after the date of sale (see § 472.545), a pro forma payment will be required on the basis of inventory weights or estimated weights, with final billing to be made on the basis of actual outweights when such outweights are determined.

(b) Exceptions. CCC may authorize the sale of wool on the basis of weights taken on a date near the date of sale instead of on the basis of outweights. Wool sold subject to a redetermination of shrinkage by core test may be billed on the basis of weights taken at the time of coring for completion of the new appraisal certificate.

§ 472.544 Passage of title, risk of loss, and liability for storage charges. Title to the wool sold pursuant to this subpart shall pass to the purchaser upon the receipt by the handler who has custody of the wool of the full purchase price. The risk of loss passes to the purchaser upon delivery of the wool, except that if the wool is not delivered within 30 days after date of sale, the risk of loss shall pass to the purchaser upon the expiration of such 30-day period. CCC will pay storage charges only through the storage month current at the time the risk of loss passes to the purchaser, and the purchaser will be liable for storage charges which become due after the risk has passed.

§ 472.545 Settlement. The purchaser shall pay the sales price to the handler prior to delivery of the wool in the case of competitive bid sales and prior to or immediately upon delivery of the wool in the case of sales at schedule prices, except that, under the circumstances described hereinafter in this section, he shall pay in accordance with a pro forma invoice. If the handler determines that delivery will not be taken in time to enable him to remit the sales proceeds to CCC within 30 days after the date of sale, he will render a pro forma invoice to the purchaser on the basis of weights specified in § 472.543, requiring payment on a specified date, in time to enable himself to remit the proceeds to CCC within 30 days after the date of sale. After making a payment in accordance with the pro forma invoice, the purchaser shall make final settlement upon delivery of the wool, except that if the handler determines that the wool will not be moved out of the warehouse in time for the purchaser to make final settlement within 3 months after the date of sale, the wool will be weighed at the expense of the purchaser, and he shall make final settlement within such 3-month period. Irrespective of whether a pro forma invoice has been rendered, the purchaser may take delivery and pay the sales price in time for the handler to remit the sales proceeds to CCC within 30 days after the date of sale; and in such case, the date of delivery—rather than the date specified in the pro forma invoice—shall be the date when payment by the purchaser is due. If the purchaser does not pay the purchase price and take delivery within 30 days after the date of sale, or pay in accordance with the pro forma invoice, all rights of an unpaid seller shall be available against him, including the right to cancel the sale, and he shall be liable for all losses sustained. The handler will receive the same commission for handling a sale based on competitive bids as he receives in the case of sales at schedule prices. (1954 Wool Price Support Program (Shorn Wool) § 472.527, 19 F. R. 3078; 1954 Wool Price Support Program (Pulled Wool) § 472.574, 19 F. R. 3083.)

§ 472.546 Limitation on sales. A handler may not purchase either on a competitive bid basis or at schedule prices wool owned by CCC which is in his own custody and may not dispose of such wool to any person or firm in a manner that will result in any reward, financial benefit, profit, or payment to the handler, any affiliated organization, or any officer or employee of the handler or such affiliated organization, other than the fees and payments allowed the handler by CCC under his agreement with CCC, unless specifically authorized by CCC. Handlers may, however, purchase from other handlers wool owned by CCC.

§ 472.547 Contractual rights. Nothing in this subpart shall change or affect the contractual rights or obligations under the Wool Handler's Agreements or the Pulled Wool Agreements entered into by and between CCC and the handlers or under instructions issued by CCC in accordance with such agreements.

Issued this 1st day of November 1955.

Executive Vice President, Commodity Credit Corporation.

AUTHORITY: §§ 722.711 to 722.730 issued under sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66; 7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 342–347, 361–368, 373, 374, 388, 52 Stat. 38, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1342–1347, 1361–1368, 1373, 1374, 1388.

GENERAL

§ 722.711 Basis and purpose. (a) The regulations contained in §§ 722.711 to 722.730 are issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and govern the establishment of State, county, and farm acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of upland cotton and the determination of the acreage planted to cotton on individual farms in 1956. The latest available statistics of the Federal Government are used in making the determinations required to be made in connection with §§ 722.711 to 722.730. Prior to preparing the regulations in §§ 722.711 to 722.730, public notice was given (20 F. R. 6387) in accordance with Section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003). The data, views, and recommendations which were submitted in response to such notice have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

(b) In order that the State and county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees may establish farm acreage allotments as early as possible prior to the cotton referendum, which under section 343 of the act is required to be held by December 15, 1955, if a national marketing quota is proclaimed for the 1956 crop of upland cotton, it is essential that the regulations in §§ 722.711 to 722.730 be made effective as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the 30-day effective date provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and such regulations shall be effective upon filing of this document with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

§ 722.712 Definitions. As used in §§ 722.711 to 722.730 and in all forms and documents in connection therewith, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires, the following terms shall have the following meanings and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter genders and the singular shall include the plural number:

The normal yield for a new cotton farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is normal for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to soil and other physical factors affecting the production of cotton.

(u) "Normal production" of any number of acres means the normal yield per acre of lint cotton for the farm multiplied by such number of acres.

(v) "Actual production" of cotton on the farm means the total number of pounds of lint cotton determined to have been produced on the farm in 1956.

(x) "Producer" means a person who, as owner or landlord (other than the landlord of a standing-rent tenant, fixed-rent tenant, or cash tenant), cash tenant, standing-rent tenant, fixed-rent tenant, share tenant, or sharecropper on a farm, is entitled to all or a share of the 1956 crop of cotton produced thereon or of the proceeds thereof.

(y) "Acreage planted to cotton":

(1) State. The acreages of cotton to be used in establishing State acreage allotments are as follows:

(i) For 1950. The measured acreages of cotton for all farms in the State, as determined for purposes of the 1950 cotton marketing quota program, and adjusted according to the provisions of subsections (f) (4) and (5), (g) (3), and (i) of section 344 of the act.

(ii) For 1951 and 1952. The official planted acreages of cotton (acreage in cultivation on July 1 of each year plus the estimated acreage planted but abandoned prior to July 1), as determined by the Agricultural Marketing Service (formerly the Bureau of Agricultural Economics) of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(iii) For 1953. The measured acreages of cotton for all farms in the State, as determined in accordance with official instructions.

(iv) For 1954. The measured acreages of cotton for all farms in the State, as determined for purposes of the 1954 cotton marketing quota program, and adjusted according to the provisions of subsections (g) (3), (i), and (m) (2) of section 344 of the act.

(2) County. The acreages of cotton to be used in establishing county acreage allotments are as follows:

(i) For 1950. The measured acreages of cotton for all farms in the county, as determined for purposes of the 1950 cotton marketing quota program, and adjusted according to the provisions of subsections (f) (4) and (5), (g) (3), and (i) of section 344 of the act.

(ii) For 1951 and 1952. The official planted acreages of cotton (acreage in cultivation on July 1 of each year plus the estimated acreage planted but abandoned prior to July 1), as determined by the Agricultural Marketing Service (formerly the Bureau of Agricultural Economics) of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(iii) For 1953. The measured acreages of cotton for all farms in the county, as determined in accordance with official instructions.

(iv) For 1954. The measured acreages of cotton for all farms in the county, as determined for purposes of the 1954 cotton marketing quota program, and adjusted according to the provisions of subsections (g) (3), (i), and (m) (2) of section 344 of the act.

(3) Farm (1953, 1954, 1955). For purposes of establishing farm acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of cotton, the acreage planted to cotton on a farm means the acreage of land planted to cotton for the years 1953, 1954, and 1955, which shall be determined as follows:

(i) For 1953. The acreage of cotton measured in accordance with official instructions.

(ii) For 1954 and 1955. The acreages of cotton measured for purposes of the 1954 and 1955 cotton marketing quota programs, and adjusted, as provided in subsections (g) (3), (i), and (m) (2) of section 344 of the act.

(4) Farm (1956). For purposes of determining compliance with the farm acreage allotment, the acreage planted to cotton on a farm in 1956 shall be the acreage of land seeded to cotton on the farm in 1956, excluding any acreage in excess of the farm acreage allotment which (i) is destroyed by causes beyond the producer's control prior to the expiration of the period established under item (ii) of this subparagraph for disposing of excess cotton acreage, or (ii) is disposed of not later than 20 days, or such longer period as is approved in writing by the county committee, in accordance with § 722.726, after the original notice of the measured cotton acreage is mailed to the farm operator.

(5) Exclusion of acreages planted to extra long staple cotton. Acreage devoted to the production of American-Egyptian, Sea Island, and Sealand cotton during the period of years 1950 to 1955, inclusive, shall not be included in the acreage planted to cotton, as determined under subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph (y), for the purposes of determining acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of cotton.

(z) "Abnormal weather conditions" means weather conditions (including conditions directly resulting therefrom) adversely affecting the planting of cotton, which conditions must have been of sufficient duration and intensity to prevent the seeding of land to cotton and must have continued until the end of the planting season for the area. In apportioning the national acreage allotment to States in accordance with § 722.715, adjustments for abnormal weather conditions are made in the acreages planted to cotton in the States on the basis of recommendations of the State committees and official statistics and studies of the Department of Agriculture. In apportioning the State acreage allotment among counties in accordance with § 722.716 (b), adjustments for abnormal weather conditions are made in the acreages planted to cotton in counties on the basis of recommendations of the State committee and official statistics and studies of the Department of Agriculture. Any such adjustment in the acreage planted to cotton in a State or county is the amount established by reference to available information and data as the net reduction of planted acreage in the State or county attributable solely to abnormal weather conditions. Such adjustments for abnormal weather conditions take into consideration failure to seed cotton because of abnormal weather conditions.

(aa) "Cropland" means farm land which in 1955 was tilled or was in regular crop-rotation, excluding (1) bearing orchards and vineyards (except the acreage of cropland therein), (2) plowable noncrop open pasture, and (3) any land which constitutes or will constitute, if tillage is continued, a wind erosion hazard to the community.

§ 722.713 Issuance of forms and instructions. The Director shall cause to be prepared such forms and instructions with respect to internal management as are necessary for carrying out these regulations. The forms shall be issued by the Director with the approval of the Deputy Administrator, and the instructions shall be issued by the Deputy Administrator. Copies of such forms and instructions shall be furnished free to persons needing them upon request made to the office of the State or county committee or to the Director.

§ 722.714 Extent of calculations and rule of fractions. The acreages planted to cotton on farms and farm acreage allotments shall be computed to three places beyond the decimal point and rounded to tenths of acres. Fractions of fifty-one thousandths of an acre or more shall be rounded upward, and fractions of less than fifty-one thousandths of an acre shall be dropped. For example, 10.051 would be 10.1 and 10.050 would be 10.0.

STATE AND COUNTY ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

§ 722.715 Apportionment of national acreage allotment among States. The national acreage allotment proclaimed for the 1956 crop of cotton, less the acreage required pursuant to section 344 (k) of the act to provide any State an allotment not less than the smaller of 4,000 acres or the highest acreage planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955, is apportioned among the other States on the basis of the average acreage planted to cotton in each such State for the years 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, and 1954, with adjustments in such acreages for abnormal weather conditions. The acreage allotted to a State pursuant to the provisions of this section is referred to herein as the "State acreage allotment". The State acreage allotment for each State for the 1956 crop of cotton is as follows:

State:	State acreage allotments
Alabama	1,025,141

United States total	17,391,304

[1] Minimum State acreage allotments determined in accordance with section 344 (k) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

§ 722.716 Apportionment of State acreage allotment among counties—(a) Establishment of State acreage reserve. The State committee shall determine the percentage of the State acreage allotment which is needed for the purposes of subparagraphs (1) through (5) of paragraph (c) of this section and shall set aside a total State acreage reserve of not more than 10 percent of the State acreage allotment (15 percent in the case of Oklahoma), and not less than 3 percent of the State acreage allotment unless, on the basis of the needs of the State, the State committee recommends a smaller acreage reserve than 3 percent of the State acreage allotment and the Administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service approves such recommendation.

(b) Computed county acreage allotments. The State acreage allotment for the 1956 crop of cotton, less the State acreage reserve established pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, shall be apportioned to counties (parishes in Louisiana) on the basis of the average acreage planted to cotton in each county in 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, and 1954 (herein referred to as the "base years"), with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions during such years. The acreage allotted to a county (or parish) pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph is herein referred to as the "computed county acreage allotment."

(c) Use of State acreage reserve. The State acreage reserve established under paragraph (a) of this section shall be used by the State committee for any one or more of the purposes set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph.

(1) To adjust computed county acreage allotments for trends in the acreage of cotton. A part or all of the State acreage reserve may be used by the State committee, as determined to be necessary, to adjust the computed county acreage allotments for trends in the acreage planted to cotton in the counties during recent years (the period of years may include the year 1955 but shall not include the year 1949). The State committee may determine such adjustments by use of a formula which shall be applied uniformly to each county in the State.

(2) To adjust computed county acreage allotments for counties adversely affected by abnormal conditions affecting plantings of cotton. A part or all of the State acreage reserve may be used by the State committee, as determined to be necessary, to adjust the computed county acreage allotments for abnormal conditions adversely affecting plantings in the counties during the base years. The State committee shall examine the acreage planted to cotton in the county in each of the base years to determine whether the acreage planted may have been adversely affected by abnormal conditions. In determining whether an adjustment should be made for abnormal conditions adversely affecting plantings in a county, the State committee shall take into consideration the following factors: (i) Abnormal weather conditions, such as floods and droughts during the planting season which caused plantings during such season to be abnormally low in comparison with normal; (ii) conditions in counties in which a number of farms are being returned to cotton production or are increasing the acreage in cotton after having been out of production or having been on a reduced level of cotton production because such farms were used to a larger extent than normal in connection with air bases, defense plants and other wartime activities; (iii) abnormal reduction in planted cotton acreages because of an unusual movement of labor from farms in the area or county to war industries or into the armed forces and the return of such labor as compared with such movements in other counties; and (iv) any other abnormal conditions which adversely affected plantings in the county to a greater extent than in other counties. In determining any adjustment under item (i) of this subparagraph for abnormal weather conditions the State committee shall take into consideration any adjustment made for abnormal weather conditions pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(3) To make adjustments in acreage allotments for small farms. The State committee shall determine the acreage, if any, which is required from the State acreage reserve to supplement that part of the county acreage reserves established as provided for in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of § 722.717 (e) to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments for old cotton farms established at 15 acres or less under paragraph (c) or (d) of § 722.717. The State committee shall determine the acreage, if any, to be made available to a county for the purposes of this subparagraph and such acreage shall be used by the county committee only for adjustments in small farm allotments.

(4) To establish 1956 acreage allotments for new cotton farms. Where the State committee determines that the needs for acreage to establish acreage allotments for new cotton farms are generally uniform in counties throughout the State, the State committee shall determine whether all the acreage required to establish acreage allotments for new cotton farms shall be provided from the State acreage reserve or the county acreage reserve, or from both such reserves. In determining the source of acreage for new cotton farms the State committee shall take into consideration the acreage requirements determined for such farms from the county surveys, if available, as provided for in § 722.717 (e) (3). Where it is determined by the State committee that the entire county acreage reserve for any county is needed for making adjustments pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of § 722.717 (e), the State committee shall consider establishing an acreage from the State acreage reserve to supplement the acreage, if any, set aside by the county committee from the county acreage reserve for establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms. In determining the estimated acreage to be set aside for establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms on the basis of the factors set forth in § 722.717 (e) (3), the State committee shall take into consideration the experience of State and county committees in establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms under previous acreage allotment programs and any other available information. The acreage made available to any county under this subparagraph shall be used by the county committee only for new cotton farms.

(5) To correct inequities in farm allotments and to prevent hardship. The State committee shall determine the acreage required from the State acreage reserve to supplement that part of the county acreage reserve established, as provided for in § 722.717 (e) (4), for making adjustments in farm acreage allotments to correct inequities and to prevent hardship.

(d) Availability of data for inspection. The following shall be on file and shall be available in the office of the State committee for examination by any interested cotton producer: (1) The amount of the State acreage reserve; (2) the formula, if any, and data developed and used under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraphs (c) of this section; and (3) the total acreage set aside from the State acreage reserve for the purposes set forth in subparagraphs (3), (4), and (5) of paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) County acreage allotment. The county acreage allotment shall be the sum of (1) the computed county acreage allotment determined under paragraph (b) of this section, and (2) the acreages from the State acreage reserve which are added to the computed county acreage allotment under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (c) of this section. This paragraph will be amended at a later date to include the county acreage allotment established for each county.

(f) Administrative areas. If the county committee with the approval of the State committee, or if the State committee, determines with respect to a county in which farm acreage allotments are to be established under § 722.717 (c) that, because of different conditions pertaining to the production of cotton in separate areas of the county, including differences in types, kinds, and productivity of the soil, different areas of the county should be treated separately in order to prevent discrimination, each such area shall be designated as an administrative area and, insofar as practicable, each such area shall be treated as a county in determining the acreage allotment for the area and in establishing farm acreage allotments.

(g) Apportionment of excess released acreage to counties. The acreage allotment surrendered to the State committee pursuant to § 722.717 (j) shall be apportioned by the State committee to counties on the basis of trends in acreage, abnormal conditions adversely affecting plantings, or for small or new farms or to correct inequities in farm allotments and to prevent hardship.

ESTABLISHMENT OF FARM ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

§ 722.717 Apportionment of county acreage allotment—(a) Determination of method to be used in apportioning county acreage allotment among farms. Section 344 (f) (2) of the act provides that the county acreage allotment, less the county acreage reserve and the acreage required to establish minimum farm allotments under section 344 (f) (1) of the act, shall be allotted to farms by multiplying the adjusted cropland for each old cotton farm by a uniform county (or administrative area) cropland factor (this method of establishing allotments will be referred to in this section as the "cropland basis"). Section 344 (f) (6) of the act provides that if the county committee so recommends and the Secretary determines that such action will result in a more equitable distribution of the county allotment among farms in the county than would be the case if the cropland basis were used, the county acreage allotment, less the county acreage reserve, shall be apportioned to old cotton farms on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton on the farm during the preceding three years, adjusted as may be necessary for abnormal conditions affecting plantings (this method will be referred to in this section as the "historical basis"). The county committee shall study these two methods of apportioning the county acreage allotment among farms and determine which method should be used in order to establish equitable allotments for farms in the county. If the county committee determines that farm acreage allotments should be determined on the historical basis, its recommendation to that effect should be forwarded to the State committee for transmittal to the Deputy Administrator. When § 722.716 (e) is amended to include the county acreage allotment established for each county, the Secretary will designate the basis on which farm acreage allotments are to be established in the county.

(b) Determination of county acreage reserve. The county committee shall establish a county acreage reserve of not in excess of 15 percent of the county acreage allotment which may be used to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments for old cotton farms determined under paragraph (c) or (d) of this section and to establish acreage allotments for new cotton farms under paragraph (e) (3) of this section. The county acreage reserve shall be not less than five percent of the county acreage allotment unless the county committee recommends a smaller acreage reserve and the State committee gives its approval. Any approval of a smaller acreage reserve shall be based upon a showing that such acreage is adequate, on the basis of the factors set forth in paragraph (e) of this section, to make necessary adjustments in indicated allotments for old cotton farms and to establish allotments for new cotton farms. The county acreage reserve approved by the State committee shall be not less than three percent of the county acreage allotment, except that the Deputy Administrator may approve a smaller reserve for a county if he finds that three percent of the county acreage allotment would provide more acreage for adjustments and establishing new farm allotments than is needed in the county.

(c) Indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms in counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the cropland basis. If farm acreage allotments are to be determined in the county on the cropland basis, the county acreage allotment, less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, shall be used to determine indicated allotments for old cotton farms as follows:

(1) Indicated minimum acreage allotments for old cotton farms with highest cotton acreage less than five acres. The indicated minimum acreage allotment for each old cotton farm on which the highest acreage planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 was less than five acres, shall be equal to such highest acreage.

(2) Pro rata reduction of indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms. If the sum of (i) the indicated acreage allotments determined under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (c) and (ii) the acreage determined by multiplying the number of old cotton farms with five acres or more planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 by five, exceeds the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section), an indicated acreage allotment of five acres shall be established for each old cotton farm having five acres or more planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955. Where indicated acreage allotments of five acres are established under this subparagraph, each indicated acreage allotment determined under this subparagraph and under subparagraph (1) for each old cotton farm shall be reduced pro rata so that the sum of the indicated acreage allotments for all old cotton farms does not exceed the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section).

(3) Indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms with highest cotton acreage of five acres or more in counties where subparagraph (2) of this paragraph is not applicable—(i) Determination of adjusted cropland. If subparagraph (2) of this paragraph is not applicable in the county, the county committee shall determine an adjusted cropland acreage for each old cotton farm on which the highest acreage planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 was five acres or more, by deducting from the cropland on the farm the sum of the following acreages:

(a) The 1955 acreage of sugarcane for sugar or for syrup and sugar beets for sugar;

(b) The 1955 acreage of tobacco for market (or the 1955 farm acreage allotment, if any, for the applicable type of tobacco if the 1955 acreage has not been determined);

(c) The 1955 acreage of peanuts picked and threshed, as adjusted by the county committee for abnormal conditions affecting such acreage;

(d) The 1955 wheat acreage for market (including the acreage of wheat for feeding to livestock for market). In States in the commercial wheat-producing area for 1956, if the 1955 wheat acreage on the farm was reduced substantially below the 1955 farm wheat acreage allotment because of adverse weather conditions, the acreage to be deducted shall be the 1956 wheat allotment for the farm (less the acreage determined by the county committee to be used on the farm for home use other than for feeding to livestock for market). In the counties designated in item (f) of this subdivision (i) the deduction for wheat acreage shall be limited to the acreage by which the deduction which otherwise would be made under this item (d) exceeds the acreage deducted under item (f) of this subdivision (i);

(e) The acreage planted to rice in 1955 for market (including the acreage of rice for feeding to livestock for market), plus the acreage of other riceland on the farm for which water is available and which is not used for the production of cotton under the rotation system for the farm; and during the cotton-producing season (seeding to maturity).

(f) In Cochise, Gila, Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Mohave, Pima, Pinal, Santa Cruz, Yavapai and Yuma Counties, Arizona; and in Butte, Fresno, Glenn, Imperial, Kern, Kings, Los Angeles, Madera, Merced, Riverside, San Benito, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, Stanislaus, Tehama, Tulare and Yuba Counties, California; and in Clark and Nye Counties, Nevada; and in Bernalillo, Chaves, De Baca, Dona Ana, Eddy, Grant, Guadalupe, Hidalgo, Luna, Otero, Sierra, Socorro and Valencia Counties, New Mexico; and in Brewster, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, and Ward Counties, Texas, the acreage of cropland in excess of that acreage for which irrigation water is normally available and adequate from available facilities for the production of irrigated crops

(ii) Determination of county cropland factors. The first county cropland factor shall be computed by dividing (a) the remainder of the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section) after indicated allotments have been made under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, by (b) the total of the adjusted cropland acreages determined for old cotton farms in the county under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. Second and additional county cropland factors shall be determined, if necessary, by dividing (1) the available county acreage allotment remaining after maximum and minimum indicated farm acreage allotments, as defined in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, have been determined for such old cotton farms by (2) the total of the adjusted cropland acreages determined for old cotton farms in the county under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, which under the preceding factor were not affected by either the maximum or minimum allotment provisions. The last county (or administrative area) cropland factor computed and applied shall be referred to herein as the "final county cropland factor."

(iii) Indicated farm acreage allotment. An indicated acreage allotment shall be computed for each old cotton farm under this subparagraph (3) by multiplying the adjusted cropland for each such farm by the applicable county cropland factor except that (a) the maximum indicated acreage allotment for any such farm shall not exceed the highest acreage planted to cotton on the farm in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955, and (b) the minimum indicated acreage allotment for any such farm shall not be less than five acres.

(d) Indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms in counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the historical basis pursuant to section 344 (f) (6) of the act. In counties where the county committee recommends that the county acreage allotment, less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, be apportioned among farms for the year 1956 on the historical basis and the Deputy Administrator approves such recommendation, indicated allotments for old cotton farms shall be determined in accordance with subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "allotment base" means the average of the acreages planted to cotton on the farm during each of the three years 1953, 1954, and 1955 (sum of the acreages divided by three), with such adjustment in the acreage for any year as may be necessary for abnormal conditions affecting plantings. Adjustments for abnormal conditions affecting plantings will be made by the county committee on the basis of data and information available in the county office records or furnished by producers on the farm.

(1) Indicated allotments for old cotton farms in counties where minimum farm acreage allotments are not established. If the county committee determines, pursuant to section 344 (f) (6) of the act, that minimum farm acreage allotments shall not be determined in accordance with section 344 (f) (1) of the act, an indicated acreage allotment for each old cotton farm in the county shall be determined by multiplying the allotment base for the farm by a factor determined by dividing the total of all such allotment bases into the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section): Provided, That, if the county committee so elects, any such indicated farm acreage allotment shall not exceed an acreage equal to 50 percent of the cropland on the farm, and any part of the county acreage allotment not apportioned by reason of the application of such 50 percent limitation shall be added to the county acreage reserve established under paragraph (b) of this section and shall be available for the purposes specified in paragraph (c) of this section.

(2) Indicated allotments for old cotton farms in counties where minimum farm acreage allotments are established. If the county committee determines, pursuant to section 344 (f) (6) of the act, that minimum farm acreage allotments shall be determined in accordance with section 344 (f) (1) of the act, indicated farm acreage allotments shall be determined as provided in subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph (2), but subject to the provisions of subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph if the county committee so elects.

(i) Indicated minimum acreage allotments for old cotton farms with highest acreage planted to cotton less than five acres. The indicated minimum acreage allotment for each old cotton farm on which the highest acreage planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 was less than five acres, shall be equal to such highest acreage.

(ii) Pro rata reduction of indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms. If the sum of (a) the indicated acreage allotments determined under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph and (b) the acreage determined by multiplying the number of old cotton farms with five acres or more planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 by five, exceeds the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section), an indicated acreage allotment of five acres shall be established for each old cotton farm having five acres or more planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955. Where indicated acreage allotments of five acres are established under this subdivision (ii), each indicated acreage allotment determined under this subdivision (ii) and under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph for each old cotton farm shall be reduced pro rata so that the sum of the indicated acreage allotments for all old cotton farms does not exceed the county acreage allotment (less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section).

(iii) Indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms with highest acreage planted to cotton for five acres or more. In counties where subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph is not applicable, the indicated acreage allotments for old cotton farms with five acres or more planted to cotton in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 shall be determined by multiplying the allotment base for the farm by a factor determined by dividing the total of the allotment bases for all such farms into the county acreage allotment, less the acreage reserved pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section and the sum of the indicated acreage allotments determined under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph: Provided, That, if the indicated acreage allotment thus determined for any farm is less than five acres, it shall be five acres. Second and additional factors shall be determined, if necessary, by dividing (a) the available county acreage allotment after minimum indicated farm acreage allotments have been determined for such old farms by (b) the sum of the allotment bases for farms which under the preceding factor were not affected by the minimum allotment provision. The last county history factor computed and applied shall be referred to herein as the "final county history factor."

(iv) Limitation of farm acreage allotments to 50 percent of cropland. If the county committee so elects, the indicated farm acreage allotment determined for each farm in accordance with subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph shall not exceed an acreage equal to 50 percent of the cropland on the farm, and any part of the county acreage allotment not apportioned by reason of the application of such 50 percent limitation shall be added to the county acreage reserve established under paragraph (b) of this section and shall be available for the purposes specified in paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) Use of county acreage reserve. The county acreage reserve shall be used by the county committee as follows:

(1) Adjustments in indicated farm acreage allotments of 15 acres or less. Not less than 20 percent of the county acreage reserve shall, to the extent required, be used by the county committee to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments determined under paragraph (c) or (d) of this section to be 15 acres or less, excluding minimum indicated farm acreage allotments established under section 344 (f) (1) (B) of the act. Such adjustments shall be made so as to establish acreage allotments which are fair and reasonable in relation to the acreage allotments established for similar farms in the community, taking into consideration for the farm the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop-rotation practices; the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton; and abnormal conditions of production. The county committee shall not make adjustments under this subparagraph so as to cause an acreage allotment to be established for any such farm (i) in excess of the acreage which could be planted to cotton on the farm in 1956 consistent with sound crop-rotation practices followed in the community, (ii) in excess of the acreage which can be farmed with the labor and equipment currently or normally available on the farm, or (iii) which would cause cotton to be planted on land unsuited for the production of cotton.

(2) Adjustments in indicated acreage allotments for other farms. The remainder of the acreage in the county acreage reserve, after meeting or determining the requirements under subparagraphs (1), (3) and (4) of this paragraph, shall be used by the county committee to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments which are more than 15 acres and minimum indicated farm acreage allotments established under section 344 (f) (1) (B) of the act. Such adjustments shall be made so as to establish acreage allotments which are fair and reasonable in relation to the acreage allotments established for similar farms in the community, taking into consideration for the farm the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop-rotation practices; the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton; and abnormal conditions of production. In the absence of specific data relating to the labor and equipment available for the production of cotton and to the crop-rotation practices followed on a farm, the county committee may consider the acreage planted to cotton on the farm in 1953, 1954, or 1955 as reflecting such factors and use such acreage as the basis for adjusting the indicated farm acreage allotment under this subparagraph. The county committee shall not make adjustments under this subparagraph so as to cause an acreage allotment to be established for any such farm (i) in excess of the acreage of cotton which could be planted on the farm in 1956 consistent with sound crop-rotation practices followed in the community, (ii) in excess of the acreage which can be farmed with the labor and equipment currently or normally available on the farm, or (iii) which would cause cotton to be planted on land unsuited for the production of cotton.

(3) Acreage allotments for new cotton farms—(i) Determination of acreage needed for establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms. The county committee, with the assistance of the community committees, shall estimate from county office records and other available sources of information the number of new cotton farms in the county. In counties where farm acreage allotments are established on the cropland basis, an estimate shall be made of the adjusted cropland acreage for new cotton farms; and in counties where farm allotments are established on the historical basis, an estimate shall be made of the cropland on new cotton farms. Such estimates shall be used by the State and county committees as a basis for determining the acreage that will be required for establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms. In determining the acreage from the county acreage reserve which is to be used for establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms, the county committee shall take into consideration the acreage, if any, to be made available from the State acreage reserve pursuant to subparagraph (4) of § 722.716 (c) for establishing acreage allotments for new cotton farms. The total acreage reserved for establishing allotments for new cotton farms in the county, including any acreage allocated to the county for new cotton farms from the State acreage reserve, shall not exceed 75 percent of the total of the farm acreage allotments which the county committee estimates will be determined for the same number of old cotton farms in the county which are similar except for the acreages planted to cotton during the years 1953, 1954, and 1955.

(ii) Eligibility of a new cotton farm for a cotton acreage allotment. A cotton acreage allotment for a new cotton farm may be established by the county committee if each of the following conditions is met:

(a) An application for a cotton acreage allotment is filed by the farm operator with the county committee by the closing date established by the State committee. In no event is the closing date to be earlier than February 15, 1956.

(b) The farm operator is largely dependent on income from the farm for his livelihood.

(c) The farm is the only farm in the county which is owned or operated by the farm operator or farm owner for which a cotton acreage allotment is established for 1956.

(iii) Establishment of acreage allotments for new cotton farms. If the applicant's farm is eligible for a cotton acreage allotment, such allotment shall be established by the county committee on the basis of land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton. The acreage allotment so determined for any such farm shall not exceed the smallest of (a) the acreage allotment established for old cotton farms in the county which are similar with respect to the foregoing factors, (b) the acreage allotment requested by the applicant, and (c) the indicated allotments established pursuant to paragraph (c) or (d) of this section for old cotton farms in the county which are similar except for the acreages planted to cotton during the years 1953, 1954, and 1955. The sum of the acreage allotments determined by the county committee for new cotton farms shall not exceed the acreage reserves available for such farms in the county under this subparagraph. The acreage allotments for new cotton farms shall be subject to review and approval by the State committee, as provided in § 722.729.

(4) Adjustments in farm acreage allotments to correct inequities and to prevent hardship. The county committee shall determine the acreage required from the county reserve to supplement any acreage allocated to the county from the State acreage reserve to correct inequities in farm allotments and to prevent hardship. Such reserve shall be used by the county committee where it determines that the farm acreage allotment established under other provisions of this section is inequitable or that such allotment would work undue hardship on the producers on the farm. Such reserve may also be used for establishing and adjusting farm acreage allotments as provided in paragraph (h) of this section.

(f) Use of acreage allocated to county from State acreage reserve for adjusting allotments for small farms. The acreage allocated to a county from the State acreage reserve for small farms shall be used by the county committee to adjust indicated farm acreage allotments of 15 acres and less for old cotton farms on the basis of the factors set forth in paragraph (e) (1) and (2) of this section for adjusting small farm allotments.

(g) Allocation of reserve acreage by use of mathematical formula or rule. Any mathematical formula or rule adopted by the county committee for use in calculating the amount of acreage to be allocated to an individual farm from the acreage reserves provided for in paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section shall be subject to the approval of the State committee.

(h) Allotments for late and reconstituted farms and correction of errors. The acreage reserve provided for in paragraph (e) (4) of this section shall be used by the county committee for the purposes specified therein and also (i) for establishing allotments for old cotton farms for which allotments were not established at the time allotments were originally established for old cotton farms in the county because of oversight on the part of the county committee or because the county committee had no information or data with respect to acreage planted to cotton on the farm in 1953, 1954, and 1955, (ii) for correcting errors in farm acreage allotments, and (iii) for use in establishing acreage allotments for farms which are divided or combined for 1956. Where reconstitutions of farms are made for 1956 after farm acreage allotments for 1956 are established prior to the referendum, the cotton acreage histories and the acreage allotments for all such reconstituted farms shall be established as provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(1) If land which was constituted as a single farm for the year 1955 is divided into two or more tracts for 1956:

(i) The acreages planted to cotton on the farm in 1953, 1954, and 1955 (as defined in § 722.712 (y) and as shown in Col. (2), Cotton Table 2 of the county committee's farm cotton acreage record) shall be divided among the tracts in proportion to the acreage of cropland on each tract, except that upon agreement by the owners and operators and approval by the county committee the acreages normally considered as riceland, wheatland and sugarcane land may be excluded from the cropland on each tract in apportioning the cotton acreage history among the tracts: Provided, That, if two or more tracts of land were combined for 1954 or for 1955 to form the single farm and the single farm is divided for 1956, the cotton acreage history for any year in the farm base period prior to the combination which was contributed by each tract to the history for the single farm will be restored to such tract; and if any such tract is divided into two or more parts in connection with a reconstitution for 1956 the cotton acreage history for such tract for any year in the farm base period prior to the combination shall be divided among such parts in proportion to the acreage of cropland in each such part, except that, upon agreement by the owners and operators and approval by the county committee, the acreages normally considered as riceland, wheatland and sugarcane land may be excluded from the cropland in apportioning the cotton acreage history for the tract among the parts.

(ii) In counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the historical basis, if the acreage planted to cotton in 1953, 1954, or 1955 is adjusted for abnormal conditions affecting plantings, as provided in § 722.717 (d), such adjusted acreage shall be divided among the tracts as follows:

(a) For any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955 when the farm being divided was operated as a single farm, the cropland ratio determined under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph (1) shall be used in apportioning such adjusted cotton acreage among the tracts.

(b) In case the farm being divided was established by combining two or more tracts of land for 1954 or for 1955, each such tract shall be referred to herein as an "identical tract", and the adjusted cotton acreage for 1953 (in case of a combination for 1954) or for 1953 and 1954 (in case of a combination for 1955) shall be divided among the identical tracts as follows:

(1) Where any such adjustment in the acreage planted to cotton was made prior to the combination and the adjusted cotton acreage for that year for the combined farm which was used in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment is the same as when the combination was made, the adjusted cotton acreage which was used for the identical tract in making the combination shall be reestablished for the tract for that year.

(2) Where any such adjustment in the acreage planted to cotton was made prior to the combination and the adjusted cotton acreage for that year for the combined farm which was used in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment is less than when the combination was made, the adjustment for each identical tract in making the combination shall be reduced by the same percentage that the adjustment previously applicable for the combined farm was reduced.

(3) Where any such adjustment (upward) for any year for the combined farm which was used in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment is larger than the adjustment in effect at the time the combination was made, the county committee shall determine the share of the increase in the adjustment which is to be assigned to each identical tract on the basis of the conditions obtaining on the tract which were the cause for the increase and shall add its share of such increase to the adjusted cotton acreage determined for each such tract for that year prior to the combination.

(4) Where any such adjustment (upward) in the acreage planted to cotton in a year prior to the combination was initially made in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment, the county committee shall determine the share of the adjustment which is to be assigned to each identical tract and shall add its share of such increase to the planted cotton acreage for each such tract for that year.

(5) If, in establishing the original 1956 farm acreage allotment for a farm which was established by combining two or more tracts of land for 1954 or for 1955, the acreage planted to cotton on the combined farm was adjusted downward for abnormal conditions affecting plantings, the county committee shall determine the share of the adjustment which is to be assigned to each identical tract and make a corresponding reduction in the acreage planted to cotton on such tract for that year.

(c) Where an identical tract is divided, the adjusted cotton acreage for that year for the identical tract shall be divided among the tracts thereof in proportion to the acreage of cropland on each such tract, except that upon agreement by the owners and operators and approval by the county committee the acreages normally considered as riceland, wheatland, and sugarcane land may be excluded from the cropland on each tract in apportioning the adjusted cotton acreage for the identical tract among the tracts thereof.

(iii) In counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the cropland basis the 1956 farm acreage allotment established for the single farm shall be apportioned among the tracts on the basis of the cropland used or which would be used for each such tract in apportioning the 1955 cotton acreage among the tracts pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iv) In counties where farm acreage allotments are determined on the historical basis the 1956 farm acreage allotment established for the single farm shall be apportioned among the tracts in proportion to the allotment bases determined for such tracts.

(v) The sum of the 1956 allotments established for the several tracts shall not exceed the 1956 acreage allotment initially established for the single farm, except that the allotment determined under the foregoing provisions of this subparagraph for any farm consisting of such a tract or of which such a tract becomes a part shall be increased to the extent required by the minimum farm allotment provisions, if applicable in the county, and may be (a) adjusted by the county committee with the reserve available to correct inequities and to prevent hardship, and (b) increased with released acreage available to the county committee under paragraphs (j) and (k) of this section.

(2) If two or more tracts of land are combined and operated as a single farm in 1956 the allotment established for such single farm shall be the sum of the allotments established for such tracts, except that (i) the allotment for the single farm shall be increased to the extent required by the minimum allotment provisions if applicable in the county, and (ii) the allotment for such single farm shall not exceed the maximum farm allotment if such allotment limitation is in effect in the county: Provided, That the allotment determined for such single farm under the foregoing provisions of this subparagraph may be (a) adjusted by the county committee with the reserve available to correct inequities and to prevent hardship and (b) increased with released acreage available to the county committee under paragraphs (j) and (k) of this section.

(i) Availability of reserves for inspection by interested cotton producers. The allocations to the county from the State acreage reserve and the total amount and the distribution of the county acreage reserve shall be available in the office of the county committee for examination by any interested producer.

(j) Release and reapportionment of cotton acreage allotments. Any part of any 1956 farm acreage allotment which will not be used in 1956 and which is voluntarily released to the county committee by the farm owner or operator by the applicable closing date shall be deducted from the farm acreage allotment and may be reapportioned by the county committee not later than the applicable closing date to other farms receiving farm acreage allotments in the same county in amounts determined by the county committee to be fair and reasonable on the basis of past acreages of cotton, land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton, crop-rotation practices, and soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton. The State committee shall establish closing dates for purposes of the foregoing provisions for the entire State or for areas in the State if there is a substantial difference in planting dates for different areas in the State. The closing date so established for releasing farm acreage allotments shall be the date on which the planting of cotton normally becomes general on farms in the State or area, and the closing date so established for reapportionment of such released acreage to other farms in the same county shall be the latest date on which cotton can normally be planted on farms in the State or area with reasonable expectation of producing an average crop. If all of the allotted acreage voluntarily released is not needed in the county, the county committee may surrender the excess acreage to the State committee for reapportionment to counties as provided in § 722.716 (g). Any farm acreage allotment released for 1956 only shall, in determining future farm cotton acreage allotments, be regarded as having been planted on the farm from which such allotment was released if cotton was planted on such farm in at least one of the years in the three-year farm base period, except that acreage released by the owner or operator of a new cotton farm will not be regarded as planted on such farm unless a part of such allotment is retained and cotton is planted on the farm in 1956. Any part of any farm acreage allotment may be permanently released in writing to the county committee by the owner and operator of the farm, and reapportioned as provided in this paragraph. In determining future farm cotton acreage allotments, the planting in 1956 of reapportioned acreage allotments shall not be considered. For the purpose of determining future State and county acreage allotments, reapportioned acreage will be credited to the State and to the county in which such acreage was planted. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, the county committee shall not accept a release of a farm acreage allotment permanently or for 1956 only, if (1) such release is opposed by the owner or operator or the holder of a real estate lien on the farm, or (2) the county committee determines that the farm is being acquired for governmental or other public purposes.

(k) Apportionment of surrendered acreage allocated to county by State committee. The acreage apportioned to the county under paragraph (g) of § 722.716 may be used by the county committee for establishing and adjusting farm acreage allotments for new farms or small farms or to correct inequities and to prevent hardship in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (c) and (f) of this section.

§ 722.718 Allotments for special farms—(a) Allotments for farms returned to agricultural production. The owner or operator of any cotton farm, in an area acquired in 1940 or thereafter for nonfarming purposes by the United States or by any State or agency thereof, which has been returned to agricultural production and which is not eligible under the regulations in this subpart for an acreage allotment as an old cotton farm, may apply to the county committee for a 1956 cotton acreage allotment for such farm. Any such application shall be in writing and shall be filed within three years after the date of acquisition of such farm by the applicant but not later than the closing date established by the State committee, which shall not be later than March 1, 1956. No such owner or operator shall be eligible for an acreage allotment under this paragraph unless it is established to the satisfaction of the county committee that such person was the owner or operator of a cotton farm at the time it was acquired by the United States or any State or agency thereof. The acreage allotment established for any such farm shall compare with the acreage allotments established for other farms in the same area which are similar, taking into consideration the cotton acreage allotment, if any, last established for such farm; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton.

(b) Allotments for other farms owned or operated by persons from whom cotton farms were acquired. The county committee shall establish an acreage allotment or consider an adjustment in the acreage allotment determined under § 722.717, for any farm within the State owned or operated by a person from whom a cotton farm was acquired in the State in 1940 or thereafter for governmental or other public purposes, provided application therefor is filed within three years after acquisition of such farm by the applicant. The acreage allotment established for any such farm shall compare with the acreage allotments established for other farms in the same area which are similar, taking into consideration the cotton acreage allotment, if any, of the farm so acquired from the owner or operator; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton: Provided, That no person shall be entitled to receive an acreage allotment under both this paragraph and paragraph (a) of this section, and no person who, since his farm was acquired for governmental or other public purpose, has acquired an old cotton farm that for 1956 will have a representative cotton acreage allotment, shall be entitled to receive an allotment under this paragraph.

(c) Cotton farm. For the purposes of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section "cotton farm" means any farm on which there was an acreage planted to cotton (or regarded as planted to cotton under Public Law 12, 79th Congress and section 344 (1) of the act) during any of the three years immediately preceding the year in which the farm was acquired by the United States, or any State or any agency thereof, or for any public purpose.

(d) Acreage allotted in addition to county and State acreage allotments. Except to the extent that the production of any farm for which an acreage allotment is established under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section has contributed to the county and State acreage allotments, the additional acreage allotted to farms under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall be in addition to the acreage allotments otherwise established for the county and State under the applicable provisions of the regulations in this subpart and the production of the additional acreage so allotted shall be in addition to the national marketing quota established for 1956 pursuant to Section 342 of the Act.

(e) Reallocation of allotments for flooded farms. In any county in which a major flood control reservoir constructed by the United States Government is located wholly or in part, farm acreage allotments, established pursuant to the provisions of § 722.717 for the production of cotton on the lands within such reservoir, which lands, because of permanent or perennial flooding occasioned by the construction of such reservoir, shall be unfit for further cotton production, may be reallocated, within the discretion of the county committee, to other farms within the county as will in the opinion of the committee best serve the public interest.

(2) Conditions under which production is exempted from penalty. The marketing penalty shall not apply to the marketing of any cotton of the 1956 crop which is grown, for experimental purposes only, on a farm operated by a publicly owned agricultural experiment station and produced at public expense by employees of the experiment station. Where the acreage planted to cotton on a farm operated by a publicly owned agricultural experiment station is in excess of the farm acreage allotment, the acreage used for determining the marketing excess, if any, for the farm shall be the smaller of (i) the acreage planted to cotton on the farm in excess of the farm acreage allotment, or (ii) the acreage planted to cotton on the farm which is not for experimental purposes. Also, the marketing penalty shall not apply to cotton produced for experimental purposes on other land by a person pursuant to a written agreement with a publicly owned agricultural experiment station whereby the experiment station bears the costs and risks incident to the production of the cotton and the proceeds from the crop inure to the benefit of the experiment station and such agreement is approved by the State committee. Such approval will be given if the State committee finds that the agreement conforms to the requirements of this subparagraph.

LONG STAPLE COTTON

§ 722.719 Extra long staple cotton—(a) If marketing quotas under section 347 of the act are in effect for the 1956 crop. If marketing quotas for extra long staple cotton are in effect for the 1956 crop, the provisions of this subpart relating to upland cotton shall not apply to those types of extra long staple cotton which are subject to marketing quotas under the provisions of section 347 of the act.

(b) If marketing quotas under section 347 of the act are not in effect for the 1956 crop. If marketing quotas for extra long staple cotton are not in effect for the 1956 crop—

(1) All of the 1956 crop of American-Egyptian cotton which is produced from pure strain seed in Cochise, Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Mohave, Pima, Pinal, Santa Cruz and Yuma Counties, Arizona; and Imperial and Riverside Counties, California; and Dona Ana, Eddy, Luna, Otero and Sierra Counties, New Mexico; and Brewster, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell and Ward Counties, Texas, shall be exempted from all provisions of the regulations in this subpart with respect to marketing quotas for the 1956 crop of upland cotton, provided, the American-Egyptian cotton is ginned on a roller-type gin or the Deputy Administrator authorizes such cotton to be ginned on another type gin for experimental purposes or to prevent loss of such cotton due to frost or other adverse conditions, except that such exemption shall not apply to any farm unless the approval of the county committee for the planting of such cotton on the farm is obtained in advance of planting time. Such approval shall be based upon findings by the county committee (i) that pure strain American-Egyptian cottonseed is to be planted and (ii) that roller-type gin facilities are available in the area for the ginning of such cotton and that such facilities will be used in the ginning of all cotton produced from such seed. In connection with determining the purity of seed, the county committee may require the farm operator to furnish approved purity test certificates or approved State certification tags covering the American-Egyptian seed to be planted showing that such seed is of pure strain.

(2) All of the 1956 crop of Sea Island and Sealand cotton which is produced from pure strain seed in Alachua, Bradford, Columbia, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lake, Madison, Marion, Orange, Putnam, Seminole, Sumter, Suwannee, Union and Volusia Counties, Florida; and Atkinson, Berrien, Cook and Lanier Counties, Georgia; and all of the 1956 crop of Sea Island cotton which is produced from pure strain seed in Puerto Rico, shall be exempted from all provisions of the regulations in this subpart with respect to marketing quotas for the 1956 crop of upland cotton, provided the Sea Island and Sealand cotton is ginned on a roller-type gin or the Deputy Administrator authorizes such cotton to be ginned on another type gin for experimental purposes or to prevent loss of such cotton due to frost or other adverse conditions, except that such exemption shall not apply to any farm unless the approval of the county committee for the planting of such cotton on the farm is obtained in advance of planting time. Such approval shall be based upon findings by the county committee (i) that pure strain Sea Island cottonseed, or pure strain Sealand cottonseed, is to be planted and (ii) that roller-type gin facilities are available in the area for the ginning of such cotton and that such facilities will be used in the ginning of all cotton produced from such seed. In connection with determining the purity of seed, the county committee may require the farm operator to furnish approved purity test certificates or approved State certification tags covering the Sea Island seed and the Sealand seed to be planted showing that such seed is of pure strain.

(3) Any cotton produced from the 1956 crop which staples one and one-half inches or more in length and which is ginned on a roller-type gin, or the Deputy Administrator authorizes the cotton to be ginned on another type gin for experimental purposes or to prevent loss of the cotton due to frost or other adverse conditions, shall be exempted from the provisions of the regulations in this subpart with respect to marketing quotas for the 1956 crop of upland cotton regardless of where the cotton is produced in the United States or the variety of cotton from which such cotton is produced.

FARM MARKETING QUOTA AND FARM MARKETING EXCESS

§ 722.720 Notice of farm acreage allotment and marketing quota. Immediately after farm acreage allotments in a county or other local administrative area are established and approved by the State committee pursuant to § 722.729 (a), the county committee shall mail to the operator of each such farm a written notice of the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota for the farm. The county committee shall also mail to the operator of each new cotton farm for which application for an allotment is made but for which it is determined that no farm acreage allotment and marketing quota will be established, a similar written notice showing "None" as the acreage allotment and marketing quota established for the farm. The notice shall contain at or near the top thereof the following statement: "To all persons who as operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper will be interested in the cotton produced on the farm for which this acreage allotment and marketing quota are established." Notice so given shall constitute notice to all such persons. Such notice shall also contain a brief statement of the procedure whereby application for review of the marketing quota may be made under section 363 of the act. A copy of each notice, containing a notation thereon of the date of mailing the notice to the operator of the farm, shall be kept among the permanent records of the county committee, and upon request a copy thereof, duly certified as a true and correct copy, shall be furnished without charge to any person who as operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper, is interested in the cotton produced in 1956 on the farm for which the notice is given. Insofar as practicable, the notice for each old cotton farm shall be prepared and mailed to the operator so as to be received prior to the referendum to determine whether cotton farmers favor or oppose marketing quotas for the 1956 crop.

§ 722.722 Amount of the farm marketing excess. The farm marketing excess for the 1956 crop of cotton shall be the normal production of the acreage of cotton on the farm in excess of the farm acreage allotment: Provided, That, such farm marketing excess shall not be larger than the amount by which the actual production of cotton on the farm exceeds the normal production of the farm acreage allotment if the producer establishes such actual production in accordance with regulations to be issued under this part by the Secretary.

§ 722.723 Publication of farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas. One copy of each notice of the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota for farms in a county shall be placed in binders or folders, or in lieu thereof a listing of such allotments shall be prepared, and such notices or listing shall be kept freely available in the office of the county committee for public inspection for a period of not less than thirty calendar days. At the end of such period the copies of the notices or the listing shall be filed in the office of the county committee and remain readily available for further public inspection. If the county is divided into administrative areas, separate binders, folders, or listings shall be prepared and made available for inspection for each administrative area. The listing sheets on which farm acreage allotments are determined shall be kept available with the Chairman of the county committee at the office of the county committee.

§ 722.724 Successors-in-interest. Any person who succeeds to the interest of a producer in a farm, or in a cotton crop, or in cotton for which a farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess were established, shall, to the same extent as his predecessor, be entitled to all the rights and privileges incident to such marketing quota and marketing excess and be subject to the restrictions on the marketing of cotton.

§ 722.725 Marketing quotas not transferable. A farm marketing quota is established for a farm and, except as specifically provided for in §722.717 (j) and (k) and § 722.718 (d) and (e), may not be assigned or otherwise transferred in whole or in part to any other farm.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 722.726 Measurement of farms to determine compliance with allotments—(a) Premeasurement. The county committee shall provide for the measurement prior to planting of an acreage on the farm equal to the farm acreage allotment if the farm operator requests such measurement and pays the cost thereof, as determined by the county committee, and any farm on which such measured acreage is the only acreage planted to cotton shall be deemed to have an acreage not in excess of the farm acreage allotment.

(b) Measurement after planting. Measurement of the acreage planted to cotton on each farm in the county shall be made under the general supervision of the county committee in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) The measurement of the farm shall be made by an employee of the county committee who has been designated as a reporter and determined by the county office manager to be qualified to carry out the duties of a reporter. A reporter may be assisted in the measurement of a farm by another reporter, a community, county, or State committeeman, a State committee representative, any employee of the county office when authorized by the county office manager, or by any employee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture when authorized by the Deputy Administrator. The reporter may request the operator or producer or his representative to designate all fields on the farm on which cotton was planted in 1956 and otherwise to assist in measuring the farm. If so requested, the operator or producer or his representative shall so designate all fields planted to cotton on the farm in 1956. The reporter may utilize any assistance from the operator or producer or his representative in measuring the farm.

(2) The county office manager shall have responsibility for assigning, in writing, insofar as practicable, the farms in the county to be measured by a reporter.

(3) A reporter shall visit each farm assigned to him for measurement and enter thereon if such entry will facilitate measurement. Upon request he will obtain and exhibit to the farm operator, producer, or owner his written assignment to measure the farm.

(4) Measurement may be made by identification of fields or parts of fields by use of a map or aerial photograph, or by means of a steel or metallic tape or chain, or rod and chain, or by use of a measuring wheel when authorized by the Deputy Administrator, or by a combination of two or more of the foregoing methods. The pertinent data and information for the farm shall be entered by the reporter on the Form CSS-578, and on maps or aerial photographs where applicable, and filed in the county office. Computations of acreages shall be made by an employee in the county office from the data so obtained, and the use of a planimeter or rotometer in connection therewith is authorized.

(5) Measurements of whole fields made prior to the effective date of this § 722.726 and in accordance with existing procedures then in effect may be utilized where pertinent for the purpose of ascertaining with respect to any farm the acreage planted to cotton in 1956 and the acreage of cotton in excess of the 1956 farm acreage allotment.

(c) Notice of measured acreage and disposition of excess acreage. The county committee shall notify the farm operator by mail of the 1956 measured acreage of cotton on the farm. If such acreage is in excess of the farm acreage allotment, the county committee shall also notify the farm operator that unless the acreage of cotton on the farm is adjusted to the farm acreage allotment within the time established under this paragraph the farm marketing excess for the farm will be determined on the basis of the excess acreage and the normal yield for the farm. Notice so given shall constitute notice to each producer having an interest in the 1956 crop of cotton produced on the farm. If producers on the farm do not dispose of the excess cotton acreage within 20 days after notice of the measured cotton acreage is mailed to the farm operator as provided in this paragraph, or within 20 days after notice of the remeasured cotton acreage determined pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section is mailed to the farm operator, and a request in writing for additional time and a showing to the satisfaction of the county committee that circumstances beyond their control prevented the disposition of the excess acreage within the applicable 20-day period is filed with the county committee, the county committee may allow an additional period not to exceed 10 days for disposing of the excess acreage. No cotton acreage shall be disposed of for purposes of adjusting the planted acreage of cotton to the farm acreage allotment after any cotton has been harvested from such planted acreage.

(d) Remeasurement. The county committee shall provide for the remeasurement, upon request by the farm operator, of the acreage planted to cotton on the farm, but the operator shall be required to deposit with the treasurer of the county committee an amount equal to the estimated cost of such remeasurement and such deposit shall not be returned to the farm operator if the planted acreage is found upon such remeasurement to be in excess of the farm acreage allotment. Where the farm operator requests an additional remeasurement of the acreage planted to cotton on the farm, the county committee shall provide for such remeasurement only if it finds, on the basis of evidence presented by the farm operator and other available information or data, that an error was probably made in the prior remeasurement.

(e) Measurement of acreage disposed of. If the excess cotton acreage on any farm is disposed of within the time allowed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section and a producer on the farm requests that the acreage disposed of be measured and pays the estimated cost of measuring such acreage, the county committee shall provide for such measurement.

§ 722.727 Future effect of underplanting or overplanting farm acreage allotment—(a) Underplanting the farm acreage allotment. For any farm on which cotton is planted in 1956 and the acreage of cotton in 1956 is less than the 1956 farm acreage allotment by not more than the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or one acre, an acreage equal to the farm acreage allotment shall be deemed to be the acreage planted to cotton on the farm in 1956, and the additional acreage added to the cotton acreage history for the farm shall be added to the cotton acreage history for the county and State.

(b) No credit for overplanting the farm acreage allotment. Any acreage planted to cotton in 1956 in excess of the farm acreage allotment for the 1956 crop of cotton shall not be taken into account in establishing State, county, and farm acreage allotments for the 1957 and subsequent crops of cotton.

§ 722.728 Availability of records. The State and county committees shall make available for inspection by owners or operators of farms receiving cotton acreage allotments, all records pertaining to cotton acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

§ 722.729 Approval of county committee determinations and redelegation of authority by the State committee—(a) Approval of county committee determinations. The State committee shall review all acreage allotments and may revise or require revision of any determinations made under §§ 722.717 to 722.726. All acreage allotments for both old and new cotton farms shall be approved by the State committee, and no official notice of farm acreage allotment and marketing quota shall be mailed to a farm operator until such allotment has been approved by the State committee.

(b) Redelegation of authority. Any authority delegated to the State committee by the regulations in §§ 722.717 to 722.729 (a), inclusive, may be redelegated by the State committee.

REVIEW OF FARM ACREAGE ALLOTMENT

§ 722.730 Review of farm acreage allotment—(a) Review committees. Any producer who is dissatisfied with the farm acreage allotment established for his farm, or in the case of a new cotton farm with the action of the county committee in refusing to establish a farm acreage allotment for such farm, may, by making application within 15 days after the mailing to him of the notice provided for in § 722.720, have such allotment reviewed by a review committee composed of three farmers appointed by the Secretary pursuant to section 363 of the act. The review committee shall, upon proper application, review the action of the county committee. The review committee in determining any farm acreage allotment shall, to the same extent as the county committee, be limited to the establishment of a farm acreage allotment in an amount which, under the act and regulations, should have been established. Unless such application is made within 15 days, the original determination of the farm acreage allotment shall be final. All applications for review shall be made in accordance with the marketing quota review regulations issued by the Secretary, a copy of which may be obtained from the county committee.

(b) Court review. If the producer is dissatisfied with the determination of the review committee, he may, within 15 days after notice of such determination is mailed to him by registered mail, institute proceedings against the review committee to have the determination of the review committee reviewed by a court in accordance with section 365 of the act.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements contained herein have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1004.1 to 1004.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 1004.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.) and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Central Arizona marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in this order, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expenses of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler as his pro rata share of such expenses, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight, as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to all butterfat and skim milk contained in (i) producer milk (including such handler's own production), and (ii) other source milk in pool plants which is allocated to Class I milk.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order partially effective not later than November 16, 1955, and fully effective not later than December 1, 1955. Any delay beyond these dates will seriously threaten the orderly marketing of milk in the Central Arizona marketing area. The provisions of this order are known to handlers. The public hearing upon which this order is based was conducted on April 19–23, 1955. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 30, 1955 (20 F. R. 6340). The final decision, which contained the same requirements on the part of handlers as were in the recommended decision, was issued by the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture on October 7, 1955, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 13, 1955. Thus, handlers have known of these impending requirements for some time and should be prepared. Furthermore, producers continue to lose substantial income, and marketing conditions continue to remain unstabilized, each day the effective date of the order is delayed. The order also provides that payments to producers during the months of January through June be based on their average daily deliveries of milk to handlers during October and November 1955. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order partially effective November 16, 1955, and fully effective December 1, 1955, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for thirty days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (See section 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, which is marketed within the Central Arizona marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area;

(3) The issuance of this order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of approval of its issuance and who, during the determined representative period (August 1955), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Central Arizona marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of this order as set forth below:

§ 1004.43 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat transferred to a pool plant of another handler (except a producer-handler) in the form of fluid milk products shall, to the extent required, be classified so as to result in the maximum assignment of the producer milk of both handlers to Class I milk. Any additional amounts of skim milk and butterfat shall be classified Class I milk unless the operators of both plants claim utilization thereof in Class II milk in their reports submitted pursuant to § 1004.30: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II milk for any month shall be limited to the respective amounts thereof remaining in Class II milk for such month at the pool plant(s) of the receiving handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 1004.45;

(b) Skim milk and butterfat transferred to the plant of a producer-handler in the form of fluid milk products, shall be classified as Class I milk;

(c) Skim milk and butterfat transferred or diverted in bulk form as milk or skim milk to a nonpool milk plant shall be classified as Class I unless, (1) the transferee-plant is located less than 250 miles from the City Hall of Phoenix or Tucson, Arizona, whichever is nearer, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, (2) the transferring or diverting handler claims classification in Class II milk in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 1004.30 for the month within which such transaction occurred, (3) the operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification, and (4) not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk and buttterfat was actually utilized in the nonpool plant in the use indicated in such report: Provided, That if it is found that an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was not actually used in such plant during the month in such indicated use, the pounds transferred in excess of such actual use shall be classified as Class I milk; and

(d) Skim milk and butterfat transferred in bulk form as cream to a nonpool plant shall be classified Class I milk unless, (1) the transferring handler claims classification in Class II milk in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 1004.30, (2) the handler attaches tags or labels to each container of such cream bearing the words "Grade C cream for manufacturing uses only" and the shipment is so invoiced, (3) the handler gives the market administrator sufficient notice to allow him to verify the shipment, (4) the operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification, and (5) not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was actually utilized in the nonpool plant in the use indicated in such report: Provided, That, if it is found that an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was not actually used in such plant during the month in such indicated use, the pounds transferred in excess of such actual use shall be classified as Class I milk.

§ 1004.44 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors, the report submitted by each handler pursuant to § 1004.30 and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat respectively, in Class I milk and Class II milk at all of the pool plants of such handler: Provided, That, the skim milk contained in any product utilized, produced or disposed of by the handler during the month shall be considered to be an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids contained in such product, plus all of the water originally associated with such solids.

§ 1004.45 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. (a) The pounds of skim milk remaining in each class after making the following computations each month with respect to the pool plant(s) of each handler, shall be the pounds of skim milk in such class allocated to the producer milk of such handler for such month.

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the shrinkage of skim milk in producer milk classified as Class II milk pursuant to § 1004.41 (b),

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk in other source milk: Provided, That if the pounds of skim milk to be subtracted are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk,

(3) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk contained in inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month: Provided, That if the pounds of skim milk in such inventory exceed the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the balance shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class I milk,

(4) Subtract the pounds of skim milk in fluid milk products received from pool plants of other handlers from the pounds of skim milk remaining in the class to which assigned, pursuant to § 1004.43 (a),

(5) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(6) If the pounds of skim milk remaining in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the pounds of skim milk remaining in the various classes in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "overage";

(b) Determine the pounds of butterfat in each class to be allocated to producer milk in the manner prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section for determining the allocation of skim milk to producer milk;

(c) Add the pounds of skim milk and the pounds of butterfat in each class calculated pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and determine the percentage of butterfat in the producer milk allocated to each class.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 1004.50 Basic formula price. The higher of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, rounded to the nearest whole cent, shall be known as the basic formula price.

(a) The average of the basic, or field, prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department, divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 3.8:

Present Operator and Location

Borden Co., Mt. Pleasant, Mich.
Borden Co., New London, Wis.
Borden Co., Orfordville, Wis.
Carnation Co., Oconomowoc, Wis.
Carnation Co., Richland Center, Wis.
Carnation Co., Sparta, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Belleville, Wis.
Pet Milk Co., Coopersville, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Hudson, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., New Glarus, Wis.
Pet Milk Co., Wayland, Mich.
White House Milk Co., Manitowoc, Wis.

(b) The price per hundredweight computed by adding together the plus values of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) From the Chicago butter price, subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent thereof, and multiply by 3.8.

(2) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the weighted averages of the carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5, and then multiply by 0.962.

§ 1004.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 1004.52 and 1004.53, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his pool plant(s) from producers during the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk price. For each month during an eighteen month period following the effective date of this order, the minimum price per hundredweight of Class I milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month plus $2.80.

(b) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price shall be the "butter-powder" price computed pursuant to § 1004.50 (b) during the months of July through December, and that price less 25 cents during the months of January through June.

§ 1004.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. For each class of milk containing more or less than 3.8 percent butterfat, the class prices calculated pursuant to § 1004.51 shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth percent butterfat at the appropriate rate, rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent, determined as follows:

(a) Class I price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the preceding month by 0.175; and

(b) Class II price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the current month by 0.115.

§ 1004.53 Location differentials to handlers. For that milk which is received from producers at a pool plant located 60 miles or more from the City Hall, Tucson, Arizona, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance as determined by the market administrator and which is assigned to Class I milk pursuant to the proviso of this section when moved to another pool plant, or classified as Class I milk without such movement, the price specified in § 1004.51 (a) shall be reduced at the rate set forth in the following schedule according to the location of the pool plant where such milk is received from producers:

Distance from the City Hall of Tucson, Ariz. (miles):	Rate per hundredweight (cents)
60 but not more than 160	30.0
160 but not more than 260	40.0
For each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof an additional	1.0

Provided, That for the purpose of calculating such location differential, fluid milk products which are transferred between pool plants shall be assigned to any remainder of Class II milk in the plant to which transferred after making the calculations prescribed in § 1004.45 (a) (1) through (4), and the comparable steps in (b) for such plant, such assignment to the transferring plants to be made in sequence according to the location differential applicable at each plant, beginning with the plant having the largest differential.

§ 1004.54 Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation required by this part for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price which is required.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 1004.60 Producer-handler. Sections 1004.40 through 1004.45, 1004.50 through 1004.53, 1004.70 through 1004.75, and 1004.80 through 1004.87 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 1004.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. Upon application to the market administrator and a subsequent determination by the Secretary, any plant specified in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be treated as a nonpool plant except that the operator of such plant shall, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator:

(a) Any pool plant which (1) would otherwise be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act, and (2) does not dispose of a greater volume of Class I milk to retail or wholesale outlets (except pool plants or nonpool plants) in the Central Arizona marketing area than in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such other order; and

(b) Any plant which (1) would otherwise be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act, and (2) qualified as a pool plant for each of the preceding months of July through October in accordance with the provisions of § 1004.8 (c).

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICES TO PRODUCERS

§ 1004.70 Computation of the value of producer milk for each handler. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the value of producer milk for each handler as follows:

(a) Multiply the quantity of producer milk in each class computed pursuant to § 1004.45 by the applicable class price, total the resulting amounts; and add any amount necessary to reflect adjustments in location differential allowance required pursuant to the proviso of § 1004.53;

(b) Add an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of any overage deducted from either class pursuant to § 1004.45 (a) (6) and (b) by the applicable class price; and

(c) Add the amount computed by multiplying the difference between the appropriate Class II price for the preceding month and the appropriate Class I milk price for the current month by the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat remaining in Class II milk after the calculations pursuant to § 1004.45 (a) (4) and (b) for the preceding month or the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 1004.45 (a) (3) and (b) for the current month, whichever is less.

§ 1004.71 Computation of the uniform price. For each of the months of July through December, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of producer milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 1004.70 for the producer milk of all handlers who submit reports prescribed in § 1004.30 and who are not in default of payments pursuant to §§ 1004.80 or 1004.82;

(b) Subtract, if the average butterfat content of the producer milk included under paragraph (a) of this section is greater than 3.8 percent, or add, if such average butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed as follows: Multiply the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.8 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1004.73, and multiply the result by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(c) Add an amount equal to the sum of the deductions to be made from producer payments for location differentials pursuant to § 1004.74;

(d) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund;

(e) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of producer milk included under paragraph (a) of this section; and

(f) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 1004.72 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of January through June, the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 3.8 percent butterfat content, as follows:

(a) Compute the aggregate value of excess milk for all handlers who submit reports pursuant to § 1004.30, and who are not in default of payments pursuant to §§ 1004.80 or 1004.82 as follows: (1) Multiply the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of producer milk assigned to Class II milk in the pool plants of such handlers by the Class II milk price, (2) multiply the hundredweight of excess milk not included in subparagraph (1) hereof by the Class I milk price, and (3) add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, adjust to the nearest cent and subtract 4 cents. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content received from producers;

(c) Subtract the total value of excess milk, determined by multiplying the uniform price obtained in paragraph (b) of this section, plus 4 cents, times the hundredweight of excess milk, from the total value of producer milk for the month as determined according to the calculations set forth in § 1004.71 (a) through (d) (using location differentials applicable to base and excess milk);

(d) Divide the amount calculated pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations; and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the price computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content.

§ 1004.73 Butterfat differential to producers. The applicable uniform prices to be paid each producer shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent which the average butterfat content of his milk is above or below 3.8 percent, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying the pounds of butterfat in producer milk allocated to each class by the appropriate butterfat differential for such class as determined pursuant to § 1004.52, dividing by the total butterfat in producer milk and rounding to the nearest even tenth of a cent.

§ 1004.74 Location differential to producers. The applicable uniform prices computed pursuant to §§ 1004.71 and 1004.72 (for base milk) to be paid for producer milk received at a pool plant located 60 miles or more from the City Hall at Tucson, Arizona, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, shall be reduced according to the location of the pool plant where such milk was received at the rates set forth in § 1004.53. The rates applicable to excess milk shall be determined by dividing the quantity of excess milk specified in § 1004.72 (a) (2) by the total quantity of excess milk and multiplying the result by the rates applicable to base milk.

§ 1004.75 Notification of handlers. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall mail to each handler, at his last known address, a statement showing:

(a) The amount and value of his producer milk in each class and the total thereof;

(b) For the months of January through June the amounts and value of his base and excess milk respectively, and the totals thereof;

(c) The uniform price(s) computed pursuant to §§ 1004.71 and 1004.72 and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1004.73; and

(d) The amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§1004.82, 1004.85, and 1004.86 and the amount due such handler pursuant to § 1004.83.

PAYMENTS

§ 1004.80 Time and method of payment for producer milk. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler shall make payment to each producer from whom milk is receiving during the month as follows:

(1) On or before the 27th day of each month to each producer who did not discontinue shipping milk to such handler before the 25th day of the month, an amount equal to not less than the Class II price for the preceding month multiplied by the hundredweight of milk received from such producer during the first 15 days of the month, less proper deductions authorized by such producer to be made from payments due pursuant to this paragraph,

(2) On or before the 15th day of the following month, an amount equal to not less than the appropriate uniform price(s) adjusted by the butterfat and location differentials to producers multiplied by the hundredweight of milk or base milk and excess milk received from such producer during the month, subject to the following adjustments: (i) Less payments made such producer pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, (ii) less marketing service deductions made pursuant to § 1004.85, (iii) plus or minus adjustments for errors made in previous payments made to such producer, and (iv) less proper deductions authorized in writing by such producer: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment from the market administrator pursuant to § 1004.83 for such month, he may reduce pro rata his payments to producers by not more than the amount of such underpayment. Payments to producers shall be completed thereafter not later than the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following after the receipt of the balance due from the market administrator;

(b) In the case of a cooperative association which the market administrator determines is authorized by its members to collect payment for their milk and which has so requested any handler in writing, such handler shall on or before the 2d day prior to the date on which payments are due individual producers, pay the cooperative association for milk received during the month from the producer-members of such association as determined by the market administrator an amount equal to not less than the total due such producer-members as determined pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(c) Each handler who receives milk during the month from producers for which payment is to be made to a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shall report to such cooperative association or to the market administrator for transmittal to such cooperative association for each such producer as follows:

(1) On or before the 25th day of the month, the total pounds of milk received during the first 15 days of such month, and

(2) On or before the 7th day of the following month (i) the pounds of milk received each day and the total for the month, together with the butterfat content of such milk, (ii) for the months of January through June the total pounds of base and excess milk received, (iii) the amount or rate and nature of any authorized deductions to be made from payments, and (iv) the amount and nature of payments due pursuant to § 1004.84.

§ 1004.81 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to § 1004.82 and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to § 1004.83: Provided, That any payments due to any handler shall be offset by any payments due from such handler.

§ 1004.82 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator any amount by which the value of his producer milk as computed pursuant to § 1004.70 for such month, is greater than the amount owed by him for such milk at the appropriate uniform price(s) adjusted by the producer butterfat and location differentials.

§ 1004.83 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the total value of his producer milk, computed pursuant to § 1004.70, for such month is less than the amount owed by him for such milk at the appropriate uniform price(s) adjusted by the producer butterfat and location differentials. If at such time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the appropriate funds are available.

§ 1004.84 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any reports, books, records, or accounts or other verification discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from a handler, (b) a handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from a handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred.

§ 1004.85 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers for milk (other than milk of his own production) pursuant to § 1004.80, shall deduct 5 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month. Such money shall be used by the market administrator to provide market information and to check the accuracy of the testing and weighing of their milk for producers who are not receiving such service from a cooperative association;

(b) In the case of producers who are members of a cooperative association which the Secretary has determined is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall (in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section), make such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers, and on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, pay such deductions to the cooperative association of which such producers are members, furnishing a statement showing the amount of such deductions and the amount of milk for which such deduction was computed for each producer.

§ 1004.86 Expense of administration. On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator, for each of his approved plants, 4 cents or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, for each hundredweight of butterfat and skim milk contained in (a) producer milk, and (b) other source milk allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 1004.45 (a) (2) and (b).

§ 1004.87 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligations under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate 2 years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such 2-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation,

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the amount for which it is to be paid;

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative;

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed; and

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this order shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or setoff by the market administrator) was made by the handler, if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

BASE RATING

§ 1004.90 Computation of daily average base for each producer. (a) Subject to the rules set forth in § 1004.91, the daily average base for each producer shall be an amount calculated by dividing the total pounds of milk received from such producer at all pool plants during the months of August through November immediately preceding, by the number of days from the first day of delivery by such producer during such months to the last day of November, inclusive, or by 90, whichever is more: Provided, That for the period from the effective date of this part through June 30, 1956, the daily average base for each producer shall be an amount calculated by dividing the total pounds of milk received from such producer at all pool plants during the months of October 1955 and November 1955, by the number of days from the first day of delivery by such producer during such months to the last day of November, inclusive, or by 45, whichever is more.

§ 1004.91 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment and assignment of bases.

(a) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the market administrator shall assign a base as calculated pursuant to § 1004.90 to each person for whose account producer milk was delivered to pool plants during the months of August through November; and

(b) An entire base shall be transferred from a person holding such base to any other person effective as of the end of any month during which an application for such transfer is received by the market administrator, such application to be on forms approved by the market administrator and signed by the baseholder, or his heirs, and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred: Provided, That if a base is held jointly, the entire base shall be transferable only upon the receipt of such application signed by all joint holders or their heirs, and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred.

§ 1004.92 Announcement of established bases. On or before December 25 of each year, the market administrator shall notify each producer, and the handler receiving milk from such producer, of the daily average base established by such producer.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION, OR TERMINATION

§ 1004.100 Effective time. The provisions of the part, or any amendment thereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 1004.101 Suspension or termination. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that any or all provisions of this part, or any amendment thereto, obstruct or do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of any or all provisions of this part or any amendment thereto.

§ 1004.102 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, or any amendment thereto, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 1004.103 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidating and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 1004.110 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent and representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 1004.111 Separability of provisions. If any provisions of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 31st day of October 1955, to be effective as follows:

Sections 1004.0 through 1004.22 (j), 1004.30 through 1004.45 and 1004.86 through 1004.111 of this order shall be effective on and after November 16, 1955; and all of the remaining terms and provisions of this order (§§ 1004.22 (k) and 1004.50 through 1004.85) shall be effective on and after December 1, 1955.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter II—Securities and Exchange Commission

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

OVER-THE-COUNTER MARKETS

On August 30, 1955, the Commission published a proposal to amend paragraph (d) of its § 240.15c3-1 (Rule X-15c3-1) to delete from the rule the exemption for broker-dealers who do not (A) extend credit to customers or (B) carry money or securities for the account of customers or owe money or securities to customers except as an incident to transactions promptly consummated by payment or delivery. The Commission has considered all comments and suggestions received and has adopted the amendment in the form set forth below.

Section 240.15c3-1 provides that no broker or dealer shall permit his "aggregate indebtedness" to all other persons to exceed 2000 percent of his "net capital". Paragraph (c) of the rule defines the terms "aggregate indebtness" and "net capital" and certain other terms used in the rule.

Subparagraph (b) (2) of the rule exempts from its requirements members of specified national securities exchanges. Before the amendment of subparagraph (b) (1) it exempted from the rule any broker or dealer who did not (A) extend credit to customers, or (B) carry money or securities for the account of customers or owe money or securities to customers except as an incident to transactions promptly consummated by payment or delivery. However, such broker-dealers frequently owe money or securities to customers in substantial amounts and it was felt that such customers need the safeguards which the rule affords with respect to the financial responsibility of such broker-dealers.

As subparagraph (b) (1) has been amended the exemption is now available only to brokers (A) whose activities are limited to soliciting subscriptions for issuers, (B) who promptly transmit to the issuer all funds, and promptly deliver to the subscriber all securities, received in connection therewith, and (C) who do not otherwise hold funds or securities for customers or owe money or securities to customers. The brokers to whom the new exemption is available would receive funds only on behalf of the issuer, and would have to transmit all such funds to the issuer promptly; and if the securities issued pursuant to the subscription are to be delivered to the purchaser through the broker they too would have to be delivered promptly. Securities issued in these situations would usually be issued in the name of the purchaser or his nominee, not in the name of the broker.

Statutory basis. The Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 15 (c) (3) and 23 (a) thereof, and deeming such action necessary in the public interest and for the protection of investors, and necessary to carry out its functions under the Act, hereby amends paragraph (b) (1) of § 240.15c3-1 to read as stated below.

§ 240.15c3-1 Ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital. * * *

(b) Exceptions. The provisions of this section shall not apply to:

(1) Any broker (i) whose securities business is limited to acting as agent for the issuer in soliciting subscriptions for securities of such issuer, (ii) who promptly transmits to the issuer all funds, and promptly delivers to the subscriber all securities, received in connection therewith, and (iii) who does not otherwise hold funds or securities for or owe money or securities to customers.

This action shall be effective December 1, 1955.

(Sec. 23, 48 Stat. 901 as amended; 15 U. S. C. 78w)

By the Commission.

Assistant Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 927]

[Docket No. AO-71-A30]

HANDLING OF MILK IN THE NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT, AND TO THE ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 10th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the findings and conclusions hereinafter set forth were formulated, was conducted at Albany, New York, on September 13, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof issued on August 24, 1955, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 27, 1955 (20 F. R. 6303).

The material issues of record are concerned with:

1. The classification of milk received at plants in the marketing area directly from farms on bulk tank pickup routes; and

2. The application of location differentials to milk on bulk tank pickup routes.

Findings and conclusions. The findings and conclusions hereinafter set forth are based upon the evidence in the record of the hearing.

Functions, such as the weighing, sampling and testing of producers' milk which take place at a plant when milk is received from producers in cans, are performed by the trucker at the farm when milk is transferred in bulk directly from a farm tank to a tank truck. The proposals considered at this hearing are concerned with specific and immediate problems relative to the classification and pricing of milk received from producers on such bulk tank pickup routes pending the consideration of more comprehensive proposals for classifying and pricing such milk. The amendments set forth herein, therefore, are not expected to provide long run solutions to the problems involved.

Issue No. 1. It is concluded that the order should be amended to provide that milk received at a plant in the marketing area directly from producers by tank truck shall be assigned to Class I-A prior to the assignment to Class I-A of milk from other plants.

Under existing provisions of the order, milk received at a plant in the marketing area directly from producers whether in cans or by tank truck is classified at the plant where received in the marketing area. Accordingly, all or a portion of the milk thus received directly from producers at a plant in the marketing area may be classified in classes other than I-A depending upon the quantity of milk classified in such other classes at the plants in the marketing area. On the other hand, if milk is received from producers at a plant outside the marketing area and then shipped as fluid milk to a plant in the marketing area, all of such milk received at the marketing area plant is classified in Class I-A. An advantage thus accrues to an operator of a plant in the marketing area who receives milk by tank truck directly from producers in comparison with another handler whose entire supply of fluid milk is shipped from a plant outside the marketing area. The existence of this advantage constitutes an incentive for the substitution of milk directly from producers by tank truck for milk now received from country plants and constitutes a means of reducing the quantity of milk classified in Class I-A and a consequent reduction in over-all returns to producers.

Only a relatively small volume of milk is at present being received at plants in the marketing area by tank truck directly from producers. During the month of June 1955 milk was received from only 115 producers directly by tank truck at plants in the marketing area. The volume of milk thus received was approximately 4.8 million pounds. During the same month the total quantity of pool milk was 854.6 million pounds and was received from a total of 50,175 producers. The number of producers from which milk was received directly by tank truck at plants in the marketing area increased each month during the first half of 1955, the increase being from 57 in January to 118 in July. Approximately 50 additional producers deliver by tank truck directly to plants located other than in the marketing area or in the location differential area.

Representatives of handlers and producers who testified at the hearing expressed the view that a much more rapid expansion in the volume of milk received by tank truck directly from producers would probably occur under existing provisions of the order. It was proposed at the hearing that all milk received at marketing area plants by tank truck directly from producers be classified as Class I-A on the basis that the proposal contained in the hearing notice, providing for the prior assignment of such milk in Class I-A, did not go far enough in that an opportunity would remain under certain circumstances for the classification of such milk in lower priced classes. It was not demonstrated, however, that such circumstances currently prevailed or that they are in prospect to an extent sufficient to detract materially from the effectiveness of the prior assignment amendment.

Issue No. 2. It is concluded that the order should be amended to provide for the payment of the 20 or 30-cent location differentials on milk shipped directly from the farm to a plant by tank truck only under the following circumstances:

(1) If such milk is delivered from a farm from which milk was delivered to a pool plant in the month of August 1955, the rate of the location differential should be no higher than the rate applicable to milk delivered from the same farm during the month of August 1955; and

(2) If such milk is delivered by a producer from a farm from which no milk was delivered to a pool plant in August 1955, the location differential payable on such milk should be at the rate of 20 cents if the farm (milk house) from which delivery is made is located in one of the counties in the location differential area and at the rate of 30 cents if delivery is made from a farm located in the marketing area.

This amendment is designed to prevent any significant increase in the number of producers qualifying for the 20 or 30-cent location differentials on milk shipped directly from the farm to a plant by tank truck. Under present order provisions a location differential of 20 cents per hundredweight is payable to producers for milk delivered to plants located at certain specified locations or within the boundaries of specified counties, and a location differential of 30 cents is payable to producers delivering milk directly to plants located within the marketing area. Such differential payments to producers are deducted out of the pool, and handlers are required to pay an additional 5 cents per hundredweight for such location differential milk.

Historically, these location differentials have applied to milk received from producers whose farms are located in or closely surrounding the marketing area or the defined nearby location differential territory. Virtually all of the producers now delivering milk by tank truck directly to plants in the marketing area either formerly delivered in cans to location differential plants or operate farms located in the location differential area. The bulk tank pickup method of delivery, however, makes it possible for producers, irrespective of their farm location, to become eligible for location differentials under existing provisions of the order. Such a development would not only appear to be contrary to the intent and purpose of the location differential provision but would have the effect of reducing the uniform price to all other producers.

Representatives of producers and handlers testified at the hearing that the present location differential provisions as they apply to bulk tank milk constitute an unwarranted and unjustified incentive for the expansion of bulk tank pickup routes, and that the incentive should be eliminated before significant investments are made by producers and handlers in bulk tank operations in anticipation of location differentials out of the pool. Various proposals were made at the hearing for restricting the payment of location differentials on bulk tank milk. The proposed amendment herein set forth is designed to accomplish the primary purpose of all such proposals, and at the same time avoid the administrative problems involved in ascertaining the delivery practice of individual producers over extended periods. The month of August 1955 is the latest month during which delivery practices could not have been influenced by the calling of this hearing, and appears to constitute a reasonable and practicable time after which producers located outside the location differential area cannot qualify for location differentials on milk delivered directly by tank truck to location differential plants.

General findings. (a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings. Briefs were filed on behalf of interested persons. The briefs contained suggested findings of facts, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the proposals considered at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully examined along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendment to the order, as amended. The following amendment to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended.

1. Amend § 927.35 (a) by adding the following proviso: "Provided, That at a plant in the marketing area milk received directly from producers by tank truck shall be assigned to Class I-A prior to the assignment of milk from other plants to Class I-A."

2. Amend § 927.60 (f) by adding the following: "Provided, That with respect to milk received by tank truck directly from a farm from which milk was delivered to a pool plant in August 1955, such deduction shall be at a rate no higher than the rate applicable to milk delivered from the same farm in the month of August 1955, or if the milk received directly by tank truck is from a farm from which no milk was delivered to a pool plant in August 1955, such deduction shall be at the rate of 20 cents per hundredweight if the milk house of such farm is located in one of the counties listed in this paragraph, and at the rate of 30 cents per hundredweight if the milk house of such farm is located in the marketing area: And provided further, That for purposes of this paragraph the producer operating a farm shall be considered to have been the producer in August 1955 if the market administrator determines that milk from such farm was delivered to a pool plant in August 1955 regardless of any change in farm operator after that date."

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 31st day October 1955.

Acting Deputy Administrator.

Pulaski and Rheba Jean Spiner, Executor and Executrix of Estate of Harry Pulaski (Morris Rauch et al.) tendered for filing with the Commission notices of proposed increases in rates and charges which were designated Supplement No. 1 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplement No. 1 to Morris Rauch et al.'s FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1. By order issued October 29, 1954, in Docket No. G-4334, the Commission suspended these proposed increases.

On October 4, 1954, Bel Oil Corporation (Bel Oil) tendered for filing with the Commission notices of proposed increases in rates and charges which were designated Supplement No. 1 to Bel Oil's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3. By order issued November 4, 1954, in Docket No. G-4505, the Commission suspended these proposed increases in rates and charges.

All of the aforesaid rate suspension proceedings involve notices to increase rates and charges relative to sales and deliveries of natural gas to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corpoartion (Transco) from gas fields in southern Louisiana. These sales are made from wells and other facilities of the applicants and the deliveries are made to Transco, which is a natural gas company as defined in the Natural Gas Act, and which further transports the gas across State lines in interstate commerce

All of the aforesaid suspension proceedings were consolidated for purposes of hearing and hearings were held in September 1955. United Gas Improvement Company, Public Service Electric and Gas Company, Philadelphia Electric Company, South Jersey Gas Company, Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Kings County Lighting Company, The Brooklyn Union Gas Company, Elizabeth Consolidated Gas Company, and Long Island Lighting, Transco, and the Public Service Commission of the State of New York intervened in the consolidated proceedings and participated in the hearings.

At the hearing documentary evidence and oral testimony was presented by the applicants in support of the proposed increases. When the applicants had concluded their direct presentation, the Public Service Commission of New York moved to dismiss the applications and to terminate the proceedings for failure of the applicants to show that the increased rates and charges are just and reasonable. United Gas Improvement Company, Philadelphia Electric Company, Public Service Electric and Gas Company, Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Kings County Lighting Company, Long Island Lighting Company, The Brooklyn Union Gas Company, and the Commission Staff joined in the motion to dismiss.

Applicants have directed their presentation in support of their rate applications to facts showing that a contract was made on May 4, 1948, by Union and Louisiana Land and Exploration Company with Transco for a term of 20 years for the sale and delivery of natural gas from fields in Louisiana. The initial daily quantity specified was 50,000 Mcf as the minimum quantity and 60,000 Mcf as the maximum quantity, at a price of 8½ cents per Mcf at a pressure base of 16.7 p. s. i. a. for the first five years after the commencement of deliveries and a periodic escalation of the price was provided in steps of 1 cent per Mcf increase for the succeeding 5-year periods. In addition to such escalation provisions, the so-called favored nation provisions were included under the terms of which Transco was obligated to increase its payments for gas delivered to an amount equal to any greater amount paid by Transco in a designated pricing area, and likewise Transco was obligated to increase its payments for gas delivered to an amount equal to any greater amount paid by any purchaser to any seller of gas within a designated pricing area. Also, the contract contained a bona fide offer provision which required that Transco meet any bona fide offer at an increased price for gas sold under the basic agreement.

The evidence also showed that, due to various amendments to the sales contract of May 4, 1948, the price for gas delivered at the commencement of deliveries was 9.79715 cents per Mcf and the quantity was increased to 65,000 Mcf as the minimum and 87,000 Mcf as the maximum. Other amendments were made in reference to the sales and deliveries of gas so that for gas delivered after November 1, 1954, and until November 1, 1959, the price was changed to 16 cents per Mcf, with 1 cent per Mcf periodic escalation in succeeding 5-year periods and quantity specifications were changed to be 94,000 Mcf per day for minimum deliveries and 125,000 Mcf per day for maximum takes of gas. This change for sales and deliveries after November 1, 1954, also eliminated the favored-nation escalation whereby prices were to have been increased if any purchaser paid any greater amount to any seller, and the change for sales and deliveries after November 1, 1954, provided for an escalation in price only if Transco paid a higher price to any other seller of gas.

Union, Union and Louisiana, and Bel Oil supported their rate increase applications by adverting to the fact that the basic sales contracts provided for automatic increases on November 1, 1954. Morris Rauch et al., relied upon the favored-nation escalation provision.

The evidence on behalf of all the applicants tended to show that the contracts hereinbefore described for sales and deliveries of gas were arrived at after arm's-length negotiations and were entered into by the parties in good faith.

Union, to substantiate its claim that the rate increase sought is justified, presented exhibits (Exhibits Nos. 2 and 3) based upon a study of producer contracts on file with the Commission. Such "office study" of current price levels for natural gas in southern Louisiana, submitted here as a numerical study of contract price levels, comprised a compilation of 138 contracts which satisfied three criteria: (a) That they were contracts of independent producers located in the pricing area here involved, (b) that the original contract was entered into during the period January 1, 1952, to April 30, 1955, and (c) that the contract was for more than five years. In the tabulation of the prices of the selected 138 contracts evidence presented by Union purported to show that the prices are in accordance with the provisions of the contracts, whether or not any of the contracts were suspended by the Commission. The witness who prepared the exhibits reflecting the statistics relative to the 138 contracts stated that twelve interstate pipeline natural gas companies including the applicants have entered into 84 contracts for the purchase of natural gas prior to November 1, 1954, at a price of 17 cents per Mcf or more. Such contracts were stated to be for sales and deliveries of gas in the pricing area specified in the Transco contracts with Union here concerned. The witness also stated that a price range of from 17 cents to 18 cents was "the most popular price, statistically speaking."

In the case of each of these 138 contracts the price shown is the total price paid by the buyer, including the current Louisiana gathering tax, plus any dehydration, gathering or special charges which buyer is obligated to pay. These contracts were selected by Union and adduced in evidence as comparable to the contracts involved in this proceeding. the other applicants here adopting the same view as Union in support of their claims for the increases sought.

The applicants here attempt to support their proposed increases on the grounds that they resulted from renegotiation of a contract between nonaffiliates at arm's length and claim that the new contract price did not then and does not now exceed the reasonable market price or current field price for the sale of natural gas in the pricing area. But the evidence which they have submitted in support of these contentions does not convince us that the proposed increased rate is just and reasonable.

The contract with Transco upon which applicants rely is subject to modification as to rates because the applicants are subject to the Natural Gas Act. The fact that contracts have been entered into in good faith and in arm's-length bargaining does not make them immune from the regulation in the public interest prescribed by Congress, nor are producer contract terms per se an indication that the prices agreed upon are just and reasonable either initially or as subsequently increased pursuant to escalation clauses or otherwise. (See Colorado Interstate Gas Co. v. F. P. C., 142 F. 2d 943, 953 (C. A. 10, 1944), aff. 342 U. S. 581; Mississippi River Fuel Corp. v. F. P. C., 122 F. 2d 159, 163 (C. A. 8, 1941).)

The exhibit submitted by applicants to show relative field prices is merely a numerical listing of contract prices for gas sold within the pricing area and is insufficient to justify the proposed increases.

It may be observed that in providing for Commission responsibility in connection with rate filings the Natural Gas Act makes no distinction between independent producers and interstate pipeline companies. If they are subject to the act, the same criteria and procedures are prescribed for rate-fixing purposes, since both classes are natural gas companies under the act. The Commission is free, within the ambit of its statutory authority in rate fixing, to make the pragmatic adjustments which may be called for by particular circumstances (F. P. C. v. Natural Gas Pipeline Co., 315 U. S. 575, 586). While it is true that the source of our authority over rates of independent producers is contained in sections (4) and (5) of the Natural Gas Act, we do not say that in fixing the rates of natural gas companies which are independent producers we are compelled to apply the same formula as that applied in fixing the rates of natural gas companies which are interstate pipeline companies.

In dealing with the rates of interstate pipeline companies, we have pointed to the burden placed by section 4 (e) of the act upon those natural gas companies seeking approval for rate increases and in appropriate cases have pointed to the failure of some companies to present evidence which would justify the increases, for which reason we have denied applications for approval, and in these actions we have judicial approval. (Mississippi River Fuel Corp. v. F. P. C., 121 F. 2d 159, 165 (C. A. 8, 1941).) The independent producers which are applicants herein are under the same burden as interstate pipeline companies to justify any proposed rate increases, even if their operations may differ.

Upon consideration of all of these matters and the evidence so far presented, we would be required to grant the motion to dismiss and to terminate these proceedings, for the evidence does not show that the requested increased rates would be just and reasonable. Nevertheless, solely because this is the first series of cases involving the rates of independent producers upon which we have acted, we will allow Applicants a further period of time beyond which we do not propose to extend the resumption of the hearing, rather than granting the motion to dismiss forthwith. If when the hearing is resumed the Applicants avail themselves of the oportunity to present more substantial evidence that their proposed increases are just and reasonable, the evidence should be considered.

Since we are not acquainted with the facts upon which the Applicants rely to justify the increases, further than as shown by this record, we do not suggest what additional evidence should be offered. Obviously, the Applicants should be permitted to present any relevant and proper evidence which would tend to support their applications. At the same time, we must point out that rather extended opportunity to prepare relevant and proper evidence bearing upon the lawfulness of rates and charges has been afforded all independent producers whose rates are subject to the Natural Gas Act. Last November, in Docket No. R–142, we requested suggestions from the natural gas industry and any other interested groups as to the formula or principles to be followed in fixing rates of independent producers who are natural-gas companies under the act. Many briefs and proposals were filed by producers, pipeline companies, distribution companies, State Commissions, industry organizations, land and royalty owners' associations and others. We heard oral argument on three days last January by many of those who had submitted briefs and by our own Staff, but, after considering all of the suggestions, decided to wait for specific cases to be presented with concrete facts before reaching any decision on the matter.

In addition to this general presentation, our staff, pursuant to our instructions, held conferences last July with many of the producers, including representatives of these applicants, and discussed possible types of evidence which might show that particular rates of producers are just and reasonable. With these prior opportunities to explore this field, and with the plain obligation placed upon them by the act, the Applicants should now be fully prepared to demonstrate the lawfulness of the proposed increases or we must deny the applications and dismiss the proceedings. Reasonable consideration of the rights of the other parties and of the general public will justify no further delays.

In order properly to consider the motion to dismiss, we have had the Examiner certify the record to us for examination. It will be returned to him for further proceedings in accordance with our views as expressed herein.

The Commission orders: Action on the pending motion to dismiss is hereby postponed and the above proceedings are hereby reopened and returned to the Examiner with instructions to reconvene the hearing on November 28, 1955, without further postponement of Applicants' case-in-chief and for further proceedings in conformity with this order.

[Docket No. G–5510]

FOREST OIL CORP.

ORDER ON APPEAL OF MOTION TO DISMISS

This proceeding was initiated by an order issued December 7, 1954, pursuant to section 4 (e) of the Natural Gas Act, suspending proposed increased rates and charges of Forest Oil Corporation (Applicant) for the sale of natural gas to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Transco), the order also setting hearing on the proposed increased rates.

It comes before the Commission at this time upon a motion by counsel for the staff of the Commission to dismiss the application on the ground that the Applicant has not discharged the burden of proof imposed by section 4 (e) of the act to show that the proposed rates are just and reasonable and that the evidence is insufficient for the Commission to make a finding as to just and reasonable rates. The interveners present at the hearing joined in the motion to dismiss, but the presiding examiner refused to certify the motion to the Commission, holding it to be out of order, and staff counsel thereupon perfected an appeal, bringing it before the Commission.

Applicant is an oil producer having its principal place of business in Houston, Texas. It owns an interest in natural-gas-producing acreage in the North Egan Field at Acadia Parish, Louisiana, and is the operator of its own Adres Pousson well located upon the acreage. On August 24, 1954, Applicant entered into a contract with Transco under the terms of which Applicant sells natural gas to the pipeline company for sale in interstate commerce for resale for ultimate public consumption for domestic, commercial, industrial, and other uses. This contract is designated as Forest Oil Corporation (Operator) et al., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 in the files of the Commission. Applicant, on November 4, 1954, made a "rate filing," designated in the files of the Commission as Supplement No. 1 to said FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1. By this supplement Applicant proposes to increase the base charge for the sale of natural gas to Transco from 9.797150 cents per Mcf to 16 cents per Mcf measured at a pressure base of 15.025 p. s. i. a. in accordance with a provision in the contract providing for a periodic increase in price on November 1, 1954. Applicant requested that the proposed increased rates and charges be allowed to become effective as of the date of filing.

Several parties, mainly distributing company customers of Transco, and the Public Service Commission of the State of New York, were permitted to intervene. By various orders and notices these matters were set for hearing, continued, and finally were heard in Washington, D. C. At the close of Applicant's case-in-chief, counsel for the staff of the Commission made the motion to dismiss which we are asked to consider, the interveners present joining in the motion. The presiding examiner refused to certify the motion to the Commission and it is before the Commission only on appeal.

We are this day postponing action on similar motions to dismiss similar applications by Union Oil Company of California et al., Docket Nos. G–4331, G–4332, G–4334, and G–4505 and Sun Oil Company et al., Docket Nos. G–8288, G–4335, G–6279, and G–8488. For the reasons there given, we do not call up the instant motion and consider dismissal of this application forthwith, for obviously the same reasoning will be applied in this case as in the two mentioned, if the facts warrant.

Accordingly, we will not entertain the motion to dismiss at this time but the presiding examiner should proceed with the hearing as hereinafter provided and consider those matters referred to in our orders in the Sun Oil and Union Oil cases previously mentioned.

The Commission orders: Consideration of the pending motion to dismiss in the above proceeding is hereby refused and the examiner is instructed to reconvene the hearing on November 28, 1955, without further postponement of Applicant's case-in-chief and for further proceedings in conformity with this order.

Adopted: October 21, 1955.

SUN OIL CO. ET AL.

ORDER POSTPONING ACTION ON MOTION TO DISMISS AND REFERRING PROCEEDINGS TO EXAMINER

In the matters of Sun Oil Company, Docket No. G–8288; E. J. Hudson et al., Docket No. G–4335; Maracaibo Oil Exploration Corporation, Docket No. G–6279; Sohio Petroleum Company, Docket No. G–8488.

These matters are before the Commission upon the presiding examiner's certification of the motion made upon the record by counsel for the staff of the Commission on September 16, 1955, to dismiss the applications filed under the Natural Gas Act by the above-designated applicants for proposed increases in rates. The motion to dismiss was joined in by all party-interveners present. (T. 749, 750, et seq.)

In brief, the motion, which was made at the close of complete cases-in-chief of the four applicants, requests that the Commission dismiss the applications on the ground that the applicants have not discharged the burden of proof imposed by section 4 (e) of the act to show that the proposed rates are just and reasonable. Section 4 (e) expressly provides:

> At any hearing involving a rate or charge sought to be increased, the burden of proof to show that the increased rate or charge is just and reasonable shall be upon the natural-gas company • • •.

Sun Oil Company (Sun), on December 29, 1954, tendered for filing proposed changes in its then effective rate schedules for sales of natural gas produced from the Egan Field, Louisiana, to Transcontinenal Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Transco), subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed changes, which constituted increased rates and charges, are contained in Supplement No. 17 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplement No. 17 to Sun's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 44. By order issued January 28, 1955, in Docket No. G–8288, the Commission suspended such proposed changes in rates and deferred their use until March 1, 1955, or for such further time until they might be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

Prior thereto, the Commission, by orders issued October 29 and December 20, 1954, in Docket Nos. G–4335 and G–6279, suspended changes in rates tendered for filing by E. J. Hudson et al. (Hudson) on September 19, 1954, and by Maracaibo Oil Exploration Corporation (Maracaibo) on November 19, 1954, respectively. The Commission deferred the use of Hudson's Supplement No. 7 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 for a period of five months beyond the effective date requested of November 1, 1954.[1] Also, the Commission deferred the use of Maracaibo's Supplement No. 13 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 until February 1, 1955. The changes in rates and charges proposed by Hudson and Maracaibo involved the sales of natural gas produced from the Egan Field to Transco.

[1] This was later modified to shorten the suspension period to three months.

By order issued February 18, 1955, in Docket No. G–8488, the Commission suspended changes in rates proposed by Sohio Petroleum Company (Sohio) and which were contained in Sohio's Supplement No. 18 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplement No. 18 of its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 26 filed on January 20, 1955. The Commission deferred the use of these proposed changes until March 20, 1955. The changes involve the sales of natural gas produced from the Egan Field to Transco. The Commission has previously found each of these applicants to be a natural gas company subject to the Act and the particular rates here involved are for sales in interstate commerce for resale.

All the proposed changes in rates contained in the above-designated rate schedules and supplements thereto are currently being charged and collected either under bond or undertaking to assure refund of excess charges found by the Commission to be not justified.

Several parties, mainly distributing company customers of Transco, and the Public Service Commission of the State of New York, were permitted to intervene. By various orders and notices these matters were set for hearing, continued, consolidated, and, finally were heard in Washington, D. C., commencing on September 12, 1955. At the hearing, Sun and Sohio presented cases-in-chief in support of the rate increase, Sun being the operator under the basic contract of April 30, 1948, with Transco. During the course of the hearing, the other applicants adopted the presentations made by Sun and Sohio (T. 738). Each of the interveners and counsel for the Staff of the Commission actively participated in the hearing. At the close of the cases-in-chief, the instant motion to dismiss now pending before the Commission was made.

Preliminarily, it may be noted that while these matters involve rate increases sought by four applicants, each of them is a party to the April 30, 1948, contract with Transco (Item B). Under that contract which was for a term of twenty years from October 1, 1950, or the date of first delivery, whichever should occur first (Item B, p. 17), Transco agreed, subject to the provisions of the contract, to take, and the applicants agreed to deliver, 25,000 Mcf of natural gas per day produced from seller's acreage in the Egan Field (Item B, p. 3) at a price for the first five-year period of 8½ cents per Mcf (Item B, p. 17). The contract also provided 1 cent per Mcf step increases during each of the next two five-year periods, and included a method for determining the price for the final five-year period (Item B, pp. 17–18). The point of delivery of the gas was described as being at the outlet or tail gate of a processing plant located in the Egan Field. The April 30, 1948, contract also contains a two-party favored-nation clause under which Transco agreed that if it purchases natural gas from any other seller at more favorable terms it would increase the contract price by the difference between the more favorable price and the contract price.

From time to time the basic contract was amended to provide for minor changes in price, for an increase in the quantity of gas to 31,700 Mcf per day, for a change in the commencement date of the 20-year term, and for other changes (Item B, Supplement No. 7). First deliveries under the contract commenced on December 27, 1950 (Item B, Supplement No. 9). The first operation of the favored-nation clause occurred in 1952, and became effective July 1, 1952. It appears from Item B, Supplement No. 15, that Transco advised applicants by letter dated October 13, 1952, that effective as of July 1, 1952, the price for dehydrated gas purchased by it from Union Oil Company of California and Louisiana Land and Exploration Company in Vermillion Paris, Louisiana, was increased to 8.797150 cents per Mcf at a pressure base of 15.025 p. s. i. a. Transco then stated that pursuant to the basic contract it proposed to pay applicants here the same price effective July 1, 1952, for gas purchased from applicants in Egan Field as long as Transco pays 8.797150 cents per Mcf to Union Oil et al. This was the price being paid by Transco to applicants immediately prior to the rate increases here in issue.

In filing the proposed changes in rates here involved, each of the applicants merely adverted to the fact that the base gas sales contract contained a favored-nation clause which had become operative by virtue of the fact that Transco had commenced the purchase of gas from other sellers in the contract pricing area at a price more favorable to such other sellers than provided in the base contract to applicants (e. g., Item B, Supplement No. 17). The Sun and Sohio changes were triggered by the purchase of gas by Transco from the Hassie Hunt Trust at a price of 16 cents per Mcf at a contract pressure base of 15.025 p. s. i. a. plus 1 cent per Mcf for tax reimbursement. On the other hand, the changes of Hudson and Maracaibo were said to be triggered by a purchase of gas by Transco from Union Oil Company of California et al. (e. g., Item I, Supplement No. 13), which rate is under suspension. The net effect of the operation of the favored-nation clause was to increase the price of gas to Transco from 9.797150 cents per Mcf (8.797150 cents per Mcf plus 1 cent per Mcf tax reimbursement) to 17 cents per Mcf (16 cents per Mcf plus 1 cent per Mcf tax reimbursement), and the applications seek approval of the 17-cent rate.

As noted previously, the Commission suspended the increased rates saying, after an analysis of the allegations made in support thereof, that the "increased rates and charges proposed in the aforesaid filings have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful."

At the hearing, applicants did no more than to attempt to demonstrate that the base contract with Transco had been negotiated in good faith and at arm's length; that it contained the favored-nation clause referred to above; that the clause had become operative by virtue of acts of Transco itself; that the increased rates and charges were no more or were less than prices paid by Transco and others to other producers in the pricing area; and that the increased rates and charges did not exceed the present fair value or market value of gas in the pricing area (e. g. T. 37, 52–53).

The motion to dismiss the applications for increased rates and to terminate the proceedings raises the direct question of whether the applicants have sustained the burden of proof imposed upon them by section 4 (e) of the act and have shown by proper evidences that the proposed increases in rates and charges are just and reasonable.

Our examination of the evidence thus far presented indicates that it would support findings that the April 30, 1948, contract with Transco was entered into after arm's-length bargaining, and that other producers in the same area are receiving 17 cents or more per Mcf.

It may be observed that in providing for Commission responsibility in connection with rate filings the Natural Gas Act makes no distinction between independent producers and interstate pipeline companies. If they are subject to the act, the same criteria and procedures are prescribed for rate-fixing purposes, since both classes are natural gas companies under the act. The Commission is free, within the ambit of its statutory authority in rate fixing, to make the pragmatic adjustments which may be called for by particular circumstances (F. P. C. v. Natural Gas Pipeline Co., 315 U. S. 575, 586). While it is true that the source of our authority over rates of independent producers is contained in sections (4) and (5) of the Natural Gas Act, we do not say that in fixing the rates of natural gas companies which are independent producers we are compelled to apply the same formula as that applied in fixing the rates of natural gas companies which are interstate pipeline companies.

In dealing with the rates of interstate pipeline companies, we have pointed to the burden placed by section 4 (e) of the act upon those natural gas companies seeking approval for rate increases and in appropriate cases have pointed to the failure of some companies to present evidence which would justify the increases, for which reason we have denied applications for approval, and in these actions we have judicial approval. (Mississippi River Fuel Corp. v. F. P. C., 121 F. 2d 159, 165 (C. A. 8, 1941).) The independent producers which are applicants herein are under the same burden as interstate pipeline companies to justify any proposed rate increases, even if their operations may differ.

Upon consideration of all of these matters and the evidence so far presented, we would be required to grant the motion to dismiss and to terminate these proceedings, for the evidence does not show that the requested increased rates would be just and reasonable. Nevertheless, solely because this is the first series of cases involving the rates of independent producers upon which we have acted, we will allow Applicants a further period of time beyond which we do not propose to extend the resumption of the hearing, rather than granting the motion to dismiss forthwith. If when the hearing is resumed the Applicants avail themselves of the opportunity to present more substantial evidence that their proposed increases are just and reasonable, the evidence should be considered.

Since we are not acquainted with the facts upon which the Applicants rely to justify the increases, further than as shown by this record, we do not suggest what additional evidence should be offered. Obviously, the Applicants should be permitted to present any relevant and proper evidence which would tend to support their applications. At the same time, we must point out that rather extended opportunity to prepare relevant and proper evidence bearing upon the lawfulness of rates and charges has been afforded all independent producers whose rates are subject to the Natural Gas Act. Last November, in Docket No. R–142, we requested suggestions from the natural-gas industry and any other interested groups as to the formula or principles to be followed in fixing rates of independent producers who are natural-gas companies under the act. Many briefs and proposals were filed by producers, pipeline companies, distribution companies, State commissions, industry organizations, land and royalty owners' associations and others. We heard oral argument on three days last January by many of those who had submitted briefs and by our own staff, but, after considering all of the suggestions, decided to wait for specific cases to be presented with concrete facts before reaching any decision on the matter.

In addition to this general presentation, our Staff, pursuant to our instructions, held conferences last July with many of the producers, including representatives of these applicants, and discussed possible types of evidence which might show that particular rates of producers are just and reasonable. With these prior opportunities to explore this field, and with the plain obligation placed upon them by the act, the Applicants should now be fully prepared to demonstrate the lawfulness of the proposed increases or we must deny the applications and dismiss the proceedings. Reasonable consideration of the rights of the other parties and of the general public will justify no further delays.

In order properly to consider the motion to dismiss, we have had the Examiner certify the record to us for examination. It will be returned to him for further proceedings in accordance with our views as expressed herein.

The Commission orders: Action on the pending motion to dismiss is hereby postponed and the above proceedings are hereby reopened and returned to the Examiner with instructions to reconvene the hearing on November 28, 1955, without further postponement of Applicants' case-in-chief and for further proceedings in conformity with this order.

UNITED STATES TARIFF COMMISSION

[Investigation 6]

MONTAN WAX IN ITS CRUDE FORM

INVESTIGATION INSTITUTED

On October 28, 1955, the Tariff Commission received advice from the Treasury Department that Montan wax in its crude form from the Soviet Zone of Germany and from Czechoslovakia is being, or is likely to be, sold in the United States at less than its fair value. Accordingly, the Tariff Commission has instituted an investigation under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, to determine whether an industry in the United States is being or is likely to be injured, or is prevented from being established, by reason of the importation of such merchandise into the United States.

As of this time, the Commission has not ordered a public hearing in this investigation. In accordance with § 208.4 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (19 CFR, 1954 Supp., 208.4) any interested party who believes that a public hearing should be held in this investigation may within 15 days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of this notice of investigation, submit a request in writing to the Secretary, United States Tariff Commission, Washington 25, D. C., that a public hearing be held, stating the reasons for such request.

Any interested party may submit to the Commission a written statement of information pertinent to the subject matter of this investigation. If a public hearing is held in this investigation such statement may be presented in lieu of appearance at such hearing. Fifteen clear copies of such statement should be submitted, and information which is desired to be submitted in confidence should be on separate pages clearly marked "Submitted in confidence".

By order of the United States Tariff Commission this 31st day of October 1955.

Issued: October 31, 1955.

Secretary.

PART 365—REFINANCING OF LOAN ACCOUNTS

SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION LOANS

Part 365, Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (19 F. R. 3539) is revised to incorporate refinancing regulations with respect to Soil and Water Conservation loans and to read as follows:

Sec.

365.1 General.
365.2 When to request borrowers to refinance.
365.3 Determining which borrowers should refinance.
365.4 Notice to borrowers.
365.5 Action when borrower fails to refinance.

AUTHORITY: §§ 365.1 to 365.5 issued under R. S. 161, sec. 6 (3), 50 Stat. 870, sec. 41 (1), 60 Stat. 1066, sec. 510 (g), 63 Stat. 436, sec. 4 (c), 64 Stat. 100; 5 U. S. C. 22, 16 U. S. C. 590w (3), 7 U. S. C. 1015 (1), 42 U. S. C. 1480 (g), 40 U. S. C. 442 (c). Statutes interpreted or applied are cited to text in parentheses.

§ 365.1 General. This part prescribes the policies and procedures related to the refinancing of the outstanding balance of a borrower's indebtedness owed to or insured by the Farmers Home Administration in connection with insured and direct Farm Ownership, insured and direct Soil and Water Conservation, Farm Housing, and Production and Subsistence loans.

§ 365.2 When to request borrowers to refinance—(a) Farm Ownership and Farm Housing borrowers. A borrower will be requested to refinance his Farm Ownership or Farm Housing indebtedness when it appears that he has acquired sufficient equity in his real estate to enable him to obtain credit for this purpose from a responsible cooperative or private source at rates, but not to exceed five percent per annum, and on terms prevailing in the area.

(b) Soil and Water Conservation borrowers. A borrower will be requested to refinance his Soil and Water Conservation indebtedness when it appears that he is able to obtain credit for this purpose from a responsible cooperative or private credit source on terms and conditions which he can reasonably be expected to fulfill.

(c) Borrowers indebted for Production and Subsistence loans. A borrower will be requested to refinance his Production and Subsistence loan indebtedness when it appears, by reason of his progress in carrying out the planned improvements in his farming operations or for any other reason, that he is able to obtain credit for this purpose from local sources at rates and terms prevailing in the area.

(Secs. 3 (b) (7), 12 (c) (4), 44 (c), 60 Stat. 1075, 1076, 1069, sec. 502 (b) (3), 63 Stat. 433, sec. 2 (f), 64 Stat. 99, secs. 9, 10 (a) (1), 68 Stat. 735; 7 U. S. C. 1003 (b) (7), 1005b (c) (4), 1018 (c), 42 U. S. C. 1472 (b) (3), 40 U. S. C. 440 (f), 16 U. S. C. 590x–2, x–3 (a) (1))

§ 365.3 Determining which borrowers should refinance. In order to determine properly which borrowers should seek refinancing, the County Supervisor and the County Committee must be currently informed with respect to the lending policies of the various sources of agricultural credit in the area. This involves considering the suitability of the available credit as well as knowing the financial, security, and other requirements for such credit.

(a) Review of cases by County Supervisor and County Committee. Once each year, not later than 90 days following the end of the crop year, the County Supervisor will submit to the Committee the names of those borrowers indebted for Farm Ownership, Farm Housing, Soil and Water Conservation, or Production and Subsistence loans who appear to meet the conditions set forth in § 365.2. The County Supervisor will furnish the Committee with sufficient information to arrive at a recommendation as to whether such borrowers should be encouraged to refinance the unpaid balances on their loans. The Committee will review the progress these borrowers have made in reducing their indebtedness and will indicate to the County Supervisor the borrowers whom the Committee believes have progressed sufficiently to obtain suitable credit from other sources. The County Supervisor, after considering the recommendations of the Committee, will determine which borrowers should seek refinancing.

§ 365.4 Notice to borrowers. Each borrower whom the County Supervisor determines should seek refinancing will be informed in writing that it appears he has progressed to the point where he can refinance the Farmers Home Administration debt involved. At the same time, the borrower will be asked to inform the County Supervisor within 60 days of the progress he is making in refinancing his loan. If the borrower has failed to obtain a loan to refinance his Farmers Home Administration debt, he should also be asked to inform the County Supervisor of the credit sources contacted. County Supervisors will not attempt to influence borrowers with respect to where they obtain credit for refinancing.

§ 365.5 Action when borrower fails to refinance—(a) Borrowers indebted for initial or subsequent Farm Ownership loans approved after October 31, 1946, or, for Farm Housing loans—(1) Action by County Supervisor. At the expiration of the 60-day period, the County Supervisor will determine what action should be taken with respect to those borrowers who have not made arrangements to refinance their Farmers Home Administration real estate indebtedness.

(i) If the investigation by the County Supervisor establishes the fact that a borrower is unable to refinance his indebtedness, he will inform the borrower in writing that the Farmers Home Administration will take no further action with respect to requiring refinancing for the remainder of that year.

(ii) For each borrower whom the County Supervisor determines could have refinanced his loan at an interest rate not in excess of five percent per annum but failed to do so, he will prepare a report on Form FHA–133, "Request for Legal Action," and will submit it to the State Director.

(2) Action by State Director. The State Director will review each case submitted to him and determine what action should be taken.

(i) The State Director will advise the County Supervisor of the names of those borrowers he has determined will not be required to refinance their loans on the basis of the existing status of the case. He will also instruct the County Supervisor to inform each such borrower in writing that the Farmers Home Administration will not require refinancing for the remainder of that year.

(ii) Each of the remaining borrowers will be informed in writing by the State Director that on the basis of available information it appears that credit is available to refinance his Farmers Home Administration real estate indebtedness and that he will be expected to make arrangements to obtain credit for that purpose or to submit additional facts regarding his failure to do so within 30 days.

(iii) If the borrower fails to comply with the request or fails to furnish satisfactory evidence within 30 days of his inability to obtain the necessary credit, the State Director will refer the case to the representative of the Office of the General Counsel with his recommendations for foreclosure.

(b) Borrowers indebted for direct Farm Ownership loans all of which were approved prior to November 1, 1946, or for Water Facilities loans coded J. No statutory or contract provisions exist for requiring these borrowers to refinance their loans. When such borrowers are able to obtain suitable credit from cooperative or private credit sources but fail to refinance after receiving the letter no further action will be taken except that during supervisory and servicing contacts further encouragement will be given them to refinance their loans. If the proper understanding is reached with such borrowers with respect to refinancing, there should be a continuous voluntary graduation of successful borrowers to other credit sources.

(c) Borrowers indebted for Soil and Water Conservation loans (except Water Facilities loans coded J). When a borrower indebted for a Soil and Water Conservation loan (except a Water Facilities loan coded J) is able to obtain suitable credit from a responsible cooperative or private credit source on terms and conditions which it appears he can fulfill, and he fails to refinance after receiving the letter, the same action as set forth for Farm Ownership and Farm Housing borrowers in paragraph (a) of this section will be taken; however, the interest rate on the refinancing loan may exceed five percent.

(d) Borrowers indebted for Production and Subsistence loans. (1) When borrowers indebted for Production and Subsistence loans who are able to obtain suitable credit from cooperative or private credit sources at rates not exceeding five percent per annum fail to obtain the necessary refinancing after receiving the letter, the same action as set forth for Farm Ownership and Farm Housing borrowers in paragraph (a) of this section will be taken.

(2) When borrowers indebted for Production and Subsistence loans who are able to obtain suitable credit from cooperative or private credit sources only at rates exceeding five percent per annum fail to refinance after receiving the letter, no further action will be taken except that during supervisory and servicing contacts further encouragement will be given them to refinance their loans. If a proper understanding is reached with such borrowers with respect to refinancing, there should be a continuous voluntary graduation of successful borrowers to other credit sources.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 941—MILK IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, MARKETING AREA

ORDER SUSPENDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act," and of the order, as amended (7 CFR Part 941, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order," it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The provisions of § 941.52 (a) (3) and (b) (3) will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act for the month of November 1955.

(b) Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon, and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof, are found to be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) The information upon which this action is based did not become available in time sufficient for such compliance;

(2) This suspension order relieves handlers from certain restrictions in that it relieves them from the obligation of paying 70 cents per hundredweight on Class I and Class II milk moved in bulk to outside the surplus milk manufacturing area;

(3) Producers of more than 50 percent of the milk produced for this market, and handlers of most of the milk, have requested that these provisions be suspended for November 1955;

(4) Although, pursuant to § 941.52 (e) of the order, the 70-cent differentials should apply in November 1955, current information indicates that supplies of producer milk are adequate to meet marketing area requirements and other demands during November;

(5) It is found necessary to issue and make effective for November 1955, this suspension order to reflect current marketing conditions and to facilitate, promote, and maintain orderly marketing conditions in this marketing area; and

(6) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to its effective date.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective immediately for the period of November 1955.

It is therefore ordered, That the following provisions of the order be and hereby are suspended for the month of November 1955:

1. In § 941.52 (a) (3): Grade A or Grade B Class I milk moved in bulk to any place outside the surplus milk manufacturing area during any of the delivery periods of September, October or November shall be classified separately and its price shall be $0.70 higher than the prices otherwise computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2), respectively, of this paragraph, except as provided in paragraph (e) of this section.

2. In § 941.52 (b) (3): Grade A or Grade B Class II milk moved in bulk to any place outside the surplus milk manufacturing area during any of the delivery periods of September, October or November shall be classified separately and its price shall be $0.70 higher than the price otherwise computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2), respectively, of this paragraph, except as provided in paragraph (e) of this section.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 1st day of November 1955, to be effective on and after November 1, 1955.

Statement by the Commission. Trade practice rules for the Commercial Dental Laboratory Industry, as hereinafter set forth, are promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under the trade practice conference procedure.

The industry for which these rules are established is composed of persons, firms, corporations, and organizations engaged in the design [1] and manufacture of orthodontic corrective appliances, prosthetic dental appliances, ceramic or plastic teeth encapments, cast-metal dental appliances, dental inlays, dental bridges, and other types of oral restorations, pursuant to oral or written authority, and/or from impressions, casts, or models furnished by a licensed practitioner of dentistry, or licensed medical physician or other authorized person.

The rules are directed to the maintenance of free and fair competition in the industry and to the prevention and elimination of various practices deemed to be violative of laws administered by the Commission. They are to be applied to such end and to the exclusion of any acts or practices which suppress competition or otherwise restrain trade.

Proceedings under which the rules have been established were instituted upon application from members of the industry. A general industry conference was held under Commission auspices in New Orleans, Louisiana, at which proposals for rules were submitted for consideration of the Commission. Thereafter proposed rules were published by the Commission and made available to all industry members and other interested or affected parties upon public notice whereby they were afforded opportunity to present their views, including such pertinent information, suggestions, or amendments as they desired to offer, and to be heard in the premises. Pursuant to such notice, a public hearing was held in the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., and all matters there presented, or otherwise received in the proceeding, were duly considered by the Commission.

Following such hearing, and upon consideration of the entire matter, final action was taken by the Commission whereby it approved the Group I rules hereinafter set forth.

Such rules become operative thirty (30) days from the date of promulgation.

The rules. These rules promulgated by the Commission are designed to foster and promote the maintenance of fair competitive conditions in the interest of protecting industry, trade, and the public. It is to this end, and to the exclusion of any act or practice which fixes or controls prices through combination or agreement, or which unreasonably restrains trade or suppresses competition, or otherwise unlawfully injures, destroys, or prevents competition, that the rules are to be applied.

GROUP I

General statement. The unfair trade practices embraced in the rules in §§ 18.1 to 18.13 are considered to be unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices, or other illegal practices, prohibited under laws administered by the Federal Trade Commission; and appropriate proceedings in the public interest will be taken by the Commission to prevent the use, by any person, partnership, corporation, or other organization subject to its jurisdiction, of such unlawful practices in commerce.

§ 18.1 Deception (general). It is an unfair trade practice to sell, offer for sale, or distribute any industry product, or promote the sale or distribution thereof, under any representation or by any method or under any circumstance or condition which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers.

(a) With respect to the construction, composition, design, strength, durability, or occlusion; or

(b) With respect to a process or technique used in the preparation or fabrication of any industry product; or

(c) With respect to the materials used in the fabrication of any industry product; or

(d) Which is false, misleading, or deceptive in any other material respect.

NOTE: Nothing in this section, nor in any of the other rules for this industry, is to be construed as relieving any industry member of the necessity of complying with the requirements of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, and regulations issued thereunder.

[Rule 1]

§ 18.2 Deceptive demonstrations and claims. (a) In the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products, or in the promotion and distribution thereof, it is an unfair trade practice to demonstrate any of such products in a manner, or under circumstances, having the capacity and tendency or effect of creating a false impression in the minds of purchasers or prospective purchasers as to the actual benefits they will obtain as the result of their purchase and use of said products.

(b) It is an unfair trade practice for a member of the industry to represent, claim, or guarantee that his laboratory has the skill, ability, equipment, or personnel to design, construct, or fabricate a product of the industry under a specific technique or method, unless such representation, claim, or guarantee is made with the knowledge that complete and satisfactory accomplishment can be furnished with the facilities and personnel of such member laboratory.

(c) It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to represent, claim, or guarantee that any technique or method of manufacture used is the equivalent of, or substitute for, any other method or technique, unless such is the fact. [Rule 2]

§ 18.3 Substitution of products. It is an unfair trade practice for a member of the industry to make an unauthorized substitution of products, where such a substitution has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers, by:

(a) Shipping or delivering industry products which do not conform to samples submitted, to specifications upon which the sale is consummated, or to representations made prior to securing the order, without advising the purchaser of the substitution and obtaining his consent thereto prior to making shipment or delivery; or

(b) Falsely representing the reason for making a substitution. [Rule 3]

§ 18.4 False invoicing. Withholding from or inserting in invoices or order tickets any statements or information by reason of which omission or insertion a false record is made, wholly or in part, of the transactions represented on the face of such invoices or order tickets, with the capacity and tendency or effect of thereby misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 4]

§ 18.5 Defamation of competitors or false disparagement of their products. The defamation of competitors by falsely imputing to them dishonorable conduct, inability to perform contracts, questionable credit standing, or by other false representations, or the false disparagement of the grade, quality, or manufacture of the products of competitors, or of their business methods, selling prices, values, credit terms, policies, services, or conditions of employment, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 5]

§ 18.6 Enticing away employees of competitors. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry willfully to entice away employees or sales representatives of competitors with the intent and effect of thereby unduly hampering or injuring competitors in their business and destroying or substantially lessening competition: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting employees from seeking more favorable employment, or as prohibiting employers from hiring or offering employment to employees of competitors in good faith and not for the purpose of inflicting injury on a competitor. [Rule 6]

§ 18.7 Deceptive use of trade or corporate names, trade-marks, etc. The use of any trade name, corporate name, trade-mark, or other trade designation which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving the purchaser as to the name, nature, efficacy, or origin of any product of the industry, or of any material used therein, or which is false or misleading in any other respect, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 7]

§ 18.8 Use of the word "free." In connection with the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products, it is an unfair trade practice to use the word "free," or any other word or words of similar import, in advertisements or in other offers to purchasers or prospective purchasers, as descriptive of an article of merchandise, or service, which is not an unconditional gift, under the following circumstances:

(a) When all the conditions, obligations, or other prerequisites to the receipt and retention of the "free" article of merchandise or service offered are not clearly and conspicuously set forth at the outset so as to leave no reasonable probability that the terms of the offer will be misunderstood; and, regardless of such disclosure:

(b) When, with respect to any article of merchandise required to be purchased in order to obtain the "free" article or service, the offerer (1) increases the ordinary and usual price of such article of merchandise, or (2) reduces its quality, or (3) reduces the quantity or size thereof.

NOTE: The disclosure required by paragraph (a) of this section shall appear in close conjunction with the word "free" (or other word or words of similar import) wherever such word first appears in each advertisement or offer. A disclosure in the form of a footnote, to which reference is made by use of an asterisk or other symbol placed next to the word "free," will not be regarded as compliance.

[Rule 8]

§ 18.9 Coercing purchase of one product as a prerequisite to purchase of other products. The practice of coercing the purchase of one or more products as a prerequisite to the purchase of one or more other products, where the effect may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly or unreasonably to restrain trade, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 9]

§ 18.10 Fictitious prices. It is an unfair trade practice to sell or offer for sale industry products at prices purported to be reduced from what are in fact fictitious prices, or to sell or offer for sale such products at a purported reduction in price when such purported reduction is in fact fictitious or is otherwise misleading or deceptive. [Rule 10]

§ 18.11 Guarantees. In the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products, it is an unfair trade practice for any industry member:

(a) To represent that any industry product is guaranteed unless, in conjunction with such representation, the identity of the guarantor, the extent and nature of the guarantee, and any material conditions or limitations relating to the liability of the guarantor under the guarantee, are fairly disclosed; or

(b) To use any guarantee respecting an industry product in which conditions or limitations relating to the liability of the guarantor are deceptively minimized or concealed; or

(c) To offer or use any guarantee respecting an industry product under which the guarantor fails to scrupulously observe his obligations. [Rule 11]

§ 18.12 Prohibited discrimination [2]—(a) Prohibited discriminatory prices, rebates, refunds, discounts, credits, etc., which effect unlawful price discrimination. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to grant or allow, secretly or openly, directly or indirectly, any rebate, refund, discount, credit, or other form of price differential, where such rebate, refund, discount, credit, or other form of price differential, effects a discrimination in price between different purchasers of goods of like grade and quality, where either or any of the purchases involved therein are in commerce, and where the effect thereof may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination, or with customers of either of them: Provided, however:

(1) That the goods involved in any such transaction are sold for use, consumption, or resale within any place under the jurisdiction of the United States, and are not purchased by schools, colleges, universities, public libraries, churches, hospitals, or charitable institutions not operated for profit, as supplies for their own use;

(2) That nothing contained in paragraph (a) of this section shall prevent differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered;

NOTE: Cost justification under the above proviso depends upon net savings in cost based on all facts relevant to the transactions under the terms of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. For example, if a seller regularly grants a discount based upon the purchase of a specified quantity by a single order for a single delivery, and this discount is justified by cost differences, it does not follow that the same discount can be cost justified if granted to a purchaser of the same quantity by multiple orders or for multiple deliveries.

(3) That nothing contained in this section shall prevent persons engaged in selling goods, wares, or merchandise in commerce from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade;

(4) That nothing contained in paragraph (a) of this section shall prevent price changes from time to time where made in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to obsolescence of seasonal goods; imminent deterioration of perishable goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned;

(5) That nothing contained in this section shall prevent the meeting in good faith of an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor (see paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section).

(b) Prohibited brokerage and commissions. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to pay or grant, or to receive or accept, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, except for services rendered in connection with the sale or purchase of goods, wares, or merchandise, either to the other party to such transaction or to an agent, representative, or other intermediary therein where such intermediary is acting in fact for or in behalf, or is subject to the direct or indirect control, of any party to such transaction other than the person by whom such compensation is so granted or paid.

(c) Prohibited advertising or promotional allowances, etc. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to pay or contract for the payment of advertising or promotional allowances or any other thing of value to or for the benefit of a customer of such member in the course of such commerce as compensation or in consideration for any services or facilities furnished by or through such customer in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of any products or commodities manufactured, sold, or offered for sale by such member, unless such payment or consideration is available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products or commodities.

[2] As used in this section, the word "commerce" means "trade or commerce among the several States and with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia or any Territory of the United States and any State, Territory, or foreign nation, or between any insular possessions or other places under the jurisdiction of the United States, or between any such possession or place and any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation, or within the District of Columbia or any Territory or any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States.

(d) Prohibited discriminatory services or facilities. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to discriminate in favor of one purchaser against another purchaser or purchasers of a commodity bought for resale, with or without processing, by contracting to furnish or furnishing, or by contributing to the furnishing of, any services or facilities connected with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of such commodity so purchased upon terms not accorded to all competing purchasers on proportionally equal terms.

(e) Inducing or receiving an illegal discrimination in price. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, knowingly to induce or receive a discrimination in price which is prohibited by the foregoing provisions of this section.

(f) Purchases by U. S. Government; applicability of Robinson-Patman Antidiscrimination Act to same. In an opinion submitted to the Secretary of War under date of December 28, 1936, the U. S. Attorney General advised that the Robinson-Patman Antidiscrimination Act "is not applicable to Government contracts for supplies." (38 Opinions, Attorney General 539.) [Rule 12]

§ 18.13 Exclusive deals. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to contract to sell or sell any industry product, or fix a price charged therefor, or discount from, or rebate upon, such price, on the condition, agreement, or understanding that the purchaser thereof shall not use or deal in the products of a competitor or competitors of such industry member, where the effect of such sale or contract for sale, or of such condition, agreement, or understanding, may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce. [Rule 13]

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

DECLARING EFFECTIVE DISTRIBUTION PLAN OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

The Securities and Exchange Commission has announced that it has declared effective until the close of business on October 31, 1956, an amended Exchange Distribution Plan filed by the New York Stock Exchange. The Commission's proposal to declare the amended Plan effective was published for comment in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 5200, dated July 22, 1955, which contains the text of the amended Plan, and no comments were received by the Commission.

The Exchange Distribution Plan of the New York Stock Exchange, filed under the Commission's § 240.10b2 (d) (Rule X-10B-2 (d)), authorizes the Exchange to grant approval to members to make a distribution of a block of securities "at the market" on the Exchange when the regular market on the Exchange cannot otherwise absorb the block of securities within a reasonable time and at a reasonable price or prices. The Plan contains certain anti-manipulative controls and requires participating members to make certain disclosures to persons solicited to buy the securities being distributed. Under the amended Plan the Exchange may permit a specialist to distribute a block of the security in which he is registered as a specialist if the Exchange has determined that he has been unable, within a reasonable period of time, to dispose of the securities in the ordinary course of his duties as a specialist. The amended Plan also restricts the price at which a specialist may effect purchases of the security for his own account during the course of the distribution, and provides that in effecting such a distribution the specialist may not deal directly with the public but must make an arrangement with one or more other members to effect the distribution on his behalf.

The Exchange has indicated to the Commission that the amended Plan will help specialists to maintain fair and orderly markets in the securities in which they act as specialists since they will be more willing to take larger amounts of stock, either in the ordinary performance of their dealer functions on the Exchange or by purchasing blocks off the floor, because there will be available to them a facility for the distribution of the stock in the event that they are unable to sell such stock within a reasonable time in the ordinary course of their business as specialists.

The Commission has declared the amended Plan effective for an experimental period of one year, on condition that if at any time it appears to the Commission necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors to suspend or terminate the effectiveness of the Plan the Commission may do so by sending at least 10 days written notice to the Exchange. During the experimental period the Commission proposes to review and study the operation of the Plan.

The text of the Commission's action follows:

The Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 10 (b) and 23 (a) thereof, and § 240.10b2 (d) (Rule X-10B-2 (d)) thereunder, deeming it necessary for the exercise of the functions vested in it, and having due regard for the public interest and for the protection of investors, does hereby declare effective the amended Exchange Distribution Plan of the New York Stock Exchange until the close of business on October 31, 1956, on condition that if at anytime it appears to the Commission necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors so to do, the Commission may suspend or terminate the effectiveness of the said Plan by sending at least 10 days written notice to the New York Stock Exchange. The Commission finds, in accordance with the provisions of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, that paragraph (d) of § 240.10b2 (Rule X-10B-2 (d)) and this action have the effect of granting exemption and relieving restriction and that, therefore, this action may be and is hereby declared effective on October 31, 1955.

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION OF SECURITIES

On May 27, 1955, the Securities and Exchange Commission announced, and invited comments on, a proposed revision of Forms 10, 8-B and 8-C (§§ 249.210, 249.208b, 249.208c), the proposed rescission of Forms 12 and 12-A (§§ 249.212 and 249.212a) and a proposed amendment to § 240.12b-2 (Rule X-12B-2). The Commission has considered the comments received, has made certain modifications in the proposals and has determined that such proposals should be adopted as set forth below.

Section 240.12b-2 (Rule X-12B-2) is amended by changing the definition of the term "associate" contained therein to read as follows:

(c) Associate. The term "associate" used to indicate a relationship with any person, means (1) any corporation or organization (other than the registrant or a majority-owned subsidiary of the registrant) of which such person is an officer or partner or is, directly or indirectly, the beneficial owner of 10 percent or more of any class of equity securities, (2) any trust or other estate in which such person has a substantial beneficial interest or as to which such person serves as trustee or in a similar fiduciary capacity, and (3) any relative or spouse of such person, or any relative of such spouse, who has the same home as such person or who is a director or officer of the registrant or any of its parents or subsidiaries.

The foregoing action is taken pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 12, 13 and 23 (a) thereof, and shall become effective immediately upon publication October 25, 1955, provided that any application or report filed prior to December 1, 1955, may be prepared in accordance with the rules, regulations and forms as in effect immediately prior to such publication.

PART 249—FORMS PRESCRIBED UNDER THE SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION OF SECURITIES

Forms 10,[1] 8-B[1] and 8-C[1] are revised to read as set forth in copies marked "As revised 10/25/55."

Form 10 (§ 249.210) is the principal form for the registration of securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The principal purpose of the revision of this form is to conform its requirements, to the extent practicable, with the corresponding requirements of Schedule 14A of the Commission's proxy rules, with the annual report Form 10-K (§ 249.310) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and with revised Form S-1 (§ 239.11) under the Securities Act of 1933.

The revisions of Forms 8-B and 8-C (§§ 249.208b and 249.208c) are designed to simplify and clarify these forms and to conform them to the format and arrangement of Forms 8-A, 10 and 10-K (§§ 249.208a, 249.210 and 249.310). Form 8-B (§ 249.208b) is used for the registration on a national securities exchange of securities of an issuer which has succeeded to one or more predecessors, at least one of which had securities registered on the same exchange, where the balance sheet and capital structure of the successor are substantially the same as those of the predecessor or predecessors. Form 8-C is used for registration of securities on an additional national securities exchange.

Forms 12 and 12A (§§ 249.212 and 249.212a) are rescinded inasmuch as the revised Form 10 makes provision for the use of that form by issuers which heretofore have used Form 12 and 12A.

TITLE 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 511—WAGE ORDER PROCEDURE FOR PUERTO RICO AND THE VIRGIN ISLANDS

Pursuant to section 5 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), Industry Committee Regulations, Part 511, were issued on September 22, 1938 (3 F. R. 2744) for application to industry committees appointed under the Act. Though section 5 (c) has remained unchanged, there have been statutory changes affecting the scope of the work of such committees, the effect of their recommendations, and the obligation of the Wage and Hour Division to publish the general course and method by which its functions are channeled and determined (63 Stat. 910; 60 Stat. 237, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.; P. L. 381, 84th Cong., 1st Session). This amendment adapts the procedures of such industry committees to the changed statutory provisions and states the general course and method of issuing wage orders effective under section 6 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Now, therefore, pursuant to authority vested in me by the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060, 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), and General Order of the Secretary of Labor No. 45A (see 15 F. R. 3290), Part 511 of this title (29 CFR Part 511) is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec.
511.1 General method for issuance of wage orders.
511.2 Initiation of proceedings; notices of hearings.
511.3 Composition and appointment of committees.
511.4 Compensation of committee members.
511.5 Vacancies and dissolution of a committee.
511.6 Investigation.

Sec.
511.7 Committee staff.
511.8 Notice of intention to participate.
511.9 Prehearing statement.
511.10 Requirements for quorum and decisions.
511.11 Subjects and issues.
511.12 Committee and subcommittee meetings.
511.13 Evidence.
511.14 Procedure for receiving evidence.
511.15 Submittals prior to reports.
511.16 Reports.
511.17 Records.
511.18 Publication and effective date of wage order.
511.19 Petitions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 511.1 to 511.19 issued under sec. 5, 52 Stat. 1064, as amended, 29 U. S. C. 205. Interpret or apply 60 Stat. 237-244, secs. 6, 8, 52 Stat. 1062, as amended, 1064, as amended; 5 U. S. C. 1001-1011, 29 U. S. C. 206, 208.

§ 511.1 General method for issuance of wage orders. Pursuant to authority delegated by the Secretary of Labor, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division publishes the orders which are required by statute to make the recommendations of industry committees effective as wage orders under section 6 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act. The wage orders issued by the Administrator must by law give effect to the recommendations of the industry committees. All wage order proceedings will be conducted in accordance with the standards provided in the Administrative Procedure Act as interpreted and applied in this part.

§ 511.2 Initiation of proceedings; notices of hearings. (a) Wage order proceedings are initiated by order of the Secretary, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, giving notice of hearings by industry committees to recommend the minimum rate or rates of wages to be paid under section 6 (a) of the act to employees in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce. These orders will contain a definition of the industry in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, for which the committee is to make its recommendations, and will make provision for convening the committee. The industry defined in such an order may be a trade, business, industry, or branch thereof, or group of industries, in which individuals are gainfully employed.

(b) These orders will also give reasonable notice (1) of the time and place for the commencement of the hearing of such witnesses and receiving of such evidence as may be necessary or appropriate to enable the committee to perform its duties and functions under the act, (2) of the general nature of the wage order proceedings and the authority under which they are proposed, (3) of the subjects and issues involved, and (4) that the committee will take official notice of the economic report (note § 511.13), and the parties will have an opportunity at the hearing to show any contrary or additional facts.

§ 511.3 Composition and appointment of committees. An industry committee will be composed of residents of the island or islands where the employees with respect to whom such committee was appointed are employed and residents of the United States outside of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The Secretary will by order appoint as members of each committee an equal number of persons representing (a) the public, (b) employees in the industry, and (c) employers in the industry. The public members shall be disinterested and the Secretary will designate one as chairman. For purposes of this section only, the definition of the industry shall be considered to include all such industry throughout the United States.

§ 511.4 Compensation of committee members. Each member of an industry committee will be allowed a per diem of $50 for each day actually spent in the work of the committee, and will, in addition, be reimbursed for necessary transportation and other expense incident to traveling in accordance with Standard Government Travel Regulations then in effect. All travel expenses will be paid on travel vouchers certified by the Administrator or his authorized representative. Any other necessary expenses which are incidental to the work of the committee may be incurred by the committee upon aproval of, and shall be paid upon certification of, the Administrator or his authorized representative.

§ 511.5 Vacancies and dissolution of committees. The Secretary by order will appoint persons to fill any vacancies occurring on industry committees. If an industry committee is unable to arrive at a recommendation within a reasonable time, or refuses to make a recommendation, it may be dissolved by the Secretary. An industry committee shall cease to perform further functions when it has filed with the Administrator its report containing its findings of fact and recommendations with respect to the matters referred to it, and shall not again perform any functions with respect to any matter reported on, unless and until directed by the Administrator. An industry committee shall be dissolved automatically when its recommendations are no longer subject to review under section 10 of the act.

§ 511.6 Investigation. The Administrator shall prepare an economic report containing such data as he is able to assemble pertinent to the matters to be referred to a committee. A copy of the regulations in this part will be sent to each member of the committee following his appointment, and a copy of the economic report when completed will be furnished promptly. Before making its report the committee will decide whether it will conduct any further investigation, apart from the hearing and the review of the economic report, in connection with the matters referred to it.

§ 511.7 Committee staff. Each industry committee will be furnished a lawyer, to serve as committee counsel, and an economist, to serve as committee economist. Committee counsel shall advise the committee on the issues of law, including interpretations of the regulations in this part and the legal scope of the committee's discretion, which arise during the committee proceedings. The committee counsel and economist shall be available to advise and assist the committee at all of its meetings. The Administrator shall furnish the committee with adequate stenographic, clerical, and other assistance.

§ 511.8 Notice of intention to participate. Every employer, employee, trade association, trade union, or group of employers, employees, associations, or unions in the industry as defined, or in such industry elsewhere in the United States, and every other person who, in the judgment of the committee, has an interest sufficient to justify the participation he proposes, shall be considered an interested person. Any interested person who wishes to participate shall file a notice of intention, in writing, with the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, Washington, D. C. not later than fifteen days after the notice of hearing is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The notice of intention shall describe the person's interest and specify whether he proposes to participate as a party or only as a witness. Neither this notice nor the prehearing statement under § 511.9 (b) shall be required of a witness named in, and appearing solely for the purpose of presenting testimony summarized in, a party's prehearing statement under § 511.9 (c).

§ 511.9 Prehearing statement. (a) At least ten days before the first hearing date set for any committee in the notice of hearing, every person who has filed a notice of intention to participate shall make a prehearing statement. Two copies shall be filed with the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, Washington, D. C., and four copies shall be filed with the Territorial Director of the Wage and Hour Division, Post Office Box 9061, Santurce 29, Puerto Rico.

(b) The prehearing statement of each person who has filed notice of intention to participate only as a witness shall contain (1) the written data he proposes to introduce in evidence by his testimony, if any, (2) the prepared statement he proposes to give, if any, and (3) a statement of the approximate length of time his direct testimony should take. The filing of a prehearing statement in accordance with the above requirements shall give a right to testify, but shall not give the rights provided in §§ 511.9, 511.12, 511.13, and 511.14 for parties.

(c) The prehearing statement of each person who has filed notice of his intention to participate as a party shall contain (1) a statement of the classifications and wage rates, if any, which he proposes to support, (2) the written data, if any, which he intends to introduce in evidence, (3) the names and addresses of the witnesses he proposes to call and a summary of the evidence proposed to be developed, (4) a statement of the approximate length of time his case will take, and (5) the name and address of the individual who will present his case. If the prehearing statement is in conformity with the above requirements, the person shall have the right to participate as a party. In accordance with section 6 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, industry committees shall, after considering the advice of committee counsel, issue the subpoenas authorized by section 9 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, to parties who make a request therefor accompanied by a clear showing of general relevance and reasonable scope of the evidence sought.

(d) Prehearing statements of parties and witnesses shall be made available for examination at the places of filing by anyone who has made or contemplates filing a notice of intention to participate. Each person who files a prehearing statement should, if requested, make himself available for conference with the Committee staff to make any needed clarification of his prehearing statement and arrange the details of presenting his testimony or case.

(e) In exceptional circumstances, a person who has not filed notice of his intention to participate under § 511.8 and made the prehearing statement required by this section and who does not appear on a witness list filed by a party, may, nevertheless, be permitted, in the discretion of the committee, to testify as a witness.

§ 511.10 Requirements for quorum and decisions. Two-thirds of the members of an industry committee shall constitute a quorum. Approval by a majority of all of the members of an industry committee or subcommittee shall be required for its report. Except as otherwise provided in this part, the chairman of the industry committee or subcommittee may make other decisions for the committee or subcommittee, but each such decision shall be subject to approval of a majority of the members present if any member objects.

§ 511.11 Subjects and issues. In accordance with the declared policy of the act each industry committee shall recommend minimum wages which will reach as rapidly as is economically feasible without substantially curtailing employment the objective of the minimum wage prescribed in paragraph (1) of section 6 (a) of the act. Each industry committee shall recommend to the Administrator the highest minimum wage rates for the industry which it determines, having due regard to economic and competitive conditions, will not substantially curtail employment in the industry and will not give any industry in Puerto Rico or in the Virgin Islands a competitive advantage over any industry in the United States, outside of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Where the industry committee finds that a higher minimum wage may be determined for employees engaged in certain activities or in the manufacture of certain products in the industry than may be determined for other employees in the industry, the industry committee shall recommend such reasonable classifications within the industry as it determines to be necessary for the purpose of fixing for each classification the highest minimum wage rate that can be determined for it under the principles set out in this section which will not substantially curtail employment in such classification and will not give a competitive advantage to any group in that industry. No classification shall be made, however, and no minimum wage rate shall be fixed solely on a regional basis or on the basis of age or sex. In determining whether there should be classification within the industry, in making such classifications, and in determining the minimum wage rates for such classifications, the committee shall consider, among other relevant factors, the following: (a) Competitive conditions as affected by transportation, living and production costs; (b) the wages established for work of like or comparable character by collective labor agreements negotiated between employers and employees by representatives of their own choosing; and (c) the wages paid for work of a like or comparable character by employers who voluntarily maintain minimum wage standards in the industry.

§ 511.12 Committee and subcommittee meetings. (a) The full committee, or a quorum thereof, will convene at the time and place appointed for an initial prehearing meeting as provided in the Secretary's order initiating the proceedings. (Note § 511.2). The full committee acting through a quorum will decide at that meeting whether it will preside at the reception of evidence at the hearing or will authorize a subcommittee to preside. Any resolution authorizing a subcommittee to hold the hearing shall provide a period of 30 days after (1) the subcommittee has filed its recommended report and (2) a transcript of the subcommittee hearing is made available to the parties, for the parties to file exceptions to the recommended report, and the committee shall meet promptly thereafter on call of its chairman or the Administrator to consider exceptions and prepare its final report.

(b) A committee may adjourn its meeting or hearing, or both, from time to time, and meet again, at hearing or otherwise, pursuant to the terms of adjournment, or on call of its chairman or the Administrator.

§ 511.13 Evidence. In accordance with the notice of hearing, the committee, or any authorized subcommittee will take official notice of the facts stated in the economic report to the extent they are not refuted by evidence received at the hearing. Other pertinent evidence available to the Department of Labor may be presented at the hearing. The committee itself may call witnesses not otherwise scheduled to testify. Oral or documentary evidence may be received, but the committee shall exclude irrelevant, immaterial, and unduly repetitious evidence. Every interested person who has met the requirements for participation as a party shall have the right to present his case by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence, and to conduct such cross examination of witnesses called by others as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts. Testimony on behalf of an employer or group of employers as to inability to absorb wage increases shall be received in evidence only if supported by tangible objective data, such as the pertinent profit and loss statements and balance sheets for a representative period of years.

§ 511.14 Procedure for receiving evidence. (a) All testimony shall be given under oath or affirmation. Any party shall have the right to appear in person, by counsel, or by other specified representative. Misconduct at any hearing shall be ground for summary exclusion from the hearing. The committee shall limit the testimony of any witness where appropriate to prevent the hearing from becoming unduly prolonged. The refusal of a witness to answer any question which has been ruled to be proper shall, in the discretion of the committee, be ground for striking all testimony given by the witness on related matters.

(b) Unless otherwise directed by the committee, examination of the witnesses shall be in the following order: The committee economist qualified to testify concerning the content and preparation of the economic report and other witnesses called by the Department of Labor shall be heard first. The evidence of the parties and the testimony of other witnesses shall then be received. Each party in presenting his evidence may designate the order in which his witnesses will be called. All witnesses other than those called by parties shall be examined first by committee counsel, next by committee members and committee economist, and then by parties or their representatives. Witnesses called by the parties shall be examined first by the party calling them or by his specified representative, next by committee counsel, then by committee members and committee economist, and then by the other parties or their representatives. Redirect examination may be permitted in the discretion of the committee. Rebuttal evidence may be offered in the order and manner in this section provided for other evidence. To the extent not specified in this section, the order for calling and examining witnesses shall be designated by the chairman of the committee or subcommittee.

§ 511.15 Submittals prior to reports. As soon as the receipt of evidence is concluded, a committee or subcommittee presiding at a hearing shall receive any proposed findings of fact and recommendations together with the reasons therefor submitted by any party. These submittals shall be oral unless otherwise directed by the committee or subcommittee. If, in the discretion of the committee or subcommittee, such proposals should be in writing, it may grant such additional time as it deems essential.

§ 511.16 Reports. Promptly after receipt of submissions under § 511.15, the committee or subcommittee will resolve the issues before it and prepare a report containing its findings of fact and recommendations. The report shall contain the committee's or the subcommittee's findings and conclusions as well as the reasons or basis therefor upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record. When a committee, acting through a quorum, has presided at the reception of evidence, this report shall be its final report on the matters referred to it. Where, however, a subcommittee has presided at the reception of evidence, this report shall be an initial report, and the committee shall meet thereafter to review the report and rule on exceptions in its final report. Where the committee presides at the reception of evidence and proceeds to final decision every party shall be regarded as having objected to any wage rate or classification at variance with any he proposed in his prehearing statement unless he accepted such a rate or classification in any submittal made pursuant to § 511.15. A copy of the report shall be signed by each member of the committee who approves it, either at a meeting of the committee or by circulation of one or more copies among the members of the committee. At any time within 3 days after the committee report is signed by those who approve it, members dissenting therefrom may collectively or individually submit signed reports stating the reasons for their dissent.

§ 511.17 Records. Each industry committee shall keep a journal recording the time and place of all its meetings, the members present, the votes, and other formal proceedings, including the appointment of subcommittees. Subcommittees shall keep a similar journal. No report of committee or subcommittee discussions need be included. All hearings shall be reported and transcribed within 45 days after the date of the Administrator's order under § 511.18. Promptly after completion of the committee's final report, the committee chairman shall certify the report and transmit it to the Administrator. As soon as practicable thereafter, the committee staff shall transmit to the Administrator (a) all committee and subcommittee journals, (b) all applications for leave to participate as interested persons or parties together with the record of action thereon, and (c) the transcript of testimony and exhibits together with all papers and requests filed in the proceedings. These documents shall be available for inspection and copying by any interested person at the office of the Administrator during usual business hours.

§ 511.18 Publication and effective date of wage order. Promptly after receipt of the committee report the Administrator shall publish the committee recommendations in the FEDERAL REGISTER and shall provide by order that the recommendations contained in such report shall take effect upon the expiration of 15 days after the date of such publication.

§ 511.19 Petitions. Any interested person may at any time file a petition with the Administrator for an amendment to the regulations contained in this part or for an amendment to a wage order applicable to him. In view of the statutory requirement that the minimum rates of wages established under section 6 (c) of the act be reviewed by an industry committee at least once each year, substantial cause must be shown in support of any petition for an amendment of a wage order out of regular course.

These regulations shall take effect upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 31st day of October 1955.

NEWELL BROWN, Administrator,
Wage and Hour Division.

AUTHORITY: §§ 226.1 to 226.18 issued under 69 Stat. 618; 6 U. S. C. 14.

§ 226.1 Definitions. As used in this part, the term—

(a) "Agency" means each department and independent establishment in the executive branch of the Federal Government, but does not include government corporations;

(b) "Act" means the act entitled "An Act to provide for the purchase of bonds to cover civilian officers and employees and military personnel of the Federal Government," approved August 9, 1955 (Pub. Law 323, 84th Cong.; 69 Stat. 618; 6 U. S. C. 14);

(c) "Employee" means a civilian officer or employee, or an individual within the category of military personnel, of an agency;

(d) "Head of the agency" and "head of each agency" includes a designee authorized pursuant to law by such head of the agency to act under this part for such head of the agency;

(e) "Bond" or "surety bond" includes individual, name schedule, blanket, position schedule and other types of surety bonds covering an employee or employees;

(f) An "individual bond" covers a single employee in a specified amount;

(g) A "name schedule bond" covers, in a specified amount, each employee whose name is listed in a schedule attached to such bond;

(h) A "position schedule bond" covers, in a specified amount, each employee who holds an office or position the title of which is listed in a schedule attached to such bond; and

(i) A "blanket bond" (1) covers a group of employees without the necessity of having attached to such bond any schedule or list of the names of the employees in such group or the titles of the offices or positions held by them, and (2) is either (i) a multiple penalty bond, which permits recovery in an amount equal to as many times the penalty for each employee covered by the bond as there are employees so covered who are involved in the loss, or (ii) an aggregate penalty bond, which limits recovery to the amount of the penalty of the bond regardless of the number of employees involved in the loss.

§ 226.2 General. The head of each agency shall obtain, in accordance with the authority contained in the Act and in conformity with this part, surety bonds covering those employees of such agency who are required by law or administrative ruling to be bonded.

§ 226.3 Corporate sureties required; underwriting limitation. (a) Each bond shall be obtained only from a corporate surety company holding a certificate of authority from the Secretary of the Treasury under the Act of July 30, 1947 (6 U. S. C. 1–15), as an acceptable surety on Federal bonds.[1]

(b) The penal amount applicable to any employee covered by a bond executed by any such corporate surety company shall not exceed the underwriting limitation established for such company unless the excess is protected as provided by Treasury Department regulations contained in § 223.12 of this title.

§ 226.4 Selection and review of surety bond coverage. (a) The head of each agency shall obtain appropriate surety bond coverage by selecting and obtaining the type or types of bonds which most economically will meet the bonding needs of such agency in the light of the number and type of employees to be bonded. To the maximum extent practicable, blanket and schedule bonds should be obtained in order to reduce both the cost of procurement of bonds under the Act and under this part and the administrative expenses incident to the processing and filing thereof. The preceding sentence, however, does not preclude the procurement of individual bonds where individual bonds are clearly more economical or advantageous.

(b) If, in a particular location, region, or district, the number of employees to be bonded is, in the opinion of the head of the agency concerned, sufficient from an operating standpoint to warrant the procurement of a blanket or schedule bond to cover such employees, such head of the agency shall obtain a separate blanket or schedule bond to cover such employees, unless he determines that, by reason of considerations of economy or administrative efficiency or both, it is in the best interests of the Federal Government to include such employees in a bond or bonds covering all employees of such agency or covering employees in more than one particular location, region, or district.

(c) Before the initial procurement of a bond or bonds under the Act and under this part and from time to time after such initial procurement (but not less frequently than every second year thereafter,) the head of each agency shall review the number of employees of such agency, who are bonded, in order to decrease or increase the amounts of bond coverage if he deems such action appropriate and in order to eliminate the bonding of employees in those cases where he deems that no need therefor exists. In each review conducted after such initial procurement, the head of the agency also shall review the particular type or types of bonds procured for employees of such agency in order to determine whether the future procurement of such particular type or types of bonds best serves the needs of such agency and is in the best interests of the Federal Government or whether the procurement of another type or types of bonds would best accomplish such result. Nothing in this paragraph, however, shall be construed to authorize the elimination of the bonding of an employee who is required by statute to be bonded or to authorize a decrease to be made in the amount of any penalty which is fixed by statute.

§ 226.5 Congressional intent with respect to bonds of the "most economical type." The act provides that each bond obtained under authority thereof shall be of the most economical type available for the number and type of employees to be bonded. As an aid to the head of each agency in the procurement of bonds under the act and under this part, the attention of each such head of the agency is directed to the following portion of the legislative history of the bonding bill (H. R. 4778, 84th Cong.) contained in the conference report on the bill ((1955) H. Rept. 1568, 84th Cong.) which sets forth the intent of the Congress with respect to this provision:

* * * It is not the intent of this provision that a bond or bonds obtainable at the lowest premium rate per annum shall constitute in all cases a bond of the "most economical type." Such would seem to be the case as a general rule, all other factors and considerations being equal. However, in many cases, variations in such factors and considerations as differences in the relative financial standing and reliability of the surety, the terms of the respective surety bond contracts available, and the number and types of personnel to be bonded may require, in the interests of the Federal Government other than in the strictly financial sense, the purchase of such bonds at premium rates per annum which are higher than the lowest premium rates per annum actually obtainable, * * *.

§ 226.6 Bonds of which the penal sums are fixed by statute; bonds of certifying officers. (a) Positions for which the penalty of the bond is fixed by statute may be included in a blanket, position schedule, name schedule, or other type of bond, provided the penalty applicable to such positions is equal to the statutory requirement.

(b) The head of each agency may provide bond coverage under this part for those employees who are the certifying officers of such agency (1) by obtaining a name schedule or position schedule bond limited to such certifying officers alone, (2) by including such certifying officers in a blanket or other type bond also covering other bonded employees, or (3) by obtaining individual bonds for such certifying officers where circumstances warrant.

§ 226.7 Bond obligee and condition. (a) Each bond shall run solely in favor of the United States as obligee, except where a specific statutory provision requires that the bond shall run in favor of the United States and an additional obligee or in favor of an obligee other than the United States.

(b) Each bond shall be conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of the individual or individuals so bonded. Each bond also shall expressly provide that the term "faithful performance of the duties" shall include the proper accounting for all funds or property received by reason of the position or employment of the individual or individuals so bonded and the discharge of all duties and responsibilities now or hereafter imposed upon such individual or individuals by law or by regulation issued pursuant thereto and shall also expressly provide that the term "regulation" shall include any written rule, order or instruction issued pursuant to law.

§ 226.8 Bond penalties. (a) The head of each agency shall fix the bond penalty applicable to employees and positions of such agency included in a bond procured under this part, except where the penalty is prescribed by statute or by other authority.

(b) The penalty in a blanket bond shall be in the minimum amount estimated by the head of the agency as sufficient to protect the interests of the United States. The penalty for each position designated in a schedule bond, in cases not specified by law or other authority, shall be fixed in the minimum amount consistent with the duties and degree of responsibility of the position. In fixing the penalties of bonds, due regard should be given to past loss experience and the effectiveness of related internal control.

(c) The bond penalties applicable to disbursing officers, assistant disbursing officers, agent officers, agent cashiers, and imprest fund cashiers operating under delegation by the Secretary of the Treasury or the Division of Disbursement, Treasury Department, shall be fixed only with the concurrence of the Chief Disbursing Officer, Treasury Department.

§ 226.9 Bond premium period. The bond premium may cover a period not exceeding two years. In view of the economies to be derived, premiums should be paid for a period of two years to the extent funds are available, except where a shorter period is more advantageous to the Federal Government.

§ 226.10 Procurement of new bond coverage. The head of each agency shall procure under the act and under this part new bond coverage at least every two years. Timely steps should be taken for such procurement in advance of the expiration of the prior premium period.

§ 226.11 Advertising for proposals for furnishing of bonds. (a) If, in the opinion of the head of the agency concerned, the premium cost for any bond procured under the act and under this part will exceed the rate of $150 per annum, such head of the agency shall procure such bond only after advertising for proposals for the furnishing of such bond.

(b) The following recognized methods of advertising are examples of appropriate methods of advertising under this part: Publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, publication in newspapers, posting of notices in public places, and the sending of invitations to bid to parties engaged in the business of furnishing surety bonds. In connection with the last method above specified, a notice sent to the head office of each company appearing on the Treasury Department list[2] of approved surety companies (other than those shown thereon as having authority to do a reinsurance business only) will be regarded as a satisfactory method of advertising under this part.

(c) If, in the opinion of the head of the agency concerned, the premium cost for any bond will not exceed the rate of $150 per annum, procurement of the bond may be made without advertising, but informal bids should be solicited by the agency from at least three competitive sources.

(d) Specifications of alternate types of bond coverage may be included in invitations of the agency to bid in order to enable the head of the agency concerned to procure the most economical type of bond.

(e) Advertising for proposals for the furnishing of any bond will not be required under this part in any case in which the head of the agency concerned determines that the public exigencies re-

[1] A list of these companies is published annually (Treasury Department, Fiscal Service, Form 356, Revised).

§ 226.12 Place of execution of bonds by surety company. Bonds procured under this part shall be executed by the surety company in a state or other jurisdiction wherein it has obtained a license to transact a fidelity and surety business and the place of such execution shall be set forth in the bond. This requirement shall not, however, preclude an agency from accepting bonds covering an employee or employees located where the surety is not licensed if the bond is executed by the surety at its home office or within a state or other jurisdiction where it has obtained a license.

§ 226.13 Cancellation of bonds; limitations on recoveries thereunder. (a) No bond procured under the act and under this part shall contain (1) any provision for cancellation of such bond at the option of the surety company prior to the expiration of the term of such bond, (2) any limitation upon the time within which a loss must be discovered to be recoverable under such bond, or (3) any limitation upon the time within which recovery may be made on account of any loss arising under such bond.

(b) In connection with the matter immediately foregoing, the attention of the head of each agency is directed to the provisions of 6 U. S. C. 5, as follows:

> If, upon the statement of the account of any official of the United States, or of any officer disbursing or chargeable with public money, by the accounting officers, it shall thereby appear that he is indebted to the United States, and suit therefor shall not be instituted within five years after such statement of said account, the sureties on his bond shall not be liable for such indebtedness.

§ 226.14 Transmittal of bonds to Treasury; filing. All surety bonds obtained under the Act and under this part shall be transmitted, with a transmittal letter in duplicate listing the bond or bonds transmitted, to the Treasury Department, Bureau of Accounts, Surety Bonds Branch for approval of the authority of the surety executing the bond. Thereafter, the transmitting agency will be advised as to the sufficiency of execution by the surety. The bond will be returned to the agency concerned, or, at its request, will be held in the files of the Surety Bonds Branch.

§ 226.15 Bonds procured before January 1, 1956. (a) The head of each agency may permit the continuance in effect, until the expiration of its premium period, of any bond procured prior to January 1, 1956, with funds of such agency.

(b) In this connection, the attention of the head of each agency is directed to the fact that a provision of 6 U. S. C. 14, as amended by the act, operates to terminate the liability of a surety on a bond existing prior to the procurement of bond coverage under the act, for any default occurring subsequent to the date of the new coverage, regardless of whether an existing bond was paid for from agency funds or from the personal funds of the employee concerned. The above-mentioned provision is as follows:

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

PART 10—UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR RAILROAD COMPANIES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of October A. D. 1955.

The matter of accounting regulations prescribed for railroad companies being under consideration pursuant to provisions of section 20 of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended (54 Stat. 916, 49 U. S. C. 20); and,

It appearing, that certain modifications in the provisions for condensed classifications of operating expense accounts for use by other than Class I carriers are necessary for proper administration of Part I of the Act; and,

It further appearing, that the use of condensed operating expense accounts by those carriers for which the accounts are provided, is permissive, so that the public rule making procedure required by section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act is deemed to be unnecessary:

It is ordered, That:

(1) Effective date. The modifications which are attached hereto and made a part hereof shall become effective January 1, 1956.

(2) Notice. A copy of this order with the modifications set forth below shall be served on each railroad company subject to provisions of Part I of the act and not independently operated as an electric line, and on every receiver, trustee, executor, administrator, or assignee of any such railroad company, and notice of the order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy of the order with the modifications set forth below in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. 1. In § 10.04-1 Accounts for operating expenses cancel the third paragraph of the instruction and substitute the following provisions for it:

Following the texts of the primary operating expense accounts, there is a condensed grouping of the same accounts to be used by Class II carriers. For purposes of this condensed classification, carriers are divided into two general classes, designated respectively Class I and Class II. Class I shall include all carriers having annual operating revenues of $3,000,000 or more; and Class II, all carriers having annual operating revenue less than $3,000,000. In applying this grouping to any switching or terminal company which is operated as a joint facility of owning or tenant railways, he sum of the annual railway operating revenues, the joint facility rent income, and the totals of the joint facility accounts in operating expenses, shall be used in determining its class.

Beginning with the calendar year 1956, the classification of carriers for accounting purposes shall be based on the average annual operating revenues for the 3-year period ended with the calendar year 1955; and, subsequently, if at the close of any calendar year the average of the annual operating revenues for the latest 3-year period is greater or less than the amount applicable to the class in which the carrier has been, its class for the second succeeding year shall change accordingly and the carrier shall remain in such class for a period of not less than three consecutive years; Provided that:

(1) Carriers which have operated for a period less than three calendar years shall be classified upon the basis of the average amount of their annual operating revenues for the latest period of such operation; (2) newly organized carriers which commence operations for revenue subsequent to January 1, 1956, shall be assigned to classes, as above defined, on the basis of their operating revenues known or estimated for a year; and (3) carriers shall within 60 days after the close of a calendar year notify the Commission when a change in classification for accounting purposes has taken place.

2. In § 10.480 Accounts for small carriers, Class II cancel the number, title, and text of the account as now in effect, and also the two lists of accounts for small and large carriers, respectively; in § 10.490 Accounts for small carriers, Class III cancel the number, title, and text of the account as now in effect, and also the two lists of accounts for small and large carriers, respectively, substituting the following for them:

§ 10.480 Accounts for small carriers, Class II. See provisions of § 10.04-1 Accounts for operating expenses. The condensed groupings of accounts for Class II small carriers are as follows:

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Tulsa-Muskogee, Oklahoma, marketing area, were proposed as enumerated below:

By The Beatrice Foods Company:

1. It is proposed that a definition of "delivery period" be incorporated in the order.

2. It is proposed that § 906.41 (b) (7) be deleted and in lieu thereof the following language inserted: "in inventory variations."

3. It is proposed that the following language be deleted from § 906.43 (b): "any skim milk or butterfat which was classified as Class II in the previous month pursuant to § 906.41 (b) (7) shall be reclassified as Class I milk if it is subtracted in the current month from Class I pursuant to § 906.46 (a) (4)."

4. It is proposed to amend § 906.46 in a manner so as to provide priority in allocation to producers milk over other source milk, on condition that producer receipts were in excess of 115 percent of such handler's Class I utilization for the same delivery period, and provided also that such producer milk was available to the handler at order class prices.

5. It is proposed to amend § 906.53 in a manner so as to make provision for a location adjustment credit to apply on all milk received directly from producers at an approved plant located outside the marketing area and thirty-five (35) or more from the City Hall in Tulsa or the City Hall in Muskogee.

6. It is proposed to delete § 906.61 (b).

7. It is proposed to delete § 906.70 (c) (1) and (2).

HANDLING OF MILK IN INLAND EMPIRE MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation or marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25,

D. C., not later than the close of business on the 15th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing on the record of which the proposed marketing agreement and order was formulated, was conducted at Spokane, Washington, on May 24–June 2, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued April 29, 1955 (20 F. R. 2981).

The material issues of record related to:

1. Whether the handling of milk produced for sale in the proposed marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products;

2. Whether marketing conditions justify the issuance of a milk marketing agreement or order; and

3. If an order is issued what its provision should be with respect to:

(a) The scope of regulation;

(b) The classification and allocation of milk;

(c) The determination and level of class prices;

(d) Distribution of proceeds to producers; and

(e) Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. The findings and conclusions with respect to the material issues to be considered, all of which are based on the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, are as follows:

(1) Character of the commerce. All milk to be regulated by the proposed marketing agreement and order is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk and its products.

Substantial quantities of milk produced for the Inland Empire marketing area and received by handlers, and milk products manufactured from such milk, actually cross State lines. Grade A milk moves in bulk to Spokane, Washington, milk plants from producers whose farms are located in the counties of Benewah, Bonner, Boundary, Kootenai, and Latah in Idaho, and from Sanders County in Montana. In February 1955, about 237 milk producers in Idaho and 17 producers in Montana shipped more than 2 million pounds of milk to Spokane milk plants. This represented about one-fourth of the milk shippers and one-fifth of the total receipts of Grade A milk of these plants. A few producers in Washington State ship milk into the portion of the proposed marketing area which lies in Idaho.

Milk from Idaho and Washington are inextricably commingled in some Spokane milk plants prior to bottling for fluid distribution. Processed and packaged fluid milk moves from Spokane plants to such points in Idaho for wholesale and retail distribution as Coeur d'Alene, Sandpoint, Bonners Ferry, and Potlatch, and to Troy, Libby, and Thompson Falls in Montana. Spokane handlers are in competition with each other as well as with local handlers for wholesale and retail business in many areas of Washington and Idaho. For example, in Bonner County, Idaho, a large Spokane handler competes for sales with another large Spokane handler and a handler operating locally. In Kootenai County, Idaho, two local handlers and a large Spokane handler compete. The three largest Spokane handlers are in competition in Pend Oreille, Stevens, and Spokane Counties in the State of Washington; in addition, six smaller handlers also compete in the city of Spokane. About 4 percent of the fluid milk sales of the Spokane milk plants are made in Idaho and Montana. Milk produced within the State of Washington and sold in fluid form within that segment of the proposed marketing area which lies within the State of Washington is in direct competition with milk produced in Idaho and Montana; likewise milk produced within the State of Idaho and sold in fluid form within the portion of the marketing area which lies in Idaho is in direct competition with milk produced in the State of Washington.

In addition, some milk of Washington producers used for such products as ice cream and cottage cheese moves in the form of these products into Idaho in competition with similar products either locally produced or received from other States. Likewise, the milk of the Idaho and Montana producers supplying the marketing area enters into direct competition with milk of Washington producers in similar uses.

(2) Need for order. The issuance of a marketing agreement or order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Producers supplying milk to the Inland Empire marketing area, as defined herein, are encountering disrupted and unstable marketing conditions. The existing unsatisfactory pricing arrangements and trend of lower returns to producers, if permitted to continue, will jeopardize the production of an adequate supply of Grade A milk to meet market needs. The problems encountered in this area, which have reached an acute state, are not uncommon in fluid milk markets. They arise from the presence of factors, described below, generally inherent in the fluid milk industry. Voluntary efforts of producers to maintain an orderly market have been ineffective.

Milk produced for consumption in fluid form as Grade A milk in the proposed marketing area must be produced under rigid sanitary requirements. Large investments and operating expenses are incurred by producers of Grade A milk. Milk, being a perishable product, requires extra labor, equipment, and care in handling to maintain cleanliness and quality. To produce and regularly deliver needed milk supplies to this market in the fall and winter, as well as in the spring and summer, involve extra costs of purchased feeds and care of breeding herds as compared with the production of manufacturing-type milk.

There are other uses, such as butter, cheese, ice cream, and milk powder, for milk purchased under Grade A health standards. Such products also may be made from milk not requiring the higher sanitary standards of production and handling required for milk for fluid consumption. Such manufactured products may be stored and the production and transportation facilities for manufacturing, or "factory," milk do not have to be geared to supply market needs on a daily basis throughout the year. The production of such factory milk is less costly to the farmer.

Although consumer demand for Grade A milk for fluid use in the Inland Empire marketing area is fairly constant throughout the year as a whole, a wider seasonal variation exists in the production of milk. The breeding characteristics of dairy cattle and spring and early summer pasture feeding normally result in a pronounced production cycle with a high point reached in May or June. Thus, production is substantially in excess of market requirements for Grade A milk during the spring (flush) season of production, as compared with the supply-demand relationship in the fall and winter season.

It is necessary at all times to have a supply of Grade A milk available somewhat in excess of the actual fluid milk consumption of the market since the amount of milk sold in fluid form varies from day to day depending upon such factors as the weather, Sundays and holidays; and because the several distributors operate independently of each other, thus necessitating individual daily reserves of milk for their varying operations. In this market there is need for a marketwide "reserve" or "cushion" of about 10 percent on a monthly basis of the amount of milk actually sold in fluid form to provide adequately for these variations in sales.

The existing market surplus above fluid milk and cream needs caused by the conditions described above, is a principal contributor to the difficult pricing and marketing problems which have to be dealt with in providing a stable market for producers.

Until 1949, the market for fluid milk increased about as fast as the milk supply and even seasonal increases in production were paid for at the full fluid milk price. In the spring of 1949, major handlers in the market established base and surplus plans. From 1949 until the end of 1953, milk was sufficiently short in the fall and winter that producers were paid on bases in the spring and summer months only. While there was a seasonal excess in the spring and summer, the production of Grade A milk fell below the level of Class I utilization (as described under the discussion on milk classification) in the fall and winter. The limited amount of seasonal excess was used readily to produce cottage cheese, ice cream, ice cream mix, and some butter, mostly for local consumption. The market had little capacity to process milk in excess of its requirements for ice cream, cottage cheese, and butter. The year 1954 was the first that producers were paid on bases for the entire year.

Producers testified that until the end of 1952 the seasonal surpluses were of short duration and were not unduly burdensome. The operating cooperative in the marketing area stood ready to receive the milk of any Grade A shipper who was "cut off" by another handler or for any other reason needed an outlet for his milk. This situation changed in 1953. With new shippers qualifying for the Grade A market and an increased production by regular shippers, a year-round excess developed. The major handlers had excess milk in their plants for which they had no immediate outlet and no capacity to manufacture storable dairy products other than ice cream, cottage cheese, and butter for local consumption. Considerable quantities of skim milk had to be dumped.

The operating cooperative felt obliged to discontinue receiving milk from other than its regular producers in 1953 as the result of a higher level of supply.

Since some milk already on the market and other milk from new shippers had no ready outlet at the prices then prevailing, such milk was offered at reduced prices. Handlers purchasing such milk gained a price advantage in procurement, which led to the sale of such milk in the market at reduced retail prices. This, in turn, led to the displacement of fluid milk sales at plants of other handlers and resultant decreases in returns for their producers. The consequent price competition among handlers as an effort to maintain previous sales levels disrupted the marketing situation for producers as a whole. Testimony in the hearing record shows that the first break in the price of milk to consumers occurred in November 1953 with the introduction of the gallon container. One handler sold milk in gallons through his store outlets at 67 cents per gallon when the established home delivered price per quart was 22 cents. By August 1954, a marketwide price "war" developed. Milk sold in gallons as low as 39 cents with week-end specials at 29 cents. The major handlers in the marketing area reduced their retail prices 3 cents a quart in an effort to recapture sales volume. About one-half of such reduction in price, or 76 cents per hundredweight, has been reflected in the producer price level. Even at the time of the hearing continuation of the price war was evidenced by newspaper advertisements exhibited in the record.

The record discloses further evidence of instability in that some handlers have refused to take the milk of some producers even at present prices and other producers have stopped producing milk for lack of satisfactory price and market conditions. Handlers have used various devices in bargaining with individual producers, resulting in unsatisfactory prices. For example, one handler who had "cut off" certain shippers bargained for other shippers' milk using the amount of "base milk," or quota of delivery, for bargaining; this handler also varied the prices paid for base milk among his shippers. Another handler arbitrarily reduced bases 15 percent. A third handler paid a producer the factory price from May 16 to July 31, 1954; thereafter, he paid the producer the Class I price for amounts of milk ranging from ¼ to ⅓ of his production during the October 1–November 3 period in 1954. This producer shipped to another handler beginning with December 1, 1954 and received the Class I price for amounts of his milk ranging from 90 percent in December 1954 to 65 percent in April 1955. The record reveals that another handler used bases calculated on production records of three years ago. It also shows variations in the methods used by handlers to pay for butterfat above or below a "standard" butterfat test.

Prices paid producers for excess (Class II) milk also declined to below reasonable levels in the Inland Empire market from 1953 to the spring of 1955. In December of 1953, major handlers paid producers from about $3.75 to $3.90 per hundredweight for Class II milk of 4.0 percent butterfat test. Class II prices declined to about $3.00 per hundredweight by July of 1954. This was a decline of 75 to 90 cents per hundredweight. It is officiallly noticed that the Class II price for 4.0 milk in the Puget Sound area declined only 37 cents per hundredweight in the same period. During the first four months of 1955, the major handlers in the Spokane market paid producers about $3.06 per hundredweight for Class II milk; thus, little price recovery was evident in the Inland Empire market. On the other hand, Class II prices in the Puget Sound area and for the State as a whole have risen since the summer of 1954. During the January–April period of 1955, Spokane handlers paid producers (for 4.0 percent Class II milk) about 23 cents less than was paid under the Puget Sound order. These price relationships have prevailed during the past several months even though, on a marketwide basis, the milk in excess of Class I needs in the Inland Empire milkshed is utilized in more favorable outlets than in the Puget Sound area. When similar comparison is made with condensery prices on a statewide basis, the four-month average difference in 1955 is even greater, the condensery average exceeding the Spokane price for excess milk by about 31 cents.

One handler questioned the need for an order, alleging that there is no shortage of Grade A milk in the marketing area and no prospect of a shortage this fall. The record, however, shows a declining trend in milk production as compared with a year ago.

It is concluded from the above that a marketing order is needed to correct the unstable marketing conditions that exist in the Inland Empire marketing area caused by lack of uniformity in buying prices by handlers and other factors enumerated above, to promote a framework for orderly marketing and to insure an adequate supply of Grade A milk for consumers. An order will provide:

(a) A regular and dependable method for determining prices to producers at levels comparable to those contemplated under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, as amended;

(b) The establishment of uniform pricing to handlers for milk received from producers according to a classified price plan based upon the utilization made of the milk;

(c) An impartial audit of handler's records of receipts and utilization to further insure uniform prices for milk purchased;

(d) A means for insuring accurate weights and tests of milk;

(e) Uniform returns to producers supplying the market and an equitable sharing by all producers of the lower returns for sale of reserve milk;

(f) Uniform rules for the operation of a base and excess plan which will encourage producers to adjust production seasonally in closer alinement with the relatively even monthly needs for inspected milk; and

(g) Marketwide information on receipts, sales, and other data relating to milk marketing in the area.

(3) Order provisions—(a) Scope of regulation. In order to accomplish orderly marketing under Federal milk orders, certain techniques have been authorized under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended. Two important techniques are: (1) That regulated distributors (handlers) should be required to pay at least specified minimum prices to producers in accordance with a classified-use plan established, and (2) that the resulting payments due each producer should be distributed uniformly through either "individual-handler" pools or a "market-wide" pool. To implement these basic techniques, it becomes necessary to establish clearly which plants and milk will be subject to the pricing provisions of an order and which producers will participate in the returns from the operation of a specified type of pool.

The Inland Empire marketing area (hereinafter called the "marketing area") should be defined to include the following territories in the States of Washington and Idaho: In Washington-Spokane County that portion of Stevens County lying south of Township 37 and that portion of Pend Oreille County lying south of Township 35, and in Idaho—that portion of Bonner County lying south of Township 60 and west of Range 2 east Boise Meridian, and all of Kootenai County, except that portion lying east of Range 3 west Boise Meridian and south of Township 53. As used in this definition, "territory" includes all municipal corporations, Federal military reservations, facilities and installations and State institutions lying wholly or partly within the above described area.

The marketing area as defined above comprises the markets in which about three-fourths of the milk of the competing handlers concerned is marketed. The cities of Spokane, Washington, and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, are the major cities involved. The marketing area includes most of the centers of considerable population where the major handlers are in competition. This is the area in which the problem of market instability for producers prevails. According to the 1950 Census, about 275,000 people reside in this area. The surrounding area is sparsely populated.

All the milk distributed in this marketing area is received and packaged within the area. Sanitation and inspection requirements for Grade A milk for the Washington and Idaho counties included in the marketing area are quite comparable.

The proponents of the order first suggested a larger marketing area, including portions of Whitman County, Washington, and Latah County, Idaho, to the south, and Lincoln, Adams, Grant Counties and portions of Douglas, Okanogan, and Chelan Counties to the west. Upon further consideration, proponents abandoned their request for such additional area, which included the communities of Moscow, Idaho, Pullman and Wenatchee, Washington, and the Columbia Basin area in the latter State. Other proposals set forth in the hearing notice (but later abandoned by proponents) related to the inclusion of all of Latah and Nez Perce counties, in Idaho; and Asotin, Douglas, Chelan, and the southern portion of Okanogan County, in Washington.

One handler testified that the exclusion of Grant County (Columbia Basin) from the marketing area would give his locally situated competitors a competitive advantage in that area. Except for a distributor with a very small business at Grand Coulee, there appear to be no bottling facilities in operation in Grant County. Most of the producer milk in this area moves to milk plants in Spokane or Wenatchee for processing and packaging. Milk is returned from Spokane plants and distributed in packaged form. A spokesman for a newly organized cooperative at Ephrata testified that the cooperative is planning to build a milk plant for processing and bottling milk in the Columbia Basin. This plant, however, may not be expected to be in operation for some months to come. At the present time the milk of all the principal competitors for sales in the Columbia Basin would be regulated by the Inland Empire order even though the marketing area is not extended to cover the Columbia Basin. Thus, there appears to be little reason to believe that any Spokane handler would be disadvantaged competitively as far as such advantage might result from the price of milk paid to the producer. The record indicates that Grant County has not been and is not at present a problem area for producers.

Testimony also was given by the same handler in support of further enlargement of the marketing area to additional portions of northeastern Washington, and Boundary, Bonner, Benewah, Kootenai, and Latah Counties in Idaho, and the western portions of Lincoln and Sanders Counties in Montana. These latter proposals for enlargement of the marketing area (except Latah County, Idaho) were omitted from the notice of hearing. Based on the testimony submitted, there is no indication that a disorderly marketing situation exists in these sparsely settled fringe areas or that the position of handlers operating in them who would be subject to regulation in the Inland Empire marketing area will be jeopardized.

Although all territory originally requested by handlers was not included in the notice of hearing, the notice did state that if the evidence adduced at the hearing indicated it would not be feasible to promulgate an order for all or part of the area set forth in the notice, or that additional territory should properly be included under any proposed order, the hearing would be reopened for the purpose of giving further consideration to appropriate extensions of the marketing area.

The record shows that regulated handlers sell a substantial proportion of the milk consumed in most counties located outside the defined marketing area which were suggested for inclusion. Individual handlers will not be disadvantaged significantly in making sales in these out-of-area counties because (1) in many instances their principal competitors also will be regulated by the same order, (2) the economies of scale inherent in the large-scale processing and distribution of milk in paper containers will tend to offset any short-run advantage in producer prices that might accrue to an occasional unregulated handler, (3) in some of the outlying counties the only competition encountered by regulated handlers are local producer-handlers (who would be exempt from the pricing provisions of the attached order). It is neither administratively feasible nor necessary to include within the marketing area all the territory in which handlers may be distributing any portion of their sales of fluid milk products. In fact, it would be impracticable, if not impossible, to extend the marketing area to define a territory in which there would not be some competition with unregulated distributors. However, if it appears that the area should be extended at a future time it may be done by the usual amendment proceedings.

Marketwide data on sales in and out of the marketing area obtained under the order will assist in evaluating any developments affecting the future appropriateness of the size of the defined marketing area. A careful review of the record testimony indicates that it is clearly feasible to issue an order for the marketing area proposed herein without reopening the hearing to consider extending the defined marketing area.

The establishment of minimum prices for milk which are required to be paid by handlers, and the distribution to producers of the returns from the sale of milk by means of a marketwide pool as herein provided, make it necessary to identify precisely (a) the milk to which such minimum prices apply, and (b) the farmers or producers who are to share in the returns from the sale of milk for which minimum prices are established. Primarily for these purposes the order should include definitions of "dairy farmer," "producer," "pool plant," "nonpool plant," "producer milk," and "other source milk."

It is also necessary, of course, to define the term "handler" essentially for the purpose of identifying those persons on whom obligations and requirements are, or may be, imposed by the order, including the obligation to pay the minimum prices established. It is provided, however, that a "producer-handler" shall be exempt from all the regulatory provisions of the order except that requiring the filing of reports as requested by the market administrator. The producer-handler maintains control of his milk until ultimate disposition and in this respect his situation is entirely different from the regular producer whose milk is marketed through a handler. On the other hand, such persons frequently change their status and it is necessary for the market administrator to have authority to require reports from the producer-handler in order to verify his continued status as such as well as to supplement other market information.

The Washington State Uniform Fluid Milk Act, together with county and municipal milk ordinances and codes, requires that milk for consumption in that segment of the marketing area located in the State of Washington in the form of milk and the milk products defined herein (§ 1008.41 (a)) as Class I milk to be derived exclusively from Grade A milk. Milk of similar quality is required for such products in the Idaho portion of the defined marketing area. Such laws and regulations prescribe the conditions under which such milk may be produced and distributed. In general, however, any Grade A milk is eligible for distribution within the marketing area, insofar as health authority regulations are concerned, regardless of whether or not it was produced primarily for, and as a part of the regular supply for, the particular communities included in the marketing area.

While it is not the purpose of the order to prescribe the area from which milk may be obtained for distribution in the marketing area, it must be recognized that a marketwide pooling arrangement is subject to certain abuses against which reasonable safeguards must be provided. The institution of a marketwide pool could create incentive for producers and handlers who had not previously supplied milk for the marketing area to become eligible to share in the Class I sales of the market without actually supplying the market with fluid milk or assuming any responsibility for maintenance of the necessary reserve supply. Such a development would not only fail to contribute to the orderly marketing of milk in the area or to any of the purposes sought to be accomplished by the order, but rather would tend to conflict with such objectives. On the other hand, all sources from which milk is obtained as a necessary part of the supply for the area during the season of lowest production should be entitled to participation in the pool on a year-round basis.

Accordingly, "producer milk" (intended to identify the milk for which minimum prices are required to be paid) is defined as Grade A milk received at (or caused to be diverted from) a "pool plant." The term "pool plant" is defined in a manner designed to include all those plant sources, and only those sources, of Grade A milk which may reasonably be considered as an integral part of the year-round supply for the marketing area.

All plants, except those operated by producer-handlers, from which some Class I milk is distributed within the marketing area on wholesale or retail routes are included under the definition. Thus, the definition will cover all plants at which producer milk is received and from which such distribution is made at the present time and any additional plants from which Class I milk may be distributed on wholesale or retail routes wholly or partially within the marketing area in the future. Since, as previously indicated in this decision, all such plants actively compete for consumer outlets within the confines of the marketing area, it is deemed necessary to regulate all such plants on equivalent terms.

Route distribution, in this connection is intended to include, but not to be limited to, any delivery (including a sale to the public at the plant or plant store) in customary consumer packages to various types of consumer outlets such as homes, stores, hotels, restaurants, or miscellaneous other establishments which themselves are not primarily engaged in the handling and processing of milk or milk products.

The definition will cover also those plants from which milk is not distributed on wholesale or retail routes but which serve as plant sources of milk for distributing plants provided the quantities supplied meet a minimum standard. At the present time there is only one plant of this type known to be serving the marketing area. It is apparent from the testimony in the record that the total volume of Grade A milk produced and received at such plant is an integral part of the supply for the marketing area. That being the case, such plant should have no difficulty in meeting the delivery requirements of the pool plant definition.

Pursuant to the definition, this type of plant would be included in the pool in the period October through December (period of seasonally lowest production) if 50 percent or more of the milk received at the plant directly from producers was shipped in the form of milk to a plant engaged in the distribution of milk on routes within the marketing area. A plant so supplying the marketing area with at least 50 percent of its milk received directly from producers for the entire period October through December would be eligible for pool participation without additional requirements during the following months of January through September. A plant supplying the marketing area with less than 50 percent of its receipts in the season of shortest production should be considered a source primarily for some other market or markets. Such a plant, nevertheless, could participate in the pool during any of the following months of January through September if 20 percent or more of the milk received from producers at the plant was shipped to a plant distributing in the area.

Such limitations on pool participation is expected to affect only those plants which have no record of having supplied the marketing area with Grade A milk. Such a plant should be included in the marketwide pool under the order only in those months of the year in which it actually supplies a substantial quantity of milk to the area, or in months when because of shipments in the recent past it may reasonably be considered to constitute an integral part of the market.

Withdrawal from the market of the milk received at a particular plant during the months of January through September would not be likely to seriously threaten the marketing area with an insufficient supply. It seems justified, therefore, to permit the voluntary withdrawal from the pool during that period of any pool plant unless it is a plant from which Class I milk is distributed to consumer outlets in the marketing area.

If milk other than producer milk as defined is distributed as Class I milk within the marketing area, it is necessary to require payments to be made into the producer-settlement fund on such milk in order to maintain reasonable uniformity of cost of milk and equity among handlers, and to preserve the integrity of the classified-price plan for milk. Accordingly, there is included in § 1008.70 of the order a provision for including in the value of milk computed for each handler receiving milk from producers a payment at the difference between the Class I price and the Class II price per hundredweight on "other source milk" received by him in excess of his total volume of Class II milk.

As stated previously, all the Grade A milk produced for consumption in fluid form in the State of Washington is subject to uniform statewide sanitary standards administered by the State government. As a consequence of this uniform code of sanitary requirements and under reciprocal arrangements with health authorities in Idaho, milk produced under the code anywhere in the State of Washington is eligible from a sanitation standpoint for sale in the Inland Empire marketing area. Although all Grade A milk produced in the State is eligible for sale in the marketing area, it is obvious, of course, that all the milk so produced does not constitute the regular and normal supply of milk for the regulated marketing area. For this reason, it is necessary to develop standards which distinguish that Grade A milk which is in fact the normal and regular supply for the Inland Empire area from that Grade A milk which is not a part of the regular and normal supply, so that regulation by the order may be imposed fully on that milk which is the regular and normal supply for the area while with respect to that milk which is not a part of such supply, the regulation may be applied only to the extent necessary to integrate the other source milk into the regulatory scheme. Since the sanitation standards for Grade A milk are uniform throughout the State, it is not possible to identify the regular and normal supply for this marketing area on the basis of distinctive sanitation requirements.

Neither is the unqualified shipment of milk to the marketing area for Class I utilization a practical basis for identifying the milk which should be fully regulated under the order. If any small, incidental, or accidental shipment of milk into the marketing area were to bring under total regulation all the milk at the plant from which such shipment was made, great hardship could be caused to the operator of such plant and to the farmers delivering milk to such an operator. Because of the uniformity of health requirements throughout the State, small quantities of milk may be disposed of in the regulated marketing area as Class I from plants which are not normal or regular sources of supply for the marketing area. Moreover, the operators of the plants from which such shipments arise may not wish to bring their plants under total regulation. There are many situations in which plant operators may find it economical or desirable to make shipments of small quantities of milk to the marketing area and in which it is neither necessary nor desirable in terms of effective regulation to bring the operators of such plants fully under the regulation. For instance, a plant which is associated with a market outside the Inland Empire area may find it advantageous to ship milk to a plant regulated by the order in order to have such milk converted into manufactured dairy products. It is quite possible, however, through misunderstanding, or from errors of estimating the utilization of milk, for milk which was intended for utilization in Class II products to be assigned a Class I classification. If through such accident or misunderstanding a plant were placed completely under regulation, considerable hardship, unnecessary to effective regulation, might result. For this reason, it is not practical nor desirable to place a plant totally under regulation merely because a small quantity of milk shipped by it to the market finds its way into a Class I utilization.

The Inland Empire order provides for a marketwide pool. Under this pooling plan, handlers whose proportion of utilization in Class I is greater than the market as a whole make payments into an equalization fund and those handlers whose proportion of utilization in Class I is less than the average for the market receive payments out of the equalization fund. This method of payments into and out of the equalization fund is the essential mechanism for providing uniformity of payments to farmers irrespective of the handler to whom they deliver their milk and provision for equalized payments to farmers is necessary to the maintenance of stable and orderly marketing conditions in the defined marketing area.

Because handlers with less than the market average proportion of milk in Class I may draw payments out of the producer-settlement, or equalization, fund, there is an advantage to any plant operator who has less than the marketwide average proportion of milk in Class I to place himself under regulation in order to obtain these payments and, thereby, make it possible for him to pay the uniform prices established under the order to his producers. The smaller the plant operator's proportion in Class I, the greater is the advantage of regulation to him. Under these circumstances, plants which are engaged primarily in the manufacture of milk into dairy products, rather than as suppliers of Class I milk to the marketing area, will attempt to place their plants under regulation for the sole purpose of obtaining payments out of the equalization fund. The result of this, however, will be to reduce the returns to those farmers whose milk actually constitutes the regular source of supply of Class I milk for the marketing area.

It is necessary for the reasons stated, therefore, that milk which in fact constitutes the regular and normal sources of supply for the marketing area be distinguished from other milk which might enter the marketing area. Section 1008.8 of the order is designed to identify the regular and normal sources of supply for the Inland Empire marketing area. Under the definition of "pool plant" provided in such section, any plant no matter where located which is associated with the Inland Empire market only as a source of supply for a local distributing plant may bring itself under regulation by performing in the manner required, and any such plant may relieve itself of regulation when it no longer operates in a way that brings it within the scope of this section of the order. Under these circumstances, the decision as to whether a plant will be fully regulated under the order or will not be subject to regulation is determined by the decision of the plant operator himself.

Since the order provides for the identification of that milk which is subject to total regulation under the order, the possibility remains that some milk (i. e. other source milk) will be disposed of in the marketing area as Class I which is not subject to total regulation.

The provision requires that on all other source milk classified as Class I, a payment shall be made into the equalization fund at a rate equal to the difference between the Class I price and the Class II price. Payments at this rate are necessary to maintain the integrity of the pricing and pooling provisions of the order.

Essentially all the other source milk which might be utilized as Class I in the marketing area would be produced as part of a supply intended primarily to meet the demand for milk for fluid consumption (or the equivalent of Class I milk uses under the order) in some area in the States of Washington or Idaho other than the area regulated by this order but not used for such purposes in the area for which it was produced. It could only be milk which became surplus to the needs for milk for fluid disposition in the area for which it was produced. If the plant operator could not find a Class I sale for such milk within the regulated marketing area, it would be necessary for him to convert the milk into a manufactured milk product. The most likely surplus disposition of this other source milk would be as butter and nonfat dry milk solids, or cheese. Its value, therefore, to the plant operator would be a surplus milk value. The Class II price for milk under the Inland Empire order is based on the value of milk when it is converted into butter and nonfat dry milk solids and this is the price which regulated handlers are required to pay for milk when they convert it into these two products. The Class II price, therefore, is an accurate and fair representation of the value to the receiving plant operator of surplus milk which is disposed of as other source milk for Class I purposes in the marketing area.

If unregulated plant operators were allowed to dispose of surplus milk for Class I purposes in the regulated marketing area without some compensating, or neutralizing, provision in the order, it is clear that the disposition of such milk, because of its price advantage relative to fully regulated milk, would displace the fully regulated milk in Class I uses in the marketing area. The plan of Congress, as contemplated under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, of returning minimum prices to the producers for the regulated marketing area, would be defeated. Moreover, inefficiencies in the marketing of milk would be encouraged, for the regulated market would obtain its Class I milk not from the regular and normal sources of supply for the market but from other sources of supply generated solely as a result of the price advantage created for unregulated milk by the regulation itself. Providing for some method of compensating for, or neutralizing the effect of, the advantage created for unregulated milk, therefore, is an essential and necessary provision of this order. Since the value for Class I milk in a regulated market is established at the level of the Class I price provided for in the order and since the true value of other source milk when disposed of in the marketing area is the Class II value, a payment computed as the difference between the Class I price and the Class II price will remove the advantage which other source milk would have when disposed of for Class I purposes in the marketing area.

It may be noted also that other source milk not of Grade A quality as well as that of Grade A quality is received and handled by handlers subject to the regulation. Although from the standpoint of health standards, it is not legal to use such milk for Class I uses except under emergency dispensation granted by the applicable health authorities, the possibility remains that this grade of milk may find its way at times into fluid, or Class I, products. If this occurs, the same rate of payment should apply to such milk since its value is established by a lack of eligibility, on a Grade A standard, for regular use as Class I milk. This characteristic stamps it the equivalent, from a use standpoint, as surplus Grade A milk, and for the same general grounds as are set forth above with respect to the payment applicable to other source milk of Grade A quality, a similar payment should apply.

On the other hand, such payments should not apply to milk entering this marketing area from a plant regulated under another order since its proper classification and price will be determined pursuant to the other order, and if used in Class I milk as defined in this order will be priced equivalently (with due allowance for the transportation cost between markets) under the other order.

(b) Classification of milk. A classified-use plan should be established to insure that: (a) minimum prices for milk will be uniform among handlers according to use, (b) a price may be fixed for milk disposed as Class I at a level which will bring forth an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk, and (c) a necessary reserve of inspected milk may be maintained at all times (and priced in appropriate relationship with manufacturing milk prices) without disrupting marketing and pricing conditions within the established marketing area.

Two classes of milk should be established. Class I milk should include all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat disposed of in fluid (including concentrated fluid) and frozen form as milk, skim milk, skim milk drinks, buttermilk, flavored milk and milk drinks, cream, and closely related cream products. It should include also all skim milk and butterfat represented by variations in inventory and that not specifically accounted for as Class II milk, except for a reasonable allowance for shrinkage. Class II milk should include milk and butterfat used to produce manufactured milk products such as cottage cheese, ice cream, ice cream mix, and frozen desserts (which products are hereinafter referred to as Class II A), evaporated milk, cheddar cheese, nonfat dry milk solids, aerated cream products, etc., and a reasonable allowance for shrinkage.

Milk, cream, and certain products of milk and cream disposed of for consumption in fluid form are required to be made from Grade A milk in accordance with health regulations effective in the marketing area. Extra expenses incurred in the production and delivery of milk for these purposes warrant the classification of this milk as Class I milk and the pricing of it above the level of prices for Class II uses.

Except for cottage cheese, none of the products included in Class II milk are required by health regulations to be processed from Grade A milk. These products, although they may contain some Grade A milk, must be priced so as to meet competition from products which may be made from milk produced for manufacturing purposes. It is considered necessary to permit the free movement of excess milk, when not needed to supply the market for Class I uses, into manufacturing channels without burdensome disadvantage to handlers. Health authorities in the city of Spokane require that cottage cheese be made from Grade A milk or from nonfat dry milk solids produced from Grade A milk; however, some communities in the marketing area do not have this requirement. The net result is that a considerable amount of Grade A producer milk is used in the manufacture of cottage cheese to supply the marketing area.

Although Grade A milk is not required for ice cream sold in the marketing area, a substantial amount of excess Grade A milk is used in making ice cream. Handlers testified that high quality milk is desired and is used for this product. One large handler indicated that for some time he had been paying a 25-cent premium over the price for other Class II uses for milk used for both cottage cheese and ice cream. The record shows that other handlers also place a higher value on milk so used than for use in other manufactured products. If nonfat dry milk solids from outside sources are substituted for the skim milk derived from producer milk for cottage cheese use, such solids must be produced from Grade A milk at the point of origin and such solids command a premium of about 3 cents a pound (or 25 cents per hundredweight of milk, assuming a nonfat dry milk solids yield of 8.5 pounds to the hundredweight) over the market for nonfat dry milk solids as expressed in the Class II price formula. This quality of nonfat dry milk solids is frequently used in the manufacture of ice cream and ice cream mix also, because of the resulting improved quality and yield of the product. There is a year-round market for producer milk within the marketing area in these products.

Because considerable Grade A milk is desired for these products in the marketing area, and for the other reasons given, this milk should be priced somewhat higher than Class II milk which represents primarily an outlet for excess reserve supplies of milk in manufactured products which must compete on a nationwide basis with products produced from ungraded milk. It is recommended, therefore, that producer milk used to produce cottage cheese, ice cream, ice cream mix, and frozen desserts be designated as Class II A milk and be priced 25 cents per hundredweight higher than the remainder of Class II milk.

A proposal for classifying milk sterilized and packaged in hermetically sealed cans by the "Winger Process" as Class II milk was made at the hearing. Proponent was not actually in business at the time of the hearing, but stated that he is in the process of equipping a plant in Moses Lake, Washington, to handle milk, including excess Grade A milk, for this purpose. It was contended that the principal markets sought for this sterilized whole milk product would be the armed services and commercial outlets for shipment overseas to remote areas where fresh fluid milk is not available. It was further contended that this product would provide an outlet for excess Grade A milk in the Spokane area as well as for any excess of production in the Columbia Basin area which may develop. There is indication on the record that Grade A milk will not be required for this sterilized product. Under the circumstances it is concluded that milk used to produce such product should be classified as Class II milk.

The hearing record shows further that some skim milk customarily is either dumped or disposed of as livestock feed during the seasonal surplus period for lack of manufacturing facilities. The attached order provides that under certain limited conditions milk disposed of in these outlets may be classified and paid for by handlers as Class II milk. In order to forestall improper accounting for such milk, it is recommended that such dispositions be limited to skim milk and apply only to the months of April, May, June, and July. Furthermore, in the case of skim milk dumped, such classification should be allowable only when the market administrator, or his representative, is provided the opportunity to witness the dumping. Six hours' advance notice to the market administrator by the handler concerning his intention to dump skim milk should be adequate considering the locations of the various plants to be regulated. Otherwise, dumped milk should be classified "unaccounted for" and priced as Class I milk.

Some shrinkage is unavoidable in operating a milk plant. Testimony in the hearing record indicates that a fluid milk operation efficiently operated, and for which accurate and complete records are maintained, should not experience normal shrinkage in excess of 2 percent of producer milk, and perhaps less. Fluid milk operations comprise the bulk of the milk handled by handlers in the marketing area. If experience under regulation indicates a smaller percentage of shrinkage, this fact may be given consideration in a subsequent hearing. Thus, all unaccounted-for milk, other than actual shrinkage up to 2 percent of total receipts of skim milk and butterfat from producers which may be classified as Class II milk, should be classified as Class I milk. Since Class II milk is accounted for on a used-to-produce basis, this shrinkage provision should result in no hardship to handlers with regard to milk used for manufacturing purposes. Shrinkage on other source milk, however, will be allowed in the lowest available use classification under the allocation provisions, since other source milk is deducted on the basis of receipts rather than on product use.

In most milk markets, there are a certain number of transactions between handlers such as transferring milk from one handler's plant to that of another or to the plant of a person who is not a handler. Administratively, since milk is readily converted into other products, a method of classifying milk transferred between plants is necessary. With regard to such movements of milk, the order provides that the responsibility for correct classification should be placed on the handler who first receives the milk from producers. In case any milk is transferred without adequate proof of use, such milk should be classified as Class I milk.

A suggestion was made in the brief filed by a proponent producer organization that a reasonable distance should be fixed beyond which the market administrator should not be required to send auditors to verify the utilization of milk involved in interplant transactions. A radius of 200 miles from the Spokane Courthouse was offered as a reasonable distance for the purpose. This suggestion was not discussed at the time oral evidence was being taken. Since the record does not indicate that reserve milk has been transported such a distance at any time in the past, it does not appear necessary at this time to establish a definite geographical area beyond which milk moved will be Class I without audit. A future hearing will provide opportunity for full consideration of the proposal.

The order also provides for the reclassification of milk originally classified in one class, but later used or reused in another class. The classification of milk is designed particularly to assure producers of the proper return for milk used in each class and to place handlers on an equitable cost basis with respect to the minimum purchase price of milk from producers. Such a provision is necessary to achieve this objective.

The handler who first receives the milk from producers should bear the responsibility of accounting for the use of such milk. This will be facilitated by requiring such handler to show an actual Class II or Class II A use of milk, or, as an alternative, have such milk classified as Class I milk. Other source milk should be allocated first to Class II uses in the handler's plant. The reason for this is to prevent other source milk from displacing in Class I uses the milk of producers, on which the market relies for a continuous milk supply.

Skim milk and butterfat are not used in all products in the same proportions as contained in the milk received from producers, and, therefore, should be classified separately according to their separate uses. The skim milk serum and butterfat content of milk products, received and disposed of by a handler, can be determined through certain recognized testing procedures. Some of these products, such as ice cream and condensed products, present a difficult problem of testing (and accounting) in that some of the water contained in the milk has been removed. It is necessary, in the case of such products, to provide an acceptable means of ascertaining the amount of skim milk and butterfat contained in, or used to produce, these products. This may be accomplished through the use of adequate plant records made available to the market administrator in the case of products manufactured by a handler, or by means of standard conversion factors of skim milk and butterfat used to produce such products in the case of products purchased by a handler or where plant production records are inadequate.

Although there appears to be no contention concerning the propriety of classifying both fortified and reconstituted fluid products as Class I milk, a question was raised as to the method to be used to compute the volume of skim milk included in fortified milk to which the payment required by § 1008.70 (a) (5) applies.

The record discloses that nonfat dry milk solids which might be utilized to fortify Class I milk products would be required to come from Grade A milk but would be paid for on the basis of the Class II price if derived from milk covered by the order or at a price for manufacturing milk, if derived from milk processed at a non-regulated plant. The additional solids utilized increase the value and salability of the end product. The value of each pound of nonfat milk solids utilized by addition to, or as, a Class I product has a value to the handler the same as every other pound contained therein. Neither the form in which, nor the source from which, such solids are obtained alter their value to the handler for this purpose and they may not be distinguished on the basis of cost of production, need for regular supplies, sanitary requirements, seasonality of production, or value to consumers. Since the Class I price provisions are designed to encourage producers to deliver an adequate and dependable supply of milk in all seasons, the returns to producers for one portion of Class I milk should not be reduced below the level of the remaining portion disposed of in such class. The effect of computing the value of the added nonfat solids on actual weight rather than on a skim milk "equivalent" basis, in a Class I product, is to alter the accounting method for such solids as compared with an equivalent quantity of such solids contained in skim milk in fluid form which is utilized in the same product, in another Class I product, or even in Class II milk. The actual weight basis of accounting for the added solids used in fortified skim milk (Class I) has the effect, from a pricing standpoint, of retaining in Class II milk a portion of the producer milk utilized in the production of such Class I product even though it represents the only end use resulting from the producer milk involved. This is equivalent to granting the handler a price reduction with respect to a portion of his Class I milk. Therefore, the accounting procedure to be used in the case of this and any condensed milk product should be based on the pounds of milk or skim milk required to produce such product.

Because the order class prices apply only to producer milk, it is necessary, if a pool plant has butterfat or skim milk other than that received in producer milk, to determine the quantities of milk in each class to be assigned to current receipts from producers. The milk of producers who are regularly engaged in supplying the market should be assigned the Class I utilization first. This is necessary to insure the effectiveness of the classified pricing program of the order. The system of assigning utilization of milk to receipts from different sources which will carry out this objective is set forth in detail in the order.

In general this procedure requires that skim milk and butterfat, respectively, remaining in each class be assigned to producer milk by making the following deductions from the gross utilization of each handler starting with Class II milk, except as otherwise noted:

(1) Class II shrinkage of producer milk;

(2) Other source milk;

(3) Receipts from other handlers (according to classification); and

(4) Overage.

Since uniform prices paid producers by each handler are to be calculated monthly, the assignment of utilization described above should be carried out with respect to all milk received during each month. To apply a shorter accounting period would place an accounting and reporting burden upon handlers and increase the cost of administering the order.

Class prices. Class I prices should be established at a level which, together with appropriate Class II A and Class II prices, will return to producers a uniform price sufficient to bring forth the required supply of Grade A milk throughout the year. Class prices established too low will result in the production of insufficient milk to meet the Class I needs of the market. On the other hand, prices at too high a level will stimulate production and bring to the market more milk than is necessary to satisfy Class I needs, including a reasonable "reserve." The development of uneconomic reserves of Grade A milk in the past have tended to depress the price for all milk produced for the market.

In their proposal, producer proponents suggested that a basic formula price and differential method of pricing be established. It was testified that the purpose of this basic formula price is to reflect the general economic factors underlying the price for milk used in manufactured dairy products. Because the market for most manufactured products is nationwide, prices of such products reflect, to a large extent, changes in general economic conditions affecting the supply and demand for milk. These prices, in turn, influence the local market prices for the same uses of milk. In this market prices for milk used for fluid purposes are related to prices paid for milk used for manufacturing purposes since the production and marketing of inspected milk for fluid purposes is influenced by many of the same economic conditions. Also, manufacturing milk plants serve as alternative outlets for milk which farmers produce for fluid milk markets. For these reasons, many fluid milk markets have found it appropriate to use the prices for butter and nonfat dry milk solids, or the prices paid by condenseries (with differentials over these basic manufacturing prices), to establish fluid milk prices. It was pointed out that the differential added to the basic formula price should, in general, reflect the additional costs of getting Grade A milk produced and delivered to consumers in the quantities required to meet the needs for fluid consumption in the Inland Empire marketing area. The use of alternative components as included in the attached order in the determination of the basic formula price will reflect the basic factors affecting the value of manufactured milk at any given time.

The concept of adjusting minimum class prices in response to changes in supply and demand conditions, and thereby influencing the production of milk through consequent changes in producers' blend prices, has wider geographical implications today than in the past. In earlier days producers were limited to supplying milk to local markets because of inadequate transportation facilities and the local nature of health regulations and milk distribution systems. Today the technological advance in milk production, including the widespread use of milk cooling equipment on farms; the rapid motor transportation from farms to a number of cities instead of one or two, especially through the advent of bulk farm tank milk pickup; the increased efficiency of milk processing equipment and plants; the increasing importance of paper containers for packaging milk; the use of refrigerated delivery trucks; the sale of milk through vendors and stores in distant cities; and the corollary trend among health authorities of approving sources of milk derived from a wider supply area under agreements for reciprocal inspection—all these factors enable milk to be transported and sold long distances from the point of production. The hearing record reveals a gradual widening of the Inland Empire milkshed as well as an extension of the marketing area in which Spokane handlers distribute milk. The testimony shows the need for reflecting any basic changes in milk prices affecting the industry as a whole, and particularly for maintaining a reasonable price alignment with other areas such as Puget Sound, central Washington, and the Columbia Basin from which milk may be readily shipped to Spokane under favorable price levels.

The basic formula price adopted is the higher of (a) prices paid by 13 Wisconsin and Michigan condenseries with butterfat content adjusted to a 4-percent basis, or (b) a price calculated from a formula based on the prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. This basic formula pricing plan is comparable to that proposed at the hearing and is similar to that used in the Puget Sound order and in many other fluid milk markets in the country under similar type regulations. It is designed to reflect the factors described above.

(1) Class I price. The Class I price should be established at a differential of $1.85 per hundredweight over the basic formula price.

Proponents proposed a differential of $2.15 per hundredweight over the basic formula price. They presented testimony to the effect that the costs of production and transportation are generally higher in eastern Washington and in northern Idaho than in the Puget Sound area; also, that historically Spokane area milk prices have been higher than in western Washington by about 50 cents per hundredweight. The proposal amounts to exactly 50 cents per hundredweight over the minimum Class I price as established by the order regulating the handling of milk in the Puget Sound marketing area.

One handler proposed and gave testimony in support of a Class I price differential ranging between $1.65 and $1.85 over the basic formula price. It was alleged that the level of prices paid by Spokane handlers in 1953 resulted in surpluses in excess of the needed reserve supply, and that his proposed price differential would suffice to bring forth an adequate supply of Grade A milk to satisfy market needs. Another handler contended that a Class I price differential closely paralleling that of the Puget Sound order would result in an adequate supply of milk to meet Class I needs. Both handlers contended that the costs of milk production are no higher in the Inland Empire area than in the Puget Sound area.

The record reveals that the price for milk for bottling (termed Class I milk) in the Spokane market was $5.96 for the years 1952 and 1953. It appears that this was an important factor in the development of the excessive supply of milk and unstable marketing conditions. If the Class I price differential of $2.15 per hundredweight over the basic formula price, as proposed by the proponents, had been in effect during this period, the average Class I price would have been even higher ($6.21 per hundredweight). The record shows that from January 1, 1952, to January 1, 1955, the number of dairy cows and heifers two years old and older increased about 12 percent in Washington as compared with about 4 percent for the United States. During this period costs of dairy roughages and concentrate rations declined considerably, both in Washington and over the country as a whole. Inasmuch as all principal parties participating in the hearing, including the producer proponents, indicated that the $5.96 price per hundredweight was too high under the conditions prevailing in 1952 and 1953, resulting in an excess of Grade A milk for market needs, and because many of the production cost factors are no higher than during such period, obviously the Class I price, resulting from a $2.15 per hundredweight price differential over the basic formula price would not be reasonable.

Proponents have stressed the importance of the relationship between Puget Sound and Spokane prices in making their case for a Class I differential of $2.15 per hundredweight; and thus it is appropriate to discuss such relationship as well as factors directly affecting the production of milk in eastern Washington and northern Idaho. It was contended that historically the price of milk for bottling in the Spokane market has been about 50 cents higher than that for similar use under Puget Sound order. This was approximately the case for the years 1953 and 1954. But if the comparison is carried back to 1951 and 1952, the record reveals that the average Spokane Class I price was 14 cents per hundredweight lower than the Puget Sound Class I price for the period June–December 1951, and averaged 11 cents per hundredweight lower for the year 1952.

Record evidence indicates that costs of hay and farm labor are lower in the Inland Empire area than in the Puget Sound area. On the other hand, pastures are somewhat less productive and the pasturing season is shorter in the Inland Empire milkshed than in the Puget Sound area. Also, dairy ration costs and costs of transporting milk from the farms to the milk plants are higher in the Inland Empire milkshed.

Official notice is taken of the basic formula price under the Puget Sound order which applies to the month of October 1955 ($3.50 per hundredweight). The addition of a Class I price differential of $1.85 per hundredweight would have resulted in an October Class I price (4.0 percent milk) of $5.35 per hundredweight in the Inland Empire marketing area, had the proposed order been in effect.

With a higher Class I utilization in the Spokane market than in Puget Sound, a Class I price differential of 20 cents over that of Puget Sound might be expected to result in net returns to producers approximately 40 cents per hundredweight higher than in the latter area. Such a price should provide the Inland Empire marketing area with an adequate supply of Grade A milk and be in a sound relationship with prices in Puget Sound and other surrounding production and marketing areas. It is important to recognize that Grade A milk is available both in the Puget Sound area and at sources nearer to Spokane not currently associated with the market. A potential surplus producing area exists in the Columbia Basin.

A higher differential at this time could result in an over-stimulation of production of milk by regular producers for the market, conversion of cream shippers to producers of Grade A milk, and the attraction of milk from production areas not customarily supplying this market. Such developments would result in the building up of excessive reserves of Grade A milk, dilution of the pool, and depressed blend prices to the detriment of producers upon whom the market depends for a regular supply of milk. The recommended price differential in conjunction with other stabilizing influences provided by the order should create the incentive needed for the production of an adequate supply.

As a revision of their original proposal, proponents recommended that a "supply-demand adjustment factor" be added to the Class I price formula to further reflect changes in local supply and demand conditions as well as general conditions in the industry. Although a supply-demand adjustment factor in the pricing formula conceived from local market data would be desirable and serve a useful purpose, it is concluded that the development of such a factor should be delayed until the market has had at least a year's experience under the order. This is desirable as a basis for determining the seasonal patterns of production and demand more accurately than is possible from information available at this time. The class prices included in this order wil be terminated eighteen months after this order becomes effective, providing an opportunity for review of the market situation, based on more detailed information.

(2) Class II price. The Class II price formula should reflect a reasonable value of milk for manufacturing purposes in the supply area. The Class II price should be at such a level that handlers will accept and market whatever quantities of milk in excess of Class I needs may be produced from time to time. The price should not be so low that handlers will be encouraged to procure or retain milk supplies solely for the purpose of converting substantial quantities into Class II products.

Proponents proposed a formula based on the central market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids with an 80-cent per hundredweight "make-allowance" (the same allowance as in the Puget Sound order). At the hearing, one handler proposed a similar-type formula with a make-allowance of $1.02. Another handler proposed that the allowance be set at 90 cents. The latter alleged that manufacturing costs are higher than in Puget Sound, because of the lower volume handled in manufacturing uses.

In the Spokane area, most of the excess milk is used for cottage cheese and ice cream as adjuncts to the fluid operations of handlers. The manufacture of storable products, such as butter, cheese, and nonfat dry milk solids, is more sporadic than in the Puget Sound area and occurs principally in the flush season of production.

It is concluded that the butter-powder formula, including a make-allowance of 80 cents per hundredweight, will result in reasonable pricing for Class II milk in the Spokane area in line with its value as reported by condenseries, creameries, and cheese factories in the State of Washington. Although such items as butter, nonfat dry milk solids, and cheese are not processed to the same extent as in the Puget Sound area, it should be recognized that the formula pertains mainly to milk in Class II A (used to produce cottage cheese, ice cream, and ice cream mix), in which category there is practically a year-round outlet available as an adjunct to fluid milk operations, rather than to the storable dairy products which might represent a "distress" disposition in this market.

When nonfat dry milk solids must be purchased by Inland Empire handlers, spray process solids for human consumption are desired and used to produce Class II A products. In the case of cottage cheese in the Spokane market, skim milk from Grade A milk, or nonfat dry milk solids manufactured from Grade A milk, are required in its manufacture. Handlers testified that when locally produced Grade A milk is not available for ice cream, or for cottage cheese to be sold outside the marketing area, high quality, low temperature spray process nonfat dry milk solids are desired and used for these products. Premiums of about 3 cents per pound are paid to procure the high quality solids used to produce quality cottage cheese and ice cream. The principal, and nearest, source of such nonfat dry milk solids is the Puget Sound milkshed, where manufacturing milk prices (and Class II prices under the Federal order) approximate the level contemplated by the formula adopted here. Milk used for such purposes in the Inland Empire should be worth as much as the cost of obtaining comparable milk ingredients from alternative sources of supply. The hearing record also indicates that handlers generally have recognized the extra value of producer milk used for cottage cheese and ice cream by paying more for milk used to produce these products than for other Class II uses. It is therefore concluded that milk used to produce cottage cheese, ice cream, and ice cream mix (herein referred to as Class II A) should be priced at 25 cents per hundredweight above the Class II price as determined by the Class II formula.

Butterfat differentials. Because of variations in the butterfat content of milk delivered by individual producers and in milk and milk products sold by different handlers, it is necessary to provide "butterfat differentials" to insure equitable payments for such variations in butterfat.

Since it is concluded that the class prices should be established for milk containing 4.0 percent butterfat, it is necessary to adjust Class I and Class II prices in accordance with the average test of milk in each class by a butterfat differential which will reflect differences in the value of milk products within the class caused by variations in butterfat content. The values resulting from multiplying the average price of 92-score butter at San Francisco by 0.123 for Class I milk and by 0.115 for Class II milk will provide an appropriate basis for adjusting such prices in this marketing area. These adjustments will reflect reasonable values for the butterfat used in each class of milk. The higher butterfat differential for Class I milk is necessary to provide an appropriate relationship between the values of skim milk and butterfat in this class. The use of butterfat differentials in this manner follows standard practice in most fluid milk markets for adjusting prices of milk of various butterfat contents. The proponents have proposed a Class II butterfat differential of 0.110 times the price of San Francisco 92-score butter. It is concluded a factor of 0.115 would more appropriately reflect the value of all butterfat in such milk and would place the pricing of such butterfat in closer alignment with alternative sources.

It is appropriate to adjust for butterfat variations in base milk at the Class I butterfat differential to the extent that Class I milk is reflected in base milk deliveries and at the Class II butterfat differential on Class II milk included in base milk, and to use the Class II butterfat differential in adjusting for butterfat variations in excess milk delivered by producers.

Location adjustments. In order to recognize the cost of moving Class I milk from distant plants which are, or may become, regular sources of supply for the Inland Empire market, it is necessary to provide location adjustments to allow for variation in the payments handlers are required to make to producers whose milk is received at such plant locations based upon their relative distances from the market.

One handler in Spokane operates a receiving station at Sand Point, Idaho, at which milk is weighed, cooled, and sampled for butterfat testing. The milk is then transported by tanker to the Spokane plant for pasteurization and bottling. Another handler operates a bottling plant involving local fluid milk distribution in Sand Point. Thus, to provide equity among handlers in procurement a location adjustment is needed to reflect a reasonable price for milk at this location in the milkshed as compared with the price effective for the main consuming communities of the marketing area. The proximity of the marketing area to other milk producing areas, especially areas to the west, from which milk now is being sold in other markets, also requires that location adjustments be provided to properly price such milk at such locations in case it may be shipped to the Inland Empire market at some future time.

The schedule of location adjustment rates provided in the attached order, which was proposed and supported by the proponents, appears to be in line with the costs of moving milk in tank trucks in the area. The particular adjustment of the Sand Point location could amount to as much as 24 cents per hundredweight, depending upon the precise distance by hard-surfaced highway. Thus, at Sand Point, which is approximately 75 miles from Spokane, the Class I price and the producer price for base milk f. o. b. plant would be 24 cents per hundredweight less than at Spokane.

Location adjustments should apply only to milk received at pool plants more than 50 miles from the City Hall in Spokane. Milk produced closer than 50 miles can be readily transported directly from producers' farms to handlers' bottling plants in the principal consuming communities in the marketing area. The rates of location differential are 3 cents per hundredweight for each 10 miles, or major fraction thereof, measured from the City Hall in Spokane, in the 50–100 mile zone, an additional 2.0 cents per hundredweight for each 10 miles, or major fraction thereof, in the 100-200 mile zone, and an additional 1.0 cent per hundredweight for each 10 miles, or major fraction thereof, beyond 200 miles. Such rates apply to the shortest hard-surfaced highway distances such pool plants are from the City Hall in Spokane and to milk assigned to or otherwise classified as Class I. A variation in the rate of location differential is justified because a large part of hauling charges consist of the loading and unloading of trucks, and thus somewhat higher rates are appropriate for relatively short distances as compared with long-distance movements.

(d) Distribution of proceeds among producers—(1) Type of pool. The order should provide that the proceeds from the sale of milk in both classes by all handlers be combined and distributed to producers through a "marketwide" type of equalization pool. Under this type of pool each producer will receive minimum prices that are uniform, subject, of course, to butterfat and location differentials. The "blend" price, and the "base" and "excess" prices, will represent a weighting of the proportions of all producers' milk paid for at the Class I and Class II prices, and will, in effect, return to each producer his share of the Class I sales of the market.

Under the marketing conditions prevailing and the organizational structure of the industry in the Inland Empire area, as set forth in the record, it is clear that the marketwide type of equalization pool is a necessary part of any effective program to establish and maintain orderly marketing and pricing conditions.

Only a small number of handlers in marketing area are equipped to process substantial quantities of reserve and surplus milk in their own plants. For this reason, and those already pointed out in the discussion of the necessity for an appropriate Class II price, it is imperative that a pool be established that will provide for an equitable sharing, particularly during the flush production season, of the lower returns that are inevitable with an adequate and necessary reserve of milk. Because many plants do not have facilities for processing all their reserve and surplus milk, the adoption of an individual-handler pool, wherein plants operating on a Class I basis could pay a higher price to producers than those who would assume responsibility for disposing of the reserve milk supplies of the market, would automatically deter handlers from handling such milk or from equipping their plants for that purpose. The inability of certain supplies to find a ready outlet has been an important factor contributing to the unstable marketing conditions. The burden of carrying the necessary reserve supplies of milk would continue to be shouldered by only a part of the producers who share in the year around Class I sales in the area.

A marketwide pool will permit any handler to bid on such business at that offered by military installations and other public institutions and to obtain the supplies for such sales without upsetting the market whenever the business might shift from one handler to another. A marketwide pool also will aid the market in retaining qualified, experienced and willing producers during periods of seasonal surpluses (by permitting them to receive the marketwide uniform price); hence their milk will be available to fill the Class I requirements of the market at other seasons of the year.

These factors, taken in conjunction with the variations in amount of reserve supplies among plants, all support the adoption of a marketwide pool.

(2) Base-excess plan. A base and excess plan of distributing returns for milk among producers should be employed in connection with the marketwide pool established herein. Record evidence indicates that milk receipts vary between the spring and fall months to a greater extent than Class I sales. In addition, some handlers have difficulty in utilizing efficiently all milk delivered to them during periods of seasonally high production. Consequently, there is a need for an incentive to maintain production in the fall months relative to that of the spring and summer months.

Handlers and producers serving the Inland Empire market are now relying on various forms of base-excess plans to provide the incentive needed to induce local dairymen to strive for a more nearly even level of milk production throughout the year. Producers and handlers alike feel that the presently operated base-excess plans perform a much-needed function, even though their actual operation in many cases leaves much to be desired from the standpoint of equity between handlers and fairness to producers. These latter conditions can arise because distributors themselves establish the rules of the base-excess plan and control the adjustment and transfer of bases.

Base and excess plans are effective means of improving the seasonal pattern of milk deliveries because they relate producer returns directly to delivery of additional milk in the late summer and fall as compared with deliveries in the winter and spring. Were some version of this plan not included in the attached order, the most likely result would be an increased seasonality of production with its attendant problems of surplus disposal in the flush production months. Any movement in this direction will work against market stability in this area, since some handlers in the market have difficulty in disposing of all milk delivered to them in the months of seasonally high production. It is concluded, therefore, that a base-excess plan applied to all producers by being made a part of the attached order will play an essential role in stabilizing marketing and pricing conditions in the area. However, from a practical standpoint, because time is required to establish the plan, the order provides that all milk delivered by producers will be regarded as base milk from the effective date of the order until March 1, 1956. Thus, producers will receive a straight "blend," or uniform, price for all deliveries for the first few months of regulation which will occur mainly in the season of low production.

The base-excess plan adopted herein, to begin March 1, 1956, would establish for each producer who delivers at least 120 days in the months of September through January immediately preceding a base equal to his average daily deliveries during such five-month period. The base so computed would be in effect for the twelve months' period March through February following, and would be recomputed in a similar manner each year.

Since the base-excess plan is designed to distribute to each individual producer his share, according to the seasonal pattern of his milk deliveries, of the total value of all milk pooled in each month, certain rules must be established also for computing bases for producers who come on the market for the first time. Provision is made for producers who may enter the market after the start of the base-forming period to establish a full base by delivering a minimum of 120 days during the specified period. If a producer did not deliver milk to the market during a major portion of this fall and winter period, however, he would receive, temporarily, a base computed as a specified percentage (to vary each month) of his deliveries during the month. This percentage would represent the relationship of established bases to current milk deliveries by all producers, adjusted downward by 10 percent. Such producer would establish a base in the regular manner as soon as he had delivered at least 120 days in a September-January period and thus had demonstrated his ability to deliver in the period when the market most needs his milk.

These rules necessarily must guard against giving preferential status to new producers as compared to those who have been supplying the market. On the other hand, the rules are not intended to deter the movement of milk from new sources into the Inland Empire market. In providing a year-round base and excess operating period in the order, it is necessary especially to insure that the base and excess plan will not impede the movement of qualified Grade A milk into the marketing area from plants not currently associated with the Inland Empire market but which may qualify as pool plants in the future. Thus, producers of milk received at such plants should be given opportunity to establish bases on equal terms with producers whose milk was received at a pool plant during the applicable base-forming period. In order to provide such opportunity, it is necessary, of course, that any such plant furnish records of the production of such producers for the base-forming period. If such information is not made available to the market administrator with respect to any such producer, a monthly base computed as a specified percentage of his deliveries during the month would apply (§ 1008.60 (c)).

Beginning with March 1956 separate uniform prices would be computed for base milk and excess milk for the purpose of allocating Class I sales first to base milk. Base milk would be that quantity of milk delivered by each producer up to his average daily base multiplied by the number of days in the month during which he delivers milk to any handler. The excess milk price would be the Class II price except in those months when the total Class I sales exceed the total quantity of base milk. During such months the excess milk price would be a blend of a Class I and Class II usage of excess milk.

It would be preferable to provide advance notice to producers regarding the original period to be used for establishing bases. However, producer organizations urged that bases be employed under the order from the outset in order not to interrupt a method of payment which has been customary for both cooperative and independent producers over a long period. Handlers offered no objection to this suggestion. In order to adopt the plan on a date as early as provided (March 1, 1956), it is necessary to require handlers to report delivery information concerning each producer's milk beginning with September 1955.

Contingencies such as changes in the operation of a farm because of the change of ownership, or death, retirement, or entry into military service of a producer, and changes in partnership or tenant-landlord arrangements, also should be provided for to give clarity and workability to the plan. Therefore, certain rules in connection with the establishment and transfer of bases have been included.

Proponents of the order suggested that the individual producer's base be established by ascertaining the average of his deliveries in the five months of his lowest delivery during the most recent twelve-month period and then adjusting such average delivery figure by a percentage which would result in an aggregate base for all producers equal to the market's Class I sales plus a 10 percent reserve.

As pointed out by proponents, the problem of distributing the proceeds for milk on a base and excess plan of payment hinges about the relatively constant demand for Class I milk throughout the year as contrasted to the normally wide seasonal variations in the production of milk. It is highly important that production of Class I milk be adjusted so that there will be an adequate supply even during the normally short production season in the fall and winter. The market must be supplied. In equity, each producer's share of the proceeds of the market should be based upon his demonstrated ability to supply the market.

The record shows the season of normally low production to be the fall and winter months. It is at this time of the year that the producer, under present conditions, must demonstrate his ability to produce if the market is to be adequately supplied. To the extent that the producer performs to meet the market's needs in these months and reduces production relatively in the spring and summer, the market is benefited to the same degree. A producer's ability to deliver when the market has the greatest need for milk cannot be measured by his failure to deliver in months when milk is not needed as adequately as by taking account of his deliveries when the need is present. Proponents' plan would permit low delivery by the producer in a spring or summer month to carry equal weight with possible higher deliveries in the fall and winter in measuring his ability to meet the needs of the market. The record indicates that even if some producers may experience a low point in production during May and June, the market as a whole has a seasonal excess in these months. Moreover, the use of delivery information several months old would not appear to be as good an indicator of a producer's ability to supply milk in the future as his performance in the most recent period of low production. Since a base and excess plan looks to the future rather than to the past, it would appear that the plan could be applied with greatest equity if the recent performance of the producer were used to measure his future ability to deliver.

The producer's ability to deliver in a seasonal pattern best suited to the market will not be determined more accurately by adjusting producer deliveries in aggregate to the Class I sales (plus necessary reserves) of the market. Proponents state that a total of bases greatly in excess of Class I sales plus 10 percent is insupportable on the basis that "shares in the market cannot be assigned in excess of the market." If the class prices are set at a level which will maintain a reasonable balance between supply and demand, deliveries by producers in the months of lowest production will not exceed greatly the amount of milk actually needed for Class I use, plus the minimum reserve supply. Thus, producers will share equitably in the Class I market and necessary reserve. If, however, the total delivery should be substantially in excess of Class I sales plus the minimum reserve supply, it would be appropriate to review the level of class prices in the market.

In view of the above, it is concluded that the suggested proposals for determining amounts of bases and for adjustment to Class I sales to which reference is made should not be adopted.

Proponents offered a suggestion for a "merit-grading plan" under which those producers meeting a specified "score" for milk quality would receive a blended, or uniform, price and deduction from such price would be made in the case of milk meeting health department standards, but considered of lesser quality. By alternative suggestion, it was indicated that "premiums" might be established for grade or quality ratings above the lowest acceptable grade.

The statute permits the adoption of provisions for the adjustment of producer prices based on grade or quality. However, in order to delineate between grades of milk within the framework of minimum prices and pooling under the order, it would be necessary from an administrative viewpoint to have a specific set of standards by which the market administrator could fairly determine differences in quality. Anything less would be impractical and obviously inequitable as among producers. The problems of administering such a plan equitably on a marketwide basis differ appreciably from those encountered in the application of the plan by a producer association with respect to milk in its own plant.

The merit-grading plan which has been made applicable to a portion of the milk in the market by proponents has not been adopted universally by handlers. Only the proponent producers' associations spoke in its behalf. Other handlers were noncommittal as to its value. The plan outlined was not specific in its terms and it does not appear to be supported by any official action or program of the local health authorities. The price formulas included in the attached order are designed to bring forth the necessary supply of milk under the minimum standards established by the local health authorities. Additional payments for extra quality may be made if handlers so desire.

It is concluded from the above that the merit-grading plan as suggested should not be adopted on the basis of the evidence available at this time.

(3) Payments to individual producers and to members of cooperative associations. Handlers should make payments to each producer for milk delivered by such producer at the appropriate uniform price. Payments due any producer for milk should be paid by the handler to a cooperative association that makes a written request for such payments if the producer has given the cooperative association written authorization, in the form of a contract or in any other form, to collect such payments. In making such payments for producer milk to a cooperative association, the handler should at the same time furnish the cooperative association with a statement showing the name of each producer for whom payment is being made to the cooperative association, the volume and average butterfat content of milk delivered by each such producer, and the amount of and reasons for any deductions which the handler made from the amount payable to each producer. This statement is necessary so the cooperative association can make proper distribution of the money it collects to the producer-members for whom it makes collections.

Qualified cooperative associations of dairymen, if they so request, should be permitted to receive payment from handlers for their producer-members as a group. A provision authorizing handlers to make payment directly to such qualified cooperative associations for milk received from producer-members is necessary to enable an association to carry out the functions authorized by the enabling act, i. e., blending the net proceeds of all of its sales in all markets in all use classifications, and making distribution thereof to its producers in accordance with the contract between the association and its producers. A cooperative association, if it is to carry out such functions, must have full authority in the collective bargaining and marketing of members' milk.

(4) Producer-settlement fund. Since the amount which the order requires a particular handler to pay for his milk may be more or less than the amount he is required to pay to producers or cooperative associations, it is necessary to provide for some method of balancing these amounts. A producer-settlement fund should be established for this purpose. All handlers who are required to pay more for their milk on the basis of their utilization than they are required to pay to producers or cooperative associations should pay the difference into the producer-settlement fund; all handlers who are required to pay more to producers or cooperative associations than they are required to pay for their milk on the basis of utilization should receive the difference from the producer-settlement fund. Amounts paid into and out of the producer-settlement fund for this purpose will be equal except for minor differences that may result from rounding of uniform prices. In order to permit this rounding of prices, to allow for unavoidable delays in receiving payments from handlers, and to permit payments to be made to any handler which audit by the market administrator reveals is due such handler from the producer-settlement fund, a reserve should be held in the producer-settlement fund at all times. The amount of the reserve contemplated in the proposed order should be sufficient for these purposes. This reserve would be adjusted each month.

If at any time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to cover payments due to all handlers from the producer-settlement fund, payments to such handlers should be reduced uniformly per hundredweight of milk. The handlers may then reduce payments to producers by an equivalent amount per hundredweight. Amounts remaining due such handlers from the producer-settlement fund should be paid as soon as the balance in the fund is sufficient, and handlers should then complete payments to producers. In order to reduce the possibility of this occurring, milk received by any handler who has not made payments required of him into the producer-settlement fund should not be considered in the computation of the uniform price in subsequent months until such handler has completed all delinquent payments.

(e) Other administrative provisions. Certain other provisions are needed in the order to carry out the administrative steps necessary to accomplish the purposes of the proposed regulation.

(1) Terms and definitions. In addition to the definitions discussed earlier in this decision which define the scope of the regulation, certain other terms and definitions are desirable in the interest of brevity and to assure that each usage of the term implies the same meaning. Definitions for base and excess milk are included. Other terms defined in the proposed order are common to many other Federal milk orders.

(2) Market administrator. Provisions should be made for the appointment by the Secretary of a market administrator to administer the order and to set forth the powers and duties for such agency essential to the proper functioning of his office.

(3) Records and reports. Provisions should be included in the order to advise handlers that they are required to maintain adequate records of their operations and to make the reports necessary to establish the proper classification and pricing of producer milk and payments due producers for such milk. Time limits must be prescribed for filing such reports and for making payments to producers. Dates must also be established for the announcement of prices by the market administrator.

It should be provided that the market administrator report to the cooperative association, which so requests, the amount and class utilization of milk received by each handler from producers who are members of such cooperative association. For the purpose of this report, the utilization of members' milk in each handler's plant will be prorated to each class in the proportion that total receipts of producer milk were used in such class by such handler.

One handler objected to the adoption of such a provision. It was contended that such reports would contain valuable competitive information which would not be available to proprietary handlers.

The record shows that, at the present time, there is only one cooperative in the Inland Empire market which would be entitled to receive this information. This association does not operate a plant, and is not engaged in marketing milk in competition with handlers. Its sole function is bargaining on behalf of its producer-members and in check-weighing and check-testing their milk. It is concluded that the reporting of such information to the cooperative will facilitate the efficient utilization of the available market supply and thus minimize the total quantity of milk which must be produced to meet the Class I needs of all handlers in the marketing area.

Handlers should maintain and make available to the market administrator all records and accounts of their operations, including financial records, and such facilities, as are necessary to determine the accuracy of the information reported to the market administrator as he may deem necessary, or any other information upon which the classification of producer milk depends. The market administrator must likewise be permitted to check the accuracy of weights and tests of milk and milk products received and handled and to verify all payments required under the order.

One handler contended that it was not necessary for the market administrator to have access to financial records in auditing reports of handlers for order purposes. The record indicates there may be instances in which a handler, wittingly or unwittingly, may fail to report all receipts and/or sales of milk. In such cases, it would be necessary for the market administrator to have access to the financial as well as other pertinent records as a means of discovering omissions or inaccuracies in accounting for milk under the order. Assuring proper accounting for milk is an important feature of an order; thus, it is essential that the market administrator have access to any and all records necessary for him to properly perform his duty and broad authority is granted, in this respect, under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended.

One handler alleged that when handlers report to producers concerning payments for milk received, it should not be necessary that they indicate the amount of premiums paid as long as appropriate minimum prices are exceeded. Inasmuch as in the bulk of cases a number of deductions will be made by the handler in arriving at the net amount due a producer for his milk which will result in a net payment to the producer less than the uniform price(s) required to be paid by the order f. o. b. plant, it is only reasonable that the producer be made aware of the starting point from which deductions are made as well as the amounts of the specific deductions which he has specifically authorized. Thus, the producer and the market administrator will be in a position to ascertain readily whether or not the full minimum price(s) provided by the order has been paid to the producer.

It is necessary that handlers retain records to prove the utilization of the milk received from producers and that proper payments were made therefor. Since the books of all handlers associated with the market cannot be audited immediately after the milk has been delivered to a plant, it is necessary that such records be kept for a reasonable period of time.

The order should provide for specific limitations of the time that handlers should be required to retain their books and records and of the period of time in which obligations under the order should terminate. Provision made in this regard is identical in principle with the general amendment made to all milk orders in operation July 30, 1947, following the Secretary's decision of January 26, 1949 (14 F. R. 444). That decision covering the retention of records and limitations of claims is equally applicable in this situation and is adopted as a part of this decision. Without a provision for termination of obligations after a reasonable period of time has elapsed, handlers may file claims which, because the period involved might extend back over many years, could be in substantial amounts. This creates uncertainties which would endanger the stability of the market and lead to serious inequities. The order should provide that any obligation to pay a handler shall terminate two years after the month in which the milk was received if an under-payment is claimed, or within two years after payment was made if a refund is claimed, unless within such period of time the handler files a petition, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, claiming such money. Handlers also need the protection of provisions terminating their obligations to make payments. Since handlers cannot be forewarned always as to contingent liabilities, it is extremely difficult and burdensome for them to make adequate provisions therefor by setting up reserves or by taking other precautionary measures. The obligation of any handler to pay money should, except under certain extraordinary conditions, such as litigation, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator received the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. It is concluded that in general, a period of two years is a reasonable time within which a market administrator should complete his auditing and inspection work and render any billings for money due under the order. Provisions are necessary, also, as contained in the order included herewith, to meet such contingencies as failure of the handler to submit required books and records and to deal with situations where fraud or willful concealment of information may be involved.

It was proposed that if a handler fails to make the required reports or payments, his name may be publicly announced at the discretion of the market administrator. Such announcement is provided for by the act, and it is concluded that its adoption will facilitate the enforcement of the terms of the order.

(4) Expense of administration. Each handler should be required to pay the market administrator as his pro rata share of the cost of administering the order not more than 4 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amounts as the Secretary may, from time to time, prescribe on (a) producer milk (including such handler's own production), and (b) other source milk in pool plants which is allocated to Class I milk.

The market administrator must have sufficient funds to enable him to administer properly the terms of the order. The act provides that such cost of administration shall be financed through an assessment on handlers.

One of the duties of the market administrator is to verify the receipts and disposition of milk from all sources. The record indicates that other source milk is received by handlers to supplement local producer supplies of milk. Equity in sharing the cost of adminisitration of the order among handlers will be achieved, therefore, by applying the administrative assessment to all producer milk (including handlers' own production) and to other source milk allocated to Class I milk.

In view of the anticipated volume of milk and the costs of administering orders in markets of comparable circumstances, it is concluded that an initial rate of 4 cents per hundredweight is necessary to meet the expenses of administration. Provision should be made to enable the Secretary to reduce the rate of assessment below the 4 cents per hundredweight maximum without necessitating an amendment to the order. This may be done at any time experience in the market reveals that a lesser rate will produce sufficient revenue to administer the order properly.

(5) Marketing services. A provision should be included in the order for furnishing market services to producers, such as verifying the tests and weights of producer milk and furnishing market information. These should be provided by the market administrator and the cost should be borne by the producer receiving the service. If a qualified cooperative association is found to be performing such services for any member-producers, this will be accepted by the market administrator in lieu of his own service.

There is need for a marketing service program in connection with the administration of an order in this area. Orderly marketing will be promoted by assuring individual producers that payments received for their milk are in accordance with the classification, pricing, and pooling provisions of the order, and reflect accurate weights and tests of such milk. To accomplish this fully, it is necessary that the butterfat tests and weights of individual producer deliveries of milk as reported by the handler be verified for accuracy.

In the case of producers who are members of a cooperative having a plant(s), the matter of milk-testing and milk-weighing is under the complete control of such producers and is assessed against such producers either through an association check-off or as a plant operating cost. The bargaining association in the area is attempting to perform check-weighing and check-testing services for its members under an association check-off. In order to place such services on a marketwide basis, the market administrator should also provide them for producers not receiving services through a cooperative association.

The additional service of providing market information to producers is carried on to some extent at present by the cooperatives although detailed information regarding market prices, supplies, and the utilization of milk is not available to either the cooperative associations and their members or the independent producers. An important phase of the marketing service program of the order is to furnish producers with correct market information. Efficiency in the production, utilization, and marketing of milk will be promoted by the dis-

To enable the market administrator to furnish these marketing services, provision should be made for a maximum deduction of 5 cents per hundredweight, with respect to receipts of milk from producers for whom he renders marketing services. If later experience indicates that marketing services can be performed at a lesser rate, provision is made for the Secretary to adjust the rate downward without the necessity of a hearing. In the event any qualified cooperative association of producers is determined by the market administrator to be performing such services for its members, each handler would be required to pay to the cooperative association such association dues as are authorized by its members who deliver to such handler.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of certain interested parties in the market. The briefs contained suggested findings of fact, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions herein before set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Recommended marketing agreement and order. The following order regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The proposed marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be the same as those contained in the recommended order.

(b) In making payment to a cooperative association in aggregate pursuant to § 1008.80 (b) each handler upon request shall furnish to the cooperative association, on or before the 16th day of each month, with respect to each producer for whom such payment is made, all the information specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 1008.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received within the month by a handler which is required to be reported pursuant to § 1008.30 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 1008.41 through 1008.45, inclusive.

§ 1008.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 1008.42, 1008.43, and 1008.44, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in fluid or frozen form as milk, skim milk (including fortified skim milk), skim milk drinks, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, and cream (sweet or sour), (but not including any of the above items if packaged in hermetically sealed containers), (2) used in the production of concentrated milk, skim milk, flavored milk and flavored milk drinks not sterilized (but not including (i) those products commonly known as evaporated milk, condensed milk, and condensed skim milk, (ii) flavored milk or flavored milk drink in hermetically-sealed containers; and (iii) any item named in this subparagraph disposed of pursuant to paragraph (b) (3) of this section), (3) disposed of as any fluid mixture containing cream and milk or skim milk (but not including ice cream and other frozen dessert mixes disposed of to a commercial processor, any mixture disposed of in containers or dispensers under pressure for the purpose of dispensing a whipped or aerated product, evaporated or condensed products, eggnog and yogurt), (4) contained in monthly inventory variations, (5) shrinkage of producer milk in excess of that pursuant to paragraph (b) (4) of this section and shrinkage allocated to receipts from other handlers pursuant to § 1008.42 (b), and (6) not specifically accounted for under paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce any product other than those included under paragraphs (a) (1), (2), (3), and (c) of this section, (2) disposed of (skim milk only) for livestock feed or dumped during April, May, June, or July: Provided, That in the case of skim milk dumped the market administrator is given not less than 6 hours' notice of the handler's intention to make such disposition, (3) disposed of in bulk in any of the forms specified in paragraph (a) (1), (2), and (3) of this section (i) to bakeries, soup companies and candy manufacturing establishments in their capacity as such, (ii) in hermetically-sealed containers, or (iii) to nonpool plants subject to the conditions of § 1008.44 (c) (2), (4) in actual shrinkage of producer milk computed pursuant to § 1008.42 but not in excess of 2 percent of the quantities of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk, and (5) in actual shrinkage of other source milk computed pursuant to § 1008.42.

(c) Class II A milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat used to produce ice cream, ice cream mix, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese (and shall be included in Class II milk for all purposes of this order except as otherwise expressly stated).

§ 1008.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk and in other source milk in the following manner:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, among the pounds of producer milk, other source milk, and receipts from other handlers: Provided, That if milk is transferred from a pool plant to a nonpool plant located on the same premises as the transferor plant, the transfer to the nonpool plant shall be reduced by an amount determined by multiplying the total shrinkage in such nonpool plant by the percentage which the amount so transferred is to the total receipts at such nonpool plant.

§ 1008.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first received such skim milk or butterfat proves that such skim milk and butterfat should be classified as Class II milk.

(b) The burden shall rest upon each handler to establish the sources of milk and milk products required to be reported by him pursuant to § 1008.30.

(c) Except as provided in § 1008.44 (b) (1), any skim milk or butterfat classified on the basis of its use in one product shall be reclassified if used or reused by any handler in another product.

§ 1008.44 Inter-plant movements. Skim milk and butterfat transferred as any item specified in § 1008.41 (a) (1), (2), and (3) from a pool plant to another plant shall be assigned (separately) to each class in the following manner:

(a) From a pool plant to another pool plant: As Class I milk unless another class use is indicated in writing to the market administrator by the operators of both plants on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transfer was made: Provided, That if either or both plants received any other source milk, the quantity transferred shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the highest possible utilization to producer milk: And provided further, That for the purpose of applying location adjustment credits pursuant to § 1008.53 the quantity classified as Class I milk on interplant transfer shall not be greater than the amount by which Class I milk disposed of by the transferee-plant exceeds the quantity of milk received directly from producers at such plant.

(b) From a pool plant to a nonpool plant: Such transfer(s) (also diverted milk) shall be classified as provided below, except that if the market administrator is not permitted to audit the records of the nonpool plant(s) for the purpose of use verification, the entire transfer shall be classified as Class I milk:

(1) As Class I milk, if the transfer (or diversion) is to a nonpool plant which is engaged in the distribution of milk for consumption in fluid form (except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) to the extent that milk is disposed of as any of the items specified in § 1008.41 (a) (1), (2), and (3) from the receiving plant.

(2) As Class II milk, if the transfer (or diversion) is to a nonpool plant which is not engaged in the distribution of milk for consumption in fluid form or is engaged in the processing and distribution of milk for fluid consumption packaged in hermetically-sealed containers: Provided, That if such nonpool plant disposes of skim milk or butterfat in any of the forms specified in § 1008.41 (a) (1), (2), and (3) to any other nonpool plant distributing milk in fluid form, such disposition, up to the quantity of milk transferred or diverted to the first nonpool plant, shall be classified as Class I milk: And provided further, That if the proceeding proviso does not apply, the transferred or diverted quantity shall be deemed to have been utilized first for the manufacture of Class II milk products other than ice cream, ice cream mix, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese to the extent that such Class II milk products were produced at such nonpool plant.

§ 1008.45 Computation of the quantity of producer milk in each class. For each handler the market administrator shall:

(a) Correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the monthly report submitted by such handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class: Provided, That when nonfat milk solids derived from nonfat dry milk solids, condensed skim milk, or any other product condensed from skim milk, are utilized by such handler (1) to fortify (or as an additive to) fluid milk, flavored milk, skim milk, or any other milk product, or (2) for disposition in reconstituted form as skim milk or a milk drink, the total pounds of skim milk computed for the appropriate class of use shall reflect a volume equivalent to the skim milk used to produce such nonfat milk solids; and

(b) Allocate skim milk in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk shrinkage allowed pursuant to § 1008.41 (b) (4);

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk in other source milk received (other order milk to be subtracted last) and in overage allocated to other source milk § 1008.70 (a) (5): Provided, That if the receipts of skim milk in other source milk plus the overage allocated to other source milk are greater than the pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted in sequence from the pounds of skim milk in Class II A milk and in Class I milk;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, respectively, the skim milk received from other pool plants and assigned to such class pursuant to § 1008.44;

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of Class II milk, the amount subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in milk received from producers, subtract such excess (hereinafter referred to as "overage") from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class beginning with Class II milk.

(c) Allocate butterfat in accordance with the procedure prescribed for skim milk in paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Add together for each class the quantities of skim milk and butterfat in such class computed pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section and compute the weighted average butterfat content of such class.

§ 1008.50 Basic formula price to be used in determining Class I prices. The basic formula price to be used in computing the price per hundredweight of Class I milk for the current month shall be the higher of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section for the preceding month:

(a) Divide by 3.5 and then multiply by 4.0 the average of the basic, or field, prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from dairy farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department.

(b) The price per hundredweight computed by the market administrator from the following formula:

(1) Multiply by 4.8 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade AA (93-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the month: Provided, That if no price is reported for Grade AA (93-score) butter, the highest of the prices reported for Grade A (92-score) butter for that day shall be used in lieu of the price for Grade AA (93-score) butter;

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the simple average of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department; and

(3) From the sum of the results arrived at under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, subtract 67 cents.

§ 1008.51 Class prices. Subject to the differentials provided in §§ 1008.52 and 1008.53 the following are the minimum prices per hundredweight to handlers for Class I milk, Class II A, and Class II milk:

(a) Class I milk. For each month during the eighteen-month period following the effective date of this order, the price for Class I milk shall be the basic formula price rounded to the nearest cent, plus $1.85.

(b) Class II A milk. The price for Class II A milk shall be the price computed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, plus 25 cents per hundredweight.

(c) Class II milk. The price for Class II milk shall be that computed by the market administrator from the formula set forth in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph.

(1) Multiply by 4.8 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade AA (93-score)

bulk creamery butter per pound at San Francisco, as reported by the Department during the month: Provided, That if no price is reported for Grade AA (93-score) butter, the highest of the prices reported for Grade A (92-score) butter for that day shall be used in lieu of the price for Grade AA (93-score) butter;

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the simple average of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for spray and roller process nonfat dry milk solids, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department; and

(3) From the sum of the results arrived at under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, subtract 80 cents and round to the nearest cent.

§ 1008.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the average butterfat content of Class I milk or Class II milk, computed pursuant to § 1008.45, for any handler for any month differs from 4.0 percent, there shall be added to, or subtracted from, the applicable class price (§ 1008.51) for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such class is respectively above, or below, 4.0 percent, a butterfat differential computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply by 1.23 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at San Francisco, as reported by the Department during the preceding month, divide the result by 10, and round to the nearest tenth of a cent.

(b) Class II milk and Class II A milk. Multiply by 1.15 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at San Francisco, as reported by the Department during the month, divide the result by 10, and round to the nearest tenth of a cent.

§ 1008.53 Location adjustment credits to handlers. The price for Class I milk at a pool plant located more than 50 miles from the City Hall, Spokane, Washington, shall be, regardless of point of sale within or outside the marketing area, the same as the price for Class I milk pursuant to § 1008.51 (a), less a location adjustment per hundredweight of milk computed as follows: 3 cents for each 10 miles, or major fraction thereof, up to 100 miles, an additional 2.0 cents for each 10 miles, or major fraction thereof, for distances in excess of 100 miles but not more than 200 miles, and an additional 1.0 cent for each 10 miles, or major fraction thereof, in excess of 200 miles, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, from such pool plant to the City Hall, Spokane, Washington: Provided, That for the purpose of calculating such location differential skim milk or butterfat transferred between pool plants shall be assigned to any remainder of Class II milk at the transferee-plant after making the calculations pursuant to § 1008.45 (b) (1) and (2), and the comparable steps in § 1008.45 (c), for such plant, such assignment to transferor plants to be made in sequence according to the location differential applicable at each plant, beginning with the plant having the largest differential.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 1008.60 Computation of producer bases. Subject to the rules set forth in § 1008.61 the market administrator shall determine bases for producers in the following manner:

(a) For the period from the effective date of this part through February 1956 the daily base of each producer shall be the daily average of his total deliveries of milk to a pool plant(s) for the respective month.

(b) Beginning with March 1956 the daily base of each producer whose milk was received at a pool plant(s) on not less than 120 days during the months of September through January, inclusive, shall be an amount computed by dividing such producer's total pounds of milk delivered to a pool plant in such five-month period by the number of days from the date of his first delivery to the end of such five-month period: Provided, That the daily base of any producer who delivered milk on not less than 120 days during such September-January period to a plant which subsequently qualified as a pool plant shall be computed, in similar manner, on the basis of such producer's deliveries to such plant in such September-January period. The base so computed, which shall be recomputed each year, shall become effective on the first day of March next following and shall remain in effect through the month of February of the next succeeding year.

(c) The daily base of any producer who is not eligible to receive a base computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section (including any producer for whom a base may not be computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section because of lack of available information concerning such producer's deliveries in the applicable September–January period), shall be a quantity, to be effective for the current month only, computed by dividing such producer's total pounds of milk delivered to a handler(s) in the current month by the number of days from the date of first delivery to the end of such month, and multiplying the result by the percentage applicable for such month computed by the market administrator as follows: Divide the amount represented by the aggregate of all daily bases in effect on the preceding March 1 by the daily average deliveries of all producers to handlers in the current month and reduce such figure by 10 percent.

§ 1008.61 Base rules. The following rules shall be observed in determination of bases:

(a) A base computed pursuant to § 1008.60 (b) may be transferred upon written notice to the market administrator on or before the last day of the month of transfer, but only if a producer sells, leases, or otherwise conveys his herd to another producer and it is established to the satisfaction of the market administrator that the conveyance of the herd was bona fide and not for the purpose of evading any provision of this part.

(b) A producer who ceases deliveries to a pool plant for more than 45 days shall lose his base if computed pursuant to § 1008.60 (b) and if he resumes deliveries to such a plant he shall be paid on a base determined pursuant to § 1008.60 (c) until he can establish a new base under § 1008.60 (b), to begin the next March 1.

(c) By notifying the market administrator in writing on or before the 15th day of any month, a producer holding a base established pursuant to § 1008.60 (b) may relinquish such base by cancellation, and effective from the first day of the month in which notice is received by the market administrator until the next March 1 such producer's base shall be computed in the manner provided by § 1008.60 (c).

(d) As soon as bases computed by the market administrator under § 1008.60 (b) and (c) are allotted, notice of the amount of each producer's base shall be given by the market administrator to the handler receiving such producer's milk and to the cooperative association of which the producer is a member. Each handler, following receipt of such notice, shall promptly post in a conspicuous place at each of his plants a list (or lists) showing the base of each producer whose milk is received at such plant.

(e) If a producer operates more than one farm, he shall establish a separate base with respect to producer milk delivered from each such farm.

(f) Only producers as defined in § 1008.11 may establish or earn a base pursuant to the provisions of § 1008.60 (b) or (c) and only one base shall be allotted with respect to milk produced by one or more persons where the land, buildings, and equipment used are jointly owned or operated.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 1008.70 Computation of value of milk. (a) The total value of milk received during any month by each handler, including any cooperative association which is a handler, shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator as follows:

(1) Multiply the pounds of producer milk in each class for such month by the class price (§ 1008.51) and add together the resulting amounts;

(2) Deduct the total amount of all location adjustment credits computed in accordance with § 1008.53;

(3) Add or subtract, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors as disclosed by the verification of the reports of such handler of his receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat in previous months for which payment has not been made;
